CATHOLIC BISHOP WARNS AGAINST RUSSIAN FRIENDSHIP

AFFY HEARS RAP AT FREEDOM OF RELIGION CLAIM

By WILLIS S. DUNWAY BRATTLE, Oct. 10 (Special)—The most Rev. Gerald Sheahan, bishop of Seattle, today warned the 61st annual convention of the American Federation of Labor against its "laughing off" suggestions that the 1942 congressional elections will be cancelled here.

"You cannot extend to Communism your most fervent ally, running the very definite risk of adopting at least in part the policy of the Communist Party," Sheahan said in a speech before the 61st annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Regarding Russia, he said that not even the Nazis who overran Europe centuries ago could envision "such a totality of death and destruction as almost inevitably will crush this earth if, in our zeal to overcome an enemy of freedom, we raise on high the banner of the atheist and triumphant arm of conquering Communism."

The bishop, who recently has joined in America First denunciations of Mr. Roosevelt's "abandonment" of the navy, took issue with the President's statement that Russian constitutional guarantees of religious freedom were similar to those of the United States.

Where in Germany and in Russia you see labor enslaved, he said, you also behold religion oppressed. Labor can never calmly stand aside and behold religion oppressed without realizing with undiminished logic that labor itself is the next slated victim.

He branded Communist propagandists as a "sixth column," which, he said, was "writing its slimy way into the deliberations of labor of its legislative halls, and into the legislative chambers of our centralized government."

"We have every effort to stamp it out or know, men of labor, that your movement is doomed and unionism is condemned to extinction by the AFL executive council has recommended the convention approve aid to Russia as a practical and legislative basis for the United States and Soviet Russia are or can be friends."

Public Forum

CHAIRMAN GIVES FULL FILER REPORT ON BONDS

Editor, Evening Times: I notice that you invite public expression on the hospital question, and in your issue of Oct. 4 you set in your editorial note that the Evening Times as always will present in an impartial fashion all matters of information relating to the hospital bond election.

I was chairman of the Filer Grange committee that made an investigation of the hospital situation; and we, together with a committee from the Filer Grange, gave our report of which you published a part and left out a part. It would appear that to be fair it should be no more than right to publish the entire report, and I am enclosing a copy herewith.

I see by your papers and from the talks on the radio that many issues are being injected into this election, including politics. However, this is not the purpose of the hospital, but a political organization and our interests pertain to the farm population and the welfare of the rural population.

From our investigations, as our report shows, we have definite reasons why we are opposed and we give our reasons, and it would appear fair to publish our report in full and not just the parts that we believe is going a long way to ask the people of this county to furnish hospitalization to adjoining counties.

I believe it is going a long way to ask the people of this county to furnish hospitalization to adjoining counties and pay no taxes for the same. I do believe that the taxpayers are in a frame of mind to be frightened by hysterical propaganda circulated on the eve of the election groups, trying to mortgage every farm and home in this county to serve their best interests.

Sincerely yours, DON SPENCER (Chairman, Filer Grange Committee) Filer, Oct. 8.

Editor's note: The Evening Times (Editor of the Filer Grange-Kiwanis report) presented all important findings. But the entire report is printed here verbatim as received from Chairman Spencer.

Spy Probe Looms as Germans Obtain FDR Letter to Stalin

By MERRIMAN SMITH WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (Special)—Officials were concerned today about the way Germany obtained a personal communication from President Roosevelt to Josef Stalin, the Soviet premier.

They wondered whether a spy should be the dramatic potentialities of a movie thriller lay behind publication of the letter by DNB, the official German news agency. A version of the letter was first made public in Berlin yesterday, late in the day, the White House released the letter that had been sent to Stalin, and said the German version was altered from the original to achieve "propaganda objectives."

The two versions were nearly the same in basic content and there seemed no doubt the Germans had obtained an almost exact copy of the President's letter. Leak Some Place It was learned here the letter was transmitted through regular channels of diplomatic communications from the White House to the American embassy at Moscow where Averell Harriman, head of the United States mission to the Russian supply conference, received it for delivery to Stalin.

Somewhere between Washington and Moscow, or in either of those places, the German espionage system apparently obtained a copy of the letter. White House officials were obviously concerned but confined comment to a brief statement and a copy of the actual letter, which differed from the German version principally in the salutation and the complimentary close.

Mr. Roosevelt began his letter with "My Dear Mr. Stalin," but the DNB version had it "My Dear Friend Stalin." The Germans said the President's letter concluded "in cordial friendship," but the White House copy showed the conclusion was "Yours very sincerely."

The letter was written by the chief executive as an introduction of Harriman to Stalin. In the body of the letter, the President expressed confidence supplies would be made available for the fight against Hitler on all fronts, including the Russian, and also confidence the Soviet armies "will ultimately prevail over Hitler."

Officials here felt German changes in the letter were part of an attempt to show chief executive is warm friend of Stalin. These officials pointed out that the salutation and the close actually contained nothing more than customary form of American correspondence.

Idaho Potatoes Need More Advertising - Idaho's big money crop, the Russet potato, is about to enter another season.

With sufficient advertising, Idaho potatoes could be sold in greater quantities in almost every state in the union, just like such articles as Ivory soap, Campbell's soup and Royal baking powder.

Now the advertising commission is trying hard to cover just part of its markets with the one-half cent appropriation. To show tangible results with such a small amount in promoting an industry valued at many millions of dollars requires utmost shrewdness and ingenuity.

In advocating an intensive advertising campaign for Idaho potatoes, the Idaho Evening Times should like to remind all producers in this district that not one cent of this advertising appropriation is spent in Idaho newspapers.

It takes no great stretch of the imagination to realize that every large business in the United States owes much of its success to advertising.

Women and Responsibilities

A conference of national leaders will assemble soon at Stephens college at Columbia, Mo., to discuss "The American Woman and Her Responsibilities."

President James M. Wood of Stephens believes that the education of women has tended to place too much emphasis on their qualities, rather than on their responsibilities, and that this emphasis should be shifted somewhat because "women, far more than men, will determine the world of the future."

It seems a topic well worthy of discussion. Not everybody will be able to attend. But everybody can have a one-man forum, and ask himself: "In all my thoughts about my rights and opportunities, have I thought enough of my responsibilities?"

A reflection will show that no society, certainly no free society, can operate unless rights, opportunities and responsibilities are inseparable partners.

It would help a lot if bootleggers would print the date on the bottle.

Dear Folks: In your column where Mrs. O. J. Childs broke the double yoked egg...

I collected the papers and some letters and started out when Dr. Orway got up from a table near the door and came toward me. We sat down and he asked me how I felt.

"My knees still shake when I think of last night," I confessed. "I'm a little nervous, wondering about a lot of things. This is my first contact with a murderer and I don't think I enjoy it, but my genuine curiosity is bothering me."

"We're all curious," he said with that old-fashioned country doctor smile that has carried a good crowd of busy boys and girls and kind but piercing gray eyes.

"Murder," he said briefly. "He was shot. The police have the bullet and it will be examined, but until they find the weapon they won't have much to go on. A nasty business," he added, shaking his head.

"Did he have any known enemies?" I tried not to act too curious.

"He's been coming here for about three years, but despite that no one seems to know a lot about him. He was congenial-liked to the people who knew him."

"Well, Jeanie must have known him better than anyone else around here—that is, in the neighborhood," he said. "Miss Dixson, your sister, might know."

"Dear Guy: How in the blue blazing blazes can you get wanted in five different places in ten days?"

MURDER IN PARADISE BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

THE STORY: Friendly, high-spirited Maude O'Shea, her school teacher, Margie, Mrs. O'Shea's sister, Mrs. Dixson, the murdered boy's mother, and a group of friends, gathered in the living room for a party.

MARGIE VS. JEANIE

IT WAS JUST AS WELL that I had come for the mall because the little white frame inn on the beach at the end of the grove was anything but a picnic place.

"You heard them arguing," I said, glancing at Margie. "He was right there with you, Herb wanted to invite Jeanie to a picnic, but she wouldn't go."

"I said I hadn't been told to go, but I supposed both Maude and Jeanie would be there."

"Yes," I said, and then, "There'll be an inquest, I suppose. Cause of death, suspects, clew."

"The rest of the crowd at the table nodded in agreement. "Then Jeanie came back," she continued. "and the doctor said he was ready by 10 o'clock."

"I hope you won't think I'm rude," she said in that drawing-room voice when she wanted to impress us. "But I sort of wanted to tell you about the murder."

"I don't see how you could have said that," she said. "I didn't know she was there."

26 EXECUTED IN CZECH CLEAN-UP

By United Press
The official German news agency reported today 26 more persons had been executed and that nine would be executed in Bohemia-Moravia in the next few days. The list of names from which Deputy Reich Protector Reinhard Heydrich had conditionally lifted the curfew because the Czechs were once more actively pursuing their businesses and professions.

Fourteen persons were executed Wednesday in Prague and Brunn and 12 yesterday for crimes ranging from preparation of high treason and possession of weapons to sabotage.

Special courts in Prague and Brunn have since met and "over" to the gasta, the agency said.

Dutch Report
Meanwhile, the Dutch newspaper Vrij Nederland said in London that over 4,000 Dutch men and women had been put in concentration camps in Germany. The Nazis and the Moscow radio broadcast reports disaffection was spreading in Italy because of food shortages.

The Moscow radio said dissident Italian elements were clamoring for peace, and were grouping around Marshal Pietro Badoglio and Rodolfo Graziani. Another group for anti-German feeling, the radio said, is in Germany, and is trying to incorporate Trieste, Fiume and the northern part of Italy into the German Reich.

Russian Claims
Another broadcast by the Moscow radio said the Jugoslavs were in a position to force the Germans to rise, that the guerrillas were fighting the Germans over a wide area around Porebrovatch, and in other sectors occupied troops were "locked in surrounded cities."

Reports were heard in London that fighting between Italian soldiers and revolutionaries had spread in Croatia and Apalato.

Congressmen Keep Sides In Vessel Arming Fight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt's request for permission to arm merchant ships brought in general the usual division of opinion in congress, but there were a few noteworthy changes on both sides of the foreign policy issue.

Rep. Hamilton Fish, R. N. Y., usually one of the President's most vigorous opponents, said he was "inclined to support arming of merchant ships as long as it is definitely understood these ships are not to go into combat zones."

Senate Republican Leader Charles McNary of Oregon, who has supported the administration on foreign policy, opposed any revision of the neutrality act at present. So did Sen. Frederick Van Nuys, D. Ind., who voted for the lend-lease program.

"The neutrality act," said McNary, "was passed to keep the country out of war and at the present time I see no justification for its modification."

House leaders are mapping a schedule for the bill to amend the neutrality act and hope to speed it to the senate by end of next week.

They planned to start hearings Monday with Secretary of State Cordell Hull as the first witness if his engagements permit.

Chairman Tom Connally, D. Tex., of the senate foreign relations committee said his group might begin work on the bill a week from Monday.

"I have private assurances," he said, "there will be no bitter or time-consuming resistance to passage of the neutrality revision program."

JUDGE ABSOLVES ALUMINUM FIRM

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—A decision which took Federal Judge Francis C. Caffey nine days to render today absolved the Aluminum Company of America and 48 other defendants of charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

The evidence compels the conclusion that it has not been shown that ALCOA is guilty of any violation of the Sherman act as was charged in the government's bill; that the government has failed to prove its charges in any of the three phases into which it divided the case; namely: (1) monopolization, (2) conspiracy, and (3) other misconducts, Judge Caffey ruled.

Thus Judge Caffey disposed of the department of justice case, begun April 23, 1937, to dissolve ALCOA and split its holdings among four new corporations that would engage competitively in various branches of the aluminum industry. The trial opened on June 1, 1938, and the evidence, when it was completed last March 12, amounted to 40,000 pages.

Thurman Arnold, head of the department of justice anti-trust division, announced he would appeal the decision.

Churchill in Awkward Position As British Clamor for Invasion

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
Of the United Press Wire Desk
Climax in Britain for immediate military action to help Russia instead of the slow and perhaps over-late process of furnishing British-American material aid places the Churchill government in an awkward position.

The government decided some time ago a British offensive on the continent to relieve pressure on Russia would be ill-advised at this time. The reason, as given in parliament and by British spokesmen, that Britain does not have the men, equipment or experience in the land fighting technique developed by the German Wehrmacht to give a continental invasion any guaranty of success.

Action Demanded
Now, with the press, members of parliament and the public in full cry, Churchill may be forced to take action of some kind, although the dispatch of a full expeditionary force across the channel seems unlikely, in view of the arguments presented against it. The high command and the chief of staff are strongly of the belief an impromptu invasion now would not affect immediate outcome in Russia. It would have to be impromptu, for there is not the slightest sign that Britain has mapped out the careful, detailed plans which would be necessary for such an attempt.

Suit Asks Cash Under Contract To Buy Prunes

Judgment asking $1,434 because a Buhi prune grower assertedly failed to deliver 10 carloads contracted for last Aug. 25 is asked in a district court suit filed by M. Cornfield, fruit buyer.

The plaintiff's suit is against Cornfield, who has contracted for U. S. No. 1 Italian prunes at 75 cents per bushel. He claimed he paid $1,000 at the time of signing contract as $100 down payment on each of 10 cars and asserts this has not been refunded to him. The additional $434 is sought because of the full value increase. Delivery was to have started Sept. 10, according to the complaint.

BEET PLANTS HIT STRIDE SATURDAY

By Saturday all three factories of the Almagued Sugar company in this section will "hit their stride" in the present sugar beet processing run, Harry Elcock, Idaho manager, said here today.

Elcock said that beet tonnage is "fair" at the present time and that the sugar content of the beet is running exceptionally high.

The local factory started processing Tuesday at 4 p. m. while the Rupert factory got underway at noon that same day and the Burley factory at midnight.

The factory beet dump here opened today and trucks carrying the beets started to stream in. Many carloads of beets were on the railroad tracks outside the factory waiting for processing.

Here's Story of Idahoan That Got Skinned at Show

BOISE, Ida., Oct. 10 (Special)—"A Big Potato Gets Skinned at Cafe Show" headlined the Oct. 6 Chicago Daily News.

C. O. Rice, field representative of the Idaho advertising commission, mailed the paper to Agriculture Commissioner James B. Newport from Chicago where Rice is attending the National Restaurant show on behalf of the commission.

The Chicago paper's story, which shows what they think of Idaho potatoes, continues:

"A big, wide-eyed rural visitor from Idaho got thoroughly skinned today when the National Restaurant association's show and convention opened in the Furniture Mart.

"It was an elephantine unbaked potato that the kid from Idaho produces in satchel-size proportions.

"A gentlemanly demonstrator dumped a million tubers of assorted sizes into a peeling machine. Surrounded by gawky potatoes, the big Idahoan found itself in a fast merry-go-round, in which it ribbed

Who Has An Axe To Grind?

An answer to a resolution being currently circulated among various organizations in Twin Falls county in reference to the Hospital Bond Issue

Following are the five points of opposition brought out by a joint committee of Filer Grange and Filer Kiwanis Club. Each of these points is followed by an individual answer.

- "Hospital construction could have been done more economically any time within the past several years under a PWA project which the government would have furnished about 45 per cent of the cost."

In the first place, PWA funds were never available for construction of institutions that charge for services rendered. Also, as all Twin Falls county citizens know, it has been impossible for any improvement or enlargement of our hospital until a law was passed by the last legislature permitting such a procedure by bond issue. Surely those who sponsored this opposing resolution were fully aware of this fact. Why is the issue so belabored by those who know better?
- "Overcrowding of the present hospital facilities is brought about, at least in part, by non-resident patients from adjoining counties who pay no more for their rooms and services than taxpayers of this county."

Out of the 3,467 patients admitted to the hospital in 1940, 408 were non-residents of Twin Falls county, and at least 80 per cent of that number were emergency cases requiring immediate medical attention. Any hospital is primarily a humanitarian institution. Would the sponsors of this objection, or any other citizen, be so uncharitable and unchristianlike as to deny the sick and injured entry to our hospital under conditions constituting an emergency, merely because they live beyond our county limits?
- "A serious effort should be made to induce private hospital associations to locate in Twin Falls county. The Grange-Kiwanis committee said 'we are unable to determine why private hospitals will not locate here' and termed this 'a much more likely field' than many others."

If the sponsors of this objection would only think
- "This is not an economical and proper time to undertake such an extensive program. The committee pointed out that public indebtedness in the present nation-wide crisis is mounting daily and no additional local indebtedness should be incurred, especially because the population of this county is apt to decrease owing to people leaving for the defense works and the army and navy and war activities."

This is not an extensive building program. It will only fill a serious need, and is the culmination of years of steadily increasing inadequacy. It is questionable whether much of a tax will be required because the investment will be partially self-liquidating. Our population is steadily increasing despite the number of people who leave the county for military service and defense employment. Furthermore, most of those leaving, will return, and the demands upon our hospital will be just that much greater.
- "The committee has been confronted with information unfavorable to the construction of the proposed increased facilities which we do not care to incorporate into this report."

Just what is this "unfavorable information" which the committee does "not care to incorporate into its report"? Why doesn't this committee come out in the open and let the taxpayers know what this is all about.

There is no logical reason why the Hospital Bonds should not carry next Tuesday, so the sick may be provided a decent place to convalesce. This is not a political issue, nor is it a personal one. Like people, cars need regular check-ups to avoid ill. This is especially true in the fall because hard summer driving leaves them in a weakened condition. And... at the first cold spell, Fall Pox strikes, leaving cars with dead batteries, clogged oil lines, cracked radiator. Our doctors of motors prevent this costly disease by giving your car a complete check-up and treating it with Vitamin SS. That means the following Sovereign services:

COAST TEAMS GUN FOR COMEBACK VICTORIES

Memorable '41: New Race Of People Discovered

Some wear blinders lest extraneous trifles like fires, floods, or earthquakes distract them from fame. Also often useful for hiding faces in shame.

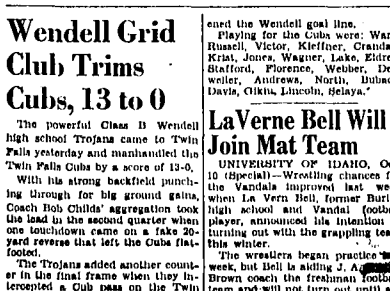

When on the chase, Homo Fanculus Dodgerson, weird species from the Brooklyn Bad Lands, gives vent to rancous, blood-curdling roars.

Allied tribes of Dodge fans are found outside Brooklyn. Some roam as far as the fields of Ebbets, which is where these specimens of the Dodgerson Jenseynense were photographed. Some had difficulty returning home, especially after indulgence in the vice of Taking-the-Odds to World Series.

Explorers have found wide divergence of rainfall among the Brooklites. The specimen above affected a dampened kerchief, used as a brain-cooler.

The female of the species is, if anything, more deeply-voiced than the male, having a wide repertory of scurrilous sneezes, hoos, hieses and taunts.

When aroused, and he is seldom anything else but, the Dodgerson is ferocious. The magnificent buck above is screaming for the kill.

Trojans, Huskies Seek Conference Grid Victories

By JIM SULLIVAN
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 (UP)—It's "comeback" week in the Pacific Coast conference football setup this week-end, with four teams out to redeem themselves and save their 1941 seasons from being smothered by the odds.

And on the basis of the odds and unbiased statistics, it appears each of the four teams is doomed to disappointment.
First to take the comeback trail is U. C. A., which suffered a rout at Stanford last week. U. C. A. meets Montana in Los Angeles tonight in other years the UCLANS could stand on their feet. But whippers from the Grizzlies den say the Montanans have it this year and U. C. A. is going to receipt for another licking.

Three of the comebacks go tomorrow and a victory for any one of them would be considered an upset.
USC over Oregon
U. S. C. beaten by Ohio State last week. The Bears are to Stanford, face in University of Oregon at Los Angeles a team which lost by only four points to the Stanford champs.
California, upset by Washington State, faces the double handicap of a coach, Stan Jones, and the loss of its main attacking back, Jim Jirkovich, for the game at Berkeley.

Washington, twice beaten, journeys to Pullman for a tussle with Washington State, and those state-jugglers are expected to be on the ground, as California learned.
Stanford will have its hands full against Oregon State at Corvallis in another conference-bound game. The weather mires down Shaughnessy's T formation attack. However, the Bears are bound to have their 14th straight victory by a close margin.

Tonight's Games
Tonight's improving Loyola team aims at wiping out a 19-0 defeat from the Lions last year by Texas Tech; San Jose and San Diego will meet at San Diego; Idaho seeks its first 1941 win against Gonzaga at Spokane; Whitman and Linfield meet at McMinnville; Pacific U. College of Idaho at Caldwell; Whitman-Puget Sound at Walla Walla and Whitworth-Eastern Washington at Spokane.

Saturday afternoon Boise J. C. A. battles eight Arizans at Nevada, Tucson, Southern Methodist College of the Pacific.
Sunday University of San Francisco and the St. Mary's Gaels in San Francisco.

Chicago Big Game Hunter Likes Idaho Deer, Antelope
KETCHUM, Oct. 10 (Special)—Dr. F. B. Thompson, the Chicago big game hunter, is getting his fill of the greatest outdoor sports in the Idaho primitive areas.
After first visiting the Pahsheroi, where he landed his prong-horn, the doctor has been hunting for many far-off lands where a fellow has to pack a gun that will penetrate the toughest animal's hide and wilderness and already he and his party are shipping out the deer.

The doctor likes Idaho and has visited here before. This time his party was under guidance of John Baumann, with Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hill of Ketchum and Mrs. Harry Denon, Kimberly, included in the group.
The group is expected to be in the wilderness not less than 10 days.

The Twin Falls enrollment has increased since the school opened last year. The men turning out for the grid game at Filer have increased from 12 to 20. The boys will have trouble building together enough boys for a football team.
But he has a lanky bunch of lads who are always ready to be pointed for the Bruins and an upset victory would make many a man happy when he comes home.
And it might bring up this question: Would Hank and Bill be in speaking terms after the game?

Mr. Sumner Reports on Antelope, Deer, Ducks, Pheasants and Fish

By CHARLES G. HUMMER
REYNOLDS, Oct. 10 (Special)—Antelope hunters in this district who were fortunate enough to pull out on the lottery, generally report good luck, although some reported no success. The boys who were transferred to the Owyhee district and played hockey in drawing out. The bucks have far better luck in the woods than they did in the city. Many animals were seen in the last year.
With the first snow of the early winter occurring Sunday morning, with about a inch fall, a good many hunters are out in the woods. The boys are also out in the woods. The boys are also out in the woods. The boys are also out in the woods.

Antelope drawings
It seems there was considerable interest concerning the antelope drawing, as has been cited by the drawing at intervals. In the Twin Falls section it was recorded that the drawings were so close to limited groups that some criticism was voiced under the suspicion that favoritism might have been shown. There is similar activity developed, and in one instance nearly all the employees of one institution drew lucky numbers while none of several other places was successful, and nearly all had made application. It could very well be that the boys are always ready to be pointed for the Bruins and an upset victory would make many a man happy when he comes home.

Vandals Tackle Gonzaga Gridders

Blumenstock Carries Hopes For Fordham

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (UP)—Press-box patter:
If Fordham's football forces climax the 1941 gridiron season with the coveted trip to California's Rose bowl, look for Jimmy Blumenstock to furnish the key to success. When fleet Len Edmond beat this year, Blumenstock was shifted back to the regular spot at left half and his change will work out to everybody's advantage. He wasn't accustomed to performing at right half and he now ranks as a made-to-order triple threat. He is 5 feet 10 inches and 185 pounds and is seasoned with plenty of speed and poise. He's personable, 23 years old, has jet-black hair and flashing white teeth. He's intensely interested in aviation and a quick-thinking student of economics.

"Hard Luck Kid" Through

The football career of "Jolting Jim" Jurkovich, California's potential All-American back, has ended through an edict of the team physician. An injured leg will return to the lineup tonight and will probably edge Milo Anderson from the starting line-up. It was reported today that Jurkovich will play the other wing position. He was reported today that Jurkovich was moved to that post, with Ralph Hecovich moving from guard to the vacated spot.

New Players Slated for Idaho Lineup

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Oct. 10 (Special)—Several new and tricky plays were added to the Vandal repertoire this week as Coach Francis A. Schmidt drilled the Idaho gridmen on offense in an all-out effort to chalk up the Vandals' first victory of the year against the Gonzaga Bulldogs tonight in Spokane.
The Idaho gridmen came out of last week's tussle with the Oregon Webfeet without injury and will be at top strength against the Zags. The Spokane club is considerably weaker this year than in the past few seasons. They have dropped games to Pacific Lutheran and Arizona State Teachers and were extended last week to ek out a 14-0 victory over the College of Idaho Coyotes.

Michigan Returns

Michigan students have planned a rally and several programs in Spokane Friday night and have entirely bought out one of Spokane's largest hotels. Special buses have been chartered to take student backers to the Washington city.

NYU Coach Moans as Tilt With Texas Aggies Nears

By HARRY FERGUSON
NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (UP)—Not since the days of the silent movies when Lillian Gish turned on the faucets from coast to coast has there been anybody who could sweep like a football coach coming up to a big game with a couple of injured tackles.
Today you can hear them moaning on prairie and peak, seacoast and plain, north and south. If injuries don't get 'em, then the draft does. Right now the loudest wail of all rises right here on the sidewalks of New York from the lips of Mel Stevens, who is head of the brains department for the gridiron heroes who carry the Violet of New York university.
The funny thing about Stevens is that he has swept aside Penn Military college and Lafayette so far this season and the heroes are an undefeated team. However, that situation will be corrected come 2 p. m. tomorrow when the N. Y. U. boys start picking themselves up from the sod at Yankee stadium and wondering why they ever put Texas A. and M. on their 1941 schedule. And thereby hangs a tale.

Ed Kelpier, Indian end who failed to make the Oregon trip because of an injured leg, will return to the lineup tonight and will probably edge Milo Anderson from the starting line-up. It was reported today that Jurkovich will play the other wing position. He was reported today that Jurkovich was moved to that post, with Ralph Hecovich moving from guard to the vacated spot.

Consulted Gridder
When the 1941 schedule was being made out Stevens thoughtfully decided that as much as the heroes were going to be the ones who did the work, it might be a good idea to consult them on who their adversaries should be. That is an unusual procedure. The ordinary practice is to keep the heroes in the same category as the light brigade—"There's no reason why, their but to do and die."
But Stevens asked the heroes. Would they like a light schedule, a tough schedule or a very extra-special tough schedule? They said they wanted an extra-special

The starting lineup for the game, incidentally, will probably find Hank Crowley, center, in the lineup in place of the veteran Aschenbrenner.
The probable starting lineup:
IDAHO: Pos GONZAGA
M. Anderson ... le ... Jones
Konopka ... c ... Connors
Fiedler ... rb ... Parry
Crowley ... c ... Jaton
Rowe ... re ... Ff
Fiedler ... rb ... Ff
Berlus ... re ... Whaley

Cochrane to Fight Ray Robinson

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (UP)—A well-known 10-round match between welterweight champion Freddie Cochrane and young Ray Robinson of New York in Madison Square Garden on Oct. 11 has replaced the scheduled fight between Lou Jenkins and Sammy Angott, Promoter Mike Jacobs said today.
The Jenkins-Angott bout was postponed until Dec. 19.

Wendell Grid Club Trims Cubs, 13 to 0

The powerful Glaz 13 Wendell high school Trojans came to Twin Falls yesterday and manhandled the Twin Falls Cubs by a score of 13-0. With his strong backfield punching through for big ground gains, Coach Bob Child's aggregation took the lead in the second quarter when one touchdown came on a 20 yard reverse that left the Cubs flustered.
The Trojans added another counter in the first frame when they intercepted a Cub pass on the Twin Falls 40-yard line. Ground plays picked up 30 yards and then a long loss that was good for 20 yards more in the second quarter.
Coach Child's Trojans used a team made up strictly of freshmen and sophomores who were not laced on the reserve lineup of the Bruin squad and all boys were playing in their first game. Falls was pleased with the performance of the club, which was leading by the Trojans 14-0, and announced that they would play the Cubs over seriously threatened the Wendell goal line.

LaVerne Bell Will Join Mat Team

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Oct. 10 (Special)—Wrestling chances for the Vandals improved today when La Verne Bell, former Burley high school and Vandal football player, announced his intention of turning out with the grappling team this winter.
The wrestler began practice last week, but Bell is a former Brown coach the freshman football team and will not turn out until after the football season ends.
Bell wrestled for the Idaho varsity two years ago in the heavyweight division.

Nine-Team Border League Is Football Dynasty in Building

By RED GRANGE
The Original Man in Motion
There's a football dynasty in the building on the far western plains and sageland.
It's the young and lusty Border conference, a nine-team circuit the gridiron exploits of which are fast rivaling those of the well-known Southwest conference.
Over a period of five years, Border footballers have batted 263 in inter-sectional competition, winning 79, losing 40 and tying eight games. Arizona was credited with the fifth best defense against rushing in the nation last season.
Owen Price of Texas Mines at El Paso led the country's punters last autumn with the phenomenal average of 48 yards.
Muggsy Price is again kicking and passing for the Mustangs.
Addition of three new members this fall—Texas Tech, Hardin-Simmons and West Texas State—leaves the sageland loop with potential dynamite and further enhances its prestige.
One of Three Best
Tech's Red Raiders rank up nine victories against one setback and a tie in 1940, and seem headed for their best season since 1937. They are considered one of the three best teams in the cattle country.
Dell Morgan, formerly line coach at Auburn and Rice, is the new coach. Motley Jennings, a director of athletics, their aims is to push Texas Tech to the largest state school in the Lone Star domain, in the Southwest conference.
Eight senior starting starwatts returned. The club has a remarkable passer in Roger Smith and runner in Thomas Amoski.
Hardin-Simmons, unbeaten since mid-season of 1939, made its debut with a 31-7 victory over Texas Wesleyan for its 15th straight. The Cow-boys lost their coach and several outstanding stars, yet Frank Kimbrough left Warren Woodson the nucleus and then some.
West Texas State ran over Oklahoma City university, 34-0, for an auspicious beginning.

Owen (Muggsy) Price of Texas Mines... led nation's punters last fall with phenomenal average of 48 yards.

Arizona Hands Green
Arizona has too many green hands this year to successfully combat a team like Notre Dame, which recruited Mike Castelli's boys, 38-7, but she Phoenix array should improve as the season rolls along.
Arizona has compiled a winning percentage of .607 in inter-sectional competition during the past five seasons against such formidable opposition as Minnesota, Oregon, Santa Clara, Maryland, Michigan State, Southern Methodist, College of the Pacific, Kansas, Utah, Central, Wyoming, Colorado Aggies, Oklahoma Aggies and Montana.
Millard Howell, Alabama's All-American back of howell to Don Hutson passing fame, has coached Arizona. State of Temple to two successive Border championships.
The bulldog, who bowed to Western Reserve of Cleveland in the Sun bowl last New Year's day, opened the curtain campaign with a 6-0 triumph of Gonzaga in Spokane. That was a fine performance.
Bugged and Wide Open
Oklahoma members of the conference are New Mexico, the New Mexico Aggies and Arizona State of Flagstaff.
New Mexico is drilled by Ted Shipkey, who was an All-American under Pop Warner at Stanford. The Lobos were coached to repulse Texas Tech last term.
Geographically, the wheel embraces a vast area from the Fainted Desert to the Rio Grande, from Arizona's Salt river to the Texas panhandle.
The broad band of football Borderlines play is as rugged and wide open as their native rangelands.

2 Players out Of Bruins' Grid Lineup

Injuries will keep Don Kottraba, Bruin center, on the sideline when the home club tangles with the Pike Wildcats at 8 p. m. tonight under the flood lights at Lincoln field.
The first string lineman was hurt in the Nampa contest last week-end when some leg muscles were bruised.
One other regular, Lyle Peterson, lucky young sophomore backfield ace, will again be on the sidelines. He will have a near-attack of pneumonia last week. Peterson is recovering and will probably be in shape for the Pocatello contest next week, as will Kottraba.
Red Higgins, another sophomore speed-demon will be in Peterson's place in the backfield, while Bandy takes over the center duties for Kottraba.
Probable starting lineups for the contest:
PILER
Vincent E. Brice
T. Anderson
R. C. Jinks
Dandy Bandy
Paterson D. O. C.
D. Malone G. H.
Hayes H. Maloney
Blakely J. P. Terry
Walker H. Hulbert
H. H. Higgins
Hawkins G. B. Gibb
Officials: Official Jerome; Taylor, Fritz; Bond, Twin Falls.

THE SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK.—Joe Devine, veteran scout of the Yankees, says he sees as many fine baseball physiques as ever, but that the vast majority of the young men lack ambition.
Devine traces much of this to the fact that youngsters are spoiled in the rush of big league clubs to sign them.
Young Dick Wakefield, the Michigan product, for example, was paid $45,000 for signing a Detroit contract before anybody had any idea of how well he would go against American league pitching.
The kid gets an idea he is pretty good before he knows his way around.
Devine contends there would be no dearth of major league talent if the clubs would only let the boys come up the hard way.
The personal bat is tremendously important to a ball player.
It may have several of identical dimensions, yet one will feel better in his hands.
Joe D'Amaglio is keeping as a souvenir the crack club with which he hit in 52 of his record-wrecking 88 consecutive games.
"Of course, all my bats are the same—36 ounces and 35 inches, but his one had good balance," says the top Yankee. "I like my bat top-heavy, and this one was just the way I wanted it to be."
Whitlow Wyatt was just another pitcher at the plate, until this season, when the thinily-shafted cotton grower suddenly became a home run thumper.
Wyatt parked one in the bleachers in the 10th to keep the Brooklyn in the key game in which they beat the brierley in 10 innings in Cincinnati. Derringer led a similar game later to Johnny Allen and Hugh Casey, but the first one helped break the Reds' back.
The modest Wyatt insists he became a good hitter strictly by accident.
"One day early in the season I happened to see a bat flying around the batting cage," explains the great right-hander. "It belonged to Joe Medwick, weighed 38 ounces. It was big around the barrel and around the handle. I thought I'd try it."
"Strangely enough, I got more snap into my swing with it than with

Rainiers Knot Play-offs

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Pacific Coast league slug-heavy playoff was tied up as tight as a drum today and the winner of the president's cup will be determined in the final game tonight.

Roosevelt Article Blames Communists for Aviation Plant Strike

SAYS LABOR NOT TO BLAME AFTER COAST WALK-OUT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (UP)—President Roosevelt said today the strike at the California plant of the North American Aviation corporation last June was "inspired and directed by Communist forces" who were interested in the defeat and overthrow of the United States.

In an article in the current issue of Collier's magazine which will appear as a preface to one of its forthcoming volumes of "Public Papers and Addresses," the President attacked the so-called "defense plants last spring."

"I have always felt proud and gratified that during my service as governor of New York and as President of the United States, up to June, 1941, after the full unlimited national emergency had come, I have not once called out the militia or the troops in a labor dispute," the President wrote.

"As of the date of this note, in June, 1941, the single exception I have made in all my public service was in June of 1941, when I directed the Army to take over the aircraft plant of the North American Aviation corporation, which was engaged in making airplanes for the defense of the United States. This was a vital spot in our armament program which, in the interest of our national existence, could not be permitted to stand idle."

"Besides, the responsible leaders of labor in the United States have not shown any hostile labor dispute, but a form of alien sabotage, inspired and directed by Communist forces, who were interested in the defeat and overthrow of the United States."

2 DETAINED FOR GOLFER SLAYING

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 10 (UP)—Police sent to Lexington, Ky., today photographs and fingerprints of two ex-convicts who they said "killed pretty closely" with descriptions of the players of Marion Milley, 27, champion woman golfer, and her mother.

"The men—Tom C. Pennay, 33, of Lexington, and Leo Queda, 40—were arrested here Wednesday night in a car that police said they admitted stealing from Bob Anderson, owner of a night club in Louisville. The car was a 1941 sedan. It was stolen from Louisville, 60 miles from Lexington on the night of Sept. 27."

"Its description corresponds in most essentials with that of a blue-green sedan a newspaper boy saw parked outside the Lexington country club the early Sunday morning of Sept. 28 when two intruders, apparently seeking proceeds from a Saturday night dance, shot Mrs. Milley, manager of the club, and her famous daughter."

Also police said they found in the car a pistol bullet, either .32 or .38 caliber. The Milleys were slain by 32 caliber bullets.

"The man, however, denied connection with the Milley case."

The postoffice is closed except for regular business hours and is also shut down Saturday afternoons and Sundays. The postal department issued the order after youths noticed with placards, affidavits and other government property, according to Postmistress Alice Barry.

Because Ketchum is somewhat handicapped by lack of police protection, the postal department was appealed to. Thereafter came the order closing the office at almost all hours, not positively repealed as necessary. His successor will be nominated by the state cooperative board of forestry. Voice to declare Giardard's office vacant were cast by Secretary of State George C. Wright; State Auditor Calvin E. Curtis; and State School Superintendent C. E. Roberts.

Gov. Chase Clark and Attorney General Bert H. Miller did not vote. Giardard's dismissal was the second shake-up in state and forest management departments. Previously, Warden Gilbert Talley was discharged and Land Commissioner C. Guy Clark was named to succeed him.

Robert Coulter, state Democratic chairman, was named to replace Clark as land commissioner.
