BRITISH RAIN DESTRUCTION ON INDUSTRIAL GERMANY

RAF BOMBS WIDE AREA OF FRENCH, BELGIAN HARBORS

LONDON, July 8 (AP)—British planes made a big sweep over occupied France today after spreading destruction during the night over a wide area of industrial Germany. They rained bombs on eight important German towns and bombed key targets on the Netherlands, Belgian and French invasion coasts.

Big formations of British coastal command planes passed over the Dover strait at the breakfast hour to raid German airbases and to bomb an important synthetic oil plant between Lens and Bethune, in occupied France up near the Belgian border.

The air ministry asserted British fighters shot down seven German fighters and admitted loss of five British fighters and one bombing plane.

It was admitted nine bombers were lost in the unusually heavy, and unusually successful raid on Germany and occupied territory during the night.

Cologne, Osnabrueck, Muenchen-Gladbach, Frankfurt, Aachen, Dusseldorf, Dinsberg and Krefeld were the targets. The bomber command planes also raided Den Helder, the big Netherlands naval base, Amsterdam, Ostend, submarine base on the Belgian coast, and Dunkirk and Boulogne, on the French invasion coast.

WPA EFFORTS ON DEFENSE SOUGHT

BOISE, July 8 (AP)—Dean W. Miller, state works project administrator, said today Idaho's July WPA quota of 5,200 probably would exceed the average monthly quota in 1941 and 1942.

Miller said under the 1942 WPA act emphasis would be placed on defense work but WPA funds would be available only where there was adequate sponsorship provided, either by other federal agencies or local sponsors.

The $275,000,000 appropriated by congress, Miller said, would permit the average employment of 1,000,000 workers throughout the nation, the smallest figure since 1935.

The peak employment in Idaho was in 1938 when 12,599 persons were on WPA rolls.

A. W. Morgan Named As Head of Schools

A. W. Morgan, Blackfoot, today had been named to succeed Homer M. Davis as superintendent of the Twin Falls school system.

Morgan, who has been superintendent of the Blackfoot system for the past three years, will come here under a two-year contract. He will come to Twin Falls in the immediate future and his wife and four children will accompany him. The school board at Blackfoot released him from his duties there last night.

Announcement of the selection of Morgan to fill the vacant post here was made by Ralph Pink, chairman of the board of trustees. Pink pointed out that Morgan has had 13 years experience in school administration as well as an understanding of the problems of an irrigated agricultural section.

Born in Seattle, the new superintendent was brought in Seattle and spent the first three years of his life there. He received his elementary education at Malad, Ida. His first teaching job was in a one-room school and a year later he became principal of a three-room school.

During the two-year period of 1928 to 1929 he attended the University of Idaho, southern branch, Pocatello, and from there went to the Utah State Agricultural college where he received his bachelor's degree in agriculture. During his stay in Utah he taught part-time in a junior high school.

Holds Master's Degree

Going from there to the University of Idaho, Moscow, he received his M. S. degree and then took graduate work at the University of California, Berkeley.

For a 10-year period he was with the Fifth, Ida, schools, serving for one year as a teacher, one year as coach and eight years as superintendent.

During his stay in Blackfoot, Morgan was active in community affairs.

In announcing his selection to fill the local post, officials declared that "he is a man for whom the welfare of young people always comes first."

School will open in Twin Falls for the fall session on Sept. 2.

COUNCIL PRAISES 'SANE' JULY 4TH

Councilmen last night "officially" decided that the city had passed a "safe and sane" Fourth of July.

This "decision" came as the city officials discussed the effects of the ordinance which was in effect for the first time this year. It was pointed out that only a minor few violations were noted.

During the session last night councilmen also placed on second reading an ordinance adopting by reference a new building code for the city. Third reading and passage is set for next Monday night.

Also accepted last night were several monthly reports including those of Jesse Fraser, librarian; Frank J. Healy, plumbing inspector, and Municipal Judge J. O. Pumphrey.

During the session Mayor Koehler declared the preliminary surveys are well underway which will result in the elimination of grade crossings on highway 30 at Curry and Cedar. He said he was informed of this fact by Gov. Chase A. Clark.

Mayor Koehler said that the governor had told him that the state counting construction of the road to the rim-to-rim bridge, would spend over $400,000 in Twin Falls county this year.

The Alaska Road

For more than a year it has been clear that the Alaska road should be built. Had it been started promptly, it might almost have been completed by now.

Suppose Japan seizes the Aleutian Islands, in the true Asia tradition, to stab in the back a Russia being beaten to its knees by the German onslaught.

Any of these things could happen; and none of them would make Alaska any safer. Our new Alaskan bases are being rushed, and splendid progress is being made in equipping them.

The Alaska road is being urgently advocated by Chairman Magnuson of the International Highway Commission, by Delegate Diamond of the Territory of Alaska, by Brig. Gen. S. B. Buckner, in charge of military affairs of the territory, and by eminent Canadian authorities.

It might well make the difference between holding its vital outpost of North America and losing it. It would be an expenditure, unlike most military expenditures, of infinite value in opening up the territory in time of peace.

What One Man Saw... One man, in a long lifetime, saw these things: His mother murdered, his father imprisoned, his grandfather exiled in a futile rebellion for freedom when he was 8.

His country divided, oppressed, for 50 long, turbulent years. His country fought over by two great opposing forces in the World War, devastated and stricken again and again.

Its independence declared four years later. Two years later, a bitter and almost disastrous war with the new Soviet state.

Twenty years of effort to establish republican government in the face of old racial and nationalist hatreds. Another war, and his country overrun by blitzkrieg and partitioned in a few weeks.

Less than a year later, another fierce campaign sweeping across its prostrate body. All this, in Ignace Jan Paderewski's 80 years. And yet despite it all, he was able to live a full and productive life in art.

American Ingenuity

The kind of ingenuity and resourcefulness that made this country the best in the world isn't dead yet. A couple of our "civilian soldiers," a young artillery captain and a lieutenant from Tennessee, have what it takes.

But soldiers with that kind of resourcefulness are going to be all right. And so is an army that lets them experiment.

WHEELER ASSAILED FOR DISCLOSING ICELAND OCCUPATION

MONTANA SOLON TOOLS OF AGON AHEAD OF TIME

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—While House Secretary Stephen T. Early today criticized Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D. Mont., for disclosing the week that American occupation of Iceland was imminent.

Early criticized Wheeler for making the disclosure while American forces were en route to the island.

At the same time, Early dismissed as of no consequence a statement by E. A. Tamm, U. S. attorney general, that the British forces in the near east, who said American manpower will be necessary for a complete victory over Germany.

"The last I heard from London was from Churchill and it was: 'Give us the tools and we'll do the job. Early said, 'I take it this general is a subordinate to the prime minister.'"

Early, in a 12-minute speech, said that Wheeler's disclosure of the occupation of Iceland was a "blatant violation of the Espionage Act."

Early said New York Times dispatches from London commenting on Wheeler, and added he felt it was a fair game. The dispatch said the British would not discuss how "once the Iceland movement was decided on anybody could come out in the open and tell the Germans it was under way."

2 DISPUTES MAR DEFENSE FRONT

By United Press

Two labor disputes today held the attention of defense officials seeking to prevent delays in defense production.

At Alton, Ill., AFL chemical workers awaited action by the national defense mediation board after unsuccessful negotiations with officials of the Western Cartridge company, which had recognized the union at the board's request. The union referred the dispute back to the board and asked the government to seize the plant and workmen until the dispute was settled.

At Cleveland, Federal Conciliator Thomas Hebbert was seeking to avert a strike set for tomorrow at the White Motor company, which holds $700,000 in army orders. The United Automobile Workers (UAW) authorized the strike to strengthen demands for a wage increase. The company denied that raising living costs warranted a higher scale than that provided in an existing contract.

BOMBER OUTPUT TO BE SPEEDED

DETROIT (AP)—A production schedule to speed output of badly-needed landing gear for the 28-ton, 300-mile-an-hour Consolidated B-24D bomber has been installed by the Ford Motor company.

Edsel Ford, president, said the company is going to build the 1,000-pound landing gear for the B-24D on the River Rouge tire plant until its $18,000,000 bomber parts plant near Ypsilanti, Mich., is ready for use this year.

"The job of building this landing gear is a tough one," he said. "So we are not going to waste any time in getting the production problems licked."

Five-a-day at plant

Landing gear for five bombers a day will be produced in the temporary plant's production unit, which Ford said will be moved to the new bomber parts plant later. The parts plant is separate from the $21,000,000 airplane engine factory under construction within the 1,200-acre tract embraced by Ford's River Rouge plant.

Slow production of the landing gear, or so-called "oleos," is threatening to delay the huge four-engine bomber program. With the exception of the engines the "oleos" are regarded as the most complicated part of the B-24D.

They must be rugged to absorb the shock of landing the 25,000-pound plane at a speed of about 100 miles an hour. They also must not be unduly heavy as they fold up into the wings when the ship is in flight.

Engineers seek shortcut

Ford engineers, confronted by heavy demand for the "oleos," are experimenting with the design, hoping to simplify production and thereby facilitate delivery of bomber plants on schedule. They plan to run sample designs to army test laboratories for examination.

One engineer said that if the required number of oleos could be reduced along with the machine work, landing gear can be removed from the list of defense "bottlenecks."

Present plans call for Ford's Ypsilanti plant making sub-assemblies and parts for 270 oleos a month, assembling 170 of them in Michigan and sending the parts for the other 100 to the Tulsa, Okla., and Fort Worth, Tex., assembling plants. Engineers already have drafted plans for an assembly line stretching more than a mile.

Alaska May Have Hitler for Neighbor

By PETER EDSON (NEA Service)

WASHINGTON—Reduction of the distance between Nazi Germany and the United States from 3,000 miles of Atlantic ocean to 30 miles of Bering sea is a real possibility if the German army is able to walk through the Soviet on the three-month time table schedule that Berlin has announced.

It is a fantastic thing to consider, yet so many fantastic things have happened in this crazy war that it is unwise and unsafe to disregard the crazy possibility that the Nazis and Hitler, floating over Alaska and the Aleutian islands might face a swastika over Siberia and the peninsula of Kamchatka.

And the possibility of actual conflict in this territory, remote as it is, is not obvious to even the most uninitiated and a type of warfare more bitter than the campaign which the Soviets waged against the Finns in the Arctic regions of the eastern Scandinavian peninsula.

Long lines of communication are being cut off. Fuel and munitions are being hoarded. The land is being mined. The sea is being mined. The air is being mined. The land is being mined. The sea is being mined. The air is being mined.

Advantage lies in Siberia

While the United States has supremacy in the Arctic regions of the North Pole, the Soviet Union has 3,000 miles from the Bering sea, and the Bering sea is not the Pacific. And while the United States has the best strengthening its air bases and fortifications in Alaska, the advantage would seem to be with the side that holds Siberia. Soviet Russia has built an extensive system of air bases, and the Soviet Union has the Arctic circle to the Bering straits. Recall the flights of Wiley Post and Howard Hughes and you see the danger here.

The Russian barrier of millions of men as well as mile upon formidable mile of rocky mountains and barren plains lies between Hitler and the United States' northernmost outpost, Alaska. Above, map shows how the Soviet troops are dispersed upon that barrier, and where the axis forces face them. The disposition of Russia's 21 divisions is indicated by figures followed by the letter "R"; of German divisions by the letter "G"; of combined Finnish-German divisions by the letters "FG"; and of Rumanian-German divisions by the letters "GR."

CHURCH COLLEGE HOUSES SAILORS

HALIFAX, N. S. (AP)—Temporary conversion from one of the oldest divinity schools in Canada to become a "training ship" for Royal Canadian naval officers has been the surprising experience of King's college, Halifax, during the past few weeks.

Where once black-gowned undergraduates hurried to classrooms, now blue-suited second-lieutenants parade. Brogues and "fanknags" have given way to plain-toed sea boots. White-topped, peaked caps have replaced battered collegiate headgear.

The front porch of the college is the "quarter deck," the college kitchen is the "galley." The men don't go to bed in the dormitories, they "bunk in the sleeping quarters." And the "ship's" library upstairs is located on the "top deck."

Surprising to Alumni

It's all confusing to students of King's college who drop in for a vacation-time visit to their alma mater. But to young naval officers, who have taken over the campus for the summer, it is all ship-shod and in good order.

In their vine-covered stone landing "ship" vice officers are preparing for the time when they will man lighting ships and shore establishments of Canada's wartime navy. From 6 in the morning to 10:30 at night, 60 of their study, signalling, gunnery, piloting, torpedo and engineering.

Glasses open at 8:30 following morning parade. Gunnery and torpedo groups travel by bus to the lockyard some distance away. All other classes are held in the college.

Sports Are Popular

Sports are not forgotten on this "ship" although swimming has to be done in the Wagonville club down the street. Softball and tennis, usually unknown at sea, also are favorites.

All the men aboard the new "ship" aren't new to the navy. On duty the other day at the "gangway" which to passing civilians looked like the usual college gates, was Honors Mate Sandy Blackburn.

A deep sea man from Belleville, Ontario, Blackburn said April joined the crew of a British armed merchant ship in action off the coast of Lima, Peru. As a result of that little fight, two German raiders were captured and their crews interned.

SHERIFF PROBES TWO ACCIDENTS

Minor damage was suffered yesterday by two automobile accidents investigated by the sheriff's office. Both crashes were investigated by Virgil Borten, deputy sheriff. No serious injuries were received in either crash.

About 6:45 p. m. L. W. Champlin turned left into the driveway, home and was struck by a machine driven by John P. Cassidy, Everett, Mass. which had started to pass him. Sides of the machine were damaged slightly.

The other crash occurred at 2:30 p. m. on Sunday. Twin Falls collided with a truck which was coming out of a driveway two miles south and a mile and a half west of Curry. Mrs. Bevercome sustained a "slight bump" in the wreck.

AIR PHOTOS AID IN FIRE FIGHTING

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Aerial reconnaissance and photography may become increasingly important in the future in fighting forest fires if an experiment tent darkroom over a portable tent proves its worth.

The portable darkroom makes it possible for fire fighters in the field to determine the exact location and severity of mountain blazes in a few minutes. According to the two men who originated it, they are Frank Scovel, fire prevention engineer for the county-state fire department, and Harold Bowhay, county fire warden.

A fire map photographed from an airplane, the undeveloped negatives dropped by parachute to the ground crew. The film is developed in the small tent darkroom right on the line of battle.

The portable generator used to develop the film is developed by the crew boss in the darkroom and the film removed and developed. Prints are made with an electric light, the power being supplied by a portable generator.

From the photographs the ground crew gets information as to the terrain, the character and trend of the fire and its exact location in mountainous areas.

Immediately after a fire is reported, a forest service plane takes off to scout the terrain. Meanwhile, fire fighting crews move up by road and establish a base near the blaze. There the films are received and developed.

23 STUDENTS END SUMMER SESSION

Sixteen boys and seven girls this week completed six weeks of summer school work under the direction of three teachers. The special school opened May 26 as soon as the regular school year was completed and ended July 5.

Seven students did grade school work, 3 junior high work and 13 senior high school work, according to Mrs. Frankie Barnhart, who was in charge of the session.

Purpose of the school, she explains, is to allow students to make up work that they missed because of illness, to earn extra high school credits, to review subjects not thoroughly learned, and to spend their leisure time profitably.

Instructors for the summer school session were Mrs. Barnhart, LeRoy Hughes and Helen Stearns. The classes were held in the Washington

HELP LIVER BILE FLOW FASTER

For the next 30 days follow this simple advice: eat the Age of the Mountains diet—eat a glass of water (hot or cold) half an hour before breakfast. This will help the flow of bile with its gentle bowel action. Keep this up for 30 days and you may shake off that "all-in" sour feeling, sick headache, constipation and indigestion. Bile digestion and most probably constipation. But don't start unless you are willing to keep it up for 30 days. If you do not get a real "all-in" feeling, better—get your money back.

First Sub Victim

The U. S. S. Houstonic, first warship ever sunk by a submarine, was sunk just outside Charleston harbor by a Confederate underwater "fish-boat."

TEST

DEARY, Ida., July 8 (Special)—Town councilmen today pronounced an experiment in prohibition, which "dried up" the village of Deary over the Fourth of July weekend, "a great success," but bar-tenders and tavern operators considered a court test of the legality of a local option ordinance.

The ordinance prohibited "drinking or have in possession to drink, any intoxicating, vinous, mixed or fermented liquor at any place in the village of Deary other than his or her dwelling house or home."

A $100 fine was prescribed for violation of the ordinance.

Deary attorneys and attorneys at nearby Moscow, doubted the ordinance would stand a court test. They noted Idaho statutes compel issuance of licenses to anyone "of good character or standing."

Local option measures were defeated by the 1941 legislature and at the 1940 general election.

Contrast this scene with the audience that turns to newspapers every day.

Every weekday, the 37,000,000 families in the U.S. and Canada buy... and read... 43,300,000 newspapers. Every Sunday these same families buy... and read... 33,000,000 newspapers.

The newspaper audience includes almost everybody in every community, every day... because the news is important to everybody, everywhere, every day.

Because newspapers attract the largest audience, the largest number of consumers, day after day, advertisers... both national and retail... have found newspaper space the most effective medium for selling their merchandise and services. Naturally, they invest more money in newspaper space than in any other medium.

Skeets Dickey Is Ringer for Bill --And Begins to Act Like Brother

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

Bill Dickey instructs kid brother Skeets in the art of catching.

NEW YORK—Another Dickey is catching in the American league, and if he stays up half as much trouble as his illustrious brother, rivals will be just as well pleased that there are no more at home, like Bill and George.

Rogers Hornsby, who had him in Oklahoma City last season, predicted that George, or Skeets, Dickey would be the White Sox first-string backup by mid-June.

He did not do so into a batting slump, Mike Trash, the workhorse, gave the younger Dickey a grand opportunity to make the Rajah an accurate prognosticator.

It was fitting that Skeets Dickey should catch his first full major league game in Yankee stadium, where his brother skyrocketed to renown.

You can't tell the Dickey apart from the stand.

Their weight is the same, though Skeets at 6 feet 3 is an inch and a half taller. They take the same position behind the bat, throw alike, Skeets, a switch hitter, has Bill's rhythmical swing.

When Rogers Hornsby hit Bill Dickey celebrated his first start with the Yankees by batting in two runs to beat the New Yorks, 3-2.

The following afternoon he demonstrated his all of Sweet William's power by hitting one of Marvin Bruer's hard ones into the right field stands.

Bill got there in half that time... was in 120 games and Skeets in 22. The Yanks and Red Sox passed Skeets along, but he is just turning 20, so should be on the active list some time after the 34-year-old Bill calls it a career.

Urbie Hias and Hornsby got nold of him in Oklahoma City. Skeets was unable to catch or hit anything like Bill.

He batted .318 in 117 games in the Texas league, a pitcher's circuit, to attract the attention of Jimmy Dykes.

He hit .333 as a pinch hitter and

NEW YORK, July 8 (U.P.)—Bested paragraphs containing scattered thoughts:

REMYDER

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

Walter Hagan and Ben Hogan are at Denver's Cherry Hill for the P.G.A. championship which stresses their greatness.

The Hagan's winning of this title four years in a row, 1934-'37, after taking it in '21, perhaps is the greatest feat in the history of the P.G.A., with its withering rounds of match play between sharpshooters who are the peak of their profession, is the most difficult of all tournaments to capture.

There is no round and out you go. There is no picking up the slack in later rounds.

Lee Dixel and his pendulum putt had the distinction of stopping Hagan's four-year reign after the course's most colorful figure had won 22 consecutive major titles.

Clois to Hagan's record in victories is Sarason, who prevailed in '23, '24 and '25.

Benjie in Brooklyn, as usually, is the only player ever to bag the National Open and sink it in the same open--'25.

P.G.A. in the national open--'25.

Sarason has participated in 30 P.G.A. championships, which is a mark for endurance and one that of any other contestant. In the course of that span, the little Italian has backed off with 44 matches, four more than any other player.

Sarason repulsed Hagan at the 18th hole in the '28 final at Pelham in one of the most dramatic and dramatic matches. He crossed a gamber elbow of the green to get a birdie and the match with one of the finest hole ever played.

Sarason and Henry Picard contributed the outstanding match a year ago, when Byron Nelson took the major prize.

Sarason defeated Picard, I up. Picard was down 3 with three to play and finished with a eagle birdie, but Sarason prevailed by halving the final hole with a remarkable shot after the Old Chickadee hadler played an trap 10 inches from the cup.

Picard's 67-67-115 to top up even with Hagan and his birdie 68 to 71 to win at Pelham in '28 was the most phenomenal final scoring in the championship.

Harold McGowan holds the record for extra-hole matches in one championship. Jug McGowan played three sudden-death engagements in '28 in Pittsburgh. He backed back Bunny Torrey of Kansas City in the second round after two extra holes and eliminated Picard in the fourth after

FREEDOM DENIED FOR TAX EVADER

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—The justice department announced today M. L. Annenberg, former Philadelphia publisher, had been denied a parole on his three-year sentence for income tax evasion.

The federal parole board rejected Annenberg's request for a parole from the Lewisburg, Penn., prison where he began serving his term one year ago.

Annenberg was convicted in Chicago last year on a charge of evading payments totalling $1,217,200 on his 1935 income.

He was eligible for parole on July 1, justice department officials said his term, with the time off for good behavior, will be up in November, 1942.

SOUTH AMERICAN BATTLE STILLED

QUITO, Ecuador, July 8 (AP)—Fighting between Ecuadorian and Peruvian troops along the disputed border has been reduced to isolated rifle shots, dispatches from the frontier indicated today.

Peruvian planes were said to have made reconnaissance flights over the Huacullillas yesterday afternoon and Peruvian troops were reported to be concentrated in less than two miles from the frontier in the Zapotillo area.

Patriotic feeling ran high throughout Ecuador. It was estimated that 60,000 persons took part in a demonstration here yesterday, demanding that the government take a strong hand.

Summer Amusement—2

Suffering from the heat? Well, here's a suggestion on how to cool off. If you can't get out to the municipal plunge, or don't like the idea of bundling yourself up in a suit, then a ditch is always close at hand in this irrigated country. This method of keeping cool, however, is recommended only for children—unless you go way out behind the bushes. The models for today's summer suggestion are—we'll never tell. (Photo by O. A. NEW UTILITY FOR COTTON PLANNED

NEW ORLEANS, July 8 (AP)—New uses and markets for cotton, economically the life blood of many Southern communities, will be worked out under a 24-point program of the southern regional research laboratory of the department of agriculture.

The program, to be put into effect as soon as the laboratory is completed on the shores of Lake Pontchartrain, is designed to offset the loss of foreign markets during the European war and to make possible the lowering of manufacturing costs of cotton goods.

Operating on a theory that there is a need for research covering cotton uses, the department plans to cover such areas as: (1) how cotton may be made of unspun cotton fiber and products formed by the lamination of unspun fibers with yarns, fabrics and other materials.

Department heads admitted, however, that considerable research is needed in developing present cotton products; and in improved processing machinery and methods of manufacture.

Lint Outlets Sought

Increased outlets for lint must be found, spokesmen said, if production is to go anywhere near the level of the late 1920s or even on a level of the past five or six years. According to figures, approximately 13,000,000 bales of cotton and 8,000,000 tons of seed are raised annually in the United States.

The laboratory plan, the laboratory will tackle mechanical processing problems dealing with the development of new and improved machinery. Through this effort, they hope, the quality of cotton goods will be improved and the cost lowered.

They also hope to develop efficient and economical machinery and methods for producing cotton yarns and fabrics by means other than those now in use and to determine the basic physical and other use requirements for new or proposed cotton products.

Other points in the program are:

1. Laboratory testing, including the development of new tests and equipment where necessary to determine whether cotton products so developed are ready for actual service.
2. Service testing to determine if the products satisfactorily meet all of the use requirements and to determine where they fail.
3. Fiber Study to be Made
4. Technological information, such as relationships between fiber properties and the utility of cotton products.
5. Chemical finishing of cotton products.
6. Improvements and economies in the bleaching and printing of cotton fiber products to make them cheaper and more attractive products.
7. Surveys to find new and wider outlets for cotton products.
8. The laboratory also plans to turn its research forces to finding more uses for the unused properties of cottons, such as through the use of forming one of the principal means of income for the planter.
9. Laboratory officials said they would tackle the processing and engineering problems relative to increasing cottonseed oil and in an attempt to reduce costs and make oil more available for industrial use.
10. The leftovers from cotton ginning are grouped as all, cake, meal, protein, linters, hulls, hull dust, and hull bran.
11. They hope to determine the chemical composition of these products and the leftover products and convert them into such products as adhesives, glass, fibers, plastics and related products after the program gets under way.

Soviet Victory Would Allow England to Invade Germany

By United Press

Three factors tend to bring nearer the day when Britain, instead of being invaded, may be able to reverse the situation and move into the continent against Germany.

One is the German adventure in Russia. Another is the royal air force's "blitz" against occupied France and northwestern Germany. A third is the American occupation of Iceland.

Of the three, the outcome of the Russian-German war is the most important for Britain. If Adolf Hitler conquers Russia, he will be immeasurably strengthened in material resources, he will be able to offset the British blockade and turn his full force against Britain.

Would Lose War

If he does not conquer Russia, but is forced to retire, he not only will have lost a battle, but perhaps the war. He would have a potent enemy always at his rear and an ever-strengthening Britain in front. Having embarked on the attempt, it seems Hitler has to beat Russia or go out of the war business.

As for the British air campaign in the west, it is the logical preparation for an eventual invasion of the continent. The fact is it is so intense at this time far from signifies that Britain contemplates an early attempt. It will take some time for Lord Beaverbrook to speed tank and mechanical production up to the point where Britain can hope to cope with Germany's superiority. The British are merely taking advantage of Hitler's preoccupation in Russia to strike while the striking is good.

Britain Strikes

From all accounts, Britain is striking a punishing blow despite losses. The object is not only to partly cripple German war production, but to make the German bases in the occupied channel countries untenable, so that British invasion could be possible.

The Iceland occupation bears on the future land clash between Britain and Germany in several ways. It is expected ultimately to release about 80,000 empire troops for service in England. (The fact that it is reported they are to be withdrawn gradually indicates no immediate plans for an expedition to the continent.)

It frees important units of the British navy for duty closer home. It also should provide better protection of the sea lanes over which the airwaves of war must flow from the United States.
