Reds Claim Nazi Army Destroyed

MOSCOW, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—Soviet forces were reported today to have "annihilated" two German infantry divisions of approximately 50,000 men and to have halted German drives from the north and south against Leningrad.

Two Nazi regiments, one of them an armored force, were said to have been smashed.

Reports said the 233rd German infantry division was wiped out in a terrific four-day battle near the city of "V" (possibly Vitebsk). The communiqué reported the 137th German infantry division was smashed in a furious combat on the Smolensk front.

In the four-day battle at "V" said the front-line reports, the Russians first destroyed a substantial portion of the 233rd division and then captured remainder of the German force together with much booty.

Resistance Nud Drives

The Russians were said to have resisted all Nazi attempts to drive a wedge into their lines and to have counter-attacked many times with bayonets. The final Russian attack was said to have caught the German by surprise.

After wiping out the Nazi infantry division, the Russians were said to have advanced to new lines and to have captured the German.

A similar action was said to have smashed the 137th division. Russian artillery first opened up on the German line which had been sent into combat as a reinforcement for other hard-pressed Nazi troops.

After an artillery barrage had wiped out the German line, Soviet infantry went into action and in hand-to-hand combat smashed the German force.

Hopkins Pledges U. S. Aid to Soviet

Compromise on Extension Of Army Service Studied

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—Administration leaders canvassed congress today to determine whether a compromise proposal extending the service of selectees, national guardsmen and reservists to two and a half years is acceptable to the opposition.

The original measure to retain the troops for the duration was modified by the military affairs committee yesterday. The troops now are required to serve only one year.

Two leading opponents of indefinite service extension, Senators Burton K. Wheeler, D. Mont. and Robert A. Taft, R. O., had already served notice they would oppose the new proposal. Taft, author of a substitute which would permit a training period of 18 months for selectees and two years for national guardsmen, said the longer term was "far too much."

Need House Strength

Administration leaders who always have felt they could secure approval of even the original measure, hoped the compromise would increase their strength in the house where an informal poll has shown that the bill does not now have sufficient strength for passage.

The compromise would provide that congress could extend the troop service beyond two and one-half years if approved by a two-thirds vote of both houses.

18 Months Is 'Limit'

Senator Robert D. Thomas, D. Utah, author of both the original proposal and the compromise, asserted the 18 months extra service was the "limit" any selectee would be required to serve in the most extreme cases. Very few selectees would be retained for a period of 18 months.

The compromise was offered to meet criticisms that the original would permit the army to retain men for a lifetime.

U. S. Places Embargo on Shipments to Nipponese; Appeasement Policy Ends

TOKYO, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—Japan reacted angrily today to new economic measures taken against her by the United States. Commerce Minister Sawazaki Sakonji, a vice-admiral, said "the present international situation is so tense that a single spark may be sufficient to cause an explosion."

Newspapers and even officials warned Japan would take drastic steps to offset effects of economic measures taken against her by the United States, Britain and their associates.

The press said Japan was determined to obtain needed supplies "by force if necessary."

Foreign circles here showed signs of abandoning an earlier optimism which arose from the hope that perhaps Britain and the United States would not be harsh in enforcing their restrictions on Japanese trade.

Despite their economic preoccupation the Japanese press again displayed interest in Russia and speculated as to whether the Russians would join in "encircling" Japan.

Red Influence Gains

The newspaper Chong Shoguo said the Communists in China were becoming increasingly influential and said this was likely to lead to a Chinese military alliance with Russia.

Newspapers also warned the government to watch for signs of Russian-American cooperation on the ground it might lead to a military agreement to further "encircle" Japan.

They charged the United States in return for supplies sent to Russia, sought bases on the Kamchatka peninsula and in the Aleutians and contact Alaska for transportation of armed forces by way of the Aleutian Islands.

Oil for Russia

It was asserted the United States was licensing "considerable" oil exports to Russia and that plans to ship the oil through the Pacific.

Viadovikov meant the United States no longer considered Japan's "feelings" toward its alliance with Germany.

Government spokesmen withheld comment on the United States' embargo on aviation gasoline to Japan pending official reports.

Newspapers generally interpreted the embargo as intensifying anti-Japanese pressure.

They said they were surprised because of Col. Norman B. Atkinson, chief of the Japanese consulate in Tokyo, had expected that Japan had made preparations to offset it.

Secret Route Made

A government spokesman denied reports Japan had demanded military bases in Thailand. Such reports were unfounded, the spokesman said. He saw ground for suspicion in the fact the report came through the Japanese state newspaper Japan Times and Advertising Agency.

The foreign office—subsidized newspaper Japan Times and Advertising Agency Acting Secretary said "save words" in a statement that raw materials in the Pacific must be operated by all nations on an equitable basis.

AMERICA WARNS VICHY TO REJECT AXIS BASE BIDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—The United States today sharply warned the Vichy government that future American relations with France will be guided by the degree of order which France shows to the Axis powers in French territories.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles sounded the warning in a statement which he read to a press conference.

The French pact which gave Japan access to Indo-China, Welles described as a threat to American security in the Pacific.

The statement also apparently was aimed at preventing, if possible, any change in French policy in the situation. There has been agitation in the inspired Paris press that Vichy turn over bases in vital strategic north and south Africa to some other European power—presumably Germany.

Welles pledged

Welles recalled the pledges of the French government to maintain its territories against any aggression. He said that the United States had not failed to support the French and German troops in Syria but had insisted when Britain attempted to take defensive action there.

"This government, mindful of its traditional friendship for France," the statement said, "has deeply sympathized with the desire of the French people to maintain their territories and to preserve them intact."

Report an Indo-China

"In its relations with the French government at Vichy and with the local French authorities in French territories, the United States will be governed by the degree of orderliness with which those authorities endeavor to protect these territories from domination and control by those powers which are seeking to extend their rule by force and conquest or by the threat thereof."

The United States, the statement said, has now received definite information of the terms of the agreement between the French and Japanese governments for the so-called "common defense" of Indo-China.

In effect, this agreement virtually turns over to Japan an important part of the French empire," Welles said.

NBC MAY RENEW ASCAP CONTRACT

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—The National Broadcasting Company today awaited its affiliated stations' approval of an agreement which would put the music of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers on its networks for the first time since Jan. 1.

ASCAP announced its ratification of terms of a proposed contract but NBC president, NBC president, said a network agreement would not be signed until NBC affiliates had agreed to increase of 10 per cent on network service, except in states where such returns are prohibited.

Under the proposal, NBC agrees to pay ASCAP 2 1/2 per cent on network commercial business and 3 1/2 per cent on local and "national spot" business. In addition, flat fees would be paid for each station.

The new contract will extend to Dec. 31, 1946, NBC said.

NBC, Mutual and Columbia Broadcasting systems withdrew from the agreement on Jan. 1 in a dispute over royalties. Mutual signed recently with ASCAP and 146 publishers who hold copyrights to much of America's most popular music.

Late FLASHES

LONDON, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—Russian journals in London reported today that 10 German armored divisions, numbering 110,000 men, 4,000 tanks and 30,000 other vehicles, had been badly mauled and disorganized or actually destroyed in the 42 days of fighting on the eastern front.

Informants asserted the Germans were hurriedly collecting tanks from other European regions to fit out new armored formations.

LONDON, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—Japan has been sending heavy troop reinforcements to Manchukuo for the last week and the Japanese forces in Manchukuo and Korea are being disposed as if Japan might essay an attack on Vladivostok, Russia's great far eastern port, authoritative British sources asserted today.

Many of the reinforcements have been sent from Japan, it was said, and others are being moved northward on the Asiatic mainline.

Informants said it was believed most of the reinforcements were being shipped along the Amur river, which flows to the bay between Manchukuo and Siberia.

TAX REJECTED ON LOWER INCOMES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—The house ways and means committee today rejected a formal request by President Roosevelt to eliminate the mandatory joint husband-wife income tax return for single persons and $2,000 for married couples be reduced to $750 and $1,500, respectively.

The committee rejected the latter proposal and another presidential request that it eliminate the average-earnings method of computing the tax on single persons and $2,000 for married couples be reduced to $750 and $1,500, respectively.

It was disclosed the President had sought that change in a letter to Committee Chairman Robert L. Doughton, D. N. C., in which he also asked that present income tax exemptions of $400 for single persons and $2,000 for married couples be reduced to $750 and $1,500, respectively.

The committee rejected the latter proposal and another presidential request that it eliminate the average-earnings method of computing the tax on single persons and $2,000 for married couples be reduced to $750 and $1,500, respectively.

Draftees Told To Consult on Trade Schools

Use Low Grade Gas

Government officials said the tightening of controls resulted from information that Japanese warplanes were being used in the Pacific with an octane rating of 60 and below. The existing embargo applied to gas with an octane rating of 65 and above, thus permitting Japan to operate its warplanes with the lower grade gasoline.

The department acted quickly to support the President's move, cancelling all existing licenses for the use of low grade gasoline in the Pacific. New licenses will have to be obtained in the light of the policy announced today.

Mr. Roosevelt's appointment was continuing the policy of parallel action with the British and Netherlands governments in the economic warfare against Japan. British already has indicated Japan would get no more British oil and the empire has threatened to close her relations to Japanese ships. The Netherlands has suspended an agreement to supply oil to Japan.

Almed at Japan

Ironically, the two-paragraph statement issued by the White House did not mention Japan applying for a license to use low grade oil in that country. The order directed shipments to destinations other than the western hemisphere, the Pacific empire and the unoccupied territories of other countries engaged in resisting aggression.

Spain and Italy are the only other large nations affected.

The OPA last night ordered that the use of oil in the manufacture of household goods be discontinued and be abandoned in favor of production of silk powder bags and parachutes.

The order was issued after the army and navy advised that their minimum requirements for fuel during the next two years would equal stocks now on hand in the United States.

He made the statement in a letter to a press conference.

Effective Living and Food Essentials Told

"Nutrition for defense of our people, not against war, just for wholesome, effective living, will require long-time planning," said Miss Marion Hepworth, Moscow, university extension director, in the headline speech of the closing day sessions of the women's vacation camp at Easley hot springs yesterday.

Local leaders should organize local resources, drawing all agencies social and civic into the program, she continued in reporting on the recent conference of Nutrition for Defense, held in Washington, D. C.

She urged that the big problem to solve is finding the way to overcome the malnutrition in America today, and still find it possible to feed the hungry nations fighting for democracy.

Education must help establish a new evaluation of successful living, particularly for the qualities of character—honesty, industry, loyalty and exactness.

The present engagement in Russia is a favorable break for the democracies, and the key to victory may be on the Russian front.

After perusing the press accounts of the rabbit drive over at Rogerson, and after hearing G. B. Butler gleefully recounting what sport it was, Pot Shots has eluded around and discovered an even wider field of action for the rabbit-clubbing gentry when they clean up the Rogerson offerings.

It seems the local lot up Carey may have had eight count 'em (live plus three) rabbit drives already. And they can't even dent the size of the rabbit through.

Now is the time for all good rabbit-whamming men (and women) to come to the aid of Carey.

SERIAL STORY

LESSONS IN LOVE

BY JERRY BRONFIELD

YESTERDAY's deeply satirical Hank Dugan's appearance at the Starlight Theatre in Twin Falls was a real treat. when Dugan advised Uncle Hank

LARRY REMEMBERS

CHAPTER V

BARBARA had difficulty falling asleep that night. Every time she closed her eyes she seemed to see that accusing look on Dugan Blake's face. Barbara knew she should have offered an apology, but that wouldn't be easy.

"Next didn't get a chance until the next night, while they were waiting for Larry Grover to take them for a drive.

"Dugan," she said suddenly, "I'm sorry about last night. Uncle Hank made me feel like a heel. He told me a lot of things about you that I didn't know, and"

"And what?" he prompted.

"Well, I have a high regard for Uncle Hank's opinion of people. He's never far from right."

"Then you're still leaving some room for doubt." He sighed broadly. "Don't blame you, though. You've got to watch these redskins. Never can tell about them."

She laughed. "You're proud of your Indian ancestry, though, aren't you?"

"I'm ashamed of it, you know the first Chief Leasing Water was one of Geromino's right-hand men held the record for number of scalps taken in one day. Seven, I think it was." He grimaced. "A couple of Comanches finally got his scalp, though."

Barbara shuddered. "You you've never taken anyone's scalp, have you?"

He laughed and ran his hand lightly over her hair. "Oh not lately. Wonder if the kid 'Tell you what, you've got me good and mad some time and we'll see."

"No, thanks," she laughed nervously, just as Larry Grover's car crunched up the drive.

"Hi, folks," Larry called as the car rolled to a stop. "Beautiful night for a buggy ride. C'mon, Dugan, tog the beautiful lady in and let's go."

Putting the action to the word Dugan bent over and opened the door in practically one motion. Just for a fleeting second her arms went around his neck involuntarily, and she found herself wishing it all hadn't been done so swiftly.

"Well, Dugan, how do you like New York?" Larry asked as they skimmed along the road.

"Fine so far, but I haven't seen too much of it. Barbara's going to take me around and show me some of the sights tomorrow, though."

She looked at him swiftly. It was all news to her.

THEY purred over the smooth roads, through Roysin, Glen Cove, and Great Neck. This time it was Barbara said, "I'm glad you're here."

"Sure is," Dugan agreed, "but down in Oklahoma we don't have to travel 25 miles to get it."

Larry looked at him and chuckled. "Second time the stole another look at Dugan, and Barbara noticed the second look was one of purement."

"They called him a chilling look and he bent over and gave her a peck on the cheek."

"You're kidding," she said, "I'll sure you could spare it?"

He feigned a yawn and pointed to a spot on his cheek. "X marks the spot. Ktis me, darling, and it's his go home."

"One of these days," she warned, "we'll do away with the 'X' and trade you in on a new system."

"A red one?" he grinned.

"It's an idea," she admitted, and she saw that Dugan had the idea a second thought. At least, she figured, Dugan Blake might be the means of bringing Larry Grover into line.

But then, she told herself, she wasn't in love with Larry Grover. She was both with Dugan and with Larry. Anyway, she still hadn't decided what course she would pursue now that she'd discovered Uncle Hank's protégé wasn't the man she wanted.

Shadows Against the Future

One of the questions which ought to be carefully studied, and which, so far as we know, has never been carefully studied, is the effect of wars on the next generation.

For instance, to what extent are Europe's troubles today due to the fact that the best, healthiest, potentially most able of the generation now mature were killed off in 1914-1918? How many wise statesmen, how many poets and artists, how many economic and social pioneers, what sheer weight of human brains were dumped into the graves that blossomed from Picardy to Kiev in those years? And what has that loss meant to today's world?

Because all these things are so intangible, nobody can measure them; because they pertain to the spirit no one will ever know, perhaps, their accurate weight. How many children of the generation which grew up directly after the World war bear today the marks of the insufficient nourishment, the tense, hopeless times in which they lived? Never forget that that is the generation, in large part, which made up of the Nazi movement.

All these factors no man has measured, because, perhaps, they cannot be measured. Yet one knows they exist. The social loss is undoubtedly greater than a similar loss throughout a cross-section of the whole population, because soldiers are selected for physical and mental fitness.

Now it is all happening over again. Though almost as many civilians as soldiers are being killed in this war, the destructive effect on the coming generation will not be less than that of the World war if it goes on as long. Already in France relief workers and physicians are reporting that babies born are markedly undersize, weighing only two and three pounds at birth. Why? Because their mothers are undernourished. People recently come from France report that they dare not look into the faces of children.

If that be true in France, what must be true in Poland? In Belgium? In Greece? In Yugoslavia?

What will the next generation be in Germany and Italy, decimated by a series of bloody and useless campaigns, "educated" in a mental straitjacket, fed from babyhood on a diet of blood-lust-and-a-morality?

Isn't it about time to stop all this once and for all? First, by conclusively beating those who have espoused all of it as a normal, desirable way of life, and forced it on the rest of the world? Second, by taking our part in organizing the world so that it shall not happen again?

Cardboard King

A dispatch from Europe indicated that the Italian Duke of Spoleto, who has been named "King" of the new "Kingdom of Croatia," has not even had the nerve to go into his new domains as yet.

It seems that there is a little trouble in Croatia, guerrilla warfare and rioting and non-co-operation on the part of the people, who want no part of the Duke of Spoleto or any other Italian princeling who hopes to rule them under German bayonets. So the Duke, according to this dispatch, has deemed it the better part of valor not to go in person as yet to claim his new domains.

To us this speaks well for the prospective "King." Discretion is an excellent quality in rulers.

Important Difference

Japan now cries loudly that in seizing bases in Indo-China from the French, it is doing only what the United States has done in acquiring Atlantic bases.

There is an important difference:

1. What the United States has done in the way of acquisition of bases was done only after years of aggressive warfare on the part of others had proved the necessity for doing so.
2. No bases have been acquired by the United States against the will of the people who yielded them. It is a little late in the day for Germany, Italy, or Japan to claim that anything they do at this time is sanctioned by U. S. precedent.

Who started this business, anyway?

Scientist says man is run by electricity. Some wives would give him a good argument.

A Chicago woman who ran down a jaywalker married him when he got well. That's what comes of breaking one little safety rule.

EDISON IN WASHINGTON

By PETER EDSON

Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Edison's visit to Washington today was the first since he was secured that as many as 1,000 plants may have to be closed down temporarily before the end of the year because of the shortage of aluminum.

The situation really is beginning to get tough in a few communities where the aluminum plants are located. There are a concentration of several hundred plants in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Two Rivers, Illinois, Washington, W. Va., and Eau Claire have all felt this pinch.

But the Aluminum company of America, Washington, W. Va., Pennsylvania, Penn., where 600 were originally laid off, though several hundred are now rehired, independently is making plans to move its plants to the west, and die casting plants in Marshfield, Ill., and Cleveland, O., have also suffered shutdowns.

NOT FOR AUTO

Non-defense industries are being squeezed, too, principally manufacturers of civilian goods in the rubber, aluminum, steel, and other industries. The threat of a further cut in their production quotas for the next 18 months, with consequent layoffs that will temporarily at least be anything but pie in the sky for employer of labor.

So what is to be done about it? Do defense officials are beginning to look forward to their ideas of how to make shutdowns and layoffs as painless as possible, without resorting to the now familiar device of spreading out of available material supply.

Ported migration of labor from non-defense to defense plants would do the trick, but that's generally thought of as an easily unattainable goal. The workers and their families, unaffiliated because the workers are not to be moved, are not happy. Further, mass movements involve major economic disruptions to living and gaining control of the workers' lives.

What all proposals boil down to is not exactly sub-contracting, but more and better spreading out of contracts to more firms, and contracts that spreading out of available material supply.

Grange Cleanings

By A. HARVESTER

HOLLISTER HOLLISTER Hollister and Wednesday night, July 23, with only a fair attendance. No very important business was attempted, but plans were made for the annual picnic on the following Sunday. My scribbles say she is sorry they did not let me know about it but was so short and the date seemed to be the only one for some time. It's all right, but I've about lost interest in getting rid of the surplus the way the government is acting. They make a law to cut down production and everybody gets mad at it and they tell us to raise more foodstuffs and says it for England. Then the price drops off because some wise guys think maybe we will have another surplus. Used to be fairly good in autumn, but this year's normal is not quite such an exact science. Fickle Humankind. Human nature is so fickle people are just crazy for something to eat till they get it raised and then they aren't hungry any more. It's just like that. I've seen the same thing shut off our all supply and these chemurgic fellows will be trying to get a suspension of the law that says silk hose. I like that stuff to eat and I don't want to wear it except on a date. Someone said that you could make a purse out of a pig's ear, but I'll bet you J. Z. Stansell is doing that very thing right now. Why don't they concentrate on old razor blades and quit trying to get a suspension of the law that says I've got it all worked up and forgot I was over at a Grange meeting at Hollister. They had a program as follows: Piano solo, Mrs. Elmo Parrat; "What the Grange may do as an organization." General discussion; reading, "Learning how to live." Mrs. J. M. Pierce; vocal solo and reading, "Questions to be answered with the name of some make of car; reading, "The new road," Mrs. Elmo Parrat; drive and teaching the wife to drive." Mrs. Pierce (after some) was by Mrs. Elmo Parrat, who said, "Back seat driving," exemplified by Mrs. and Mrs. Elmo Parrat. Dependent said not, but I've seen they've, or did they get to the picnic? Picnic Held. The annual picnic was held at the Grange on Sunday, July 21, and was a very successful one. The program was as follows: "Jump in the lake" Sunday, July 21, and just as often happens it looked like a down-pour just as they had the food on the table. But it just scared them so they couldn't. (The picnic was a good one, but it was 4:30 and that's the Salmon folks' idea of a picnic anyway, a good picnic is held in the afternoon so that they had frogs out there 20 years old that couldn't swim, but I saw this same fellow dip in an order for rain for the day the penny march. I'd like to know how they were going to have a picnic. He must be standing around when they order the ice cream and get an order for rain for the same day. Reminds me of the hotel where I stayed all night one time. When business was good and the bed had been made to go down and sit on the register to find out what rooms were occupied. The manager said it stayed there that night, I didn't say I slept there. vs. Unknown heirs and unknown devisees of W. GERMANS ADMIT RUSSIANS OPEN HEAVY TANK ATTACK

SOME DIVISIONS NEAR SMOLENSK CLAIMED BEATEN

By JOSEPH W. BRIGG, Jr., BERLIN, Aug. 2 (AP)—The official German news agency reported today that Russian tank forces have started a heavy attack on the central front.

The attack was said to have been carried out in an attempt to relieve German pressure which the high command said today had resulted in crushing Soviet divisions said to be encircled east of Smolensk.

The DNB news agency account said Nazi troops prevented the Russians from fully developing their attack and in heavy fighting held off the Red forces, wrecking many tanks and inflicting many casualties.

No Leningrad Reports

It was not indicated whether the Red army's attack was directed against points on the Smolensk-Moscow highway where German forces are now said to be holding.

TOP HOGS BRING $1.45 FOR POOL

The hog business is very good these days and it's putting cash into Magio Valley farm pockets.

Another proof of that came Friday afternoon when a man from Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing association pool sold for $1.45 tops per hundredweight in his open market locally. Buyer was Cuddey Packing company, North Salt Lake.

There were 135 hogs in the shipment, which weighed 29,075 pounds. Twenty-four growers share a net of $324.80.

URGES RETENTION OF "HOT" WHEAT PENALTY

Editor, Evening Times:

I cannot understand why those who were so active in securing a wheat marketing agreement, spending needed money and much time are not now defending the cause as it passed.

I voted against the agreement but will now vote to defend the plan until it is changed by a vote of the wheat growers rather than by congress which is influenced by those having big wheat interests. Such large growers don't want the heavy penalty although in the past they have been getting large benefits while we who grew other crops were penalized by a tax to pay them, and have endured misfortune of unfair competition of other farm crops.

I am in favor of leaving the 40-cent penalty on hot wheat. It is the first break we irrigation farmers have had and let us quickly try to keep it by telling those congress that we do not want them to change it. The bill now pending in congress to reduce the penalty was introduced by a man from Oklahoma, who said his wheat growers objected to paying the 40-cent penalty and not wanting to pay the large scale growers don't want a heavy penalty—they want to be able to sell wheat with impunity.

I favor either leaving the penalty as it is or discarding the whole plan—making no loans—or else permitting the wheat growers themselves to vote again.

There are more small than large growers and we should quickly change the situation just for the favored few? It is only for "one year" as it was for the soldier boys. Why should congress listen to the mean of the large wheat grower and not to that of the mother for her soldier?

Never was it more true than now that united we stand and divided we fall. Join thousands to the uniformed army and we will do much to help our nation while unjust competition of the masses results in the loss of health and that is dangerous. I would hate to be the one to be so short-sighted of my country's welfare while thousands of our boys are in the army.

Surprise Party Honors Veteran Clover Pastor

CLOVER, Aug. 2 (Special)—Members of the congregation of the Trinity Lutheran church here this week observed the 50th birthday of the pastor, Rev. W. F. Dannenfeldt, as well as his 25th anniversary as church minister.

The observance took the form of a surprise party and a large crowd had gathered in the Clover community hall when Rev. Dannenfeldt arrived, having been asked there on "business" by elders of the church. Following the singing of a hymn, Rev. H. Westendorf gave a short address in which he outlined the work done by the church pastor during the past quarter of a century.

A sum of money was presented to the honoree and will be used toward purchase of a new pulpit gown. Ladies of the church served a luncheon following the program.

Prior to coming to Clover as a young man, Rev. Dannenfeldt had been pastor at Casper, Wyo., for three years. He arrived in Clover in July, 1916, when the tract was first being settled.

The congregation was first served by Rev. J. Schlichting, who then was pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church in Twin Falls. Rev. Dannenfeldt was the first and has since been its only resident pastor. The party honoring him was held Wednesday evening.

COURT CLEMENCY FOR PAROLEE, 12

Max Martin, 21, Twin Falls, had been given one more chance today to behave himself.

Judge J. W. Porter, at conclusion of district court hearing Friday afternoon on revocation of Martin's parole, denied the motion by the prosecutor and held the youth under five more months of parole to the sheriff.

Martin originally was placed under parole of one year last September after pleading guilty to forestry of a $15 check in Twin Falls. Since then the prosecutor advised the court, he served a petty larceny sentence in Elmore county jail and served out $15.00 fine and costs in Twin Falls county on charge of obtaining coal under false pretenses.

The prosecutor had sought revocation of the parole and an order requiring Martin to serve out the one to 14-year prison term suspended by the court last September.

History Repeats: Man Gets Prison In Check Forgery

History had repeated itself—with a slight change in location—for Roy H. Stockton today.

He was sentenced to one to 14 years in the Idaho prison by District Judge J. W. Porter Friday afternoon on charge of forgery. Stockton pleaded guilty to forging a $10 check July 12. The check was drawn on a Buhl bank.

Records show Stockton was convicted of forgery once before in the state of Washington.

The Buhl check carried the name of Charlie Staten, Erickman, and was passed at a grocery store.

Noted Dance Band Signs Twin Falls Saxophonist

To be a "top notch" musician has been the desire of Vergil Personette, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Personette.

Now that desire is a step nearer realization, for Sunday Vergil leaves by bus for Tulsa, Okla., to join Eddie Dunsmore's dance band.

His first performance as tenor saxophonist with this nationally famous dance band will be next Wednesday, Aug. 6, when Dunsmore opens at the Coconut Grove ballroom in Tulsa.

Audition at Burley

Personette received a contract with Dunsmore following an audition given him July 29 at the Y-Dell hall in Burley, where the band was being featured for one night only.

During the summer season, Personette will play engagements with the band throughout the middle west and possibly on the west coast, where the band is on circuit tour.

Beginning his musical career at the age of 11, under the tutelage of Charles E. Dumas, Personette played throughout his junior and senior high school years with the school orchestra, bands and pep band. When but 14, he began playing professionally with the "King of Swing" dance band. Later, he joined Ray Jennings and Wayne Skem. For the past year he has been associated with Will Wright's dance orchestra.

GLENN'S FERRY, Aug. 2 (Special)—Norman, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kelley Wood, who reside on a farm west of town, had a narrow escape a few days ago when he fell from an upstairs window but was unharmed.

The lad was leaning in the window and the screen became unfastened and fell out, with Norman following. It is thought the window screen helped to break his fall, as no bones were broken nor serious after effects experienced.

BOUNCE

AKRON, O., Aug. 2 (AP)—The R. F. Goodrich company, one of the largest manufacturers of rubber goods, which maintains a laboratory that prides itself on the quality of rubber, confessed today there is one thing about rubber it doesn't know. Goodrich doesn't know what makes it bounce.

The question was put to the company by a man who had made a bet. As a matter of price, the company tried to find out, interviewing its chemists, physicists and experts, but none could answer.
