FOREIGN POLICY IS DEBATE TOPIC

"Resolved: That the foreign policy of the present administration is the best course of action for the United States to take" is the question for the inter-class round-robin debate tournament at Twin Falls high school this fall, Gerald R. Wallace, sponsor, said today.

The first call for participants will be Wednesday, Oct. 1, said Mr. Wallace, and all high school students interested in debate are urged to report that afternoon to room 123, where a meeting concerning the issue will be held.

Debates within each of the senior, sophomore and junior classes will determine the team to represent its respective class. When one of these three teams has been eliminated, the contest will be conducted at a public debate at the high school auditorium, with judges from outside the school; all the preliminary stands will be judged by Mr. Wallace.

The winning team wins for its class 50 points toward winning of the school citizenship cup, awarded at the close of each school year.

Noted as a speaker who presents argumentative subjects in objective fashion, he is expected to give Town Hall a complete and unbiased picture of the knotty situation facing America today in regard to labor and management in the armament program.

Dr. Miller's addresses on American and English lecture platforms have included such topics as business psychology, relations with employees and the public, sales psychology, relations with customers, psychology of the society between men and women, psychology of marriage.

Rotary Hears Call for U. S. Straight-Thinking

Because the United States will be regarded "as the guarantor of liberties long sought and as long denied" to many other countries of the world, the motion must base its present course on clear reasoning, former district Judge Hugh A. Baker, Rupert, told the international relations dinner of the Twin Falls Rotary club last night.

Judge Baker sounded a call for Americans to avoid emotionalism. "It would seem," he said, "that it is more important now than ever before in our history to maintain our governmental house, to keep it in order and to preserve the fundaments which have distinguished it from all others."

Definite Pledge Pointing out that the United States, in its program of all opponents of Hitler aggression, has definitely committed itself, the speaker said that his nation "has pledged itself to an intimate and responsible place" in the history of such nations "for a long time to come."

"If we fall then," he asked, "what hope can those miserable people who yearn for the right to govern themselves have for its ultimate attainment? If the people of the United States fall in their efforts to govern themselves, what people can hope to succeed?"

Warns Against Intolerance That vital query, according to Judge Baker, points the warning signal at hysteria and emotionalism evident in sections of America today. Trend toward a demand for denial of the right of free speech, a democratic principle, was held out to the Rotarians as a perilous factor.

W. L. Burgess, Yankton, S. D., was offering Rotarian at the dinner.

No War Declaration "Congress has not yet exercised its constitutional right to declare war and the right to declare war rests with it alone. Until it acts, every citizen of the United States has the absolute right to advance his position on matters which he feels will tend ultimately to make it necessary or unnecessary for congress to consider the question. Until the decision is reached, it is a proper subject for debate and he who would deny the right to any man to attempt by proper means to influence congress is un-American in that he fails to respect one of the basic rights guaranteed to us by the constitution."

Tells Rotary Constitution In other phases of his address, Judge Baker commended the world contributions of Rotary and the objectives it represents. Rotary's principle of fellowship and international understanding, he said, made it among the first to feel the pain of totalitarian dictators.

FROSTS FAIL TO INJURE POTATOES

BOISE, Sept. 25 (Special) — Recent frosts apparently did little harm to potatoes in south central Idaho, according to the report by districts issued on Wednesday by the USDA agricultural marketing service.

The district report says that frost in being seeded in Camas county. Early potatoes are being shipped rapidly. Recent frosts apparently did little damage to potatoes; many fields still considerably immature. Bean threshing is in full swing; good yields are expected for most commercial varieties, though there has been some spotted alight frost damage.

Fields have improved, but only fair yields are in prospect. The third cutting of hay is being put up and ranges are still dry though some new growth is starting. The milk clover seed crop is being harvested. Good marketing continues. The milk production continues at high levels. Feeder lambs are moving to field pastures. Supplies of market hogs are increasing.

Good Grain Yields

EAST: Grain harvesting is nearly completed, except in some of the higher areas. Good yields are reported. Considerable fall grain has been seeded in the southwestern districts; many fields are up. Frosts on September 12 and 15 killed potato vines in Fremont and other high elevation counties; frosts were spotted in other areas.

Early potatoes are being dug rapidly; quality is generally good, but yields in some sections are smaller than anticipated. Dry peas are practically all harvested. Frosts have damaged tomatoes in Blaine county. Sugar beets continue to make good growth; good yields are anticipated. Beet growers are getting ready to start harvest. Ranges and pastures are good. Hay has grown slowly recently, but quality is good. Some hay has been frosted in Fremont county. Clover seed is being harvested, with many poor yields reported. The alfalfa seed crop is short.

Range cattle are beginning to move to market. Dairy products are increasing; milk production continues at high levels. Hogs are being fed increased rations; market supplies are still fairly high. The demand for farm labor is increasing, with the peak expected between Oct. 1 and 15.

Harvest Delayed

NORTH: Continued rains have still further delayed harvesting of grains, beans and other crops. In many instances have been too wet to harvest, even when weather has cleared temporarily. In Blaine has been serious and it is feared that further losses may be incurred. Most of the unharvested grain is not marketable only for feed even if it is saved. Potato prospects are generally good, but wet weather is delaying harvesting. In Blaine has been damaged in stacks. Range sheep are moving from ranges to field pastures under good conditions. The farm labor supply is adequate, since the wet weather permitted little farm work. Some seeding of fall grains is being done.

SOUTHWEST: Cool weather has been beneficial for late potatoes. Beans are being harvested in Canyon and Payette counties. Beet prospects continue excellent; harvesting will start about Oct. 6. The third cutting of hay is being made. Ranges are good; new cheat grass is making excellent growth. Prune picking is nearly completed; the apple harvest is under way. Many onions are going into storage because of current low prices. Vegetable seed crops are good in Canyon county.

Range cattle are moving to market. Milk production continues at high levels; several herds are being turned for sale in Payette county. Swine disease outbreaks in Payette and Washington counties are reported under control. Egg production is picking up.

Rites Conducted For Mrs. Phillips

RUPERT, Sept. 25 (Special) — Funeral services were conducted at the local Methodist church Tuesday for Mrs. Mary Emilie Phillips, who died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Grace Byington, in Rupert. The ceremony was in charge of Rev. Albert B. Parrett, pastor of the Rupert Methodist church.

Mrs. Phillips was born Oct. 4, 1858, in Mercer county, Penn. At the age of 17 she became the wife of Julian Phillips, who preceded her in death. She was a life long member of the Methodist church and one of the first members of the local congregation. She has lived here 37 years and was well known throughout the community.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Grace Byington, Rupert; and three sons, Merrill W. Phillips and Eric W. Phillips, Portland.

TRUCK AND BUS INVENTORY SET

BOISE, Sept. 25 (Special) — J. L. Halderston, state commissioner of motor vehicles, announced a defense inventory of trucks and buses in Idaho will begin today.

Requested by the war department, the inventory will supply nationwide information on highway transportation facilities. Through this information, Halderston said, the country can be organized to meet any transportation emergency.

Two units of the federal war agency will conduct the inventory in cooperation with the state. The WPA will analyze and list the returns.

KITCHEN COURSE IN NUTRITION

When cauliflower is advertised as "Big" it's pretty hard to tell how big - so you can't tell if it's a bargain or not.

When you see it advertised as "Solid" question is how solid.

Even when you stand before a bin of cauliflower, you can't pick up and compare all the heads so as to get full value for your money.

So Safeway now prices all cauliflower by the pound... like watermelons or tomatoes are priced.

If you want a small cauliflower, you can pick out just the one you want and pay only for exactly what you get. If you want a large one, same way.

You get full value - exact value - because a pound is always a pound, whereas "large" or "big" or "solid" are different every day and different in every store.

Same way with all our fruits and vegetables. Safeway now prices all fruits and green foods by weight! Come in and see how much further your money goes when you select your own and pay by the pound!

LODGES OBSERVE FOUNDERS' DAY

JEROME, Sept. 25 (Special) — Members of the Jerome Springs Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F. members and wives and husbands observed the 20th anniversary of the local organization. Sugar beets continue to make good growth; good yields are anticipated. Beet growers are getting ready to start harvest. Ranges and pastures are good. Hay has grown slowly recently, but quality is good. Some hay has been frosted in Fremont county. Clover seed is being harvested, with many poor yields reported. The alfalfa seed crop is short.

Range cattle are beginning to move to market. Dairy products are increasing; milk production continues at high levels. Hogs are being fed increased rations; market supplies are still fairly high. The demand for farm labor is increasing, with the peak expected between Oct. 1 and 15.

Harvest Delayed

NORTH: Continued rains have still further delayed harvesting of grains, beans and other crops. In many instances have been too wet to harvest, even when weather has cleared temporarily. In Blaine has been serious and it is feared that further losses may be incurred. Most of the unharvested grain is not marketable only for feed even if it is saved. Potato prospects are generally good, but wet weather is delaying harvesting. In Blaine has been damaged in stacks. Range sheep are moving from ranges to field pastures under good conditions. The farm labor supply is adequate, since the wet weather permitted little farm work. Some seeding of fall grains is being done.

SOUTHWEST: Cool weather has been beneficial for late potatoes. Beans are being harvested in Canyon and Payette counties. Beet prospects continue excellent; harvesting will start about Oct. 6. The third cutting of hay is being made. Ranges are good; new cheat grass is making excellent growth. Prune picking is nearly completed; the apple harvest is under way. Many onions are going into storage because of current low prices. Vegetable seed crops are good in Canyon county.

Range cattle are moving to market. Milk production continues at high levels; several herds are being turned for sale in Payette county. Swine disease outbreaks in Payette and Washington counties are reported under control. Egg production is picking up.

ASSISTANCE COST FOR IDAHO LOW

BOISE, Sept. 25 (UP)—Over-all costs and volume of public assistance in Idaho have been found to be lower than those of similar states in the western area.

On the basis of data compiled by the federal social security board all categories of relief for the period Sept. 1 to May 31 in Idaho cost $1,676,096. During the same period, Arizona spent a total of $1,911,144; Montana, $1,940,678; and Utah $1,285,068. Total grants for all categories of assistance in May were Idaho, $142,825; Arizona, $174,000; Montana, $185,711; and Utah $23,842.

Idaho obligated $1,037,837 for old-age assistance alone during the five-month period, Lee reported. Differing standards of assistance can be seen in the fact that Idaho showed an average payment per recipient in May of $22.89, while in Arizona and Utah this figure was $23.08 and $28.83, respectively. Only Montana with a payment of $20.20 per person was lower than Idaho, Lee remarked.

Proportionately, the number of old-age assistance recipients are fewer in Idaho than in any of the other states in the region nine under comparison, Lee stated. During the month of May, 282 out of every 1,000 individuals 65 years of age or older received old-age assistance in Idaho. In Arizona this figure was 368; in Montana, 355, and in Utah, 470.

State and federal expenditures for aid to dependent children found Idaho in second place among the four states from January to May, 1941. A total of $448,813 was spent in Idaho; $400,867 in Arizona; $378,900 in Montana, and $128,418 in Utah.

Idaho was also second in average payments to persons receiving aid to needy blind, and was lowest of the four states in amounts paid out to each recipient of direct relief.

EMPLOYERS MAP LABORER SYSTEM

BOISE, Ida., Sept. 25 (UP)—The Idaho state employment bureau has found that employers' defense factories have worked out a simplified system of ordering men to fill their labor needs.

Washington state, which has a big need for shipbuilding and aircraft workers, has sent the state employment service here a regulation for a number of defense workers. Before sending the regulation, the bureau had received reports of the needs of their defense plants. On each type of worker needed, the regulation stated all specifications, the dates when the men will be needed and the plant where they will be employed.

This data permitted Idaho officials to ascertain exactly the number of men to train from different defense jobs. The procedure seems rather involved but officials say the requisitioning plan makes obtain workers just about as simple as ordering groceries.

During August 878 Idaho men received instruction in special defense job courses set up under the vocational defense training program. An additional 478 men, who already had some experience, took supplemental refresher courses.

The defense training courses are located at Moscow, Nampa, Pocatello, Sandpoint and Weiser.

FULL MOCK WAR READY TO START

The main battle in defense of Shreveport, final problem of the army's greatest peace-time maneuvers, was expected to develop today. From both sides of the battle front, Leon Kay and Richard C. Hottel, United States army commanders now assigned to the opposing American forces, reported night-long blackout reconnaissance and preliminary skirmishes intended to feel out and determine disposition of opposing units.

Riflelet, with the small Red second army of Lieutenant General Ben Lear, assigned to defend Shreveport, reported, however, the slacking blue army already had reached the Red's "demolition belt" of land mines, destroyed bridges and road blocks in a general advance on the central front.

He said the Red forces had dropped back to prepared defense positions but that there had been no major battle thus far in war games final phase, which began yesterday.

Kay, with the Blue forces, reported, on the other hand, that Red forces, using heavily armed units were counter-attacking, driving down from Shreveport along the central front in an apparent attempt to reach the Catalina river.

Alexandria, city on the southern front which was bitterly contested in the maneuvers' first phase, was recaptured by the Blues after a series of rapid marches.

FINAL RITES FOR MULE-RIDE VICTIM

JEROME, Sept. 25 (Special)—Final rites were conducted at the Jerome funeral chapel Wednesday afternoon for Edward L. Roath, 44, who died at St. Valentine's hospital early Monday morning as a result of injuries he received last Thursday afternoon while riding a mule at the Jerome county fair.

Officiating at services was Rev. Albert E. Martin, Methodist minister. Interment was made in Jerome cemetery under the direction of the Jerome funeral chapel.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Jack Russell and Mrs. Let McVey who sang "Nearer My God to Thee," "Rock of Ages," and "There's a Long Lost God Mine in the Sky." Mrs. McVey accompanied at the piano.

Funeral services were held at the Wood River C.C.C. camp at Shoshone.

Mr. Roath was born in Missouri and up until the last five years had been a rodeo performer. He had traveled over the entire United States for 25 years and appeared in public as a bronco rider. Five years ago he became a performer in carnivals and fairs as a "strongman," executing such feats as lifting the weights of several men, allowing himself to be run over with a car, and bending iron rods in his teeth.

He is survived by his wife, Vesta, a six months old son, Stevie, another son, Le Roy, of Burns, Ore., and a daughter, Mrs. Ona Yost, Coalinga.

Mr. Roath mounted the mule "just to be a good sport," according to witnesses. His doing so was not part of his strongman act.

CGC POSTS OPEN UNDER NEW PLAN

James R. Brotherton, company commander of the CGC camp southwest of Rogerson designated as the Three Creek camp, will be at the local postoffice next Saturday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. for the purpose of accepting applications from those who wish to enroll in the corps. It was announced today.

Brotherton said that all interested persons should contact him at that time. Additional local enrollment periods will be announced in the near future.

Brotherton pointed out that there is a new policy for enrollment which is now in effect and which is known as "continuous enrollment period." He said that any unmarried male between the ages of 17 and 23 can apply at any CGC camp, selecting agency or district headquarters of a CGC district, can make application for enrollment and can be enrolled at either a CGC camp or at the headquarters.

The new procedure, he pointed out, also permits individuals enrolled to be assigned permanently in any camp that they may desire without regard to the corps area or origin of the enrolled members of the company occupying the camp.

He declared that the local selecting agency, employment agency and civic organizations are cooperating in the drive to further enrollment of qualified persons.

Britain Gambles on Russians Holding off German Invaders

By LOUIS F. KEEBLE
Of the United Press War Desk

Latest war developments indicate Britain feels stronger and believes Russia has a chance to hold out for a long time.

Britain's fear of invasion has receded to a low point. The stand the Russians are making has created great optimism which certainly did not exist a month ago. Publicly, the British do not admit such a feeling on either point, because they do not want to create a complacent attitude or slackening of the war effort. Threat of German invasion is still presented as real.

Expect Long Fight
London officials hope British and United States aid may serve to keep Russia fighting well into next year, at least, even if she does have to abandon much of her western territory in a slow retreat.

Discussions in London of the extent of Britain's present and contemplated shipments of tanks to Russia is illuminating. A "substantial proportion" of production has been allocated to Russia for months.

Gamble on Russia
That suggests several things—Britain feels strong enough to spare the arms; she believes apparently Russia still will be in the war next year, she does not contemplate an early invasion of the continent, but will attack, in cooperation with Russia, from the east instead of the west.

Even a year ago, the British would have hesitated to sacrifice planes and equipment for a distant ally. It is a far cry from that of the war, before war production got under full way. Even Zeer war efforts were then being taxed to the defending forces.

Britain, then, is gambling on Russia.

Stop Getting Up Nights
To harness your poison and acid from kidneys and relieve irritation of bladder so that you can stop getting up nights enough to spare the arms; she believes apparently Russia still will be in the war next year, she does not contemplate an early invasion of the continent, but will attack, in cooperation with Russia, from the east instead of the west.

Even a year ago, the British would have hesitated to sacrifice planes and equipment for a distant ally. It is a far cry from that of the war, before war production got under full way. Even Zeer war efforts were then being taxed to the defending forces.

U. S. Navy's Fighting Ships Sail Under Full War Orders

(Editor's note: Following is the first of three stories by a United Press staff correspondent from the fleet. Freeline times and destinations are withheld at the navy's request.)

By PHIL CURRAN
ABOARD CRUISER WITH THE U. S. PACIFIC FLEET UNIT

We sailed from harbor on the first Pacific crossing since President Roosevelt ordered the navy to "shoot first" at sea men-of-war in American waters.

With a destroyer screen abreast and patrol and scout planes scouring the ocean on all sides, this unit of the Pacific fleet's battle force headed for a secret rendezvous with other United States warships.

The conditions under which we sail are warlike. Anti-aircraft guns and batteries of swift-firing five- and six-inchers are manned. Paravanes, the water stowage as protection against mines.

Right Merchant Ship

Toward the end of the first day a merchant ship drew near as the planes came in and prepared to land. One of the American warships, a private secret in its method of recovering secrets in sea without perceptibly slackening speed.

MOVIES AROUSE IRE OF BUSHMEN

DARWIN, Australia, up—Twenty Arnhem natives walked 40 miles to see their first moving picture at Darwin, but they became so disgusted at the love scenes that they left the show before it was finished.

Darwin police said none of the natives wanted to see another movie. They didn't like the kissing.

News of the white man's new flickers was brought to the tribe by a Darwin mail plane. Jacasia had served a sentence in a Darwin jail for the fatal spearing of a tribal chief. He could see the movie's signs from the jail cell. He wanted to see why so many persons went into the theater. He planned to go to a movie when he was released, but police hurried him out of town.

But Jacasia returned to his tribe and told them of the white man's new entertainment. He persuaded the tribe to go to Darwin to see for themselves. It took the tribe 40 days to make the journey.

Other movie-going natives forgot to warn them of the kissing scenes, which are called by native music, the tribe marched out of the theater and headed for home. The wet season caught the natives after they had gone 100 miles inland where the plain they were traversing and they took refuge in the trees. Finally, they decided to go back to Darwin where police put them on a boat which took them home by sea.

Insurance Director Warns on Agents Who Offer to Collect

BOISE, Sept. 25 (UP)—Joel Jenifer, state insurance bureau director, reported a game of agents are going "policy picking game."

This racket, Jenifer said, is an easy one to beat and he has worked out a full set of instructions for any citizen accosted by the so-called agents.

Generally, he said, they will represent themselves as agents for a company which claims to have collected considerable sums of money on lapsed insurance policies. For a fee they will offer to collect the cash values remaining in the lapsed policies.

"Only the uninformed are caught by such solicitations," Jenifer declared. "If you have a lapsed policy which you think might have a cash value and you want to collect it, it will not cost you a penny to do so other than what you may spend on postage."

"Simply write to the insurance company which issued the policy, giving the number of the policy, the name of the insured, the face amount of the policy and the date of issue. You will get your money without question if the policy has any value.

Jenifer explained that insurance companies maintain large staffs to search for lapsed policies on which the company still owes money.

Conference Clash to Highlight Night Game at Los Angeles

By JIM SULLIVAN SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25 (U.P.)—Any resemblance U.C.L.A.'s football team presents to Stanford's undefeated 1941 unveiling tomorrow night is strictly intentional.

Coach Babe Horrell of the U.C.L.A. Bruins hopes the imitation of the Stanford champions is complete enough to win the Rose bowl next Jan. 1.

In tomorrow night's game with Washington State at Los Angeles coliseum, U. C. L. A. will present an imitation of the Stanford formation.

Horrell calls his U. C. L. A. formation the "Q. T." It differs from Stanford in few details except name. His quarterback's name is Ernie Case, a transfer from Los Angeles Junior college.

Schmidt's Grid Finds Gopher Holes

Schmidt's Grid Crew Nearly Ready for Utes

MOSCOW, Sept. 25 (Special)—Idaho's 1941 football machine is rapidly taking form as Coach Francis Schmidt sends the 44 grid candidates through the second and last week of intensive early fall training.

The majority of the pre-season weaknesses have been plugged, but a great need is being felt by the coaching staff for reserve power. A fairly strong, but not heavy, first eleven is grasping the formations of Schmidt's razzle dazzle.

Under the schmidt style of play, the quarterback and the balance of the backfield must be good ball handlers. This has been selected to a certain extent with the shifting of Nixon to give a strong and deceptive backfield of Davis or Manson on the left side.

Hillside Firm Furnishes All Show Material

KIMBERLY, Sept. 25 (Special)—The chutes were all in place, the stock is on hand, and everything in readiness for what Kimberly hopes will become a permanent fixture in the rodeo world.

Boasting some of the finest rodeo stock in the country, Kimberly and vicinity was all set for the Harvest Festival rodeo to be staged here Friday night under the floodlights and Saturday afternoon.

The stock is being furnished by the Hillside Rodeo company—the firm that furnished the rough and mean animals for the Old Oregon Trail stampede at Burley—and Bill Anderson, Declo, rodeo arena director, states it is some of the finest in the country.

Snappy Show Anderson, an old hand at the rodeo game, is a long-time employee of the Hillside company and expected to put on a fast, snappy one and one-half hour show for rodeo fans of this territory.

The stock is so rough and tough, in fact, that it was doubted here that the amateur rodeo riders of this territory—outside of a few of the more expert horsemen and ropers—would be able to handle it.

Feature of the act—acrobatic performances will be presentation of the "educated horse" set by Mr. and Mrs. George Edmonds of Burley with their trained horses, Banjo and Silver.

It was announced here today that another rodeo feature will be a merchant riding a real old-fashioned Texas Longhorn steer with a horn spread of six feet.

For the big parade of the Harvest Festival, Kimberly's main street, four bands have been hired and the procession will be led by the championship Kimberly high school unit.

UISB Gridders Head For Omaha Conflict

POCATELLO, Sept. 25 (Special)—Vallint gridders of Idaho Southern university, making their first stand against the strong University of Omaha, are confident of a high goal band under direction of Harold Dodd.

George Schmoldt, Harlow Burton settling down here and working with A. Berg; and Billy Randall, the ace center fielder, for the sugar company. "Coffee Shop" says he is no longer a golfer, seeing we were mentioning that game. "Twin Falls golf performers are doing right well on college eleven this fall; here's Ira Gattney with the University of Washington; Bill Polson on the WSC squad; Clines and Don Anderson at University of Idaho; Rex Wells, Bob Goodnight and Bob Patton, regulars at the University of Idaho; and Frank Smith, Clines, Thomas on the Vandal front squad; Bob Bayless on the Uteva reserve club; and others scattered on various college clubs throughout the west."

And although the press dispatches didn't mention it, we understand that the shining light for Albin Normal Panthers in their 20-0 victory against Colliery of Idaho was Lewis, the all-Big Seven conference high school back of last year. He halls from Buhl.

Personality, we don't want to get into any baseball argument—but we always were of the opinion that "left-handed" and "right-handed" in baseball batting parlance usually referred to whether the club was in the ball player stood on—the left base side, being left-handed to the men on the field; on the third base side—right-handed to the opposition.

Before the baseball season is over, we'd like to publish a letter received from a good Twin Falls baseball fan. A. E. Boone. The subject he discusses is not the Cowboy ball club, but rather the hitting of various players in the hitting being inspired by a news item stating some time ago that "14 of the first 16 hitters in the National League batted left-handed."

Leahy Changes Notre Dame Style With Full Line Shift

Knute Rockne always tried to get his best 11 players on the field at the same time.

By RED ORANGE
The Original Man-in-Motion
SOUTH BEND, Sept. 25—Francis William Leahy has made many changes at Notre Dame, but this does not mean he has junked the Notre Dame system, that is, he is just a traditionalist than his own coach, the late Knute K. Rockne.

Knute Rockne always tried to get his best 11 players on the field at the same time. He had sufficient material, as he usually did, he would have two or even three good teams available. He sacrificed speed for strength, picked that fast, dexterous agile player over the slower type. If they were swift and big, so much the better.

Rock's primary interest was in offense. That's why he was such an interesting coach and why his teams were such attractions. Rock's outfit knew plenty of fancy plays.

While they were primarily blocking and tackling teams, they always had some real scoring plays in the hole for an emergency.

"The trouble with most football teams," Rock used to say, "is that they can't run a play unless there is a punch in badly needed."

Leahy Not Afraid
 If Rock were here today, you may be sure he would have plenty of new stuff. He was always ahead of the game. Leahy is built along the same line.

Rock probably wouldn't have made the same changes we're making, but he wouldn't have stood still," says Leahy. "He always said: 'You either progress or retrogress. You don't stagnate.'"

"Perhaps the changes we have made are not good, but some of them worked for us at Boston college, and we're willing to try the others."

"We'll be first to admit we were wrong if they don't work."

"It's always 'we' with Leahy, never 'I.' Everybody around the South Dakota Irishman gets full credit."

One of Leahy's changes is a line shift, but his team always goes in to a balanced line. Line men merely line up about a foot behind the tip of the ball, and take three small steps in rhythm with the backs. Line men get less easily if they do not have to hold a squatting position for five or six seconds.

Line men feel they are more a part of the offense if they shift with the backs. They obtain a better blocking angle and are less likely to slip off plays. Spectators enjoy the added movement, and Leahy is first of all a good showman.

Notre Dame Shifts
 Leahy runs about a third of his plays from a T formation, but not the T that Rock used and that most T teams are using now. Henry Toczylowski, who called his plays at Boston college, well describes it as a looped T.

The quarter is the blocking back. He handles the ball on no more than two or three plays. He lines up behind the guard—left or right, depending on the shift, and thus the center can feed to the other three backs.

When not operating from the T, the Irish go from the regular Notre Dame box, shifting into it from the T.

One difference here is that the lead back now takes the position of a wingback, a little wider than before, so as to help the end block the tackle.

Pass Patterns Different
 Leahy's pass patterns are vastly different from the old style. His passes are shorter, for the most part, and the ends buttonhook, reverse, slot and, etc.

The passer throws from a pocket formed by linemen dropping back and backs.

Four Irish team men are playing new positions.

Center Wally Ziemba was a second string fullback in the old line. Bernie Ortmann, right guard, now monogramms as a fullback last back and as a right halfback as a sophomore.

Harry Wright moved from fullback to quarterback. He is now with the second team, but weighs 180, 20 pounds more than Bob Wright, and he has more speed. Looks like he may take over the No. 1 job.

Either Frank Leahy suspects there is considerable misplacing at Notre Dame the last two or three years, or he has shifted the position of no fewer than 14 men to get his 11 best in action at once.

Material may be below the Notre Dame standard, but you can depend on Frank Leahy fielding a swift, tricky and resourceful team.

Gooding Woodmen Rifle Teams Win At Buhl Matches

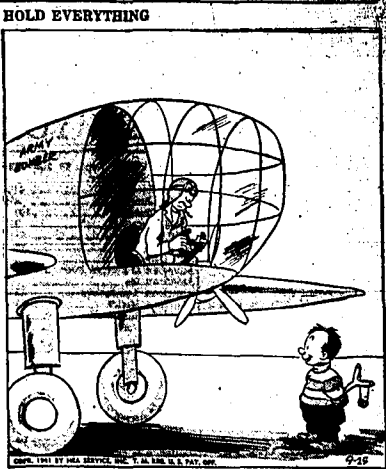

GOODING, Sept. 25 (Special)—District meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America rifle clubs was held at Buhl on Monday evening. Teams competing were Buhl, Gooding, Hansen and Shoshone with men's and women's teams from each town.

Gooding's teams, both men and women, won first place in competition with Shoshone's two teams taking second place. Russell Robinson of Gooding was high scorer for the event with a 23 out of a possible 30.

P. O. Request, Gooding, who is district president of the rifle clubs presided for the business meeting. The October meeting will be omitted and the next meeting of the group will be in November. Buhl members were hosts during the social hour. Present from Gooding were Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Request, Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Cheyer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wimmer, Mrs. Verle Klister, William Kinzald, Russell Robinson and Don Cheyer.

Here's One Expert Who Can't Make up His Mind on Fight

By HARVEY FERGUSON
NEW YORK, Sept. 25
 Thought of a guy who has only three days to make up his mind and crawl out on end of a limb: No doubt about it, he's in a tight spot. Even when he's being outboxed and seems to be dazed he can always throw one punch and it's 'Katy bar the door.'

Wonder if Nova's going to pay any attention to his seconds this time. Arced and Carlson are going to try to make him box away from the punches and wear Louis down. But who knows whether you'll do once he gets the heat on his feet and the smell of battle in his nostrils? It's liable to be a long and a hard trading punches.

Nova Stubborn
 That Nova is a stubborn citizen still. He never says a word as to the night he decided to punch it out with Max Baer instead of being cute and trying to win on points. He walked out there, stuck out his chin and invited Baer to take a swing at it. That was a fat one. Arced and Carlson are going to try to make him box away from the punches and wear Louis down. But who knows whether you'll do once he gets the heat on his feet and the smell of battle in his nostrils? It's liable to be a long and a hard trading punches.

Parents say to pick Louis. Always string along with the champ. What they say is, 'Wow, how many guys string along with Dempsey against Tommy in the Philadelphia fight?' Practically 99 per cent of 'em at the ringside, I guess. What good is percentage when you spend an hour with two with that Nova and that superb confidence of his starts spreading like an epidemic? Sure, Louis has slipped a little, but from his peak—the second bombing fight. But there still isn't a big boy in the business who can jab as fast and as sure as Joe can. And he's picked up plenty of experience in that 'Bum of the Month' tour he made. Know how to fight 'em all now—crochets, slugging straight guys, boxers, slugging heavyweights.

They Can Take It
 Guess that stuff about him being worried about his domestic troubles is the bunk. Can't imagine a man in the ring demanding the world heavyweight championship and then not being ready to take a right he stops and says to himself: 'Glad my wife and I are getting up on that quarrel.'

Everybody says Nova can take it better than Louis, but is that really the case? Tooty Galante put Nova halfway into heaven and down in Philadelphia with one left hand and then cut him up like a hot dog going to work on a hot dog stand. Remember the night Galante knocked out in the first

FRANK LEAHY makes it perfectly clear to Fighting Irish.

When not operating from the T, the Irish go from the regular Notre Dame box, shifting into it from the T.

One difference here is that the lead back now takes the position of a wingback, a little wider than before, so as to help the end block the tackle.
