IRAQ RESISTANCE TO BRITAIN ENDS

Ickes Named U. S. Oil "Dictator"

Petroleum Industry In Full Control of Interior Secretary

By T. F. REYNOLDS
 HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 31 (UP)—President Roosevelt today began implementing his proclamation of an unlimited national emergency today by naming Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes virtual dictator of the $10,000,000,000 American oil industry.

Designating Ickes as petroleum coordinator for national defense, Mr. Roosevelt ordered him to formulate a program to insure "that the supply of petroleum and its products will be accommodated to the needs of the nation and the national defense program and the most efficient use of the resources of the petroleum industry."

Ickes already is federal oil administrator, having administered the Connolly act, which prohibits the transport in interstate commerce, of oil produced in excess of quotas set under state laws, since it was enacted in 1925. And as head of the interior department, he is the head of the department's petroleum conservation division and bureau of mines.

First to Feel Effects
 It appeared that civilians in Atlantic seaboard states might be the first to feel the full effects of the national defense emergency—a shortage of gasoline and interference with the mechanization of the war of the modern era. Last Thursday, Ickes declared he would advise petroleum producers and oil refiners, suggesting drastic conservation measures are being considered.

Ickes' move was a relief to Ickes, gave him power only to "make specific recommendations" to federal or state governments, authorities, and to the petroleum industry. But under the state of unlimited emergency proclaimed by Mr. Roosevelt last Tuesday night, Ickes was little doubt that the "recommendations" of the new coordinator of matters of petroleum disposal and use would amount to a virtual ukase.

Federal petroleum statistics made it obvious that presidential move was a restriction on the shortage of crude or processed petroleum but by a shortage of transportation facilities to make gasoline and lubricant supplies available at reasonable prices in major consuming centers.

Fields Meet Demand
 The oil fields of the southwest are adequate to meet any demand, even in the present defense industrial acceleration, but segregation of tankers from transport service to meet civilian needs, to aid Britain and maintain domestic oil industry.

U. S. to Relinquish Extra Territorial Claims on China

The extra-territorial rights date back to the Boxer rebellion. "This nation's pledge was revealed in publication of an exchange of letters between Hull and the newly appointed Chinese foreign minister, Guo Tai-Chi, who recently visited this country and is now on route to Chungking.

CLARK TO SET UP CIVILIAN DEFENSE
 BOISE, May 31 (UP)—Gov. Chase A. Clark announced today he will bring immediately to set up a state civilian council for defense.

"The council, whose duty it will be to coordinate plans to meet emergency conditions, will be formed among leaders of business, labor and agriculture who volunteer for service."

Clark said he had decided to set up the defense council as an alternative to formation of a state home guard, which he said would cost about $100,000 and would be an unnecessary expense.

The council will be directed by a paid chairman, but all other members will be volunteers. It was understood C. E. Arney, state purchasing agent, was in line for appointment as chairman.

The governor said that responsibilities and duties of the new council would be broad. It would be called upon to act as coordinator in disputes between labor and industry, and would also make plans for relinquishment of special extraterritorial facilities to meet disaster or emergency.

Officers Have Slot Machine Wrecking Bee
 Lusty blows from sledgehammers had put an end today to the careers of two slot machines—bringing to a halt the number of slot machines destroyed here in little more than a week.

The two latest machines were destroyed by direction of Sheriff Warren W. Lowery under order granted by Probate Judge O. A. Bailey. The machines were seized at Curry and at a lunch stand east of Twin Falls.

The hammering which reduced the slot machines to a mass of twisted metal and broken gears was done with a will by Deputy Sheriff Virgil Horden, State Patrolman V. K. Barron, Grand Inspector Harold Halverson and Kimberly Constable El Dorado.

The "wrecking bee" was staged in the basement of the county courthouse.

Funds confiscated from the machines—totaling $220—were paid over to the county treasurer under order of the probate judge. The treasurer deposited the money in the general account.

On May 29 city police also seized two machines, destroyed them under order and paid $18.40 to the county school fund.

English Prepare to March Into Baghdad; Nazi Agent And Aides Flee to Safety

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, Jr.
 LONDON, May 31 (UP)—Premier Rashid Ali Al-Ghalib of Iraq has fled to Iran with his chief aides, his forces have asked an armistice and Iraqi resistance has ceased, it was announced authoritatively today.

It was believed here the armistice had already been granted and British forces were preparing to march into Baghdad from positions a few miles outside the city.

A British victory over the German-supported Rashid regime had been won by prompt and firm action, Germany had failed to rally the Arabs to Rashid's standard and a dangerous British march into Baghdad in the middle east had been dispensed.

Laud Crete Island
 Authoritative informants attributed the victory, which meant restoration of the friendly Iraqi regime of the recent Abdull Ilah, directly to the stubborn stand of the British forces in Crete, who had fought for nearly two weeks against German forces of overwhelming superiority.

Thus, while the situation in Crete was admittedly desperate and all hope had been lost of holding the island, the British, Imperial and Greek forces who still fought doggedly there, had prevented the German from driving Rashid into support they had promised him.

No matter what happens in Crete now, the British stand on the island there has been justified first by the destruction of thousands of German's best troops and great quantities of war material, and secondly by the fact that it enabled the British forces to starve the Iraqis.

Armistice Expected
 Informants said that the armistice had been requested within the last 48 hours by a committee headed by the mayor of Baghdad, which had assumed control of the capital.

It was believed British Abdull Ilah, whom Rashid had ousted as regent, and Nuri Said, the premier, who had been overthrown by Rashid's coup, were in Baghdad and would enter the city soon for a government.

It was said that Iraq with Amin Zaki, his chief of staff; his regent Shahrar, a group of officers and the German civilian minister who had helped to foment his revolt.

40 Die, 100 Hurt as Planes Bomb Dublin

DUBLIN, May 31 (UP)—Rescue squads searched for men, women and children today in the twisted debris of homes being dropped by at least four bombs on Dublin, killed an estimated 30 to 40 persons, wounded more than 100, wrecked or damaged scores of homes and blew out windows of the official residence of President Douglas Hyde.

Three of the bombs struck in the crowded northeast section of the city. A fourth, falling in the Phoenix park area, wrecked a western public house, the one which fell sufficiently near the president's home to blast its windows.

One big fire burned for hours before firemen could control it.

One hospital received more than 100 killed and wounded.

Near Rail Station
 Of those which struck in the city proper, one dropped in the North Circular road, a second in Summer Hill park and a third in the North Strand. All three struck near the city's main station, the principal railroad terminal of the capital, and the River Liffey Dock area.

Planes had been flying over the city since noon after midnight, apparently on their way to Belfast. German planes bombing northern Ireland customarily fly across the city's channels, and Dublin as a landmark fly on northward.

It was known German planes were active over northern Ireland (during the night).

Second Dublin Raid
 It was the second time Dublin had been bombed and the eighth time since the city was taken over by the Germans in the past. Germany had accepted responsibility, Dublin was last bombed early in January when it was hit by a single plane.

During the past bombings, and the frequent night flights of German planes on their way to northern Ireland, Irish anti-aircraft guns played their part and their fire again prevented when planes flew over by daylight.

Senator Pepper Sends Challenge To Isolationist
 KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 31 (UP)—Rep. Charles Pepper, D., Fla., charged last night that "the appeasers and isolationists can keep this nation stagnant for another year" and urged "a more vigorous" of the war between Germany and Great Britain has been fought.

Pepper telegraphed Wheeler, a former isolationist, that he would speak in Helena, Mont., Neb. He said that "it is the President's Right?" He invited Wheeler to debate the subject with him.

Pepper said he did not get to Helena on that date. Pepper said he would meet him "any time, any place."

Merchantman Successful in Atlantic Run
 AT A BRITISH PORT, May 31 (UP)—A merchantman which had run the Atlantic gauntlet of German submarines and planes steamed into port today with the first American cargo since the sea-laid act—cheese from Mantoloking, Wis., and 6,000 cases of eggs from Columbus, Ohio.

W. Averell Harriman, American sea-laid commissioner here; Lord Woolton, food minister; and Robert Hinkley, department of commerce expert, welcomed what constituted the first material evidence of the $10,000,000,000 sea-laid effort.

"Just as Good"
 Woolton broke open a "head" of 40,000 pounds of Wisconsin cheddar cheese, sampled it with dock workers, and said:

"It is as good as anything we make in England."

The 3,000 ton freighter was the first of a promised "flood of ships" American flag vessels that are to carry not only food but munitions, tanks and planes to Britain. This ship was separated from a large convoy which came through without incident and without loss.

Test Successful
 The small food cargo aboard the ship was an experiment to test feasibility of shipping cold storage, eggs and cheese by boats not equipped with refrigerators. Because such food is essential to the army and war workers it was considered necessary to expedite imports.

Salaries would not discuss whether American patrol boats sailed the convoy on its way to England.

Confers With Winant
 IVYDE PARK, N. Y., May 31 (UP)—Rep. Charles Pepper, D., Fla., conferred with Ambassador Winant today with John C. Winant, United States ambassador to Great Britain, and made two requests to enter with him. He left on Tuesday in Washington.

CROPS DAMAGED BY HAIL STORM
 Considerable crop damage was caused yesterday afternoon by a hail storm which swept portions of the west end of Twin Falls county and hit the towns of Hamlet, Hamlet Falls and Kimberly, a survey showed today.

Coming from the south, the storm swept across the area and then apparently stopped as it reached the Snake river, no reports of damage received from north side areas.

Large Raisinorchards
 Raisinorchards in the section northwest of Hamlet were most of the damage occurred, said that the hail stones ranged in size from walnuts to small peas. Damage that was done to beans, barley, wheat and alfalfa.

Beans and grain plantings in the Grayson area suffered considerable damage, and practically all of the apples at the Spilberg orchard were ruined.

The hail struck an eight mile area, damaging the crop plantings on the Bill Kenyon, Harvey Kenyon, Grace Kenyon, Peter company, Henry Smith, Chester Miller, Lee Conrad, Martin Miller, Frank Sample and Alvin Taylor farms.

Vegetable gardens were riddled by the pellets; flower gardens stripped of flowers, and shade trees defoliated.

Many of the farmers whose farms were hit by the full force of the hailstorm, however, said that it would be necessary to entirely replace their farms.

In the Deep Creek and Berger sections, where the storm was less intense, power line transformers were damaged in addition to the crops. Kenyon Power company has reported that two transformers were destroyed and about 40 were damaged.

Heavy Rain
 Heavy rain fell in the area today, but the hail storm was over by 10:00 a.m.

Three More Initials to Learn: OCD

It will be a long time before the initials OCD are quite as familiar to Americans as the initials ARP are to Britain. We hope they may never be. Yet it is time to learn them, and to know them as well as circumstances dictate.

OCD is the office of civilian defense headed by Mayor LaGuardia of New York. It is roughly to the United States what the now-famous ARP (air raids precaution) is to Britain. It is the organization which will set up the means by which civilians defend themselves and their cities against air raids.

There is nothing hysterical about setting up these techniques in time of peace. They are as much a part of national defense as the training of an army. Modern war attacks civilians and cities as viciously as it attacks armies. If the civilian is unprepared to resist, an army, even a good one, may be suddenly left without the back-home support which it must have to function.

Certainly one of the factors which brought about the capitulation at Munich was the defenseless state of London. People who were in London at that time can tell of the conditions: No anti-aircraft guns; no air-raid shelters; no adequate evacuation arrangements for women and children; no proper fire-fighting setup; nothing to prevent the city becoming an immediate shambles under a quick raid. This must have been one of the thoughts in Chamberlain's mind when he flew to Munich.

We have Warsaw, Rotterdam, Coventry and London before us. Their lessons are written for all to read. Mayor LaGuardia begins with the estimate that "it is 95 per cent probable at this time that we will never get into action. But the country cannot take a chance on that 5 per cent."

That is the thought behind the organization which LaGuardia is now setting up. Big cities, vulnerable to air attack, will be tackled first, others later. Most cities will be entirely unaffected, at least at first.

It took months of preparation, for instance, to stage Seattle's first 15-minute blackout. Should an emergency confront the country, it might come suddenly. Then it is too late to improvise.

With the experience of Europe before us, it should be possible to lay the groundwork of effective civil defense without disrupting at all the normal life of communities. That, we take it, is the aim of the OCD, to lay a basis for civilian defense, a phase of all-out defense that is 100 per cent defensive in nature, and as important a part of national defense as the armed forces themselves.

We 'Roll Our Own'

Another illustration of what the war is doing: American producers are now serving 98 per cent of American wine wants.

France is the big loser. In the first quarter of last year, before France fell, she sent to America 170,000 gallons of champagne. This year in a similar period a mere 13,200 gallons trickled through the British blockade, mostly via Casablanca and Martinique.

These changes in buying habits are likely to persist long after the war, even assuming that French winogrowers get back into their old stride. It is merely another instance of how modern war disrupts trade and buying habits, changes which are likely to become permanent.

The Banks Cooperate

Another example of splendid cooperation in the government's defense program: The banks.

Not only are they uniformly handling subscriptions for defense bonds without cost, but many bankers have gone much farther, personally urging their purchase. In St. Louis, one bank took a full-page advertisement at its own expense to urge their advantages, headed up with the legend "Uncle Sam Is Too Modest," and then setting forth reasons for buying.

You might think banks would regard the defense bonds as competition, and discourage their sale. After all, money used to buy defense bonds is not deposited in the banks.

But they don't feel that way. Most banks have advisory committees to meet any demand for loans. They have money deposited. Besides, World War bonds have taught them the technique and the ultimate advantage of cooperating with the people in their effort to build defense.

"Who... do you tell me all this when you love him yourself!"

"From the lot of Tony called 'Kilo' called here."

"Kilo seemed not to hear. Her green eyes, filled with tears, were fixed upon Paula."

"You're so decent," she said slowly.

"So are you, Kilo," Paula said. "And now your chance to prove it."

"Paula, I—I didn't mean to get Chris in trouble. It was just that I was jealous. I was willing to do anything to keep him away from me."

"Paula tried to interrupt her, but Kilo rushed on: 'I wanted Chris in the League because he was darling. Then one of the boys slugged him through the front door into every fraternity party.' Chris promised to help. Later, when you told him about Uncle Barney, he came to me and said he was quitting the League."

"Paula said, 'Please, Kilo, there's no time now.'" Kilo ignored the warning: "Chris said he'd have no part in getting Van Horn freed. But he'd promised to meet me the night of the party and he never showed. He begged me not to start trouble. I refused. It began to rain and I borrowed his scarf to cover my face. Chris didn't even go with us. I saw him afterward and told him how Tony had been hurt. He said he never wanted to see me again."

HIGHLIGHTS FROM LATEST BOOKS

HILL-BILLYING IS FUN IF YOU DO IT YOURSELF

How to be a hill-billy in 30 easy lessons might well be the name of this delightful book about the Ozark hills, written by the author of "The Book of the Ozark" (Bobbs-Merrill, $2.50). For hill-billying is fun and the Chicago couple who sought an anchor to throw in the Ozark hills of Missouri count it as their most delightful experience.

The author is Mrs. Marguerite Lyon, a copy writer in an advertising agency, and she is widely known there for her lovely word sketches of the Ozark hills. "Manga of Sunrise Mountain Farm." The book is a development from these sketches, which she has drawn into vivid pictures of the hardships and struggle of this couple as they fought the inconveniences and discomforts which attend hill-billying.

But these distressing experiences are forgotten in the delight of "Little Hill's" hill-billy pot cakes, chicken 'n' biscuits, wild strawberries, permain puddings, wild mushrooms, lamb's-quarters greens and other delicacies. And of course poke greens.

The Lyons' greatest pleasure in the hills came from friendly conversation with their neighbors. Aunt Mable Sanders, with her "mystery" in her neck; Elmer Lydin, a Crank writer who once wrote a four-dollar poem for a magazine; and Pinky Waters, the dark-eyed dandy who was "demure" as a Christian name and logical as a supreme court judge.

Their experiment in the hills of Missouri was so intriguing that Robert Lyons became judge of the peace—a judicial part of the hill-billying. And then when he had proved himself as a justice he became president of the Mountain View Chapter of Commodore.

There's more to being a hill-billy than meets the eye, and it'll be nice to know that a city-bred fellow can succeed where he has if he applies himself with diligence and caution. Best part of the book is the list of hill-billying equipment which contains the startling intelligence that a 40-acre farm, complete with three-room log cabin and 100 head of stock, can be had for $500 to $1,000. If you have the cash.

Grange Cleanings

By A. HARVESTER

CANYONSIDE

This is another of those extra Friday months that we have every so often. On Friday, however, there were only the usual number of Tuesdays and we have two Tuesdays this time.

Canyonside Grange met Tuesday night with 25 Granges present, including Mr. and Mrs. Dyer and Mr. and Mrs. Omar Diehl, all of Appleton Grange. Ed Oreg brought up the subject of the wheat referendum. Mrs. Thomsen had reported that the health council did very well with their play, clearing about $35.

Secretary Mrs. Will Meier told of the fine suggestions and ideas in conducting a Grange's business which she heard at the officers' school, held last week. She was authorized to purchase a digest, the constitution and by-laws and a national Grange membership card.

Mr. Dykstra of Appleton spoke on "Aims of the Grange." The National Grange took the chair while Master R. H. Callen gave an excerpt from the address of a recent meeting at Appleton, May 22. After much discussion, a motion prevailed to send a copy of the resolution to the U. S. house bill No. 1199, copies of the resolution to be sent to the senators and congressmen in conducting a Grange's business. The secretary reported receipt of a letter of thanks from the Jerome band members, for help toward the purchase of a new band uniform. Jim Purdy was reported ill with the mumps and Mrs. Tom, of the Grange, was reported ill. The lecturer presented a program of music, with group singing, roll call, a reading by the master and a reading by the clerk. Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Weeks and Mr. and Mrs. Ogle Wall were on the serving committee.

Looks like Adolf is making more headway than we Grangers are in getting rid of the surplus. And I suppose his cross graind way is having just as much fun.

See by the National Grange Monthly that they are getting ready for a great meeting of the National Grange this fall at Worcester, Mass. Seventy-five years of Grange service are being celebrated this year and I doubt if any year in the history of the Grange has had a greater growth in membership or of usefulness than this 75th year will show. In our own community, many who have regarded nothing but a radical and un-American idea, are anxious to become members.

Far from being radical, the Grange is ultra-conservative and is always ready to do anything that is not harmful if such a measure is passed or that action is taken that is not in the best interest of the Grange.

Ice cream and cookies were served by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barry and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Miller.

TRADE BARRIERS

It seems, now that our export trade is almost a thing of the past, that everything we can do to shorten the price gap between the producer and consumer would be good business. There are many who wouldn't mind the Grange take the lead and in each state where such things as trade barriers of any kind exist, to have a letter to the state capital by working together, eliminate a lot of needless transportation and expense to the farmer.

After all, this producer and consumer.

4-H VALUABLE

Went on a dairy tour with a 4-H club the other day, and it is surprising how much this little group know about what constitutes a good dairy animal. And the lady that has a year of club work is sponsoring one or more 4-H clubs. If you have a lot of members and a lot of club work, a 4-H club sure beats the pool hall for a training school for boys.

BUHL

Buhl Grange also met last Tuesday night with a good attendance of officers and members. All new members were voted into the order.

It was also voted to take a membership in the "Canyon of Ten Thousand Springs" section and several private memberships were taken.

The sum of $15 was voted to send Jeanette Shulton to the 4-H short course at Moscow. (Don't know who a Grange could better spend its money than by investing in the young folks.) The resolution committee was instructed to draft a letter to the state capital to the Twin Falls County Pomona Grange, asking that the Grange, Farm Bureau and Farmers' Union cooperate more closely in promoting the welfare of the farmer.

Little Marguerite Phillips played two solos, "Morning Prayer" and "Listen to the Mocking Bird" during the lecturer's hour. Arlene Barry sang a solo. Mr. and Mrs. Barry on the piano. Arlene and Marguerite then played a piano duet, "Rose Petals." Arrangements were made for a discussion of the need for wheat quotas.

Ice cream and cookies were served by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barry and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Miller.

DAVIS OFFICIALLY WINS 500-MILE EVENT

Cincinnati Reds Home St. Louis Winning Streak

Credit on Victory Goes to Rose for Last-Half Spurts

By JACK GUENTHER
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 31 (UP)—The name of Floyd Davis of Springfield, Ill., was engraved on a silver cup today as the 29th winner of the 500-mile Indianapolis speedway classic...

That was the name of that veteran who divides his time between racing automobiles and building airplane engines. Rose has a simple philosophy: If at first you don't succeed you should try again. Yesterday he tried for the seventh time to win the world's premier speed classic...

and the seventh time was good. The way to do it was somewhat complicated. First he was forced to the sidelines—and apparently out of the race—when his own car developed trouble on the first lap of the $100,000 grind and could not be repaired in time for his continuing 10 rounds later...

Rose Gets Credit
The rules say the man who starts in the winning car gets official credit for the triumph. But as for the driver who drove the car that was out of the race and who was taken over by Davis...

It was Davis who took over the car that was out of the race and who was taken over by Davis. He drove it to victory and won the $50,000 prize...

Rose was concerned because he was the boy whose skill and daring won the 1937 Indianapolis 500. He checked the flag after four hours, 20 minutes and 36.24 seconds of nerve-racking competition...

Shaw Crashes
At 300 miles he was fourth behind Shaw, Cliff Bess and Rex May, and at 350 miles he had closed ground but had not improved position...

Rose moved to second behind Cliff Bergere—and in just 80 more miles had taken the lead. He never lost it and clinched first prize at $20,000...

The four men who crashed were Shaw, Joel Thorne, Everett Saylor. The first three suffered superficial injuries but Saylor was in serious condition...

Back of the race were May, McGinnis and Ross. The race was a safe lead, went crashing into the fence on the 16th lap and couldn't get back for another 10 miles...

Ogden Hurlers Stop Salt Lake Twice; Cards Trim Russets

Ogden Reds moved three-and-a-half games out in front in the Pioneer league Memorial day, and the Salt Lake Bees, after a short stay in second place, dropped to third behind the Reds Pilots.

The Reds shutout Salt Lake, 1-0, in the opening game of a holiday double-header, and then came back in the nightcap to shade the Bees, 4-2.

Clayton Gumbert, pitching four-hit ball, chalked up his fourth victory of the season in a mound duel with George Peterson at Ogden. Moresco booted an easy grounder in the fourth with two away and the Reds scored the only tally in the first game.

Three singles and a wild pitch by Bob Jensen gave the Reds two scores in the fourth inning of the second game. Boss scored in the sixth and ninth, but a pair of Ogden runs crossed the plate in the ninth to sew up the game for the Reds.

Edna Stinson of Twin Falls, 4-2, dropped the Cowboys deper into the cellar. Piscovich gave up seven hits to the Pilots who moved into second place with a 4-1 win. The first game of a scheduled double-header was rained out.

The Ogden team, a wild pitch by Bob Jensen gave the Reds two scores in the fourth inning of the second game. Boss scored in the sixth and ninth, but a pair of Ogden runs crossed the plate in the ninth to sew up the game for the Reds.

Old Ted Lyons Beats Indians; Athletics Tip Washington Twice

NEW YORK, May 31 (UP)—The hottest club in baseball finally was cooled off—that was the high spot of the Decoration day doubleheaders which drew nearly 280,000 fans into eight major league parks.

After running off 11 straight victories, the St. Louis Cardinals finally bowed to the Cincinnati Reds in the second game of a twin bill. But the Cards knocked out Bucky Walters in eight innings before they finally bowed, 3-2.

The day's 16 games were filled with thrills, comebacks, nervous and unexpected developments but the day's No. 2 achievement, second only to the Cards' defeat, was the Chicago White Sox double triumph over the Cleveland Indians, 7-1 and 8-2.

DEALINGS QUIET AFTER HOLIDAY

NEW YORK, May 31 (UP)—Stocks moved irregularly in quiet post-holiday dealings today.

There was some strength in aircraft stocks in line with indications from Washington that airplane production will be the number one item on the new program for building up defense production.

Business news had an apparent market influence on stock prices. The fact that priorities were being put on steel items by the OPM (Office of Production Management) during the holiday, OPA showed little change for iron had been named "warrent" of the industry.

Consolidated Aircraft was outstanding, rising 1 1/2 points to a new high at 30 1/2. American Steel and Wire led the fraction. Chrysler held slightly above its previous high with General Motors counted in 1941 low at 35 1/2, off 1/2.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average closed at 114.27, up 1.12 points from 113.15. The S&P 500 index closed at 34.87, up 0.37 points from 34.50.

SIDE GLANCES

The colors seen in a flame are caused by unincorporated properties, fire itself being quite colorless.

"Would you mind sitting over in the middle, Dad? My right rear axle is about to break any minute."

"I didn't mean any harm—I was just trying to earn a little extra change!"
