Shipyard Strike Ordered Ended by Top AFL Officers

International officers of the AFL Machinists union asked 800 members today to return to work at 11 San Francisco shipyards and end one of the few major strikes still hampering defense production.

At San Francisco, the union local called a meeting for Sunday to consider the recommendation. The international officers' request was sent after the executive council acted on President Roosevelt's plea to call off the strike and submit the dispute to the national defense mediation board.

The strike of 1,200 AFL and 500 CIO shipyard workers was called on May 10 to enforce demands for an hourly wage of $1.15 and double time for overtime. National AFL leaders denounced the walkout as a violation of a conciliatory agreement which provided an hourly wage of $1.12 and time and a half for overtime.

Orders Purge

AFL officials fostered a back-to-work movement in San Francisco except those of the Bethlehem corporation, only major shipbuilding company to reject the settlement. Bethlehem holds more than half the $500,000,000 in defense contracts at the 11 plants.

NDMB opened hearings at Washington yesterday on the dispute with Bethlehem.

A spokesman for the CIO machinists indicated that the union will depend on that taken by the AFL members.

AFL machinists at San Diego, taken into custody by the U. S. Coast Guard, returned to work and averted the threat of a walkout. The agreement, reached on Tuesday, provided an hourly wage of $1.12 and time and a half for overtime.

ALLIES REPORTED ON OUTSKIRTS OF KEY SYRIAN CITY

LONDON, June 13 (AP) — Free French forces have flanked the Vichy troops in the south of Damascus and may already be in the suburbs of the city, an authoritative source said today.

The Free French, taking the lead in the final phase of the attack on the French mandated capital of Syria, drove through at two points east of Kessouh, 10 miles south of Damascus, it was said, and may have taken Kessouh itself.

"We see no reason why the Free French should not now be in the suburbs of Damascus and in possession of the city," said a Vichy informant. He added there was no official confirmation of this.

Moves North

The coastal column of the allies was last reported just south of Sidon and a center column was north of Beirut, making progress in the mountainous country and the fact that the French had blown up roads.

Vichy regime officials at Damascus and Beirut were reported to have fled to the north expecting that both towns, capitals of Syria and Lebanon, would fall to the allied forces of this.

Dispatches reported the allies were campaigning within a 15-mile-wide strip of Damascus.

Reported Retreating

The bulk of the Vichy forces were reported retreating north with movable equipment in long motor transport columns and special trains.

Trustworthy Arab sources at Cairo asserted the allies had captured the surrender of Damascus in order to spare the city the ravages of battle.

French reports of heavy fighting both before Damascus and Beirut were denounced here as propaganda.

Jerome Woman Confers With Mrs. FDR on Clothing Plan

A Jerome woman's plan to make clothing for the needy by utilizing cloth taken from wrecked or abandoned automobiles is to receive national attention when she confers soon with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the White House in Washington, D. C., probably on Tuesday.

The woman is Mrs. Walter E. Harman, wife of Rev. Harman, Jerome. She is former Twin Falls resident.

Mrs. Harman is originator of the clothing plan which put into practice in Jerome last year, proved entirely successful. Church women aided in the project.

Various types of cloth, used as upholstery or lining in automobiles, are utilized in the process. In some cases, color is changed and in other cases the color remains the same. The cloth is used to make skirts, trousers, coats, bedspreads, drapes and many other articles.

In Jerome these articles were distributed to needy persons. Steps are now underway in Twin Falls, under Chamber of Commerce auspices, to inaugurate the project here.

About a month ago Mrs. Harman went west and now will confer with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt on details of her unique clothing project. She is shown above as she recently displayed some of the clothing here.

Montanans Study Farm Methods of South Idaho

Montana farmers today toured the Twin Falls section to "learn some of the good farming tricks."

At least that is the way J. O. Tretsvan, extension dairyman of the Montana State College, Bozeman, put it as he led a group of nearly 50 Montana county agents and farmers into a local hotel for luncheon.

The group, under the direction of Ivan H. Laughery, Idaho extension agent, and Bert Bolingbroke, Twin Falls county agent, visited various plants as well as farms in this section. They expected arriving here late this afternoon, they continued to Boise where a similar inspection tour will be made through the Row before they start the journey home.

More Highly Developed

"You have a very fine country here and have developed the dairy industry a little more intensively than we have in Montana," Tretsvan said in an interview with a Times reporter. "We have, frankly speaking, come down here to see if we can learn some of your tricks."

He added that the use of irrigation water here was also "more intensive" than in the Montana section from which members of the group came. Representatives were E. J. Tomaskin, dairy herd manager, Lake, Sanders, Blaine, Cascade, Lewis-Clark, and Gallatin.

Visit Creamery

The tour of your fine country members of the group visited the Jerome Cooperative creamery plant, which has been a model of dairy manufacturing, cheddar storage and whey drier. Next they visited the E. J. Tomaskin dairy herd where they studied the constructive breeding program and continuous testing program. They next visited the H. H. Kayser place to inspect the herd there and also the 25-year-old permanent bluegrass pasture.

This afternoon they visited the H. H. Kayser place, which they inspected with the W. D. Paley, Gooding, and also the model farm creamery there.

British Bombers Stage Big Raids

LONDON, June 13 (AP) — British long range bombing planes wrecked many industrial buildings and started a large number of fires during the night in the heaviest raid since the German attack on the Ruhr-Rhineland area, an air ministry spokesman said today.

Raiders made also of the Belgian invasion port of Antwerp and the great Dutch port of Rotterdam, air storage center, the communicative link between the continent.

Loss of seven British bombing planes was admitted. Eight and eight more were shot down before the Ruhr-Rhineland area.

Hundreds of tons of heavy bombs were hurled on objectives essential to German industry, it was said, and many fires blazed in the area.

FINNS TO ISSUE STATEMENTS ON NAZI RELATIONS

LONDON, June 13 (AP) — A report from Finland that an important statement on German-Finnish relations was imminent, and reports from Helsinki that the Finnish government suddenly had been intensified, stirred interest today in the multiplying indications that Germany might be preparing to strike at Russia.

The United Press Bucharest bureau reported authorities had ordered a thorough inspection of all Bucharest buildings before Sunday to determine their resistance to aerial bombs, and that newspapers published long articles instructing the public on measures to take for their own protection in event of air raids.

Useful Port

The Daily Telegraph said if Germany attacked Russia the Finland, far northern port of Petsamo would be useful to German troops in the endeavor to reach the Gulf of Norway and to those now in Finland.

The newspaper said Germany had three picked divisions, or about 45,000 men, in Finland now and the German transports were moving into the Gulf of Bothnia between Finland and Sweden.

The newspaper generally suggested that the concentration of German troops on the Russian frontier might be intended to put pressure on Russia, seeking to have her use her influence with Turkey so that Germany could attack Russia through Turkey to attack Iraq and Syria.

Visit Turkey

These suggestions were based partly on a letter of Sergei Vinogradov, Russian ambassador to Turkey, at Istanbul on a hurried visit to Russia. Vinogradov arrived in Ankara on Monday and planned to proceed to Odessa by steamship today.

It was suggested also that Vinogradov's visit might be made in the interest of close Russo-Turkish cooperation against any German attempt to force Turkey into their territory.

Despite Russian denial that any negotiations with Germany were being planned, diplomats speculated on possibility that Adolf Hitler had made some sort of secret offer to interest in Iran and access to the Persian gulf, in return for German aid in putting pressure on Turkey.

BOISE, June 13 (AP) — An unidentified man today called the office of Gov. Chase A. Clark to ask whether it would be possible to have two isolationist senators appear on the same lecture platform in Idaho "because our citizens want to tar and feather them."

The unidentified voice also informed the governor's secretary, "How much are they getting paid by you?" Mrs. Wheeler said she was in Nampa when Sen. Wheeler spoke.

Wheeler has been invited to address a meeting of the Boise Valley American Club committed in Nampa later this month.

"How much are they getting paid by you?" Mrs. Wheeler said she was in Nampa when Sen. Wheeler spoke.

When asked the name of his organization, the man replied "We are not socialists but American citizens." He hung up when asked to give his name.

Torpedo, 30-Odd Shells Used for Freighter Attack

BERLIN, June 13 (AP) — A German authorized source said tonight that the American freighter Robin Moor was sunk by a Nazi submarine with a torpedo and "therefore on the German contraband list."

How near the Robin Moor incident will bring German-American diplomatic relations to a break will depend on the extent to which Berlin and Washington are able to agree on exactly what happened and who is responsible for what. The incident is aggravated by probability that up to 85 members of the ship's company and passengers lost their lives.

Plans for formal United States charges was contained in a report to the state department by Walter J. Lindholm, American consul at Fernandopolis, Brazil, who interviewed 11 survivors yesterday. U. S. Vice Consul Philip P. Williamson, who also interviewed the survivors, starts for Washington tomorrow by plane to make a complete report.

Lindholm cabled that survivors reported they were persuaded to accept life boats before the Robin Moor sank in the bottom of the Atlantic with a "torpedo amidships, then some 30-odd shells." The vessel sank in 20 minutes, "in about 20 minutes."

The consul's report revealed none of the surviving seamen was among those who had been rescued. The command had gone to the submarine before the Robin Moor was sunk.

"There is no doubt in mind of the survivors that the commander of the submarine was German, although the latter has no visible markings other than the name Loricke or Loricke and a figure on the hull," Lindholm added.

"The commander spoke to the men in poor English but was identified as German," Lindholm said.

"The evidence also reveals the Robin Moor had the American ensign and U. S. A. painted on stern and a United States flag flying from her stern."

Whatever action President Roosevelt plans to take will wait until Williamson's full report. As of now the United States charge the Robin Moor did not carry munitions (just general cargo ranging from women's brassieres to automobiles and steel rails) and that she was sunk before the United States gunboat was aware that the vessel was of American registry.

"It was unfortunate," he said, "but I am sure that the United States will be satisfied with the report."

Other sightings

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D. Mont., said he had seen the ship "but it isn't one of the incidents that the press has been reporting."

BURLEY, June 13 (Special) — Injured when a pickup truck overturned three or four times, Douglas Egan, about 35, father of three children, was in Cottage hospital this afternoon in "very poor" condition.

Egan, widely known employe of the Fred Hill Livestock company, suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries at the scene of the crash on U. S. 30 about 100 yards north of the Heyburn bridge between Burley and Rupert. At 8 p. m. today the attending physician termed the injured man's condition as critical. He has not yet regained consciousness.

Egan was driving the livestock company truck — containing two more men — back to the back of the Maughn service station. He averaged the truck to avoid a crash. The weight of the load shifted, throwing the small truck out of balance and overturning it.

One man riding with Egan in the cab of the truck escaped with a slight scalp wound.

State Officer Milton Reeves Investigated the accident.

Shoshone Rod and Gun Club, Active Since '23, Sponsors Band Concert

By DON LOWE

SHOSHONE, June 12 (Special)—Recognized as possessing an outstanding record in the development of fish and game resources in south central Idaho, the Shoshone Rod and Gun club has undertaken an enormous undertaking enterprise to fortify still further the area's wildlife resources.

Under the club's sponsorship, the 100-piece Tournament of Roses band of Pasadena Junior college, on Monday, June 10, at 8 p. m. in the Sun Valley stadium will stage a two-hour musical program of songs, dances and vaudeville, vibrant with sparkle, color and the vibrancy of the Wood River and Sawtooth country as a recreational area was created responsibly in the way of maintaining good fishing and hunting. Shoshone sportsmen as early as 1923 organized their club on a new basis and tightened their lines for defense. Little did they realize then that the task would increase so rapidly and their scope so actively expand so greatly. With fish planting trucks as yet unheard of, the club obtained cooperation of the Oregon State Game Commission to purchase 10-gallon milk cans filled with fish from Hayspur hatchery to pothole up and down the valley. Thence the cans were taken by volunteer sportsmen to the streams or by pack trains of cooperating sheep concerns to far spots in the mountains. Necessity of aerial use of the fish by crude methods, not to mention travel over primitive roads and trails, made the job tedious.

Headed Fish in Cans

Along with this, the club organized regular weekly squads of men who hauled fish in borrowed milk cans by truck to places all along Big and Little Wood rivers and to Magic reservoir. In four years time four million fish were planted in this way, and it began to be seen that it was humanly possible to supply enough fish to maintain good fishing.

When experience revealed that great losses were occurring from plants of fish of too small size, the club enlisted the support of neighboring sportsmen and constructed a rearing pond at the Hayspur hatchery, the first rearing pond ever to be built on state property. Success of this was so pronounced that the club actively began installing rearing ponds at its other hatcheries.

Waste of fish down irrigation canals had gradually become more apparent, causing the club to make use of its first opportunity to find out what could be done by the use of fish screens. It installed at considerable expense a fish screen on upper Big Wood river, one of the first few set up in the state. The natural advantages of Wood river valley were recognized so rapidly to the planting of fish, and their traction to sportsmen of distant towns and dates was so great that the state game department could not be expected to keep stride with it, though by this time the state had acquired some fish planting equipment. At this juncture, the Shoshone Rod and Gun club again stepped in, constructed a fish-planting tank of its own, and began to do all the fish planting it could with available equipment.

Home-Made Tank

The tank was entirely home-made, but it soon demonstrated that it had some special advantages even over some equipment of this type selling for fancy prices. Using borrowed trucks, club members, with the aid of labor and gasoline and use of a truck chassis contributed by Sun Valley resort, in 1940 planted 121,000 trout of four to 12-inch length in Wood River valley, Smoky country and the Sawtooth mountains. A second-hand truck has now been obtained, and fish are being planted by week. With all of the funds from the forthcoming concert, the club expects to purchase a new truck to enable faster and better distribution of fish.

Records of the club along other parallel the achievement in fishing development. Pheasants were brought into an area that had been previously considered unsuitable, and pheasant shooting sections of the state. Pheasants were painstakingly fed from railroad trains and in other ways during the first winter. Planting of wild rice and other wild foods were made on streams. Bullfrogs were introduced into lifeless spots and experienced with. Bounties were paid by the club for muskie destruction years before the state game department began this practice. Support of the government was obtained in further destruction of muskies by CCC workers. Cooperation has at all times been given since, federal and other agencies for the upbuilding of wildlife.

The Shoshone Rod and Gun club is small in numbers, never more than 150, but it has been intensely active in all its years. Ninety per cent of its effort has been in sections outside of that immediately surrounding its home town.

Rigney Ready To Join Army

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—Johnny Rigney of the Chicago White Sox offered today to trade his pitcher's glove for an army uniform and for $500 he ever wanted those July and August salary checks.

His draft board said he probably would be inducted into the army next Wednesday but added it was uncertain whether it still could include him in the June quota.

Rigney's board had granted his request for a 60-day deferment but the state selective service administration appealed the decision to President Roosevelt as a test case. The President's ruling would have affected all baseball players.

The 26-year-old pitcher issued a formal statement announcing he had withdrawn his request because of a controversy over the legal provision which was the basis of his deferment.

Fishing Season in Utah Opens Today

SALT LAKE CITY, June 13 (AP)—Plain ordinary earthworms were in high demand throughout Utah today, as sportsmen prepared to brave high streams and muddy water for the opening of the state's 1941 fishing season.

Fish and game department reports indicated the heavy rains this spring have sent creeks and rivers at all parts of the state running near the tops of their banks. As a result, experts recommended use of worms as the best bait.

says DOROTHY RING, U. S. civilian flying instructor, Sky Harbor, Ill. "From the minute I arrive at the airport in the morning, I have to be feeling my best. My favorite breakfast is a big bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes with some fruit and lots of milk. It always hits the spot and it's a real 'self-starter' for me."
