Quartet Finds Preston 'Jug' Trifle Breezy

The fall in Preston is just a trifle breezy. At least that's the condition of the kangaroo hoosegow which was used recently in that community to house those falling to wear cowboy outfits in connection with the fair and rodeo.

Four travelers—three from Twin Falls and one from Jerome—found that the fall could also be confining, according to word received here by gleeeful friends. They were held there an hour and fined $1 each on charges of attempted evasion of the cowboy code. It was rumored that one of the men was well known in Preston and the jailing operations were all in fun but the other three persons wondered what they had to do with it.

The four were W. H. Griggs, M. L. Smith and Dean Kendrick, all of Twin Falls, and Ferris Cullimore, Jerome.

The four stopped in Preston to do business but didn't get much done, according to word received here. Rather they were rounded up and "jailed."

We were lucky to get out of that place with only a $1 fine, one of the men said here, grinning sheepishly.

Magic Valley Men in Hoosegow

Down at Preston the residents take their celebrations seriously, as shown by the above picture which reveals three Twin Falls men and one Jerome resident in the "clink" for not wearing cowboy garb. The four, passing through Preston, spent an hour in the wired enclosure and paid "fines" of $1 each before being released. They are (left to right) W. H. Griggs, Twin Falls; Ferris Cullimore, Jerome; M. L. Smith and Dean Kendrick, both of Twin Falls. (Times Engraving)

Driggs, superintendent of the Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind, and Mrs. Driggs, graduated from the University of Idaho in 1940 and last year attended Gallaudet college, Washington, D. C. under a fellowship. She received her master's degree in the spring of this year. Her year's work consisting of practice teaching, study and student supervision. Her thesis was written on the results of a psychological test given to pupils at Kendall school.

Hesselholt Picnic Held at Castleford

CASTLEFORD, Sept. 4 (Special)—The annual Hesselholt picnic was held Sunday on the large tree-shaded lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Hesselholt and daughters. This event was inaugurated in 1926 by Miss Margaret Thomas some years prior to Mr. Hesselholt's marriage and has become an annual affair much looked forward to by the old time settlers of the community and their families as well as by special friends of the Hesselholts. There has been only one year in the 16 that no picnic has been held.

TAX LOAD CALLED 'LITTLE MAN' JOB

Much of the defense tax burden will be shouldered by "the little man" because 88 per cent of consumption is credited to persons who earn less than $5,000 a year. Loyd T. Perry, assistant cashier of the Fidelity National bank of Twin Falls, told the Rotary club at its Wednesday luncheon.

Mr. Perry has just returned from the Pacific northwest banking school at Seattle.

Offering views outlined at the school by business and banking leaders, he said that a debt total reaching three hundred billion dollars is a probability. Since even compensation of all the larger incomes would not come close to the defense amount needed, the lower income groups must be the chief reliance of the government.

According to Perry, the defense program, as evaluated by men high

In Business and Banking Ranks, Is Apparently Based on 'Anticipation of the Worst'—at Least a War of Five Years

Regarding labor troubles, he said, the attitude of federal officials at Seattle seems to be that the government has no power to prevent strikes or check the labor unions. As far as salary demands go, there appears to be no federal objection because increased wages will mean higher ability to pay taxes.

NYA STUDENT AID PLANNED AT H. S.

Student work program under the national youth administration will be carried on again this year at Twin Falls high school. Principals Edward B. Rogel announced this afternoon.

"Funds, though somewhat less than those of last year, have been made available by the NYA," he said. "To provide work for school students who have reached the age of 16 years and need financial assistance in order to continue in school."

Last year the system assisted 82 applicants; this year the decrease in funds will allow the NYA to aid only three-fourths that number. The workers are given various jobs throughout the entire school system, said Mr. Rogel. He urged that those who are interested apply at the principal's office at the high school immediately so the program can get underway as soon as possible. This is necessary in order to get in the full quota of hours for September.

This also Hitler noted: That in the case of conquered countries there are always people who 'contrive to feel not so badly, since they not infrequently are entrusted by the crafty victors with the job of slave overseer, which these characterless natures then exercise over their own people, at that generally more heartlessly than any alien beast placed over them by the enemy himself.'

AGREEMENT ENDS DAMAGE ACTION

Because a Filer Negro workman's $10,000 damage suit against a Twin Falls department store has been fully compromised, the action had been dismissed today by District Judge J. W. Foster.

The suit was that of Tom Schneyb against Charles Williamson, owner of the J. C. Penney Company, Schneyb, who is employed by A. J. McKinley, Filer hog feeder, sought the damages because he was arrested and jailed on claim that a $3 check he presented to the store was a forgery. Actually the check, signed by W. McKinley, was legitimate.

Williamson, an employee of the store, was accused of endorsing Schneyb's arrest by calling police, following the man on the street and then pointing him out to officers.

Judge Foster dismissed the action on stipulation filed by counsel for both sides. Dismissal came with prejudice because the suit could not be revived at all. Each side is to pay its own costs.

Rayborn and Rayborn represented the claimant, Frank L. Stephen, was counsel for the department store.

Amount of the compromise involved in the suit was not mentioned in the stipulation by attorneys.

PLAINTIFF ASKS SUIT DISMISSAL

Unexpected motion by the Twin Falls Canal company, asking dismissal of its condemnation suit against Mahlon J. Neumann, had halted trial of that action today in district court.

Judge J. W. Foster withheld ruling on the dismissal request after R. F. Parry requested time to consider the rights of Mr. Neumann in regard to the expense to which he was put prior to the move to abandon the suit. The firm of Parry and Thomas is defense counsel.

The canal firm had been asking condemnation of 238 acres of land on Mr. Neumann's 80-acre ranch northwest of Filer. The right-of-way was to be used for a ditch.

Mr. Neumann was the only witness prior to the dismissal request. He testified that the proposed ditch would travel across his ranch in a diagonal manner, and that the settlement offered by the company was not sufficient to cover the damages.

J. R. Bothwell and his son-in-law, W. B. Bowler, represented the canal firm.

CREAMERIES SET BUTTER RECORD

BOISE, Sept. 4 (UP) — Idaho creameries scored the largest July production on record by making 3,580,000 pounds of creamery butter during the month, the agricultural marketing service reported.

The total represented a six per cent increase from June production figures, but was still the largest July production in history of the state.

Compared to butter production figures for July, 1940, this year's total was reported to represent a 10 1/2 per cent increase.

Production of American cheese in the state was about one-fourth larger this July than during the same month a year ago. Creameries produced an aggregate of 1,275,000 pounds of cheese.

ALSIKE CLOVER'S YIELD INCREASES

BOISE, Sept. 4 (UP) — The federal agricultural marketing service has forecast production of three-year alsike clover in Idaho will total 14,000 bushels this year.

Last year the estimated production was 12,000 bushels.

The agency said growers reports would indicate 2,800 acres will be harvested this fall, compared with 2,000 acres in 1940. The season has been favorable for plant growth and seed setting. Yields are expected to average about one-half bushel more per acre than last year. The average per acre yield last fall was five bushels.

The seed also was expected to be about 17 per cent cleaner than last year.

ENROLLMENT UP AT ST. EDWARD'S

Father H. E. Helman, pastor of St. Edward's church and principal of the school, said that registration now is 110 students. Last year there were 100 attending the parochial institution.

Thorough remodeling work in the school rooms is now being pushed to completion, Father Helman said.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE?

You're right... what's wrong is the price tag. Imagine paying as much for a small watermelon as for the biggest one in the pile! Watermelons aren't all alike. Everybody can see that... an watermelons are always priced by weight... so many cents a pound. It's the full-value way.

Here's a harder question: No two lettuce heads are exactly alike. No two carrots. Every single thing Nature grows is different from its mates.

So... WHY AREN'T ALL VEGETABLES AND FRUITS PRICED THIS FULL-VALUE WAY! PRICED BY WEIGHT... rather than by the piece, the bunch, or by the dozen?

The answer is they are at your SAFEWAY! We have extended the plan of pricing by the pound to include every produce item we sell. All the advantages of pricing by weight are available to you at your Safeway's produce department... every purchase.

Many prominent women tell us they would like every store in town to price all fruits and vegetables by weight. Then you could get just the amount you want, just the sizes you like, and full value for your money every time. Wherever you trade, why don't you ask your store man about it?

CHURCHILL CALLS FOR FULL U. S. COOPERATION IN BATTLE

BRITISH LEADER ASKS HELP FROM EVERY COUNTRY

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, Jr.
LONDON, Sept. 4 (U.P.)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today called for "full cooperation in every field" of the United States and all other nations not yet engaged in the war against Germany.

Churchill declared "no lasting or perfect solution of the difficulties which confront Britain and the world can be achieved without such a full measure of cooperation by all nations which as yet lie outside the range of the conqueror's power."

He warned the "free men of the world must stand together in one line if humanity is to be spared a deepening darkening and widening tragedy which can lead only to something in the nature of immediate world chaos."

As Greater U. S. Aid

Churchill addressed a luncheon at Mansion house after a speech by Canada's prime minister, William Mackenzie King, who pleaded for greater American aid to "win this war for world freedom."

Churchill paid tribute to Canada as a link between the United States and the British empire.

"Canada," Churchill said, "with those relations of friendly and affectionate intimacy with the United States on the one hand, and with her unwavering fidelity to the British commonwealth and the motherland on the other, is the link which joins together these great branches of the human family, the link which, in spanning the ocean, brings the continents into their true relation and will prevent in future generations the divisions between the proud and happy nations of Europe and the great countries which have come to exist in the new world."

Appeals for Leadership

MacKenzie King appealed for leadership by the British commonwealth of nations and the United States to achieve a new world order based on freedom.

He said that Churchill's declaration that, in the far east, Britain stands at the side of the United States is a sure sign of the deepening interdependence of the free world.

"A similar declaration on the part of the United States, as respects Nazi Germany," he said, "would, I believe, serve to shorten this perilous conflict."

SCRAM

Three men will not attempt to sell magazines in Twin Falls from now on.

They represented themselves as being sponsored by the high school, police records show, and this was not the case. So yesterday afternoon they were rounded up and ordered to do their "peddling" elsewhere.

They took the hint and left the city.

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 4 (U.P.)—Man peaks his creative intellectual power between 35 and 40, Professor C. Lehman of Ohio university told the American Psychological association—and right away stirred argument from brain workers aged 9, 11, 44 and 50.

"If we can accept the consensus of experts," said Professor Lehman, "it seems apparent the greatest philosophers of the past 300 years have most often experienced their deepest insights at not later than ages 35 to 39 inclusive."

Men may acquire their greatest renown in later years but the highest point of their genius occurs during comparative youth, he said.

U. S. Sends Large Quantities of Oil for Spain's Use

SHIPMENT SENT TO KEEP FRANCO OUT OF CONFLICT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (AP)—The United States is letting Spain have large quantities of petroleum products as part of an effort to prevent Spain's entrance into the war on the side of the Axis, it was learned today.

A steady stream of Spanish tankers is being called at Port Arthur, Tex., picking up large oil and gasoline cargoes for transport to Bilbao, Santander, Barcelona and Malaga.

These oil shipments have been sanctioned by the state department.

None to Germany

State department officials would not discuss the oil export licenses to Spain in recent months, but other quarters said this government is following with Spain a course similar to that which it tried, but now has abandoned temporarily, with Japan.

The export control administration has investigated and assured itself that none of the oil shipments to Spain has been diverted to Germany.

Oil responsible authority said: "It is helping Britain meet her minimum requirements for oil, we can keep her neutral, it is quite to the interest of Britain and this country that she should be able to carry the heat of the conflict here. But if this country continues to remain neutral, it is in the interest of petroleum products to meet the minimum requirements of her economy, it may keep her out of the war."

Oil shipments to Spain in American vessels have not been permitted for some time, necessitating the use of Spanish tankers.

TOKYO—Scores of Japanese ships loaded with troops evacuated from Fochow, south China, are off the coast of Fukien province, proceeding toward an "undefined destination" under protection of warships, the official news agency, Daini, said today.

TANKER ARRIVES AT RUSSIAN PORT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4 (AP)—The American tanker, P. S. Star, which carried 10,000 barrels of aviation fuel for the Russian air forces, Union Oil company, operator of the tanker, announced today.

It was the first delivery of aviation gasoline to the Soviets in the new United States program of aid to Russia in Russia's war with Germany. This shipment has been subject of protests by Japan, German axis partner.

The announcement did not say when the tanker reached the Siberian port. News of its safe arrival was withheld at least 12 hours until the U. S. maritime commission authorized the announcement.

Two other tankers are due in Vladivostok Sunday and Monday respectively, according to maritime schedules. One carries 8,000 barrels of high octane fuel and the other 10,000.

The L. P. St. Clair left here Aug. 15 and made the 5,000 mile trip in 18 days.

There had been much speculation in diplomatic and shipping circles as to whether the Japanese government would have permitted the Russian deliveries. The tanker must pass through Japanese waters to reach Vladivostok.

TONIGHT

draws to a close it becomes evident that the total attendance at the dairy place meetings may easily reach the 4,000 mark, and as a means of drawing crowds to dairy demonstrations a and other farm meetings, the present show points to a new, and effective method of advertising.

And again the value of the Grange as a supporting factor in any undertaking in south Idaho is clearly indicated, as without the support of the Grange the dairy demonstration could not have been so successful as it has. When the orchards are passed around, the Grange of south Idaho should have a bouquet.

FOUNDATION FOR HOMES STARTED

First foundations in connection with construction of the initial low income housing projects in Twin Falls were poured yesterday and this work will be rushed to completion at an early date, it was announced this afternoon by John B. Kimes, contractor.

The work is being done under the Twin Falls and the United States housing authorities and the homes—14 duplexes—are being set up on property adjacent to the old baseball park on Second avenue south.

Kimes said that the recent operations will be completed before cold weather sets in and then actual construction will get underway. Kimes was awarded the contract on a bid of approximately $26,000.

The homes will be ready for occupancy next spring or early summer.

RIGHTS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4 (AP)—George Franklin, 66, went shopping dressed in his pajamas.

"I've got a perfect right to wear them," he said when officers questioned him. "I'm wearing more than plenty of women wear around the streets and I defy any cop to pinch me."

The policeman conferred hurriedly with another cop at 700 1/2th, and waved him on his way.

WATER FACILITY DRIVE UNDER WAY

BOISE, Sept. 4 (AP)—The Southwestern Idaho Water Conservation Project, Inc., which fostered development of three major dams in western Idaho, will continue its drive to increase water facilities of the state.

John Churchill, executive secretary of the organization, said that with the three main projects officially approved for construction, the group must continue its work to assure completion.

The Anderson ranch dam which will provide a new supply of supplemental water for Boise river valley farmers has already been started, and preliminary work is underway on the Cascade dam. The third project proposed by the organization—the Mann creek dam near Weiser—has been designated for operation soon.

Needs Effort
"It must be realized that although Anderson dam is an official project, this does not mean that this work will go right along from here on without further effort on our part," Churchill wrote.

"It is necessary that our organization maintain its Washington office to expedite the procuring of this money and to serve in every way possible in expediting the completion of the dam at the earliest possible date."

Official Representatives
Officers of the project association have also been designated by Gov. Chase A. Clark as the state's official representatives in Washington, D. C., to secure development of other Gem state water resources.

The group is aiding in securing federal financial support for construction of the Grand Valley project in southeastern Idaho and for the Fortner creek project near Mountain Home.

There is approximately one mile of road to every square mile of territory in the United States, exclusive of city streets.

Valuable Oil

Seeds of India's Chaulmoogra tree are worth 10 times their weight in gold to humanity, since oil extracted from them is used in ar restating jewelry.

During 1939, Canada produced 10,887,000 barrels of wheat flour compared to 13,738,000 barrels the preceding year.

Says Features Poor
Mr. Speedy classed most of our pastures in south Idaho as poor because of the fact that they were largely Kentucky blue grass, a plant that is slow to start in the spring and cannot survive the heat of summer and continue to produce abundant forage. Pasture should be a mixture combining early spring growth, abundant and rapid growth.

SCHOOL AT FARM CAMP TOTALS 71

Seventy-one pupils have enrolled in the grade school at the farm labor camp and more are expected to register before the week is up. Roy C. Lane, camp manager, said here this afternoon.

The school, for children from the first to eighth grades, both inclusive, accepts pupils from the school homes of the camp. Speller home children of high school age go to the local public schools while children of all grades who are "permanent" labor homes, with exception of those attending nursery school, go to public schools.

Lane said that the "same satisfactory arrangements" which were in effect last year have been continued this year. The camp school, which will end Dec. 1, at which time the shellers will be held until next season. The school operates under the direction of members of the school board and Superintendent W. Morgan.

Maximum attendance last year was 208 with a daily average of 166. Attendance this year is not expected to reach that high because there are not so many families traveling with children this year.

Lane said that financial arrangements last year showed no loss to the district in maintaining the school at the camp.

Principal of the camp school is Mrs. Ellen Brose while other teachers include the following: Third and fourth grades, Mrs. Blanch Inama; fifth and sixth grades, Mrs. Ruth Remann; seventh and eighth grades, Mrs. Elvora Wellington. Mrs. Brose will handle first and second grade work. Classes are held in the community hall.

Brooks Split Two Games; Pirates Defeat Cincinnati

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (U.P.)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, after a brief whirl at first place in the National League, trailed the St. Louis Cardinals by .004 points today.

The Brooks could do no better than to split a doubleheader with the last place Phillies yesterday. In the second game they couldn't cope with the old John McGraw type of baseball taught by one of the disciples of the late former manager of the New York Giants.

The Cowboys had to go into one extra inning to turn back the Pilots. At the end of the ninth, the score was tied at 2-2.

Sacs Beaten Again as Padres Win

San Diego whacked another game of Sacramento lead in the Pacific Coast league last night and the Coast's margin was down to a slinky two games.

The Sacramento slump, which pulled the Cardinals down from a 16-game lead in the last few weeks, slumped again last night when the Cards dropped an 11-0 decision to Oakland.

Manager Pepper Marzetti was again topping a fly in the left field to tie the eighth inning. Oakland had just tied the score at 8-8 after coming from far behind, when Marzetti's home run off the bat of Hugh Luby's fly out. Fred Tully lined up to George Munder. Bill Rigney, safe on an error, was on second and Marty Guada was on third and they romped home when Martin muffed the fly.

World-Famed Trick-Shot Artists Here Sept. 5

If they had roamed through this western country back in the '80's, the chances are that Mr. and Mrs. Ad Topperwein would have ruled as king and queen of the roost.

"Because what this pair can't do with guns isn't worth being able to do—and in those days the gun spoke louder than the voice when it came to making laws."

The famed duo, billed as the "world's greatest shooting team," will appear here at the Snake River Gun club grounds at 2 p. m. on Friday, Sept. 5, for a four-day display of Winchester guns.

Finesse Combination

Both veterans in the work of shooting all kinds of firearms, this team stands out as one of the finest exhibition combinations in the world.

Clay pigeons, wooden blocks, competition metal discs, bullets, apples, oranges, real hen eggs—all are shattered with different types of guns.

Which of the two experts is the better is a matter of question—each being able to perform his own special feat.

Ad Topperwein, the male member of the duo, has been shooting for many years and continues to improve as he leaves the years behind him. With 14 world records to his credit, the most famous and that which stands out above all others in the history of shooting is the one he shot for 10 consecutive days, eight hours a day at 24-inch wood blocks which were tossed into the air by an assistant. During this remarkable test of shooting skill and endurance, Topperwein shot 10,000, 72,500 wood blocks and missed but nine. Out of the first 50,000 targets, he missed but four. This record included several long runs, the longest being 14,500 without a miss—the longest run in the history of shooting. World record in number of targets shot at and targets broken.

In compiling this record that probably never will be equalled, Topperwein used three 22 automatic rifles which he loaded himself.

Great Record

Mrs. Topperwein was the first woman to break 1000 points in a year as a national marksman with the military rifle. She was the first woman in the world to break 1000 points in a year with a .22 rifle. She has accomplished nearly 200 different times, this record at 1000 points in 25 years in 50 shots with a 38 caliber revolver.

The exhibition here is sponsored by the Snake River Gun club and admission is free.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (U.P.)—The New York Giants polished off the eastern All-Stars last night before 54,279 at the Polo Grounds, 23 to 3. Last week the Chicago Bears thrashed the national All-Stars in Chicago, 37-13. Thus in the two big All-Star games the professionals have run up 60 points to the All-Stars 16.

The Giants scored on touchdown in the first 45 minutes of play last night and led throughout. Only once was the ball back to the All-Stars, but before the first half ended when the yards line for the Giants' first touchdown and Ward Cuff converted. Late in the first period Jim Castiglia kicked a field goal from the All-Stars' 35 for the All-Stars' only score.

Cuff kicked a field goal from the All-Stars' 32-yard line in the third period. Later in the same period Nello Palanchi intercepted one of O'Rourke's passes and ran 36 yards for the Giants' second touchdown. In the final period Ed Danowski passed 16 yards to Marzette for the Giants' final score.

Three players who stood out for the All-Stars last night will join the All-Stars. They are Lou de Filippo, Fordham center; Len Eshmont, Fordham fullback; and Francis X. Reagan, Pennsylvania halfback.

Len Eshmont scored on a 25-yard pass from the Giants' 35 for the All-Stars' only score.

Duffy Leeman plunged over from the left yard line for the Giants' first touchdown and Ward Cuff converted. Late in the first period Jim Castiglia kicked a field goal from the All-Stars' 35 for the All-Stars' only score.

Cuff kicked a field goal from the All-Stars' 32-yard line in the third period. Later in the same period Nello Palanchi intercepted one of O'Rourke's passes and ran 36 yards for the Giants' second touchdown. In the final period Ed Danowski passed 16 yards to Marzette for the Giants' final score.

Al Lightner's Single in 10th Tips Boise, 3-2

Well, as the Cowboys lost a lot of games during the middle of the season to Boise—but last night they had the satisfaction of making good one boast: "We'll win the first and last ones, anyway."

They won the opener here before some 500 fans by a 3-2 score over the Pilots. And last night they closed the year against the Pilots by winning a 3-2 decision in 10 innings, as Hank Bushman modeled an eight-hitter masterpiece for his eighth victory of the season.

The victory gave the Twin Falls club a record of three won and three lost out of the last six games played with the Pilots—a plenty good record, one you consider the fact that the Cowboys are deep in the cellar and the Pilots hold a comfortable lead on first place.

Small Attendance

As has been the case more often than should happen this summer, the crowd at the game was small. Present for the pitching duel, in which Bushman hooked up with the veteran Frank Lamanske, southpaw with nine victories against six defeats.

Both sides went down in order the first frame, but in the second the Pilots went ahead when Walt Lowe singled and then Joe Eganic pounded out his 15th home run of the season. But that was the only mistake that the Indian star made for the rest of the game. The Pilots picked up one hit in the fifth, eighth, ninth and 10th, with two in the seventh after two were down. The seventh was the only time when a Pilot reached third after the second inning.

The Cowboys got back into the game in the third frame. Bushman struck out but Harlow Burton came through with a single and Verne Reynolds followed with a line-swing single to left. Kertonen led the ball slip through his fingers while Reynolds followed with a single. The ball went first and Reynolds went to third as the ball rolled to the left field wall.

Score Tied

Billy Randall, next up, sent a high fly to center and Reynolds scored from second base point.

The Wranglers went hitless then until the seventh when Ted Kerr led off with a single and Freddie Bullis doubled. But Earl Kerk attempted sacrifice resulted in a force play at second, Bushman struck out and Burton filed out to end the inning.

The winning marker came in the eighth on the 10th. To start things off, Bushman threw a walk. Burton attempted to sacrifice him to second, but Bushman was thrown out and Burton was safe at first.

The infield played back then and Verne Reynolds crossed them all up by laying down a bunt to first and beating it out for a safe hit. That put men on first and second.

Andy Harrington Will Be Honored by Special Tribute From Fans

He has "wowed" the fans in Boston, in Philadelphia, in Brooklyn. And he has "laid 'em in the aisles" up and down the Pacific Coast league.

Then he found the throngs cheering for him in the northwest cities through Oregon and Washington. And when the Twin Falls Cowboys were in trouble, he came down here to do his bit for that organization at the start of the new Pioneer league.

And it is doubtful that in all the places he traveled that Wes Schulmerich, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring an Andy Harrington night and the popular skipper of the Cowboys will be presented with a gift from fans of southern Idaho.

So, now that the Cowboys are again having their troubles putting fans through the gates, old Wes is coming back for a three-day stand and the prospects are that his name will attract at least double the usual number of fans through the turnstiles when the Salt Lake Bees and Twin Falls Cowboys square off in the final home series of the season here tonight.

Sponsored by 70-30 Club

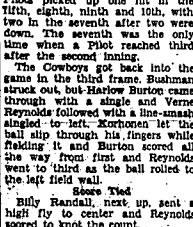

Schulmerich comes here sponsored by the 70-30 club under the Chamber of Commerce attendance drive and he will caper under the floodlights at Jaycee park for three nights in a row—probably as a coach on the sidelines.

The big former All-American football star was good enough as a baseball player to perform in the Pacific Coast league and then spend several seasons in the big leagues.

Tomorrow night has been set as American Legion night—with Schulmerich still in attendance. All members of the local Legion post are requested to be in the stands.

Saturday, final night of the season, will see presentation of awards to members of the Cowboys. All those players picked on the Pioneer league all-star team will receive special sweaters from the league. The most valuable player will be announced and will get a special present and the player hitting the most home runs will also get a gift. Then the big Rheinlander batting trophy will be presented to the player with his name engraved on the cup the most times.

Yankees Near Clinching of Title Without Big Boss—Joe McCarthy

By HARRY FRISVOLD

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (UP)—The boys are trying now to drive the big boss into the coffin of the rest of the American league, and the man who would be the biggest help to them is not around to lend a hand.

That wouldn't be Joe DiMaggio, either—who is being treated here in New York for a sore wrist while his teammates on the New York Yankees battle in Boston to clinch the American league pennant.

Valuable as DiMaggio is to the Yankees, there is another guy named Joe who is even more valuable. He is a mediocre second baseman who never was good enough to make the big leagues but who blossomed, by some miracle, into the most consistent and best manager in baseball.

The name is Joe McCarthy, a juv-jawed Irishman who worries himself sick when the Yankees are losing but who has a phenomenal record of taking young players, mixing them with veterans, and coming up with an irresistible ball club that sweeps everything before it.

The Yankees were driving for the pennant—they are only one game from making it mathematically certain today.

In Washington, McCarthy came down with a slight fall bladder ailment. He was placed in the hospital and kept there until today when he is due back in New York. His condition prohibits him from going to Boston for today's game with the Red Sox.

McCarthy's first whirl at the big league came in 1924, five days ago when he was named manager of the Chicago Cubs. He finally got them into the world series in 1929, but he took a bad beating from the Philadelphia Athletics. Nobody would have given him more than a thin dime for McCarthy's tenure, but he was signed by the Yankees and told to go to town.

He did. Chiefly because he was into an ideal set-up. The Yankees had a farm system that developed players. McCarthy's job was to take the material and weed out the incompetents, eliminate the malcontents, merge young and old players in a team that produces winners.

By 1932 he began to produce. He won the American league pennant in 1932, and the Chicago Cubs four straight games in the world series (two reverses) and started a reign of victories that never had been equaled.

Run through the 1933 roster of the Yankees and you will find that last year's crop of old and fade from the spotlight in baseball. Some of those on McCarthy's 1932 team were Johnny Lanning, Harry Graydon, Wiley Moore, Herb Pennock, Lou Gehrig, Lynn Lary, Tony Laverne, Ed Swill, and Ben Chapman and the one and only Babe Ruth.

Part of McCarthy's secret lies in his ability to know when to replace an aging, fading man. He made changes in his team gradually and over the world series triumphs in 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1939. He has never lost a world series since he took over the Yankees.

This year he started out as the underdog. The Cleveland Indians were the favorites and they started like a house afire. McCarthy blined his time, worked patiently with his infield and finally came up with the combination he wanted—Burr, Gordon, Ritzko and Rolfe. The ace put on a terrific show and stashed out of the Indians and is breezing toward the pennant.

THE SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—Inspired, no doubt, by Lou Warneke's no-hitter against the Reds, Pepper Martin telegraphs from the coast:

"Warneke went out here who reminds me of Warneke. Fred Munger is a big, raw-boned right-hander with the best of pitch and control. He has great future."

Martin manages the Cardinal's Sacramento farm, where he was sent to find and develop ball players for the St. Louis club.

The Cardinals got 'em, and Warneke and Howard Pollet, the phenomenal young southpaw, are the first to tell you. Eamuel Braddock and Branch Rickey are not as cheap as they sometimes are painted.

Pollet, as a 17-year-old kid with the arms of a prizefighter, is given $2,000 for signing with the Cardinals during the minor league season in New Orleans in December, 1933.

All major league clubs save Cleveland and Washington were sales on Pollet, who attracted attention in semi-professional ranks in and around New Orleans.

Pollet came to terms with the Cardinals, Johnny Nee sent him an invitation to work out with the Red Sox in St. Petersburg the following spring.

Pollet was interested in Washington. He knew he could pitch and wanted to compete with the best. He would pay him what he felt he was entitled to.

Best of the American league was his choice, but he could not find Joe Cronin at the New Orleans meeting.

Larry Gillet, then manager of New Orleans, wanted Pollet for the Falcons... offered him part of the price he would bring from a big league organization.

But Pollet already had St. Louis $2,000 bid, so Gilbert took the bid to Cyril C. Slapnicka of Cleveland, with which outfit New Orleans then worked.

Slapnicka told Pollet that he would leave what he was worth up to Gilbert, who immediately put the price at $7,000. Slapnicka promised Pollet that said he had to contact Alva Bradley.

Pollet contacted it only fair to tell Eddie Dyer, the Houston manager and Cardinal scout, of the higher offer.

Dyer did Pollet by doubling that Cleveland would pay $7,500, suggested that the youngster leave Slapnicka repeat the offer in front of himself and Hugh McDonough, under whom the pitcher worked for a New Orleans oil company.

I telephoned Slapnicka from the lobby of the hotel," explains Pollet. "I said I was ready to sign for $7,500. He asked if I was alone. I told him I had a couple of friends with me. He said he would prefer to see one alone, replied that if he was sincere in his offer, I couldn't see what difference the presence of my friends would make. He said he would have to get in touch with Bradley... that it would take a little time."

Eddie Dyer and the Cardinals were ready. So I signed with them."

Cyril C. Slapnicka, who claims to have discovered Bob Feller but didn't, muffed an opportunity to land the best pitcher to match baseball's greatest right-hander.

Al Lightner's Single in 10th Tips Boise, 3-2

(Continued from page ten) with one down. Manager James Keesey of the Pilots then waved Lamanske of the mound and brought in his Gerald Ritzko. Ritzko forced Randall into a fielder's choice play, but Burton moved to third on the play.

That brought up Al Lightner. After a long conference on the mound, the Pilots decided to pitch to Al and he rewarded the strategy by sending a clean single into left-center on the first pitched ball. The score became 2-1.

Tonight the Salt Lake Bees and their three game stand with the great Vic Schulmerich as an added attraction. Max Baer and Kingdon will send either Fran Piacorich, Runk Anderson or Gerald Bohman to the mound for the home club, while Manager Tom Roballo of the Bees will take a chance on Joe Gamber, his ace southpaw.

Last night was the night and the Bees presented a pre-game concert. The crowd, however, was held to a minimum. The Bees' ace southpaw sent the few fans assembled bunched up in overalls and blankets.
