Just a Farmer At Heart. Illustration of a farmer in a field. Text: "The Pot Shots stories have been hunting far and wide for proof that a certain downy business man actually milked a cow."

Labor Has Something to Celebrate. Labor day has always been a sort of combination of Thanksgiving and Demonstration day for organized labor. Labor met, paraded, celebrated to mark its progress and demonstrate its strength.

On both counts there is special reason for it to mark the day this year. More men are organized in labor unions than ever before, the best estimate being about 16,000,000. With their families and dependents, that makes a sizable chunk of the whole people.

On the other hand, never has organized labor owed so much to the society in which it has its being. The high state of organization which has been achieved is due in large measure to the favoring climate established by the federal government.

It need only look across the ocean to see the condition of its brothers in toil when free democratic government has been overthrown. The workers of a whole continent are either bound to the iron wheel of Nazism, without freedom to organize or have a voice in their own conditions, or else are ground beneath that wheel in a condition which comes so perilously close to slavery as to make one shudder.

Labor therefore on its own day, when it celebrates its own power and achievements, owes a sober thought and a moment of dedication to the Republic whose principles of freedom have made and kept labor free.

Organized labor is coming into a period when, its chief obstacles surmounted, it must think increasingly of its place in the social order, its duties and responsibilities toward the people as a whole, and toward the free institutions which have favored its development.

When the Boys Come Home. Soon after today, the first young Americans will begin to come back from camp, being entitled to discharge because of age, dependents, or other obligations.

General Hershey, director of selective service, has made it clear that the working of the whole military program depends to a very great extent on how this civilian re-employment end works out.

This fitting of discharged army men back into civilian and industrial life is more than a legal obligation, more than a moral obligation; it is a practical part of the defense of the United States, no less important than the purely military part.

Now is the time to begin getting ready for smooth and effective performance of this new and vitally important phase of the defense program.

The only advantage in the colds prevalent these days is a great help in pronouncing the Russian girl in the dark—or whistling with your...

"The story," he had inherited a factory and a million eggs of Wendrop. He was looking for his late investor-father, and he was looking for a girl named Edith, his mother's best friend.

CHAPTER XVI. JOE BENTON knocked at the office door, entered when Ted shouted: "Come in now."

"I'm Joe Benton, analytical expert. I'm person to Wendrop's chemistry. I want that job advertised."

Key looked up to see a blond girl filling the doorway. His blue eyes met hers squarely, and he was looking at her through his face remained serious.

"No story," Benton answered frankly. "Nine months of the year I teach organic chemistry at the state university. I saw your ad and I asked the corner drugist if he knew anything about Wendrop's ad. He said he had seen it and had to get it back."

"I am interested in your product. I suppose, after the trouble you had with your product, I should find out exactly what it will do before you put it on the market."

"I can test it in my own laboratory. I teach chemistry at the state university. It's a very difficult prospect would interest you. Mr. Andrews or a new cake recipe might intrigue a housewife."

"What happened?" Ted yelled. "What blew up?" "What blew up?" "What blew up?" "What blew up?"

"It was some time before they calmed down enough to get Benton's story straight. Joe looked at the end of the tube to get a fix to what had happened over a test tube of diluted alcohol.

Esther Shipman Tells Of Army Life in South

Watching the United States army train parachute corps was the recent privilege of Miss Esther Shipman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Shipman, who has returned from a month's visit at Fort Benning, near Columbus, Ga.

Miss Shipman was a guest of Lieut. and Mrs. Leslie Murphy, both former residents of Twin Falls, who were transferred to Fort Benning last December. Mrs. Murphy was formerly Miss Ruth Powell.

Although the transport plane, used by the parachute unit, has often dropped as many as 30 men from a single plane, Miss Shipman witnessed 12 "green-horns" take their first plane jump. Only one man was so excited that he pulled the cord to his emergency "chute."

Parachute Training

She was particularly impressed with the physical fitness of the jumpers as first trained. At the first tower, the trainees raised and lowered their parachutes to get the feel of a drop; while at the second tower, he must jump with a "shoot."

Of unusual interest was the distinction between the officers and the regulars in the army. At Fort Benning the officers from second lieutenant up had their own club and social functions entirely apart from the other service.

"It seems to be a common feeling in the south that war is fun, fun; therefore, it did not seem quite so strange," said Miss Shipman, "to hear women discussing and planning what they will do when and if war actually comes."

Since the army's expansion, the problem of colored help near Fort Benning has become rather an unique situation. To the whites who live on less than a dollar a week, the offer of a nickel a week increase in pay because of an inducement.

The colored servant never bothers to notify her present employer that she is going to quit, she merely doesn't show up for work.

Down-South Negroes

Although the white girl of the south will work in factories and stores, she will soon an offer to "mind the baby for the evening."

Platinum once was so cheap that bricks of it were gilded and sold to unwary greenhorns.

CARDS RETAIN SLENDER LEAD OVER DODGERS

Shoshone Annexes SCL League Playoff Crown With 12-6 Victory

St. Louis Defeats Reds as Brooks Win Over Giants

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (U.P.)—The major leagues go on their third big spree of the year today when every club in the big time participates in a Labor day doubleheader. But of the entire 16-game program, only four contests merit the undivided attention of diamond devotees.

The four games are those in which the St. Louis Cardinals, leading the National league by .002 percentage points, play host to the Pittsburgh Pirates, and the runner-up Dodgers meet the Boston Braves at Ebbets field.

The Cards defeated the Reds, 6-2, yesterday while the Dodgers thumped the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-1, and the runner-up Dodgers meet the Boston Braves at Ebbets field.

Cowboys Split Two Games With Pilots

BOISE, Sept. 1 (Special)—Twin Falls and Boise of the Pioneer league meet in another doubleheader here tonight, with the league-leading Pilots attempting to strengthen their advantage at the expense of the club-dwelling Cowboys.

Yesterday the clubs split a doubleheader and thereby the Pilots increased their lead as the Ogden Reds dropped a pair to the Salt Lake Bees.

Paul Placovich, who was one of the league's leading pitchers for first half of the campaign, was blasted for an 8-0 defeat in the first game—a seven-inning affair—by the second coming Elton Bushman, the Indian athlete, pitched a 10-inning 3-2 Cowboy victory.

For tonight's games, Con Hasmussen will be pitched by Bob Snyder and Gerald Slattery, the latter the league's leading pitcher.

Last night the Pilots pushed against six runs in the second inning to clinch the first game before 2:30 assembled fans. In the big inning, Placovich had a hit batsman and an error resulted in all the counts.

The Pilots added two more in the fourth, just to be certain. Elton Bushman, the veteran southpaw, was turning back the Wranglers on five hits and was in serious trouble only once—the fifth when he loaded the bases with only one down. But Placovich struck out and the Ogden filed out to end the frame.

The second game was a hurlers' battle between Bushman and Darrell Field.

The Cowboys got one run in the sixth when Al Lightner clouted a home run over the fence and came right back to knot the count when Walt Lowe and Billy Steiger singled.

Record Throng Tours Municipal Golf Course; Ogden Pro to Shoot at Record

They turned out away at the Twin Falls municipal golf course yesterday as the city played host to golfers from the intermountain region.

Offering free eats and drinks—plus free play on the course throughout the day—the new grass-greened layout attracted 138 players from far and near.

And it was discovered that 120 is about all the players a single hole course will handle.

Even with all these shotmakers on hand, there were no par-shooters on the course, and Mel Cozzitelli, set several weeks ago, still stands.

However, Scholter said he had four the layout today in an attempt to set a new record. Par for the course is 35.

Among those trying out the course were three from Pocatello, 11 from Bluff, one from Salt Lake City, five from Burley, four from Rupert, one from Grand Junction, Colo., one from Idaho Falls, three from Boise, three from Ogden and five from Kimberly, plus 79 from Twin Falls.

Today's another big turnout is expected to participate in the attack on par on the course.

Some reported that the new greens and the fairways withstood the heavy play yesterday excellently, and that the chances are that play would continue heavy for the rest of the season.

Utah Players Rule Idaho's Net Tourney

BOISE, Ida., Sept. 1 (U.P.)—Utah players dominated the tennis today as the Idaho state tennis championship went into final rounds.

Lynn Rockwood and Frank Tegner, both of Salt Lake City, were to meet in the final for the state men's title. Rockwood moved into the top bracket yesterday by defeating Dick Odman, Seattle, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Miss Martin won her semi-final round from Sylvia Sarlat, Boise, 7-5, 6-4.

The Odman brothers were still on top in the men's doubles bracket and will meet McIner and Omer Morris, Salt Lake City, in the finals.

The women's singles finals went to be an all-Idaho event with Mrs. Ed Eskin and Helen Martin, both of Boise, continuing their long-fought feud for the title.

Miss Martin and Mrs. Eskin will team up in the women's doubles to play Mrs. J.P. Walker, Kimberly, from the race, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, and Miss Martin won her semi-final round from Sylvia Sarlat, Boise, 7-5, 6-4.

Miss Martin and Mrs. Eskin will team up in the women's doubles to play Mrs. J.P. Walker, Kimberly, from the race, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, and Miss Martin won her semi-final round from Sylvia Sarlat, Boise, 7-5, 6-4.

Solons' Lead Stays at 4 1/2 Games

By United Press With three weeks left in the Pacific Coast League season, Sacramento today was down to a 4 1/2-game lead over Seattle, and San Diego was only another half game further back.

San Francisco's fighting to hold their lead while San Diego is in the games most of the season, split a doubleheader with San Diego yesterday.

Seattle took a defeat from Portland before the rains came. San Francisco took a pair from Hollywood to move into fifth place and Oakland beat Seattle twice to drop the Angels into seventh.

San Diego shut out the league leaders, Los Angeles, in the first game. Pucher Bill Thomas got his 12th win of the season. Sacramento won the nightcap, 5-2.

Portland beat Seattle, 3-2, in a game cut short by rain at the sixth inning. The Beavers had a 3-0 lead in the sixth when Ira Scribner doubled and Lee Scarsville tripled but the rally fell short.

San Francisco beat Hollywood 8-1 and 3-2. Don Brogan won the opener with a homer in the seventh with two on base.

Redskins Turn Back Jerome In Final Tilt

JEROME, Sept. 1 (Special)—Before the largest crowd of the season, the invading Shoshone Redskins walked off with the SCL league play-off crown here yesterday by trouncing the Jerome team in the first game of a scheduled double-header by a score of 12-6.

The victory gave the Shoshone club a record 10 straight wins in the play-offs and ended necessity of a third game.

With Jiggs Bartholomew, the 16-year-old southpaw, holding the local posters in check all the way, the Lincoln county gang hopped on the offerings of Ellis Shaffer, Jerome hurler, for six outs, hitting the ball hard and often.

Meanwhile, the Jerome defense helped things along by contributing four errors. Shoshone's defense, which was straight in winning the first game at Twin Falls by a score of 9-0 again played excellent ball, making only one miscue.

The attendance for the game was reported at slightly over 400, with the gross receipts running over $1000 mark. For the two games played—here and at Twin Falls—nearly 1200 fans turned out.

Benny Hogan Wins Hershey Open Crown

HERSHHEY, Penn., Sept. 1 (U.P.)—Three factors combined to make pin-pointed Benny Hogan the biggest name on the professional golfing circuit today.

He held the Hershey Open golf title and had registered his fourth consecutive sub-par round and a 72-hole total 619 1/2 which shattered the four-year-old tournament record set by Henry Picard and sent him over the finish line yesterday. Five strokes ahead of his nearest rival.

"The Hershey victory climaxed four days of amazing golf in which he went 47 strokes under par with rounds of 67, 67, 68 and 70. It added to 200 in his winnings to run his year's total, best of the professionals, to $19,332.

Rizzuto and Gordon Rank With Top Double Play Combinations

Joe Gordon takes toss from Phil Rizzuto and throws to Johnny Sturm, inset, for another double play.

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Stanley Raymond Harris calls Joe Gordon "the Yankees' best defensive second baseman he ever saw."

That's a mighty fine compliment coming from Bucky Harris, who played considerable second base himself.

Washington's head man has looked at more than a few fair to middling second sackers, too. He saw one named Eddie Collins and got a peek at Napoleon Lajoie.

"Lajoie, Collins, Rogers Hornsby, Frank Frisch and Chesley Chelinger, to name five, outfit Gordon with plenty to spare, but not even Collins could play second base like the young man from Oregon," says the original boy manager.

"Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack of Cleveland are a corking young combination, but Mack does not start a double play as rapidly as Gordon, nor does he cover as wide a range."

"Gordon takes off in all directions and never makes a mistake. He's tops in my book as an infielder, and he isn't the worst hitter in the business especially when it comes to being a long ball."

Rizzuto Comes in

Harris unhealthily rates Phil Rizzuto and Gordon among the great second base combinations of all time.

"That also is something in the way

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

somehow easier than Rizzuto, he points out that the Brooklyn kid's lack of reach on wide and high throws and such is offset in a good measure by the ease with which he gets down for a grounder.

Threaten Double Play Records

New York's infield, with 134 double plays in 112 games, threatens to break the American league record of 187, established by Cleveland in 1928. It also is in position to wipe out the major league record of 134, made by Cincinnati in 1928 and tied by the same club in '31, when Horace Fox and Hughie Critz were going strong.

Teamed with Gerald Priddy, now in the Yankee dugout, Rizzuto last season helped the Yankees city-infield to 138 double killings.

Kansas City infielders threw to Johnny Sturm, who has been completing the Yankees double play, since Gordon was returned to second base.

Infielders throw to Sturm with the utmost confidence, and with the physical edge left-handedness gives a first baseman, the St. Louis lead has a full share of double plays himself.

With a 14-length lead and only six bases to go, the Yankees should walk in.

The pitching could even bog down a bit and the Yanks could quit hitting home runs all together.

They still have Red Rolfe, Phil Rizzuto, Joe Gordon and Johnny Sturm playing 'em close to the vest.

Ward Won Amateur Crown—But Fans Did Best to Help Pat Abbott

By HARRY FERGUSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—Sports are a great asset to the nation because they teach the principle of fair play and inculcate the idea that every man deserves an equal break.

Sometimes, however, the public forgets to do its home work and shows up for class not knowing its lessons. Like the crowd that followed the final match of the National Amateur Golf championship at Omaha, from all accounts, it must have been the worst exhibition of poor sportsmanship seen around this country in many a day.

You know the set-up. Bud Ward was playing Pat Abbott for the title, and the crowd vibrantly favored Abbott. Not because he was a home-town boy from Colton, California; not because he is the better golfer; not for any apparent reason except Ward is reported to have said he didn't like the course on which the tournament was played.

As soon as that rumor gained circulation, strange things began to happen. "Even Abbott hit a shot that headed for a trap it appears managed to get in the way and keep the ball out of the trap. When Ward hit one" toward a trap, lanes opened up miraculously and the ball pattered into the green and popped into the sand. A nervous crowd kicked Abbott's ball onto the green and said it was accidental.

Things finally got so bad that Harold W. Pierce, president of the United States Golf association, halted the match and made a speech asking for fair play.

Knowing the kind of sportsman and golfer that Abbott is, I'm sure he was just as distressed as anybody over the gallery's sorry exhibition.

Anyway, Ward won, 4 and 3, and a good thing it was, too. It would be a permanent black eye for golf if Abbott had won this title under such circumstances. There always would have been some doubt as to whether he was the better golfer on that particular day.

Whether Ward actually said he didn't like the course, your agent has no way of knowing, but if he did, he made a grave error, for there is nothing on this earth so dangerous as a disgruntled fan who is told that his course is not good.

(A) That their course is the most beautiful in the world.

(B) That it is the toughest in the world.

Club members mutter for days if pro come along and tear their course to pieces by firing a 66 on a par 72 layout. That feeling is "so strong" that clubs that get the National Open or the amateur used to tougher up their courses.

Personally, we never have seen why golf and tennis crowds shouldn't be allowed to shout, cheer and boo just as do crowds at baseball, football and boxing. But when it comes to taking part in the contest by blocking a ball or letting one roll into the trap—well, it's sort of like jumping into the ring and pasting Joe Louis on the jaw at a critical stage of the bout. And if any of those members of the Omaha gallery would like that assignment, they can have it.

THE SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It may sound incongruous, what with the flag and having drawn more than 1,100,000 paid admissions at home, but I see pretty straight that the beloved Burns had better wail for the biggest Bum of Leo Ernest Brocher.

The reason for this is that Larry Durocher is not in shape to play shortstop when there is a crying need for his services.

Larry Mac had picked Lipgy Brocher as manager largely because he wanted to spot him to another good year or two in shortstop.

Durocher at 35 could still be one of the best shortstops.

Every time the Brooklyn's get off on the wrong foot, Loud Brocher MacPhail expresses the wish that Durocher would get into the thick of things.

"It's a different outfit when Leo is in there," he says.

He is more than willing to devote his entire time and attention to master minding and let it go at that.

That is quite all right when things are running well, but these times when the sinking influence of the pernicious Durocher would help so little.

There was a demand for a pinch-hitter for Renee after he had lunched and tossed away Pat Freddie Fitzsimons' well-placed key game against the Cardinals.

Durocher started to make the move, but pulled up suddenly, as though "tired to himself." "I take Renee out, I'll have to play shortstop."

That prompted an official of the Brooklyn club to remark that Durocher hasn't worked out to times all season, hasn't fielded 100 ground balls.

Durocher is the leader of a club which is the best that money could buy, and as such Larry MacPhail's others seemed to have taken the Brooklyn has the advantage. He ought to place their interests ahead of his physical comfort.

If the Burns wish their team, Larry MacPhail may take Leo Durocher's failure to do his job in consideration when it is time to talk contract, if any.

FSA WILL OPEN LARGE ACREAGE
BUTLER, Mo. 032-A 42,000-acre block of farm land, once owned by an Irish peer who would allow 800 acres to be sold to the FSA.

Lord William Scully, a tall, slender Irishman with a keen eye for rich land, came to the United States in 1850, dropped his title and before his death had amassed a fortune of $50,000,000.

Scully left Philadelphia the year he arrived in the United States, mounted on a horse and carrying a spade. He reached Illinois before his shovel was used to his liking and he bought 20,000 acres there.

At Scully's death the land passed to his son, a U. S. citizen and he inherited it until it was sold to the FSA. Farmers moved off land taken over by the Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., base.

ARGENTINE TRIES PRISON REFORM
BUENOS AIRES (U.S.)—The Argentine penal system, which is reworking the 'old' U.S. prison experiment conducted during the past year at Villa Elisa, a woman's prison, has announced a plan to try to live in a home rather than inside barbed wire walls.

Each house is provided over 1000 square feet of living space and is equipped with the latest in modern plumbing and electric appliances.

Each house is provided over 1000 square feet of living space and is equipped with the latest in modern plumbing and electric appliances.

It is said that healthy mental and physical activities have replaced the morose brooding common to women's prison, and that increased pride and responsibility have shortened the period of education before delinquents can be released.

1,400 FINNS REPORTED KILLED IN KARELIAN FIGHT

GUERRILLA WAR DAMAGES ATTACK OF AXIS HELPERS

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW, Sept. 1 (U.P.)—Russian war reports said today 1,400 Finnish troops have been killed in fierce fighting in the east sector of the northern front (apparently on the Karelian Isthmus) and that German troops have been held or pushed back in heavy fighting all along the front.

The Soviet reports indicated that army counterattacks were general on the whole front through the night.

The battle in the "N" sector, the communicate said, was against a joint force of German and Finnish troops, including a Nazi storm troop division. Some 1,000 Finnish troops were said to have been encircled of whom only 600 escaped.

Both units harassed. Persistent Russian guerrilla activity of the Karelian Isthmus was said to be harassing both German and Finnish units.

On the central front a powerful force under Gen. Andrei Dodonov, in a series of counterattacks, under Gen. Constantin Rokossovsky in the Smolensk-Moscow highway direction, German troops were reported to be withdrawing after losing many thousands in casualties.

The Russian salient in the Smolensk area is steadily being enlarged, it was asserted.

A special dispatch to the official newspaper (Izvestia) disclosed a Russian counter-attack for a Russian arctic circle where, it was asserted, the Russians had routed a German division after a German general had flown to the front in a vain attempt to hold them.

Surge of Confidence
A sudden surge of confidence here marked the start of the 11th week of the war in which the Germans are said to have hoped to win in three or four.

It was indicated on the basis of reports that the German army after their offensives on Leningrad from their offensives on the southern front, the army of the Ukraine under Marshal Semen Budyenny was holding fast on the Dnieper river.

A communicate disclosed the Germans had already started to attack the Dnieper line, attempting to put pontoon bridges across the river to the Russian side. These attempts had been thrown back with heavy losses, it was said.

Dictionary Takes Licking With Newest Army Slang

The dictionary is having a tough time catching up with modern soldier talk.

Modernizing two words was brought in hundreds of new words.

By RALPH MARTIN
WITH THE THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA, Sept. 1 (U.P.)—The dignified King's English is taking a bully-ragging from the army again.

A lush growth of new slang is springing into being—a low-brow verbiage that is inelegant, tongue-heavy, and as colorful as the label on a tomato can.

Newly coined words flip from the tongue of a sergeant, marching "gravel-agitators" (foot soldiers in the infantry). Out of the "hell bugles" (army tanks) come other blunt, indelicate phrases.

Slang is a woods cut language. Nobody knows where it came from when it was born. The new word or phrase is coined, given currency, and then current, major-scale army maneuvers in Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana, bringing together half a million soldiers, give great impetus to rapid dissemination.

The "diamond boy" and "dogface" (drifter and enlisted soldier respectively) hatch their terms out of conditions and factors that press and bewilder them.

Today's American soldier has his squad tent his "hoochie." The "Class-Bar Hotel" is the guard house. When on trucks he KP dances, he calls dish-washing "bubble dancing." The hungry soldier who is eternally at the head of the mess line is a "chow hound." The insects that bother the soldier are "motorized fleas."

HARRY RAY TOPS LEGION AT BUHL

BUHL, Sept. 1 (Special)—Otto Paul, newly elected First district commander of the American Legion, met with Buhl post in special session Thursday evening and installed the following officers: Harry Ray, commander; Albert Kolarik, vice commander; Chester Robison, adjutant; Ballard Aushes, finance officer; Jack Vetter, service officer; Nek Steima, and Rev. Joe Howard recently elected to serve as sergeant at arms and chaplain, were not present.

The outgoing officers are Charles Wilcox, commander; Charles Shuck, vice commander; Carl Curtis, adjutant; Lloyd Byrne, finance officer; Albert Kolarik, sergeant at arms.

Reports were given by the delegates on the state convention which was held in Boise, Aug. 17-20 in- cluding refreshments and a social hour enjoyed at the close of the formal meeting.

Onions Taboo

An ordinance passed in Waterloo, Neb., in 1910, reads: "It shall be illegal for any barber in this town to eat onions between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m."

the hated army bugler are multi-farious—but the postal authorities know on all except one "wind jammer." A sob story is called a "Mother Machree." A "chick man" is a married soldier. The "button-chopper" is the laundry. Newly inducted soldiers are called "refugees."

There are countless initial letter abbreviations. An A. B. for instance is an "area bird," a chap pacing up and down the restricted area of the company street, in defiance of punishment because of a minor offense. The "slum burner" is the army chef. The "snore back" is the soldier's sleeping bag. Being on "skit patrol" is a search for feminine companionship. And an "army banjo" is the shovel of a soldier used by the pilot.

Pilot Language
The army pilots have a colorful patois all their own. "Frying the iron beams" means following railroad tracks from up in the air. A "six and 20 loader" is an engine young lady who keeps a flying cadet from returning on time from a weekend leave—six demerits and 20 punishment tours.

"Climax landing" is a wing-tipping landing—One Wing Low get it? The "China clipper" is a ditchmarker. "Flying boxcar" is a heavy bomber plane.

A TOUGH "LITTLE" TRACTOR for a TOUGH JOB!

That's what Howard Tegan found in the Ford Tractor when he assigned it to heavy duty in a rank-grown potato field for the toughest job of digging you can imagine. Tegan, who farms north of Filer, found the "little" Ford Tractor possessed world's of power, a wealth of adaptability and plenty of economy on this particular job. Despite the fact that the field was still covered with heavy vines and weeds—as the picture shows—the Ford Tractor got the heavy-duty job done the easy way.

YOU CAN DEPEND on the Ford Tractor to get your farm job done. Don't measure the Ford Tractor in terms of size—measure it in terms of power and economy and you'll find it a leader all the way!
