GERMANS CLAIM CRETE ON QUEST

Sabotage Report Brings Guard at U. S. Army Posts

WASHINGTON, May 30 (U.P.)—Government intelligence officials indicated today the series of military maneuvers and precautions occurring at defense establishments through the nation were prompted by a reported plot for sporadic sabotage outbreaks this Memorial day.

One source said that some received information that a group of saboteurs had set scattered acts of violence in aircraft factories, at naval bases and at army posts. Significantly, these key establishments were given unusual guard today, although war and navy department and federal bureau of investigation officials disclaimed knowledge of any specific national sabotage. Army and navy officials said no orders for any unusual strengthening of guard and plans for more drills were issued from Washington. The military services were inclined to attribute the moves, which included placement of anti-aircraft guns atop west coast airplane factories, and patrol of naval bases by men and ships, to drills ordered by local commanders.

Orders Received
In this connection, it was learned orders had been sent from the war department within the last week commanding officers to take sufficient steps to be taken to protect army forts while field forces are on maneuvers. These orders said the department is "seriously concerned" with the present insularity of personnel to provide security for the nation's defense, particularly in reference to the air hazard.

The navy press reports that anti-aircraft batteries had been placed around southern California aircraft factories of Douglas, Consolidated, Lockheed, Vultee, Northrup and North American, an army spokesman pointed out, such activities were connected with Memorial day exercises or military training.

California Precaution
Reports from the field showed the precautions were especially prevalent in the Alhambra area, where established at the San Francisco waterfront. Destroyers patrolled the coast off Los Angeles and San Diego.

New York's 18,000 policemen were on the alert after receiving notice "from the FBI" that acts of sabotage might be committed against the city's plants and facilities over the week-end. An special watch was established over the Brooklyn navy yard, it was said. Memorial week-end leave of soldiers at Fort Custer and Fort Brady in Michigan were cancelled, an official explaining the cancellations were due to a "threat to the security of the post." Fort Brady is near the city of Sault Ste. Marie through which iron ore ships pass from the iron range to eastern mills. These also were cancelled at Fort Dix.

Special steps to protect the Seattle waterfront and the Lake Washington area were taken, it was said, to prevent holiday week-end disturbances were taken by police.

British Charged With Mutilation Of Nazi Troops

BERLIN, May 30 (U.P.)—The Nazi high command charged today that German troops in Crete had been "mutilated" by the British. The high command alleged the mutilations occurred "in such a brutal manner as only occurred in this war during the Polish campaign."

EIRE REQUESTS ARMS; FAILS TO ACCEPT FOOD

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 30 (U.P.)—The British government today is accepting President Roosevelt's offer of food for the civilian population. It is causing considerable anxiety that to her role in the war, it was learned today.

Urgent Irish requests for arms were turned down, an official source said, but has perturbed administration officials. Sources close to the White House said Ireland is not likely to accept arms or to have war material to Eire because of Mr. Roosevelt's conviction that the United States can spare the implements of war only to those nations actively opposing axis aggression.

Mr. Roosevelt was in almost complete isolation today, seeking a week-end of relaxation at his home here. But within the next few days he will receive a report from John G. Winant, ambassador to Britain, and it is expected a portion of that report, at least, would deal with Eire's relations with the United States.

While House officials would not comment, but other administration executives were clear-spoken in expressing anxiety about the delay of Irish officials in this country in embracing Mr. Roosevelt's offer to Eire and to make an initial contribution of $600,000 to finance food shipments.

They did not feel that an illness of Robert Brennan, the Irish minister, in himself was adequate explanation for the delay to Eire. Roosevelt's offer has not yet been materialized in dispatch of the food ships to Eire.

CEREMONIES PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Members of various veteran organizations and auxiliary groups today paid homage to their dead at services staged at the Twin Falls cemetery this morning.

Following the cemetery services proper, ladies of the G. A. R. staged an memorial tribute to naval dead as they scattered flowers on the waters of the Perrier cove at a point where a stone bridge crosses the park in the Sunset memorial area.

Blue and Gray Honored
Principal speaker at the cemetery observance was Marshall Chapman, local attorney, whose father, John W. Chapman, a veteran of the Civil War fighting for the south, lies buried there. Graves of both Confederate and Union veterans were decorated for the first time today. Aided from Mr. Chapman, other Confederate veterans bring their contributions and "dishes" for the graves, the latter doing only recently at the age of 103.

Arrangements for the day's observance were made by an American Legion committee which was headed by J. O. Thorp. The observance started with a parade through the downtown section at 10 a. m. Marching in the parade included members of the Twin Falls municipal band, which also played several selections at the cemetery; members of the Boy Scout drum and bugle corps, American and auxiliary units, and other patriotic organizations. Marshal of the parade was Major John Rosenbauer.

The cemetery observance started at 11 a. m. The following order was followed:

Commissioners of State Offer New Legislative Plan

BOISE, May 30 (U.P.)—Idaho county commissioners today had presented to Gov. Chase A. Clark a proposal for legislation at the coming session of the legislature to correct county relief problems.

The proposed change would clarify the present county budget law and require county commissioners complete power to levy an additional one mill tax on property to take care of drought relief.

Commissioners agreed to accept the burden of direct relief if the new legislation could be enacted, leaving the state to provide funds for old-age pensions and aid to blind and dependent children.

NORRIS DEMANDS DESTRUCTION OF NAZI FACTORIES

WASHINGTON, May 30 (U.P.)—Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., Neb., the only senate survivor of the little group that voted against war in 1917, today believes that every German factory capable of producing ships, aircraft, tanks and arms must be destroyed before lasting peace can be assured. He would make that Britain's No. 1 war aim.

Norris made known his views as statements in Washington and London this week showed the two largest democratic governments to be in agreement that Hitlerism must be destroyed before peace can be considered.

Caused Suffering
Norris conceded that destruction of Germany's capacity to produce armaments and implements of war would make it difficult for her to prosper, but added:

"What do they expect Germany's policy has caused immense suffering and suffering in the world. She must bear the consequences of Adolf Hitler's bloodthirsty, vengeful ambition to enslave the rest of the world."

"After Germany is stripped of her war weapons and the means to produce others, the rest of the world must disarm, gradually but as quickly as possible, to reduce the terrific cost of armaments which is strangling them. The victorious powers cannot be expected to disarm themselves completely, in the German fashion."

Must Be Kept Dismayed
"We must not make the mistake made by the treaty of Versailles," Norris declared. "Germany must be kept so dismayed and so ready to spring at the world again she had the factories and the tools to do it. This must not happen again."

Norris agreed with the war aims set forth yesterday by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, but believed the most important is that which would "guarantee that this starvation and suffering is never again visited upon the world."

2 ACQUITTED OF RECKLESS FLYING

PENSACOLA, Fla., May 30 (U.P.)—A jury here today acquitted two flying aces of several charges in connection with the decapitation of an Alabama woman by the crash of their plane. The jury made no mention of manslaughter charges against them.

The two aces, J. E. Thompson, of Heidelberg, Calif., and Paul Brown, of Chicago, were acquitted of unnecessarily endangering the lives of others by flying their road scraper operated on a highway by John L. Higgins.

Brown was also acquitted of three other offenses which included diving from three fields other than that of San Ardi, in which Mrs. Robert Phillips was decapitated.

Commander Charles A. Nicholson, court marshal present, read the verdict which made no mention of Mrs. Phillips' death.

PRO-NAZI IRAQI PREMIER FLEES

LONDON, May 30 (U.P.)—An official British source today revealed the pro-Nazi premier of Iraq, Raschid Ali Al-Ghailani, has fled his post in the face of a military ultimatum in his fight for control of strategic Iraq.

The announcement of Raschid's flight was made by the British military information office. It said Raschid, accompanied by his chief of staff and the self-styled regent, had fled over the border into Iran (Persia).

The military said that word of Raschid's flight had been obtained "officially" in London.

British Reported Fleeing to Coast Under Heavy Fire

By HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Correspondent
Adolf Hitler's forces today claimed virtually complete conquest of Crete and asserted that disorganized British and Greek troops are fleeing for the south coast of the island, hoping to escape by sea.

There was no report from London to indicate that the Nazi claim of virtual domination of Crete was exaggerated and British sources make no secret of their belief that little further resistance could be expected from the bomb-battered, battle-weary allied troops.

There seemed only the slightest hope that any substantial part of the Greco-British force on Crete would be able to make its way by sea to Egypt. The sea had been taken a heavy pounding from the Luftwaffe in smashing attempts by the Germans to send convoys to Crete and it was doubted that much British shipping would be risked on any large scale evacuation attempt.

The Germans claimed that Major Gen. B. O. Freyberg, New Zealand commander of the British defense force on Crete, had been killed in a plane crash flying from Crete to Egypt, but there was no confirmation of the report from London.

Matillon Charged
The Germans caught their announcement of success in Crete with a grave charge which may prove the forerunner of a new and more frightful half-brother warfare than has been waged up to this time.

The Nazi high command made a formal charge that the British had been guilty of "mutilating" Nazi prisoners in Crete, alleging the ill-treatment had caused the death of a New Zealand soldier. The high command also proposed to take more severe retaliation upon prisoners in each other's hands.

Propaganda War
However, it was thought possibly more likely that the charges would be employed chiefly as a basis for further propaganda against the British and the Germans.

The middle eastern command at Cairo reported that British in Crete had been forced by overwhelming Nazi numbers to fall back to new defensive lines but there was little official British information on the progress of the battle.

Elsewhere in the middle east the British reported good progress, advancing to 100 miles northwest of Basra, in Iraq and tightening the pincers movement around Baghdad.

Lord Woolton, British food minister, made an appeal to Americans to reduce their meat consumption so as to make available added supplies for purchase by British to feed children.

Claim Sea Bows
Axis reports claimed that new "sea bows" had been built on British naval power in the middle east where the eastern Mediterranean has been "pummelled" by the Nazi Luftwaffe.

The latest Berlin and Rome reports claimed that three more British destroyers have been sunk, the Germans taking credit for two and the Italians for one.

The British already have admitted the loss of three cruisers and four destroyers in the bitter test of air power versus sea power around Crete.

REPORT GENERAL KILLED

BERLIN, May 30 (U.P.)—The official German news agency reported today that Gen. B. O. Freyberg of New Zealand, commander of impregnable Crete, had been killed while flying to Alexandria. The agency said Freyberg and his Chief Aide (Sabry) were killed.

ARMY CAMP SET TO HOUSE 22,500

—INDIAN TOWN GAP, Pa., May 30 (AP)—With the advent of summer and extensive military training maneuvers, selective service trainees from all parts of the United States are expected to come to this 10,000 acre army camp—a city of 22,500 men in its own right—for drill and training.

Soldiers who arrive here for continuance of their year's military training will find all the conveniences of a small city, located on what was only rolling acres of farm land beneath the slopes of Blue Mountain last fall.

This miracle of rapid construction started from scratch in October and was made habitable for 12,000 former Pennsylvania national guardsmen, now the 28th Division, by the end of February.

Camp Has 108 Buildings

In this brief period of five months, 14,000 civilian workmen under the direction of Major William Kay, construction quartermaster, built the entire city, including 108 buildings—barracks, mess halls, recreation halls, storehouses, and a 50 bed hospital—23 miles of water lines, 24 miles of sewer system, a new sewage disposal plant, electric lines, a drainage line, water supply towers, and even fire hydrants.

During the winter the 28th Division received basic military instruction, but warm weather will find the division heading south for maneuvers and training will be taken in for the basic courses.

The new men will live in two-story barracks, constructed on concrete foundations, with bedrooms, fully equipped with beds and other necessities for habitation. Each regiment will have its own recreation hall and mess hall, as well as supply houses, kitchens, and company stores.

Large Theater-Auditorium

For larger functions the camp is equipped with an auditorium-theater which will be used for officer classes, athletics events, musical programs, moving picture shows and stage plays professional entertainers. Religious services will be transferred from miscellaneous buildings to nine chapels, to be built as soon as a general appropriation is made available.

For the training program, the roads will mark from the building studded 6,000 acres to the surrounding 10,000 acre, which provide room for maneuvers, firing ranges and artillery, rifles and pistols, an artificial lake for training and recreation, and a drill field for parades and marching.

First trainees to arrive here are expected from Fort Riley, Kas., but war department plans, incomplete at present indicate that almost all of the states will have representatives at the $12,000,000 encampment.

PRESERVE U. S. IDEALS, STUDENT SPEAKERS URGE

BURLEY, May 30 (Special)—Burley high school gymnasium was packed to capacity Wednesday evening for the 27th annual commencement exercises when 141 seniors received their diplomas from Clyde Spoo, chairman of the school board. Addresses were given by student speakers, including Dr. Danman, preservation of American ideals in the present day crisis.

The special section reserved for parole of the graduates was filled as was every other available space in the hall. Members of the school board, Supr. George E. Denman and Principal M. W. McLaughlin were seated on the platform, with Morris E. Swanson, class president, who introduced the numbers. Baskets of lilacs, sprays and bouquets decorated the gymnasium, and Junior girls, lined in colorful formal, acted as usher.

Senior Winward gave the invocation, and Maxine Weil gave the salutatory address. Miss Weidman stated that the three phases of school life were: Gaining of knowledge, growth through extra-curricular activities, and the making of friendships.

Presents Memorial

Edna Brown, class secretary, presented the senior class memorial which was a combination photograph and record and a revolving program, numbers on the program were recorded by the students.

The three commencement addresses were given by members of the class, in keeping with a custom established several years ago. Henry Roper, speaking on "Conservation, the Life Blood of America," stressed the importance of conserving our resources, which are being depleted in reality, they are definitely limited. He stated that U. S. resources and man power should be conserved. He urged the audience to keep up on present day affairs and form opinions and exercise the right to vote.

Ferry Stephenson spoke on "Democratic Reflections," and gave comparisons of other crises in American history as compared with present ones, stating the America had always come through.

"Every American is pondering the fate of his nation in the next few years," Stephenson said, "it is now America has been threatened before by rulers with dictatorial aspirations and also he told of previous Presidents dealing with strikers."

Peace Bring Security?

Helen Beverley Luke, speaking on "Can Peace Bring Security?" said that if America helps England to win the war, then England should guarantee three things: A free and independent China, with Britain assisting in a non-aggressive attitude toward China; that Britain should align herself with the principles of the 1938 Lima conference, and that Britain should cooperate for fair and more equal trade agreements among all nations.

James Roper and Maxine Weidman sang a duet, and Jean Gochrup played a piano solo. In the valedictory address, Dr. Henry Wayne Van der Bunt, in his address, stressed the opportunity of education was expressed.

In presenting the class for their diplomas, Principal M. W. McLaughlin said that the class of 1941 was one of the most outstanding ever to leave the local high school, the students have striven to improve themselves and have met school honors better than any previous class. Supr. Denman then presented the class to the board of education, and Miss Kay presented the class, introducing each graduate. Nona Patricia Walker gave the benediction.

CAR PRODUCTION SHORTAGE LOOMS

DETROIT, May 30 (AP)—Prospect of automobile production shortage looms as the industry faces a shortage of new automobiles within the next few months.

Dealer stocks of new cars are declining at a time when manufacturers usually are able to build them up for the spring selling season. Inventories are approximately at the same point they were last year at this time but sales are 35 per cent greater.

There are some indications that production lines rolling at full speed until at least the date set by the Office of Production Management for a 20 per cent curtailment will not take effect. The changeover of machinery for 1942 models probably will be accomplished in record time.

Six-Day Week at Ford

The Ford Motor company is working six days a week instead of the usual five in an effort to replenish dealer showrooms that were almost stripped during the Ford strike. It was estimated that the strike cut Ford production by 50,000 cars—12 Saturdays of work.

The contra-seasonal trend in dealer stocks went from 474,000 cars March 1 to 424,000 April 1. The Ford strike and heavier buying left the May 1 estimate far under 400,000.

These figures mean that the average American who has a pocket full of money from the defense boom and wants a new car, may have to wait a long time to get one.

1942 Models in Doubt

New buying interest has been stimulated by prospect of a boom in car prices and the fact that no company has announced intention of making a 1942 model. General Motors said flatly it would make its 1942 models run through 1943.

Based on an estimate, the production of 5,000,000 units, the 20 per cent curtailment on 1942 model output will leave only 4,000,000 cars for a market that some believe will be as great as the present one. If a proportionate number of cars are scrapped this year as they were last year, when 2,388,000 went to the junk heap, production of 1942 models will not even meet the need for replacement.

PRODUCE DEPARTMENT SUGGESTIONS

Fresh Fruits and Vegetables By The Pound

With the same price each for a wide variety of sizes, it is apparent that some shoppers get bargains and others pay more for what they get. It is pretty much a case of the early bird gets the worm. At least the early shopper gets the large heads or bunches and the late shopper gets the small ones that are left and each shopper has a problem of getting their money's worth, with no way of being sure. Now with each item, bunch or head being priced by the pound you may select just the amount, size or kind, you want and be sure you pay only for what you get, because the price per pound is the same to all.

The Long Road Nobody who thinks that the present economic activities are a mere flurry, soon to be over and forgotten, had better pinch himself. The government has just arranged to invest $300,000,000 in a new aluminum manufacturing plant designed to produce 500,000,000 pounds of aluminum a year. It won't produce any at all for 18 months or two years, so you can see that the government is planning for a long pull. Everybody will instantly recall the Muscle Shoals nitrate plants built during the World war, which were not ready to produce until the war was over. Yet to build them was no doubt a wise thing at the time. Possibly one of the best ways to shorten such emergencies is to prepare to see them through for many years.

77 YEARS AGO MAY 30, 1864 J. H. The Weyerhaeuser company has been very successful in territory attempting to induce the ranchers to try the silo and have met with marked success. C. A. Turbun arrived in the city yesterday evening from Burley and will stay for a day or two of business. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Allen were visitors in Burley Sunday, attending the dedication of the Christian church.

Cowboys Play Double Bill at Boise Today

BOISE, May 30 (Special)—The Cowboys and the Pilots were rained out last night—so Acting Manager Hal O'Brian of the visiting Wranglers today announced a switch in the pitching line-up.

The switch will send Bob Fitzke, veteran former major leaguer, to the mound in this afternoon's game in place of Dick Maes, the tiny left-hander, who had been slated for that spot.

Andy Harrington, who accompanied the team here to meet his old club, the Boise Pilots, figures that Maes will be a winning pitcher in this league—it hot weather ever rolls around. He says a warm afternoon may be the thing needed.

For tonight's game Paul Piszczek will get the call—and a chance to notch up his second game of the season over the Pilots. Paul turned back the Boise aggregation in the season's opener and is rated one of the most effective pitchers in the league—if he can get any batting punch behind him at all.

Fitzke will have his work cut out for him, threatened other players take the field in threatening weather—with only about 200 customers in the stands—all wrapped in blankets, raincoats and rubbers—with a few umbrellas in the crowd.

Nazis Deny Schmeling Is Dead

BERLIN, May 30 (UP)—The Nazi press today presented an interview with Max Schmeling as proof that British reports of the heavy-weight boxer's death were erroneous.

Schmeling, it was revealed, took part in the parachute invasion of Crete but is now ill with a mild tropical disease and has been placed in a Nazi military hospital. He is awaiting transfer to the air force as a fighter plane pilot.

The Schmeling interview was obtained by Siegfried Krapp, a German propaganda company reporter, who revealed the fighter was among the first Nazi parachutists to land on Crete.

Schmeling said his task was to capture and hold an important road and a nearby prison whose inmates, he said, had been released by the British. Just before taking off for Crete Schmeling was promoted to the rank of lance corporal.

"As we landed," said Schmeling, "Tom Sato, former U.S. Marine, was received by a fierce fire from houses and trees top everywhere."

He said the fire seemed to come mostly from a house he described as "franciscan"—presumably certain irregular troops—commanded by British officers.

THE SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson - NEA Service Sports Editor. Baseball is good in sports as the defense program gathers momentum.

Self courses are more crowded than they have been since the crash of 1929 forced clubs to loosen up on membership restrictions. This attracts a definite sort of age of caddies, industries having made it simple for them to find more profitable employment.

As many as 50,000 persons are expected to see the National Open championship over the Columbia course in Port Worth, June 6, 7.

Despite expansion of plants, manufacturing of tools, reels and other fishing equipment can't supply the demand.

The largest single manufacturer of reel rods is 60,000 behind in orders.

Where the teams are a worth watching, the baseball turnstile clicks.

The Brooklyn played before 60,000 in their first 24 games in east, 23,081 in 18 at home, despite the fact that no more than 31,000 can be jammed into Ebbets field.

There was no public sale of reserved seats for the Dodgers' Memorial day double-header with the Giants at the Polo Grounds, where 80,000 can be accommodated.

The country is still crazy about horses.

U. S. USES CAUTION IN LENDING TO LATIN AMERICA

CUBAN REQUEST FOR $50,000,000 IS OUT IN HALF

By LAWRENCE S. MAAS
United Press Latin America Editor

The extension of $25,000,000 credits to Cuba by the export-import bank of Washington, to be used for public works and agricultural projects, appears to be largely designed to aid in solving the island's unemployment problem.

The Cuban administration had hoped for a larger loan. Last summer and fall, a special commission was in the United States seeking $50,000,000, a large part of which was wanted without any strings, to be spent in part by such agencies as the Cuban Tourist corporation, an organization which in the past has been political.

It is apparent that the export-import bank, the principal United States lending agency to American republics, is making its commitments with care and study. Whether the larger part of the great sums being lent in the southern countries for public works and to stabilize foreign exchange to aid in buying power abroad, will be repaid promptly is open to question. However, the allocation of loans and credits seemingly is designed to insure that the money will be used for the greatest possible benefit to the greatest number of people.

Close Supervision Assured

That probably explains the failure of Cuba to obtain the full sum sought. Warren Lee Pierson, export-import bank head, was in Cuba more than a year ago and he made it plain at that time that any credits extended would be supervised closely.

Cuba is not a country typical of the other Latin American nations. Its geographical situation and economic problems set it apart, as it lies close to the front doorstep of the United States and must, therefore, be supervised closely.

Cuba, as a customer for its products. However, the credits granted to Cuba may indicate the underlying motives of United States policy in general in granting loans to Latin America.

Principally, these loans and credits are aimed to relieve the crushing effects of the war, which have deprived Latin American countries of normal markets abroad, thrown countless thousands out of work, weakened the exchange value of currencies and halted normal agricultural and industrial development.

A loan to build a new road or extend an old one will give employment to laborers, and will open new areas to domestic markets. Credits for the building of sewer systems and waterworks also will provide employment, advance health standards and raise the productive capacity of residents.

Old Loans in Default

In the 1920s, hundreds of millions of dollars were lent by the export-import bank by U. S. banking institutions, which in turn sold bonds to the public. Now a large part of these bonds are in default or complete default. In some cases principal and interest rates have been scaled down, but Latin American governments still are burdened by these obligations.

Lenders to Latin America now, with this example before them, are astute to be stipulating conditions that will provide reasonable insurance for prudent expenditure of borrowed money, to keep the hands out of the hands of profligate and out of the pork barrel.

It would defeat one of the primary purposes of the loan policy if the man-in-the-street could find any ground for an accusation that "Yankee imperialism" is in league with the "politico" of his own country to total additional obligations upon himself, and it would give additional ammunition to the active and adequately financed corps of axis agents bent on undermining hemispheric solidarity.

Long Range View Held

The loan policy, furthermore, apparently has been framed for benefits to the borrowers that will be felt in the future. Many of the credits have been advanced to aid in establishing or developing industry. One example is the partial financing by the export-import bank of the new Brazilian steel industry, and other South American industrial projects are being aided by the bank.

A somewhat belated realization of the need for a greater measure of industrial independence has been struck upon Latin America through the effects of the war. These countries have always been exporters of agricultural products, raw materials, and have had to rely on the sale of these products for means to purchase manufactured goods. Today their sales are cut off from blocked countries and lack of shipping space has reduced exports to markets that still are open.

The new idea for industrializing Latin America—it scarcely can be called a program yet except in Brazil where one has been formulated—in a long range plan.

Solon Points to Water Hazard in Shipping Sugar

The story of the opened Senate debate for legislation which would allocate any deficit in the Philippine sugar quota beyond 75,000 tons to domestic producers. He predicted the Philippine deficit this year would be 300,000 tons because of shipping difficulties.

DECREE FREEZES FOREIGN CONTROL

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP)—Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard today signed a consent decree which United States officials said would have the effect of freezing the fertilizer and nitrogen industry from foreign control and of preventing runaway prices such as occurred during the World War.

Under the previous system of marketing agricultural nitrogen, certain European concerns, notably the German dye trust, exercised a dominating control in the field.

Eligible to the consent decree were the department of justice and several defendants to antitrust action started by the government in 1938. Among the defendant corporations were the Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation, the Barrett company, and Gemet-Solvay company, the Solvay Process company, and E. I. Du Pont de Nemours.

EX-PRESIDENT FINED
MADRID, May 30 (AP)—Nicoló Alcina Zamora, first president of Republican Spain, was fined $20,000 and sentenced to 15 years exile today by a court of political responsibilities, which recommended also that he be deprived of his citizenship.
