Reclamationists Urged to Fight U. S. Water Set-ups

Waterusers Told to Put House in Order To Avoid U. S. Agency

Ora Bundy, Ogden, first vice-president of the National Reclamation association, today told water users attending the state convention here to make a cooperative effort to put their house in order that it will eliminate any necessity for regional authorities to be named by federal legislation.

The speaker, appearing at the American Legion hall at today's luncheon with an estimated 200 persons present, had reference to a bill which is now being considered in the committee of the house of representatives to blanket the United States with authorities similar to the Tennessee valley authority. Under the proposed setup, Idaho would come under the Columbia valley authority.

In addition to being first vice-president of the national association, Mr. Bundy is also president of the Ogden River Water Users association. He is known throughout the west as one of the leading reclamationists of the nation.

"It seems to me," the speaker said, "that a cooperative effort by all United States water control and development associations, organized upon a way and means of procedure for the utilization of these agencies, planning and construction agencies, will eliminate the necessity for regional authorities or the passage of legislation creating them."

"We should be alert and see that such planning is now being done, not later. It is time to be thinking of these things. Now is the time to be planning for the future."

Turning to a discussion of the work of the bureau of reclamation, Bundy said that he had "nothing but praise" for the work of the organization. He added:

"I still think there is one weak link in their operations, namely the building of our projects then, figuratively speaking, dumping them into the laps of water users to operate and maintain without adequate information, advice and guidance to insure a successful and economic administration thereof."

The speaker also touched on the national and international situation and, turning from reclamation for the moment, called upon leaders to "think now" in order that "this cream of manhood which may be called upon to defend democracy" will not return to find that "all they can have" are WPA or similar jobs.

Closes This Afternoon

The annual convention was to close this afternoon. In addition to several speeches, principal business this morning was the appointment by President W. V. Sharp, Filer, of a 10-man resolutions committee which was to report back before convention close. Members of this committee were James B. Bothwell, Twin Falls; E. H. Neal, Aberdeen; D. L. Evans, Malad; J. M. Lambert, Boise; N. W. Jensen, Payette; H. Hagadone, Coeur d'Alene; T. M. DeCoursey, Caldwell; A. R. Babcock, Arco; E. Hicks, Sugar City; and W. A. Heizer, Jerome.

This afternoon one of the features was a round table discussion

BRITISH HAMMER AT NAZI TARGETS IN ALL SECTORS

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
 United Press Foreign News Editor

The royal air force hammered Nazi targets from Norway to the Rhineland industries and the French coast today and the royal navy reported it had fought off an Italian air attack in the Mediterranean, but Great Britain admitted shipping losses of almost 500,000 tons a month during the most intensive phase of the battle of the Atlantic.

The London admiralty also reported that the royal navy on Thursday morning attacked five Italian ships in the harbor and intercepting two other enemy ships, including one ammunition vessel, which were destroyed.

Different Version

A communique by the admiralty at London gave the British version of what the Rome high command had described as a successful attack by Italian torpedo-carrying planes which hit six British warships and three merchantmen in the Mediterranean. In addition to shooting down 13 British planes, the British communique said that repeated attacks by the Italian craft had failed to do any damage to the British convoy and that seven Fascist planes were shot down, while five others were severely damaged.

The British reported one of their own fighters missing and another shot down with the crew safe.

Nazi Admit Attacks

The continued heavy royal air force attacks, aptly Friday night by both Polish and Dutch pilots, were acknowledged by the Nazis, who reported that 120 were dead or missing in Hamburg and that there were casualties and destruction in the twin cities of Mannheim and Ludwigshafen on the Rhine.

The British pilots reported they had set the great Ludwigshafen chemical factory ablaze, and one (Continued on Page 2, Column 3)

Teachers Rough With Him, Says Flogging Victim

Max Caldwell, 23, Camdenton, Mo., athletic, shows scars of a cat-o-nine-tails flogging inflicted upon him by two feminine school teachers of the same town while the fiance of the girl held him at gun point. The fiance, Dr. Robert Murrell, asserts that one of the teachers, Miss Hilda Rhodes, 25, claimed Caldwell had attacked her.

Big Boost Noted In April Sinkings For All Sections

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, JR.
 LONDON, May 10 (UP)—A total of 1,938 British, allied and neutral ships totalling 4,734,407 tons was sunk in the German siege of the British Isles during the last 12 months, the admiralty said today in releasing revised figures showing that March losses totalled almost 500,000 tons.

April losses were listed as 106 ships totalling 488,124 tons as compared to 119 ships of 489,220 tons in March but the April statistics were subject to revision and presumably will eventually be much higher than the March total, which has been boosted 181,000 tons in two revisions since its original statement.

The shipping losses, covering sinkings from May, 1940, to May, 1941, were 1,938 ships of 4,734,407 tons, but there were 9,000 tons more from America for more definite progress of the battle of the Atlantic, the admiralty, however, not throw additional light on loss of war supply ships from the United States.

Steady Toll

The toll of German air and submarine attacks was shown to have been fairly steady after record losses during the Dunkirk evacuation last June but there was a sharp increase in March and April.

The admiralty compilation did not show losses for the period but they were computed unofficially at 6,074,330 tons, including 888 British ships, 253 allied ships and 1,053 merchantmen, as against 1,463 vessels in addition to numerous small craft lost in the Dunkirk evacuation.

In only one month for the last 12 months, the admiralty disclosed, the German air force sank 240,000 tons of shipping totalling 240,000 tons were lost.

Losses for April were 106 British, allied and neutral ships totalling 488,124 tons, of which 157,054 tons in the Mediterranean and 331,070 tons in all other waters. The admiralty pointed out that the German air force sank 100,000 tons of shipping in the last 12 months, the figures previously given for the four weeks ended March 30, 1941, showing an average of 25,000 tons a day.

Worst Month

The worst month was June of the month of the Dunkirk evacuation, when 123 ships totalling 300,000 tons were lost. Second was March this year with 119 ships totalling 489,220 tons, a 25 per cent increase of more than 100,000 tons from the figures previously given for the four weeks ended March 30, 1941, showing an average of 25,000 tons a day.

The admiralty said that during the last six weeks Germany and Italy sank 1,938 ships totalling 4,734,407 tons. As against the British total of 488,124 tons in all sunk during April, the admiralty pointed out that the German air force sank 100,000 tons of shipping in the last 12 months, the figures previously given for the four weeks ended March 30, 1941, showing an average of 25,000 tons a day.

Axis Losses

Of axis losses the admiralty said Germany and Italy had lost since the outbreak of the war 1,000,000 tons of shipping and 60,000 tons of aircraft. The admiralty said that the German air force sank 100,000 tons of shipping in the last 12 months, the figures previously given for the four weeks ended March 30, 1941, showing an average of 25,000 tons a day.

Bootleggers Feared After Added Taxes

BOISE, May 10 (UP)—Idaho officials today considered the possibility liquor prices may go so high bootlegging will become prevalent as reports were received that defense taxes may hike cost of alcoholic beverages from $1 to $4 per gallon.

Fred Davis, superintendent of the state liquor dispensary, said reports indicated the tax would increase sharply in the near future. At present the federal government collects about $3 per gallon for most whiskeys. The new tax would put the federal levy at $5 to $7 per gallon, Davis said.

Officials expressed the belief that whenever liquor prices reach a point where whiskey can be produced and bootlegged at a considerable profit, stills will again become common.

GERMAN ASSAULT BY AIR DECLINES

LONDON, May 10 (UP)—Germany's air assault took much of its fury last night. Bombers were scattered and decimated. Their targets reduced in numbers, British night fighters shot down only three raiders, making the total 90 for the first nine nights of May, equaling the Hamburg raid for all of April.

Many areas were bombed, but the attack was nowhere sustained. The brilliant, almost full moon, the effectiveness of British night fighters, including American-made Douglas D-17s, as demonstrated the past few nights, a ground fog over northern France that made night landings at the German bases difficult, and the customary lull after a series of hard raids all were credited with the result. The Germans had been using hundreds of planes nightly until it was assumed that they had thickened the pace to recoup their resources.

Speed-up Ordered On Repairing for Seized Axis Ships

WASHINGTON, May 10 (UP)—Maritime commission officials have ordered utmost speed in repairing seized Italian and German cargo vessels for American or British use to offset losses in the battle of the Atlantic, it was learned today.

Maritime officials disclosed they were operating three shifts a day on the repair of Axis ships.

Late FLASHES

BERLIN, May 10 (UP)—Germans acknowledged the increasing strength of British air raids today, listing 159 dead and missing at Hamburg and conceding destruction in the raid last night on Mannheim.

The high command said "a few civilians were killed or wounded" in attacks on Berlin by "individual planes" last night. It said bombs dropped in the center of the city.

The high command said the German air force had dealt hard blows against England, British shipping and a British naval unit south of Malta where, it said, a British submarine had been destroyed.

LONDON, May 10 (UP)—British long-range bombing planes, continuing a powerful air offensive against Germany, heavily raided the great inland port of Mannheim and bombed industrial objectives in Berlin last night.

It was the second straight night raid for the Nazi capital and the first in three weeks for Mannheim, which aside from being Germany's chief inland port is an important railroad center.

BERLIN, May 10 (UP)—The diplomatic-political Correspondence, foreign office organ, said today that U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull was following a Winston Churchill policy in drawing other nations into war.

LONDON, May 10 (UP)—Japan by a secret clause in its pact with Germany and Italy is left free to determine for itself whether it will enter the war if Germany and Italy become involved in war with the United States, an exclusively informed non-British diplomatic source said today.

FAMILY OF FIVE DIES IN FLAMES

PITTSBURGH, May 10 (UP)—A family of five persons was burned to death today in a fire which trapped them in their second and third floor rooms.

The dead were Mrs. Anna Laba, 32, her husband, John, 41, and their children, John, Jr., 16; Helen, 15, and Agnes, 6.

The only entrance to the Labas home was over rear porch steps in the second floor. Neighbors said the porch had been stacked beneath it with lumber. They thought the fire may have been caused by spontaneous combustion.

STRIKES SPREAD FOR NORTHWEST

TACOMA, Wash., May 10 (UP)—A strike of 100 men in the lumber industry that closed an estimated 25 per cent of the camps and mills in western Washington, threatened today to spread throughout the northwest.

The International Woodworkers of America (IWW) claimed 20,000 workers in 80 mills and camps were on strike. Independent sources, however, said, five mills, 20 camps and 12,000 men were idle.

The strike has been certified by the national defense mediation board by Secretary of Labor Francis Perkins on grounds it affects the supply of lumber for national defense work.

Negotiations were continuing under direction of Federal Conciliator E. S. Jackson, but J. McCarthy, IWW secretary, said there was little hope of an early settlement.

He said the strike might spread to southern Oregon, northern California, northern Idaho, the Columbia river district and the Grays Harbor, Wash., district, where the IWW holds sway.

The union demands a minimum of 70 cents an hour, compared with the local $1.00, a 30-day vacation, a 40-hour week, a 50-hour vacation with pay, and elimination of piece work.

Pioneer Reclamationists Talk It Over

"New in the old days..." Talk such as this seems to come when pioneer reclamationists get together and the three above were no exception as they met at the Pioneer Reclamationists' meeting last night at the Idaho State Reclamation building. The meeting was held at the home of Judge E. C. S. Brainerd, Payette, one of the attorneys for the Twin Falls Canal company. The session ended late in the evening.

POCAHELLO, Ida., May 10 (UP)—Employees of a Pocahellico trading company knew today that two boxes of supposed old and discarded dynamite still had plenty of "punch."

The dynamite was found in a box in the basement of the old store. The box was found by a man who was working on the floor, making up the far above any in the store.

WHEAT GROWERS TO CAST VOTES ON REFERENDUM

WASHINGTON, May 10 (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard today ordered a referendum among wheat growers May 11 on a proposal for AAA marketing quota restrictions on an estimated 19,000,000 bushels of wheat.

The quotas, first ever asked on wheat, will be effective if approved by two-thirds of the farmer vote.

If quotas are approved, each farmer will be entitled to market his farm's wheat acreage allotment, plus wheat from any previous crop. The government would collect a 15-cent a bushel penalty on marketings in excess of quota.

If the allotted acreage failed to produce a "normal" crop, the farmer also would be permitted to market surplus wheat.

Wickard said the 1941 crop, plus an estimated carryover of 19,000,000 bushels of old wheat on July 1, would give the nation a supply of 1,238,000,000 bushels, exclusive of crop from the government-owned wheat stockpiles.

The supply exceeds the marketing quota level by 217,000,000 bushels, Wickard said. If farmers reject marketing quotas, the farm surplus provides that no government loans can be made on the 1941 wheat crop.

U. S. TO CONTROL ISLAND EXPORTS

WASHINGTON, May 10 (UP)—The administration, moving to plug a "major leak" in this country's economic defenses, today threw its influence behind the Philippines export control act to the Philippine Islands.

The support of the Philippines commonwealth government was promised by Resident Commissioner Joaquin M. Elizalde after bills to control the export of iron, copper, tin, and other minerals were introduced by Sen. Robert R. Reynolds, D. N. C., and Rep. Andrew J. May, D. Ky.

The move was interpreted as a sign of the administration's interest in the Philippines as a source of vital fats and oils, for herself and her axis partners, in the islands.

The bill, which will be introduced in the Senate by Sen. Robert R. Reynolds, D. N. C., and Rep. Andrew J. May, D. Ky., would require the Philippine government to assure maintenance of the status quo in the southeastern Pacific Islands.

Members lunched with Secretary of State Cordell Hull today, and will continue to discuss the bill Monday. Problems which probably will be canvassed include possible use of Australian naval bases by the United States, and the American vessels recently visited both Australia and New Zealand.
