SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE LOOMS FOR JUNE

BOISE, May 23 (UP)—A special session of the Idaho legislature within the next month was forecast today as preparations were made by state legal advisers to draft legislation permitting the state to combat increased gasoline prices.

Although regulation of gasoline prices was to be the prime objective, the governor said relief provisions would also be considered at the special session.

At the meeting to discuss the special session, other Democratic state officials backed Clark's proposal to seek regulatory legislation. The governor said he was also consulting legislative leaders and was studying all phases of the special session question.

Relief Problems
Although regulation of gasoline prices was to be the prime objective, the governor said relief provisions would also be considered at the special session.

Miller said regulatory legislation sponsored by the administration would include: 1. A bill to authorize and permit the state to go into the gasoline business as a proprietary activity. 2. A bill regulating gasoline prices.

Work on Plan
Miller said he and his legal aides have been working on the pricing legislation for some time. Clark called the meeting of state officials after Miller had outlined an anti-trust campaign filed against major oil companies which suggested "more effective" means of combating gas price increases "will be along the line of least resistance and through price-fixing legislation."

Reader Looks For Solitude On Big Tower

NEW YORK, May 23 (UP)—Up the latticed steelwork of the Brooklyn tower of the Manhattan bridge, one of the city's loveliest sights, went Gene A. Shaver, the New York newspaper stuffed in his pocket, in search of solitude.

He reached the summit, stepped out on a metal grating where workmen stand to put flags on the very top of the tower. There, 566 feet above the street, he stood for 122 feet above the street, he spread out his newspaper and lay down.

Patrolman Charles Neils, a World War veteran, took the same route Hernandez had taken, leaving three policemen waiting below on the grating, he said, he found Hernandez doing.

Neils asked him what he was doing. "I like to be alone; I like to read a newspaper," he said.

Neils told him to come along and pointed out an eagle route—a main suspension cable which has hand rails.

Neils started down, Hernandez following a few paces up.

Changes Mind
He had proceeded a short way, Elnock said, when Hernandez stopped and said he was going to let go and make the rest of the trip on his own.

British Navy Effective as Battle Rages

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, Jr.
LONDON, May 23 (UP)—Britain's navy is holding off German transport fleets attempting to land troops in Crete while allied forces battle German airborne troops on four fronts on the island, it was said authoritatively today.

The Germans have failed in all attempts to land men from troop ships and Greek fishing boats, it was asserted. German air-borne forces were landing all day yesterday until dark, it was said authoritatively, so it was assumed the landing was continuing during the night.

14 MEET DEATHS IN EXPLOSION AT MINE IN INDIANA

BICKNELL, Ind., May 23 (UP)—Rescue workers, battling deadly mine gases, today brought to the surface the bodies of 14 men killed last night in an explosion at the Panhandle mine 2 1/2 miles south of here.

Relatives and friends of the victims looked on in stunned silence as the last two blackened bodies were brought up on the lift.

The explosion shot through the mine shaft of the Panhandle mine 11 p. m.

Victims Identified
The victims were identified as: James Smith, 65; Charles Wright, 38; Richard Smith, 41; F. M. Vincent, 47; Arthur Goudreau, 44; Dewey Silmsett, 43; Morris Taburoux, 40; Charles B. May, 50; Floyd Harper, 40; Wiert Robinson, 34; Charles Harrington, 47; and Charles Osborn, 24, all of Bicknell; E. R. Cole, 48, of Vincennes; and Virgil Sager, 30, of Frankfortville.

Rescuers were able to get less than half way to the spot where the explosion occurred before poisonous gases made it necessary to begin slow process of erecting brattices as they went along. The brattices hold back the foul air and permit workers to pass. Ventilator doors had been ripped off.

All except James M. Smith and Charles B. May were killed. The lives of 17 men working in another section of the mine, operated by the Nickel Coal company, had been saved because it was they managed to work their way back to the shaft.

Heat, Drouth Plague East

NEW YORK, May 23 (UP)—Heat and drouth plagued the northeast today.

Record high temperatures for May followed in some rainless periods which the New York state meteorology department said had brought the Atlantic coast to the most dangerous stage in years.

The heat was extended from Florida to New England and southwest of Missouri. The drouth meant berry, vegetable and hay crops in the northeast and in some of the water supplies were endangered.

In New Jersey, George S. Burgess, chairman of the state water policy commission, asked the legislature to create an agency to guard against a water shortage.

GROWERS TO GET BEET PAY BOOST

Payment of an additional 30 cents a ton on beets produced in this section of Idaho during the 1940 season, amounting to a total of $144,000, will go to growers May 23, it was announced this afternoon by Harry A. Cook, Idaho manager of the Amalgamated Sugar company.

Elnock said that checks in the amount of $144,000 would be mailed Thursday. The 30 cents per ton payment, the second payment made to growers above the standard flat rate paid by the company in November. Payment per ton now totals $4.60 and possibly is seen that another payment may yet be made.

To date payment for the 1940 crop is 50 cents ahead of the total for the crop of 1939, records at the sugar company show.

In addition to announcing the payment on last year's crop, Elnock also pointed out that about 65 per cent of the sugar beets have been shipped in Idaho and about 35 per cent in Minnesota and Cassia counties.

"Beets are looking good and the thinning operations are running about a week ahead of schedule," Elnock said. "We are anticipating no labor shortage as the peak week was the peak week for thinning operations."

America-Film Planes to Play Important Part in Iraq Fight

By HENRY T. GORRELL
WITH THE ROYAL AIR FORCE IN PALESTINE, VIA HAIFA, May 21 (Delayed UP)—Large numbers of American-made airplanes were used to smash Tomahawk fighters and Glenn L. Martin bombers are arriving in the near east and eventually will be used to fight against the Germans in Syria.

The speed-up in American plane arrivals has coincided with the vital in Palestine of Capt. James Roosevelt, the President's son, who is a combat pilot in the Middle East. He is said to be one of the best pilots in the Tomahawk, which was described as "generally superior" to the British Spitfire and Hurricane. I saw at the airport were American-made planes. Another type of bomber was seen in the Middle East. I saw Tomahawks go some of these

Strong Outposts—And a Duty

In June of 1939, just before the second World War broke across the world, the whole United States army had only 187,886 men in active service...

They are gone from the camps they know in the United States, but they must not be forgotten.

Such a dispersion of forces, with nearly a fourth of the available soldiers stationed outside the continental limits of the country, is something new, and therefore something we never have thought much about...

With such large detachments of American soldiers serving in faraway posts, every effort must be made to see to it that they are not forgotten, and, more important, that they do not feel forgotten.

Will American newspapers go to them regularly and by the fastest practicable route? Will they have recreational facilities in posts which, interesting at first, may grow dull and boring after a short hitch?

Soothsayers, Say They Sooth?

The report from Berlin that soothsayers, crystal-gazers, and fortune tellers are forbidden to make stage appearances gives just the right touch of wild, weird unearthliness to the story of Rudolf Hess' flight from Germany.

The American people of their own will, and through the men they have elected to represent them in congress, have determined that the free institutions of this country will continue to exist.

Yes. And it is also upon you, there at the lathe, you swinging the hammer in the shipyard, you on the assembly line, you at the desk, that our country has also placed its faith and its future.

EDSON IN WASHINGTON BY FRANK EDSON

WASHINGTON, May 23.—It isn't just in the country at large, but in the District of Columbia, that people are coming to see what's coming next, wondering who's leading whom when and where, and who's leading whom when and where...

There are unofficial, self-appointed experts at every luncheon and dinner table who know exactly why men were so excited, five minutes after he landed, who profess to know the exact status of the conveyance, who say they have seen it inside straight code with what Shimson meant in his last speech, and who tell you exactly what kind of little green globe the president ate that gave him his current belly ache.

Women's Society of Christian Service of the local Methodist church Tuesday at the home of Mrs. A. E. Beysner. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Roes Wold from their homes in Kaleroll, Minn., Mrs. and Mrs. Edred Aund and Mrs. Ed Sherrill arrived Sunday noon, Ventura, California.

Two new members, Dr. P. D. Slavich and Earl Wilcox, were added to the Ruper Baptist church Wednesday morning in the municipal auditorium. CONGRESSIONAL WITH

There comes a time when a huge money judiciously expended is really in the interest of country. Congressional events, that people are coming to see what's coming next, wondering who's leading whom when and where, and who's leading whom when and where...

The question is therefore raised as to what extent the stall has become a matter of policy, or at least to what extent it has become an American diplomatic device, and how effectively it has been wielded by the president. He has built up a reputation as a forthright leader with the chin, but the record tends to show that on the occasions when he has come out of his corner, law first on some issue, was ahead of his second in-law.

Artist Arrives to Hang Buhl Postoffice Mural

By LAURA LEE SMITH
BUHL, May 23 (Special)—Richard Guy Walton, Reno, prominent young artist, and Mrs. Walton have written Buhl to install the newly completed mural, "Snake River Ferry," in the new $75,000 federal post office building which was completed here last August.

The mural will be installed either this evening or tomorrow, as soon as Mr. Walton is able to secure the Damar varnish, necessary to the installation.

This mural, "Snake River Ferry," Mr. Walton considers his best work. The finished painting in dimension is 12 feet long and five feet high, complete in full color, in egg tempera.

In Egg Tempera
 Tempera painting is one of the oldest methods used in art, and was popular through the primitive ages, and before the period of the renaissance, preceding the introduction of oil paints. It is becoming increasingly popular with modern artists.

In the mural is a stage coach drawn by horses which is a replica of the old coach which crossed the section en route from Kellon, Utah, to Fort Boise, and there is an interesting old type river ferry, as was described in the article in detail by Mrs. Molly Syster, of Clear Lake resort, whose father, P. P. P. Syster, operated the ferry across the Snake river in this section of the state.

Mr. Walton has received special recognition for his work in recent years. He was a student of the Chouinard Art Institute of Los Angeles, and previously studied in San Francisco under private instruction.

He also studied under Taubert, noted American painter and author of a recent book on the technique of painting. Mr. Walton says he owes much to Taubert for his technique.

Before completing "Snake River Ferry" he painted two panels depicting the life of Tom Sawyer for the Washoe county library in Reno, and two panels, four by eight feet, representing the life of the Old Virginia City in Nevada.

National Competition
 This work for the old United States mint at Carson City, Nev., which has been made into a museum. As an award for outstanding merit in painting by the artist in the recent national competition in artistry sponsored by the government, in which more than 375 artists from all over the United States entered, he was given the opportunity to paint the Buhl mural.

The national competition was conducted by the section of fine arts public buildings administration, Federal Works Agency.

The mural is on pure British linen canvas and is to be placed above the entrance to Postmaster L. P. Runyon's office, which is the largest space in the front of the building.

The contract for the mural was let for $300, which involves his personal installation.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton were in Buhl Christmas week gathering historical data and local color for this work.

Good Neighbors

Heirloom Shawl to Form Bride's Veil

JEROME, May 23 (Special) — An ivory lace wedding shawl, which had been worn by her great-great-grandmother on her wedding day, will be the veil worn by Miss Marnetta Jones, Jerome, when she becomes the bride of Lloyd A. Ramsey, of Oregon, at a church ceremony, to be performed at the Methodist church Sunday morning, at 9 o'clock.

The rare old heirloom of cobweb-like sheerness, has been in the family of the bride for many years, and was sent to her mother nearly 35 years ago from relatives in Alsace-Lorraine, France. The shawl will be held in place with a group of tiny flowers.

For her wedding, the bride will be dressed in pure white floor length gown of organza, fashioned with fitted bodice, full skirt, a low neck line and short puffed sleeves. Deep lace insertion treatment in the waist is repeated in the full skirt.

Accessories Jewelry
 With the gown she will wear a charming old brooch of black and white enamel, in floral theme, and a pink cameo necklace, which had been the bride's grandmother's. Her wedding bouquet will be calla lilies and fern, and she will also carry a small Chinese lace kerchief. In one of the bride's slippers, she will have a six-pence, as a token of good luck.

For "something borrowed," she will wear her mother's white kid gloves, elbow length.

The church will be decorated profusely with seasonal flowers: peonies, lilies, bridal wreath and tulips, and the couple will exchange vows standing before an archway, also decorated with springtime flowers.

Baskets of smaller blossoms will be placed at either side of the improvised archway. The officiating minister will be Rev. Albert E. Martin, of the Jerome Methodist church.

Both wedding marches by Lehmann and Mendelssohn will be played by Prof. Frank G. Fichtner, on his violin. Accompanist will be Mrs. Shirley Pierce, at the piano.

Guests to Attend
 The bride will enter the church on the arm of her father who will give her to marriage. Preceding the bride party will be Miss Dolores Jones, sister of the bride, who will drop petals from a small basket. She will be dressed in pink sheer floor length gown.

"PRICE FIXING LEGISLATION" URGED TO COMBAT GAS PRICES

ATTORNEY WANTS CLARK TO ORDER SPECIAL SESSION

BOISE, Ida., May 23 (Special)—Attorney General Bert H. Miller has reiterated the belief "vice-fixing legislation" would be the most effective method of combating gasoline price increase in Idaho.

The declaration was the newest development in Gov. Chase A. Clark's attempt to obtain lower gasoline prices, and official sources indicated the statement would serve as a prelude to an early call for a special session of the Idaho legislature.

Miller's suggestion for a special legislative session to enact price-fixing statutes was contained in a letter to Gov. Clark in which he outlined contents of a complaint filed by the U. S. department of justice against the American Petroleum Institute, 22 major oil companies and 33 subsidiaries.

The case against the oil companies, Miller told the governor, is that some of the companies have on the consuming public, and that effort it will take to break that hold.

"I have often thought how futile it would be for the state of Idaho, through legislative processes to cope with such a gigantic problem, and I am impelled to the conclusion that more effective efforts will be along lines of least resistance and through price-fixing legislation," Miller wrote.

"It is alleged that the defendants have combined and conspired to adopt a price-fixing program, that they agree upon the sales prices of petroleum products, marketing and price policies, and methods and practices for fixing and stabilizing prices and stabilizing price structures," Miller said in summarizing the department's charges.

"Eliminate Competition

"They lower prices whenever and wherever they desire to eliminate independent competitors of the price-fixing program, the defendants have agreed upon a plan of action, of which the basis is the price for principal petroleum products at either "spot" or "base points" arbitrarily selected.

"The prices at base points are adopted as the basis of the cost at the point from which shipments are actually made. To the prices at base points are added all rail freight rates to final destinations, irrespective of the actual point of origin or the transportation facilities actually used.

"By the application of this scheme, defendants are able to maintain prices at their former level and exact money from purchasers and consumers in excess of the money actually expended by defendants for transportation from their point of origin to purchasers' destinations."

Can't Be Bothered

Theory is these "concentration masks" will keep ordinary distractions from slowing down Eleanor Fulton, Salt Lake City, and Albert Tangora, Evanston, Ill., in world spelling championship at Chicago.

Tangora, world's latest tripler, will defend his record of 141 words a minute for an hour's typing.

100 VOICES SING IN C. OF I. CHOIR

CALDWELL, May 23 (Special)—A chorus of nearly 100 voices will sing the cantata "Christ in the World" for the 50th anniversary concert to be held on June 1 by the music department of the College of Idaho, Prof. F. F. Beale announced today.

Rehearsing since the first of May, the chorus will be comprised of the college singers in the Chapel Choir, Men's Glee club and other students who are interested in assisting and practicing for singing from choirs in Caldwell and Nampa. Former students and members of the college clubs are also participating.

Bolivia for this cantata have not yet been decided with the exception of the baritone work which will be sung by Ieland Goodell of Caldwell. As time did not permit the use of the orchestra, accompaniment will be played by Frances Conley of Nampa at the piano and Mrs. Ross Bates of Boise at the Hammond electric organ.

"Only difficulty being encountered," said Prof. Beale, "is that the goal of 100 voices has not been reached. There is still a need for more men singers and any additions to the chorus will be welcomed."

Rehearsals are being held each Tuesday and Thursday night and at the regular hour of rehearsal of the chapel choir at 8 o'clock on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The performance, scheduled to be held out-of-doors, will be free of charge and open to the public.

STUDENT TEACHES IN NIGHT SCHOOL

HARTFORD, Conn., (Special)—Walter Kloss, 23, Thomaston, is a rare combination—he is both student and faculty.

Kloss spends his days attending lectures at Trinity college where he is a member of the junior class. His nights are spent teaching the foreign population here in his own town American history so that they may become citizens.

Kloss, who is working his way through college, decided last fall that something should be done for the large foreign element in his town, who were not citizens. He thought the best way to get anything done was to get selected to the board of education which he promptly did, running on the Democratic ticket in a normally Republican town.

After election, and backed by the American Legion, he obtained the use of two schoolrooms and three teachers and enrolled 45 Poles, Russians, Germans, and others of foreign birth. Kloss acted as supervisor because he speaks Polish and understands Russian and German.

This busy schedule doesn't deter Kloss from living a full college life. He is treasurer of his fraternity, the center of many "bull sessions," and he hasn't missed a college dance in three years.

Kloss isn't relaxing now that he has a full schedule and has things working the way he planned them. He is looking ahead to his graduation next year. He plans to open an insurance agency in Thomaston and to attend Hartford Law College at the same time. He says that many of the foreign residents in town that he has befriended and educated now come to him for advice on their difficulties. Kloss believes that legal training will enable him to help them even more.

TUNGSTEN FOUND IN IDAHO MINES

MOSCOW, May 23 (Special)—Tungsten, a strategic mineral for which the United States is partly dependent upon foreign sources, has been discovered in the Seven Devils mining district of Idaho in amounts sufficient to warrant further investigation.

The national defense fund was made in a survey of the geology and ore deposits of the district by the Idaho bureau of mines and geology and the U. S. geological survey in Fluorescence tests a violet light of ore samples picked up from old mine dumps revealed the presence of the tungsten mineral schmelite in some of the district's copper ores.

Schmelite in the seven Devils is found only in deposits of the contact-metamorphic type. These are replacements of limestone masses scattered along both sides of a tongue-like body of quartz diorite that swings in an arc from the head of Truden creek past Landon Lockwood Saddle and White Monument to the head of Copper creek.

Most of the copper produced there intermittently since 1888 has come from relatively small high-grade shoots of copper sulfides. Large-scale mining of the lower-grade deposits of copper, molybdenum and tungsten has never been attempted. Preliminary tests have indicated that the schmelite probably contains an unusually large and undesirable amount of molybdenum, from 1 to 10 per cent. In mechanical concentrates, 4 per cent of molybdenum is considered the workable maximum, said Dean A. W. Lusk, director of the Idaho bureau of mines and geology. The tungsten content of the schmelite could be successfully by a chemical process if ore bodies of sufficient size and grade should be developed.

Investigations to determine commercial possibilities are being continued. Tungsten is already a nationally important product of tungsten since the Ina mines, at May, Ida., rank as probably the largest source in the United States.

Births in the United States are dropping about 500,000 annually, are increasing about 20,000 annually.

Buddy Gave up Football Because It Was too Rough: But How About Louis?

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Sports Editor
WASHINGTON, May 23 (UP)—
The odd thing about this giant named Buddy Baer, who has gained up enough courage to shake his fist at the lightning tonight, is that he once gave up football because it was too rough.

“Okay,” said Buddy, and he did. The rest of his life has been like that. He has walked in the shadow of his brother Max, re-acting at Max's triumphs and weeping at Max's failures. Just as he put up no argument he was told to quit football, so he has never put up an argument about much of anything Nature has done to him on him by giving him the body of a magnificent prize fighter and then adding the disposition of happy-go-lucky kid who would rather sing baritone in a quartet than fight for a living.

Referee Arthur Donovan are left alone in a pool of light this evening. It would be even worth mentioning except for the fact that Buddy alone of the fighters who has made up Louis' “burn of the month” parade, really has a genuine chance to beat the Brown Bomber.

11,000 AIRCRAFT WORKERS VOTE ON STRIKE TODAY

NEGOTIATIONS AT BIG LOS ANGELES PLANT COLLAPSE

By United Press
Eleven thousand aircraft workers voted today on a proposal to strike at a Los Angeles warplane manufacturing plant holding 4,000,000 in defense orders.

Voting began after negotiations collapsed last night between the North American Aviation Corp. and the United Automobile Workers union (UAW). Richard Frankenstein, UAW official, accused the company of bargaining in bad faith. The union asked a 10-cent wage increase. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins immediately referred the dispute to the national defense mediation board.

The senate committee investigating defense contracts opened hearings at Washington today on the San Francisco shipyard's strike, which halted production at 11 plants May 12. Col. Gilbert Olson of California urged the government unofficially last night to operate the plants.

"Back to Work"
Olson's action came after a "back to work" movement of 12,000 non-striking AFL unionists apparently failed to reopen the shipyard. The 1700 striking AFL and CIO machinists appeared indispensable to their operation.

The strikers have asked higher wages than those provided in a master agreement for west coast shipyards. But Olson believed the strikers would have ended Wednesday if the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp., which holds half the 4,000,000 in defense contracts at the San Francisco plants, had accepted the agreement.

Unarmed sailors and marines guarded 800 AFL metal trade workers who returned to two of the plants yesterday.

Contractors, the army and AFL leaders joined in a sweeping move to fight the "outlaw" strike of AFL workers on the government's $35,000,000 ammunition loading plant at Ravenham, O., where 5,000 strikers rejected union proposals to resume work pending negotiations, the army ordered all work suspended until the pact could be cleared of "agitators."

Workmen Discharged
The contractors discharged all workmen and announced those rehired must be approved by "certified representatives" of the AFL.

At Washington, the defense mediation board reported hearings on the dispute between southern auto operators and the United Mine Workers of America (UMWA). Negotiations collapsed Wednesday, renewing the threat of work stoppage in the bituminous coal fields.

The 1,000 workers protesting alleged company discrimination interrupted production on $5,000,000 in defense orders yesterday at the Allis-Chalmers plant at Laporte, Ind. A company spokesman charged the action of the CIO with equipment workers isolated a recent agreement reached with the aid of the defense mediation board.

GERMANS CLAIM 3 SHIPS DOWNED
BERLIN, May 23 (AP)—Nazi sources claimed today that the Luftwaffe has sunk "three more" British destroyers in its attack upon British sea power in the eastern Mediterranean and rumors circulated that a German victory in Crete is near.

German reports stated that the Nazi air force is attacking British naval units in the waters around Crete continuously.

The latest report said that three destroyers were sunk today and two others damaged. Five British speedboats approaching the island of Crete were sunk by German aircraft.

A German reconnaissance plane was reported to have observed two British cruisers at sea in the Mediterranean near Crete. Presumably these cruisers were among the large number reported by the Nazi high command to have been attacked in the past three days.

Nazi spokesmen continued to refuse all comment on operations on Crete except for the sea-air battle in the waters around the strategic Greek island.

Love of Americans for Their Country Dominates Graduation of 238 Seniors

By FRANK ELLAWORTH
The love of an American for his country dominated a colorful ceremony last night as approximately 2,200 persons witnessed graduation exercises for Twin Falls high school seniors.

Hundreds of persons were turned away at the doors after the throng jammed all corners of the big gymnasium.

238 Diplomas Given
Two hundred and thirty-eight seniors, three of whom were unable to appear at last night's services, were given their diplomas this year, comprising the largest graduating class in the history of the school.

The gymnasium was decorated to carry out the patriotic theme. A statue of Liberty, large American flag, and the words "We pledge allegiance to the flag" formed the background of the stage where the seniors were seated.

"March Romantics" processional, was played by the high school band, under the direction of Bert Christensen and led by Lillian Lubenka.

Prayer was pronounced by Rev. Mark C. Johnson of the First Christian church.

First Speaker
Introducing the first speaker of the evening, Betty Durling, a chorale group from the senior class, under the direction of Miss Florence M. Stees and led by Lillian Lubenka, recited the first part of the "American Creed."

Speaking on "Our Inauguration," Miss Durling pointed out that members of the senior class must look into the future and see what is in store for them. She stated that they are no longer children.

"We know that the millions of us that are graduating this year are the ones to govern and guide our country in the very near future," she continued. "Even now we are being taught to feel that responsibility. Youth today are more aware of world events than ever before. They are reflecting their lives in every way, and we must adjust our daily living accordingly. In our time there must be no cowardice—no slinking."

In closing, she stated that their motto must be "We pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States, and to the republic for which it stands."

Following a choral arrangement of "America" by the mixed chorus, under the direction of Miss Marjorie Albertson, a tableau and choral reading, "We Believe in the United States of America," was presented, in introducing Robert Pease, who spoke on "Our American Principles."

Stating that a nation uniting all people and all races, amalgamated into a common faith, cannot fail, he stated: "Democracy is less than 200 years old. Yet it is founded upon certain principles that have never been fully duplicated. Perhaps we have taken it too much for granted. Today, however, we are becoming more aware that we are the most fortunate people in the world.

Free speech, education, and spiritual heritage—guaranteeing every man peace in his own mind—the three principles of democracy. "We must work toward the interest of preserving and developing idealistic humanity in this troubled, materialistic world."

"We bow in tribute to those men and women of the past who looked into the future, establishing their fundamental principles of democracy."
The mixed chorus then sang and choral reading, "We Cherish Our Essential American Traditions," introduced the next address, "American Traditions," by Robert Allan. He referred to the nations under totalitarian rule as a people who forsake visions for a Utopia which did not materialize, and said that "we Americans must take care that we do not meet the same fate."

Names Traditions
Naming as American traditions tolerance for other people's beliefs and ideals, pioneer spirit and freedom from class barriers, he said: "It is ability and effort that count, not position. Ours is a classless society. These are conditions for which our ancestors labored and fought, and must guard them with faith in the future."

"Responsibilities of Americans" by James Berger, in address of the evening, was given after a band selection, "Stars and Stripes Forever," and a tableau and choral reading, "We Pledge Ourselves to Our American Responsibility."

That training and preparation for the responsibilities of citizenship are necessary to cope with problems which confront the nation was pointed out by George.

"In America it is important as to how we achieve success; it is important only that we do it honestly," he said.

"We owe our country services that are completely dependable and reliable."

"Character is an all important item in the matter of our nation's security, for a nation no stronger than the character of the people."

Repeat Creed
"American Creed" was then given as a choral reading with the entire class taking part and the mixed chorus sang "Let We Pledge."

Introduced by Principal Edward B. Rogel, the graduates were presented their diplomas by Ralph Pink, chairman of the school board. The Star Spangled Banner" was played by the band and the senior class repeated the pledge to the flag, led by Helen Thomas, to complete the program.

As the band played the recessional, the graduates left the gymnasium down an aisle lined with junior class students holding American flags.

Under the direction of Miss Agnes Belmont, the high school art class was in charge of art work in the decorations. Miss Dorothy Call and Miss Kenneth Dine directed the pageant and the play. Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Blanshury were in charge of lighting effects. Miss Thelma Wileston and Miss Schilling, senior class sponsors, were in general charge.
