Manhattan Career Girl Tells What Not to Do

Executive

Remember that excellent advice Miss Elizabeth Cameron, New York City, tossed off to prospective business and career girls when she was visiting her father, W. R. Cameron, in Twin Falls a few years ago?

Well, she fulfilled all those rules to herself, and is now executive secretary of the National Federation of Sales Executives.

Looking like the successful Manhattan career girl that she is, Miss Cameron visited her father here for three days last week, and then left last week-end for Salt Lake City for a reunion visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Howard McGaha, Los Angeles.

"Clamor gas stuff" is out of place in business offices, she said, who care for themselves worthwhile in the business world are those who have learned to mix brains and beauty.

Miss Cameron reiterated her opinion that a girl's appearance should be stylish, but restrained and businesslike—minus too short skirts, too long, brightly polished nails.

Conservative in the style of clothing she wears, Miss Cameron's blond hair is designed for comfort, coiffed in a simple, natural-looking waves, the epitome of good grooming.

Six years ago Miss Cameron was a stenographer. Now she directs executive secretarial activities for the national sales organization, 5,000 members in the United States and Canada, and edits a monthly club bulletin and a general news bulletin.

Many Shirkers Found by Britain In Mobilization Of War Workers

By ROSETE HARGROVE

LONDON, (Special)—Ernest Bevin, England's labor minister, is a disappointed man. "Miss England" hasn't responded in anything like the expected numbers to his call for national service. This would seem to show that all the women who, at the outbreak of war, volunteered to serve their country have already been absorbed. The remainder have been content to register and just leave it at that.

But leaving "well enough" alone just isn't good enough. Britain's need of women now is so great that, unless the situation improves appreciably and very quickly, some sort of conscription measures may be put into effect.

The fact is there are too many idle women, too many young women in non-essential jobs. Mean time the women's branches of the three services are clamoring for more recruits—the A. T. S. Auxiliary Territorial Service needs 100,000 women before the end of the year, 200,000 by next summer.

These women are needed to take the places of men who will then be moved on into fighting units. This applies, too, to the women's branches of the navy and air force. There is an urgent call for more nurses, more Land Girls, while the number of women needed in munition factories runs into tens of thousands.

Loopholes in Law
The formation of a reserve of older women volunteers which can be drawn upon to fill the places of the younger women is being considered. This is also seriously contemplated. Age groups up to the 31's will be called to register within the next four months, and the "up to 41's" within a year. Girls of 19 to 24, who have already registered, are being asked to volunteer immediately for the services without waiting to be interviewed. This applies especially to girls who know their regular jobs will be filled by older women.

By speeding up the registering of age-groups, the authorities are finding out that they are reaching more and more idle women. These comprise the great army of "Leave-it-to-bevin" girls, mainly young married women with comfortable homes who still think that part-time duty at a canteen or the local A. R. post is a sufficient contribution to the war effort.

There is every reason for Mr. Bevin's anxiety to get the women who are not working into the war effort.

Antelope of Beaver street, whose swank hair-dressing salons are now empty in wartime, created this new "V-for-Victor" coffee.

Few in War Work

Figures are eloquent. Of the 1,300,000 women between the ages of 20 and 24 who had registered up to the early part of July, only about 200,000 have been transferred to war jobs. Some 80,000 are now in the three women's services, including the land army and nurses.

Over 100,000 have been exempted from national service for a variety of reasons. All who had homes to look after were automatically reserved, and over 200,000 were married or widowed. Many of the girls in the early twenties may have rushed off to get married just before registration to avoid being called upon.

On the other hand, every woman registered at a labor exchange as unemployed for more than 28 days is being offered war work. Any one refusing this job will see her benefit automatically stopped. Nearly 3,000 have been notified they could take up work in another part of the country or not get any further help from the government.

The picnic dinner will be served at 5 o'clock, preceding a meeting of the club at 3:30 o'clock.

Also honored were her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Russell, Little Rock, who led today on a trip to San Francisco. Mrs. Russell is remaining for an indefinite stay at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herman Dodson.

The 60 guests, all former Arkansas residents, most of them relatives of the Dodson and Russell families, particularly enjoyed Mrs. Russell's reminiscences of early days in Idaho, and of the marked contrast she now observed.

Next Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dodson, she will visit Bliss, her home as a bride, and the birthplace of her two daughters.

Idaho Is Land of Grandeur, Abundance, Kiwanians Told at Dairy Palace Meet

By EDNA CHILDS
FILER, Aug. 19 (Special)—Idahoans should remember gratefully that they live in the most beautiful and abundant Dr. F. A. Kalky, Buhl, lieutenant-governor of the Utah-Idaho Kiwanis district, told the Kiwanis district meeting last evening at the dairy palace here.

Idaho is still young and growing. Her future is like her past, vigorous and alive. The pattern of her industry is still being cut, and the width of the opportunity offered by her natural resources is still unmeasured.

"Idaho ranks first as the nation's leading big game state. We have the largest elk population in the United States. We have a most widely advertised playground—Sun Valley, the group in skiing—1,000 feet—2,000 feet deeper than the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

"Idaho has the largest deposit known of lead, silver, tungsten and phosphate. We supply defense with aluminum, antimony, manganese, zinc and tungsten.

"Idaho has the largest island of white pine in the world, and with it the largest white pine sawmill in the world. We have the largest petrifaction forest. Ours is the most widely mineralized of any state in the union, having produced wealth estimated at $1 billion since discovery in 1800.

PRESIDENT CONSIDERS DEFENSE MECHANISM REVISION

HENRY WALLACE MAY BE PLACED AT HEAD OF UNIT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (UPI)—Congressional sources asserted today that President Roosevelt is considering a major revision of defense mechanism that would put Vice President Henry A. Wallace at the head of the unit.

Informed legislators heard that the new agency, for which no name has yet been selected, would combine the functions of the office of production management and the economic defense board. Both these agencies would continue to operate as part of the setup, it was understood.

The plan apparently would raise Wallace to the status of "assistant president," in charge of an agency overseeing the OPM, headed by William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman as co-directors. Wallace is now head of the economic defense board, an agency created to exert economic pressure on the axis powers.

In addition to Wallace, the new board reportedly would include Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Price Control Administrator, Leo Henderson, and one or two other officials.

CAMP M'CLUSKY FINISHES YEAR

BOHLE, Aug. 19 (Special)—The McClusky Memorial camp under the efficient management of Mrs. L. W. Dapain, Hazelton; Mrs. E. Chittin, Glenn Ferry; Mrs. Grace Porter, Wendell, assisted by Miss Dorothy Hastings, Castleford; Miss Beth Wimmer, Shoshone; Miss Elizabeth Fritzsche, Aberdeen; Miss Edythe Trunkey, Hansen, and Miss Eunice Potter, Hagerman, closed a successful nine weeks' health session Saturday.

Two additional recreational features, the swimming pool and the weekly band concerts, have given the children much pleasure, according to Mrs. Dapain.

She further remarked that if success is measured by actual gain in weight this year equals that of previous years. The average gain for the entire group was 3.8 pounds. The total gain was 231.5 pounds. The older girls made a total gain of 118 pounds; an average gain of 4.1 pounds. The younger girls made an average gain of 3.65 pounds; a total gain of 36.5 pounds. The boys gained an average of 3.5 pounds.

Those gaining 8 pounds each were—Dorothy Elmore, Payette; Jean Merrill and Henry Coffman, Bohle.

Those gaining 7.5 pounds were—Marvin Fukid, Payette, and Richard Baker, Murtaugh.

Donations of fruit, vegetables and meat were far below the amounts usually donated other years, which meant that a larger portion of the camp funds had to be spent for food supplies this year, she added.

Mrs. C. O. Smithson, chairman of the health camp, stated the committee was well satisfied with this year's camp program and wished to express its appreciation to the management of the camp, to the Idaho Power company for electricity, the Bohle Feed and Ice for storage, to the Snake River trout hatchery for generous supplies of fish, and to individual—and club donors of food and supplies.
