NIPPONESE NAVY CLAIMED ITCHING FOR U. S. ACTION

By ROBERT BELLAIRE
TOKYO, Oct. 16 (AP)—The cabinet of Prince Fumimaro Konoye resigned today.
The cabinet, formed last July 18, quit amidst nationalistic pressure for termination of Japanese-American peace negotiations highlighted by a naval spokesman's warning that Japanese-American relations were "at the crossroads" and that the Japanese navy was prepared "in fact, itching for action."
Konoye and his ministers resigned after several days of intensive conferences, climaxed yesterday when he conferred with Marquis Hirota, long head of Japanese policy, and was received by Emperor Hirohito.

The cabinet had been just under three weeks in office and was the shortest-lived in modern Japanese history.
And-U. S. Campaign
By ROBERT BELLAIRE
Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—The United States government today announced that it would not accept any Japanese proposal for a truce or armistice with the Japanese navy.

Future Uncertain
Konoye has been premier three times in the past and he is expected to form a new government, was not immediately clear. There was speculation as to whether the army finally would take over or would drop Konoye, who in the recent past, has been regarded as the only civilian sufficiently strong to form a cabinet.
As the cabinet quit, Aashi, a leader of the military, was reported to have said that the army was "extremely critical" and Japan must adopt an attitude of "firmest determination."

Nazi Sources Reported
In connection with the resignation it was recalled that recently German officials had been reported to have abandoned a policy of watchful waiting and play a more active role in the Pacific.
NEW EXECUTIONS GAIN IN FRANCE

Germans Report Moscow City Nearly Surrounded

BERLIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—Nazi sources circulated reports today that German spearheads have almost completed encirclement of Moscow and the capture of Odesa by German-Rumanian forces was claimed officially.
Odesa, the great Russian Black sea port, was first cut off by Nazi vanguard detachments almost exactly two months ago.
Nazi sources reported Odesa was isolated Aug. 12 and two days later the German high command confirmed that the city had been cut off and encircled.
The operations against the Black sea port were directed by Nazi personnel but were carried out largely by Rumanian troops.

Limit Must Be Placed On Number in Hospital, County Attorney Warns
Twin Falls county must take steps at once to prevent exceeding the maximum capacity of its general hospital, County Attorney Everett M. Sweeley warned the board of commissioners today in a letter which goes before the board at its regular meeting Friday.
Sweeley told the county administrative heads that action must be immediate for two reasons—1, for protection of patients at the hospital and 2, to protect taxpayers of the county against damage claims which might result through overcrowding.

FOREIGN POLICY SUPPORTERS MAY GET FDR BACKING

By LYLE WILSON
WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Democratic political strategists believed today President Roosevelt will cross party lines again in the 1942 general election campaign in an attempt to defeat both Democratic and Republican congressional opponents of his foreign policy.
Some of the most prominent of Mr. Roosevelt's political associates are reported to have made a statement along these lines:
"Those members or candidates for congress, regardless of party, place their nation's interests and defense above petty considerations, merit the support of the people."

Wendell L. Willkie last year's Republican presidential candidate, already has revealed his campaign intentions. Willkie will not speak for Republican congressional candidates who support the administration's foreign policy.

Responding to a recent press conference question, Mr. Roosevelt, who emphatically took of politicians during the national emergency, said that he would not support any Republican candidate for congress.

World Avoid Backfire
Political associates of Mr. President believe that statement as they expect would avoid a backfire caused in 1918 when Woodrow Wilson's support of the League of Nations was repudiated by the Democratic congress.

Nazis Break Through on West Front

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Foreign News Editor
Axis armies drove hard-fighting Russian defenders back toward imperiled Moscow today and prompted Japan to seek a new war government for a threatened showdown in the far east.
Resignation of the cabinet of Japanese Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and suggestions that a pro-German military government would take power in Tokyo to strike at Siberia if Russia failed to halt the Germans coincided with reports that diplomats and part of the Soviet government had left Moscow because of the threat of encirclement by Nazi pincer operations.

POT SHOTS

The Gentleman in the Third Row

We're Goaded Into a Telegram To Ann Sheridan

We—and probably you—can take just about as much.

We writhed through Movie Star Ann Sheridan's newspaper tirade with Harvard and Princeton colleagues last fall, and marveled at the intensity of her press attack.

But we thought that was finished after a winter, spring and summer during which she refused to give the Sheridan-Harvard-Princeton front. Then yesterday the press wires carried a long gab about a new Harvard between Harvard and Miss Sheridan. What was worse, Cincinnati's Annie Compugh wrote a verse and so did some guy from Princeton. We fear all this made the front page throughout the land. Harvard will probably "answer" with "Something Really Funny."

"We felt goaded beyond endurance. So, taking Sheridan with the Evening's assistance, we turned to the custodian of said treasury, Pot Shots sent a telegram to Miss Sheridan as follows:

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, Oct. 16 (Special).—Miss Ann Sheridan, Warner Bros. Studios, Hollywood, Calif., is being goaded by a telegram from Shapely Miss Sheridan, your comp who we acknowledge, but must you mix comp with comp? Could you publish publicly unpaid for comp neither Harvard nor Princetonian capers? Could you publish publicly unpaid for comp neither Harvard nor Princetonian capers? Could you publish publicly unpaid for comp neither Harvard nor Princetonian capers? Could you publish publicly unpaid for comp neither Harvard nor Princetonian capers?

ATTENTION, COUNTY MUGGULS!
 Dear Pot Shots:
 Regarding that "solution" of yours for the county holding matter, it seems to me you're willing to be too dogmatic with your money. Yeah, our money, it's a taxpayer's lot. Instead of giving the blamed thing away for $1, I've got a better idea. We'll give it to the county money and buy new equipment each year with dough they can bring through a certain amount of rate legislative boys played last year.

Whether the action against Bridges in the house violates the constitution prohibition against bills of attainder it remains for competent judicial authority to say. To a layman it looks perilously close—close enough to warrant careful examination when the bill comes before the senate.

All this is not in defense of Bridges. Perhaps Bridges should be deported. If he has violated the law in such a way as to make himself liable to the penalty of deportation, then on conviction in a regular court he should be deported. If there is no law which now touches the activities in which he was engaged, and congress believes such activities should be illegal, let it pass such a law.

But to single out one individual for a special act of the national legislature is a most dangerous precedent. If any individual whom any congress deems undesirable may be deported by special act, then there is no reason why some future congress may not similarly deport Father Coughlin, Albert Einstein, or Tom Girdler, or you, or me.

It might prove more important to preserve a government of general law applicable to all on equal terms, than to get rid of Harry Bridges.

Chestnuts
 Street corners in many American cities will soon be permeated by the alluring odor of roasting chestnuts. Americans will stop as they pass and buy a few as a special treat. Perhaps at Thanksgiving there will be chestnut stuffing in the turkey. It's a delightful treat, but nobody in the United States regards the chestnut as food.

In Italy, however, chestnuts are being hoarded by people as squirrels hoard them here. They are the only farinaceous food that is not rationed, and in a country in which every crumb of bread must be doled out, a little hoard of chestnuts means much.

WHAT DOES MAUDIE KNOW?
 CHAPTER IX
 As far as I could figure things out I could see no reason why Miss Millie should be murdered by city thugs involved in a Grand Jury investigation. She hadn't mixed in city life for years. One could tell that from the cut of her black dress and her trick hats and the way she belittled city things to the summer folks. She considered her life in the town house during the winter as a necessary hibernation and returned to the lake before anyone else.

And I could see that Denny and handsome Officer John Antler were mulling those facts over when they came in after taking care of things at the dock. While they had been down there I had put black dresses and trick hats and the way she belittled city things to the summer folks. She considered her life in the town house during the winter as a necessary hibernation and returned to the lake before anyone else.

"She was a smart woman, a wise woman. Wiser than most, you think." She stared into space, the cream in little white tubs on her fat cheeks. "She knew too much; that was the trouble."

"I could feel that spot in my middle getting light again and the cold sweat start out on my forehead. 'Knew too much. What do you mean?'"

She rubbed the mess off her face before answering, and then settled down in her pillows. "We never went for the idea that the murder—the first one—was committed by some long gunner. She wasn't a smart woman, you and that Denny Flynn."

A Government of Laws

We are fond of saying that we have a government of laws, not a government of men. What do we mean by that? We mean simply that we are governed by laws passed by the people's representatives, and that those laws, being passed, apply to all alike. We contrast this with government by men, wherein a single ruler, be he emperor, czar, or fuhrer, imposes his will on single individuals whether they have violated any laws or not.

We're Goaded Into a Telegram To Ann Sheridan

We—and probably you—can take just what you want. We've written through Movie Star Ann Sheridan's telegram with Harvard and Princeton colleagues last fall, and marveled at the ingenuity of press agents. But we thought that was finished after a winter, spring and summer during which silence reigned on the Sheridan-Harvard front. Then yesterday the press wires carried a long gap about a new lawsuit between Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan. What was worse, Cinecrazia Annie Oomph wrote a verse and so did some guy from Princeton. We fear all this made the front page throughout the land. Harvard will probably answer with something punchy, giving the Princeton front.

FROSTS FAIL TO HURT SPUD CROP

BOISE, Oct. 16 (AP)—Killing frosts and other unfavorable weather conditions have failed to reduce Idaho potato production, and estimates for the 1941 crop remained at 28-30,000 bushels, the agricultural marketing service reported today.

Weather in late-harvesting areas has favored maturing crops but has been too cool to result in much additional growth to the tubers. Harvest progress was slightly ahead of last year, the report said. Farmers estimated 87 per cent of the crop remained to be harvested after Oct. 1 and in 1940 about 90 per cent was unharvested at the same date.

Weather conditions also affected growth of the Idaho apple crop with sizes running smaller than expected but with good color. Total production was forecast at 2,100,000 bushels, or about 100,000 bushels less than last month.

ILLINOIS WARNED ON MOSQUITOES

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP)—It's not an optimistic picture, but a University of Illinois scientist believes that southern and central Illinois can escape a mosquito blitzing next year.

W. K. Dellaplane, a commercial entomologist at the university, held several weeks at Centralia helping to quell an attack by millions of the pests that ended virtually all summer entertainment in the city, including porch-sitting.

Dellaplane explained the possibility of escape by the mosquito plague next summer.

"The adult mosquitoes, who live from three to four months, lay eggs in the mud adjacent to marshes and other bodies of stagnant water. Then the rains come and wash the mud into the water. There the eggs hatch quickly.

"There's not much you can do about the eggs until they've turned into wrigglers. Then about all you can do is spray the water. That will kill them.

"Weather important factor

"But freezing will kill the adult mosquito and it won't always kill the eggs. Sometimes it does, but not all the time. The kind of weather that keeps them down is alternate freezing and thawing."

Dellaplane said he believed the mosquitoes would spread because the dirt in which the eggs had been laid might be hauled to other parts of the state and because they could easily blow the mosquitoes long distances.

"It'll be hard to beat this," he said. "The only way to do it is to affect the adult mosquitoes and about the only way you can eliminate them is by spraying the water. And sometimes even the adult manages to live through the winter by floating a warm hook."

The mosquitoes, a variety, New Jersey "salt-water" variety, invaded Centralia in mid-summer. By the end of July they were laying eggs in large proportions and the city asked for help. Then Dellaplane arrived.

Control Drive Fall

The city adopted an orchard sprayer and patent chemicals to spray the many pools and marshes around the city. In mid-August they believed they had the epidemic nearly under control.

But then the rains came—and Dellaplane's theory was proved. Millions more mosquitoes arrived and the fight had to continue.

Both Dellaplane and city officials agree that it will be a long battle before they can eliminate the insects around Centralia and they are not too optimistic about ever eliminating them.

During the height of the plague the softball association cancelled all games. Due to the swarms of insects which came to the night contests. In addition, the swimming pool was closed at 7 p. m. every day and even during the daylight hours there were mosquitoes present.

By PAUL HARRISON (INA Service)

HOLLYWOOD—After all these years, you'd think that the pertinent facts about Shirley Temple's career would be matters of well-worn record. But not the story of her real discovery.

It can be recorded now because it has just been told for the first time by B. F. Schulberg and Alexander Hall. Columbia's "Bedtime Story" producer-director combination, and on the first day of shooting they found a while jarring with Shirley Young and Frederic March.

It was early in 1934, and the producer and director were about to put "Little Miss Marker" before the cameras. Their players included Adolphe Menjou, Lynne Overman, the ill-fated Dorothy Dell, and a 5-year-old girl whom I needn't name. One evening Hall happened to see a two-reel comedy in which Shirley Temple appeared—one of those Baby Burlesque things. He was so impressed that a few hours later he hauled Schulberg out of bed with a telephone call and announced that he'd just seen a kid who should replace the 5-year-old in "Little Miss Marker."

Tempest Over Temple

The producer pointed out that the other kid was hard to find, that she already had a contract for the picture, and that Hall had better go back to bed and try counting lunatics jumping over a six-foot wall.

Next morning, the director was waiting in Schulberg's office and started raising about his marvelous, terrific and potentially sensational little Temple youngster. The producer said "Not again, and for the next 48 hours he had to keep saying it with embellishments.

After an uneasy night in which he dreamed that hundreds of little Alexander Halls were creeping around under his bed, he went early to the studio and sneaked into his office. There—surprise! Schulberg sat the director. And with him was a golden-haired moppet.

"Shirley Temple, I presume," said Schulberg, who knew when he was licked. He talked with the youngster and saw the two-reeler. He paid off the child who already had been signed and arranged to borrow Shirley.

After about a week's shooting both men knew what they had. They then approached 20th-Fox, the studio holding Miss Temple's contract with a notion of taking her away.

Zane Zanzuck

"We made one terrible mistake," Schulberg admitted. "We offered too much money. Darryl Zanuck got suspicious and said he wouldn't discuss a deal until after he'd seen 'Little Miss Marker.' So we knew we were sunk. When Zanuck finally saw the picture, he just laughed and laughed. At us, I mean."

The current news of Shirley is that she's whinging up the Metro picture, little-changed from "Kathleen" to "Girl on the Hill." Every one tickled with it because it gives her a chance to do a little of everything in the talent repertoire. Instead of having her size and intelligence minimized as they were in the last two or three films at Fox, she's even having a chance—in a dream sequence—to play a young toy of 18.

WYOMING SPURS BEAVER FARMING

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Beaver is Wyoming's most valuable fur resource and the state game and fish commission is launching an extensive long-range project to "produce beaver on state and public lands as a crop, much in the same manner as livestock is produced by ranchmen."

Present plans are to have Wyoming virtually a statewide "beaver farm" by 1946, said Lester Bagley, state game warden.

The fur resource project will be carried on by the game and fish commission under the Pittman Robertson act. It will have other activities, but the most important, the beaver project, will involve the transplanting of the animals from one stream to another and making a study to determine the exact amount of suitable beaver habitat in Wyoming and the number of beaver the areas can support continuously.

A complete life cycle of the animal is being worked out.

Bagley explained that the game and fish commission "feels that with the many thousands of miles of water courses in Wyoming, the possibilities of growing beaver as a fur crop on a sustained yield basis are almost unlimited."

He added that "while trapping and transplanting of beaver is playing an important part in the present setup, it is no more important than the scientific work being conducted incident to the rehabilitation proceedings."

During the past several years, drought conditions have driven large numbers of beaver from upland water courses in some parts of Wyoming to agricultural lands. Other areas are devoid of the animals because they were trapped in excessive numbers during periods when game laws were less stringent.

By H. O. THOMPSON
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Resignation of Japan's Kono cabinet was believed in informed circles today to mark a collapse in the two-month old "peace talks" between Japan and the United States. The resignation also caused renewed speculation among officials as to possibility of a Japanese move against Russia.

Informed sources believed the apparent collapse of the U. S. Japanese talks resulted from inability of the Japanese to settle their own internal quarrel between the war party and the moderates. American diplomats were left without assurance the Japanese with whom they dealt could make an agreement binding on the Japanese empire.

Refused to Quit Axis
During the two months in which the talks were in progress, the Japanese refused to consider suggestions they withdraw from their axis pact with Germany and Italy. They asserted the United States must present a barrier to a better understanding with the United States.

The Kono resignation coincided with a suggestion by Sen. Claude A. Pepper, D. Ore., that the United States "mobilize" Japan before our situation becomes more acute in the Atlantic.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D. Mont., leader of congressional non-interventionists, thought the United States and Japan had no common differences peaceably "unless the hot heads in Japan go crazy."

Pepper expressed belief Japan is still awaiting the outcome of the German-Russian struggle before making some new move of aggression.

"If Japan is waiting to strike," he said, "we should immobilize her—before our situation here becomes more acute in the Atlantic—and I mean literally immobilize her."

Officials here regarded the resignation as a victory for Japan's pro-axis element in their struggle against Kono's policy of attempting to improve relations with the United States.

Lend-Lease Activity Helps Latin America

By LAWRENCE S. HAAS
United Press Latin American Editor
The signing of an agreement in Washington between the state department and the Brazilian ambassador for a loan to Brazil under the lend-lease act has accumulated the extent to which the United States is taking the Latin American countries under its financial wing.

The amount involved in the agreement was not made public, although it was believed to be between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000. In exchange for defense materials to be made available to Brazil under the provisions of the agreement, the United States will receive Brazilian raw materials essential to the defense industry, but the precise products and their quality will be stipulated later.

Lend-lease arrangements have been made with the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Paraguay and Uruguay, and it was indicated that similar agreements with virtually all of the other Latin American republics are being negotiated.

A congressional authorization was voted enabling the export-import bank to lend up to $500,000,000 to the governments of these Latin American nations. This congressional action set a definite limit upon the amount of cash or credits that the bank is empowered to advance.

Disbursements Not Fixed
The aid under lend-lease provided is limited only by the global amount of funds made available by congress to the executive branch of the government, and it may be apportioned as the president deems fitting and necessary.

As the Latin American countries, under the lend-lease program, are permitted to advance their own economic to build and maintain heavy armament, it would appear reasonable to assume that the United States has accepted the obligation of arming its neighbors.

The layout of cash or its equivalent in military or naval material, or supplies to be used for military purposes, apparently is being underwritten by the lend-lease program. The constant stress laid by American officialdom on the need for

BOOST LOOMS IN U. S. DEBT LIMIT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau said today there was "no question" the federal debt limit would have to be raised considerably above the present limit of $85,000,000,000.

The debt now is $31,554,945,438. Morgenthau said the present government-borrowing program necessitated by defense preparations was "so huge, so immense" that the federal debt would increase even more rapidly, particularly if the treasury carries through a plan now under study to do all the borrowing for all federal agencies.

Morgenthau said the treasury was studying a plan whereby individual government agencies would borrow from the treasury instead of going into the open money market for loans. He cited as a specific example $12,000,000 in United States housing authority securities which come due next month.

GARRETT STRIKE PARALYZES LINE

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 15 (AP)—A strike of union truck drivers of the Garrett Freight Lines, Inc., continued today, paralyzing operations of the firm in Utah, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, California and Nevada.

Fifty APL drivers were called off their jobs Tuesday in protest to discharge of a driver without consultation with the union. The company contended the driver was fired because he drove a loaded truck north from Salt Lake City when he actually had been ordered to take it south.

The walkout here caused the company to suspend operations at other points along its lines. A lengthy conference here last night with union leaders broke up without an agreement being reached. Perishable goods in company warehouses and on trucks and trailers remained undelivered.

A second truck drivers' strike—at three wholesale grocery houses here—also continued with little promise of settlement. This was called last week after the union charged the company's desire to negotiate on a new contract. Deliveries of goods from—grocery stores—were being made in limited quantities of non-company trucks.

Midnight Snacks

In Ecuador and Colombia, cheese balls and chocolate form the basis of most midnight snacks. A ball of hard white cheese is broken into a cup of chocolate, made from hot water and a cocoa sugar ball, and the combination is eaten with a spoon.

Unless defense production interferes, car deliveries in 1941 should exceed by 250,000 the 3,285,000 cars sold last year to establish a 12-year record.

No Hard-Tack — Spike Biter Disappointed

BOISE, Oct. 15 (AP)—Lack of hard-tack in U. S. army rations proved a disappointment to Private Harry D. Marshall of Gowen field air base because he had hoped it would keep him in trim to resume his civilian profession when the present emergency is over.

Marshall is a professional spike-biter-in-two.

He bit through his first 60-penny nail at the age of 13 after watching a performance at a carnival. He can now clamp his teeth around a nail and snap it in 20 seconds but the first nail-eating experience took him two hours.

Marshall earned his living for six years before entering the army by gumming spikes in carnival shows all over the country.

He used the technique in which the spike was driven about one inch into a board, covered with a handkerchief and then bit over.

Marshall explained that friction created by bending the spike with his teeth "would soon break it."

Incidentally, the mess sergeant reported that Marshall never complains about army steak being too tough to chew.

'40 SUGAR CROP SETS NEW MARK

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 15 (AP)—The 1940 sugar beet crop was worth about $17,000,000 to Intermountain growers, experts estimated today as major firms announced that final payments for the crop would begin.

While the 1940 crop was the most valuable in several years, it was expected to be exceeded in worth by the 1941 crop now being processed. Preliminary payments on the new crop will start Nov. 15 in most areas, when checks totaling $8,000,000 to $9,000,000 will be distributed.

The Utah-Idaho Sugar company said its final 1940 checks in Utah and Idaho would be mailed next week. It will send $214,176 to Utah growers and $151,590 to Idaho growers, in addition to thousands of dollars to growers in Montana, South Dakota and Washington.

Similar payments will be made at the same time by the Amalgamated Sugar company of Ogden, the Layton Sugar company of Layton and the Franklin County Sugar company of Preston, Ida.

GENERAL MOTORS SUIT DEFENDANT

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (AP)—An automobile dealer today sued General Motors corporation and General Motors Acceptance corporation for $2,517,000 damages under the Sherman anti-trust act.

The suit, filed in the name of Fred F. Emich, the Emich Motors Corp., and the U. S. Acceptance Corp., asked $259,000 damages, charging Emich had been put out of business as an automobile dealer and finance agent because he refused to give all his business to the defendant corporations.

TWIN FALLS AUTO IN ROAD MISHAP

JEROME, Oct. 15 (Special)—A car operated by a Twin Falls woman, Mrs. D. P. Groves, and a truck driven by a Boise man were considerably damaged near here yesterday afternoon as they sideswiped on highway 87.

Mrs. Groves, as well as three women occupants of her machine, all escaped injury as did Edward B. Chapman, driver of the truck.

According to investigating police, Mrs. Groves attempted to make a right turn into a side road as she was followed by the truck. The truck, unable to pass or stop, also turned right and the crash resulted.

Damages to both machines came to an estimated $100.

AFL WILL VOTE ON AID-TO-RUSSIA PROPOSAL TODAY

BROWNE TOSSED OUT AS LABOR'S VICE PRESIDENT

By WILLIS S. DUNNWAY
 SEATTLE, Oct. 15 (AP)—Ad to be elected today by the first annual convention of the American Federation of Labor as it drove toward final adjournment.

Bulk of the convention's business was of the way. Only a number of resolutions remained. Including proposal of the executive council the federation approves aid to the Soviet Union without any pretense the United States and Russia are or ever can be friends.

President William Green and 13 vice-presidents had been re-elected. Next year's convention was awarded to Toronto after withdrawal of invitations by Boston and Minneapolis.

Reverse Defeated
 Only one unopposed contest arose in the election of officers: George E. Browne, president of the International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, was nominated for reelection as a vice-president. He was defeated, 7244 to 431 by Edward Flinn, Buffalo, N. Y., after the convention heard a call for unions to take "prompt and decisive action" to remove racketeers from the ranks. Browne is on trial in New York City on charges of extorting $50,000 from motion picture companies.

The convention last week cut the number of vice-presidents from 15 to 12, intending to eliminate Browne, however by failing to renominate him. His own union nominated him, perversely.

Others Re-elected
 Accepting the convention's call to another year of the leadership he has enjoyed since, Green said he would see to it that the "integrity, honesty and philosophy of the AFL will be preserved."

Re-elected with him to the executive council were these vice-presidents in addition to Flinn: William L. Hutchings, Indianapolis; Matthew Wolf, New York; Joseph N. Weber, Los Angeles; G. M. Bugniaset, Washington; George M. Harrison, Cincinnati; Daniel J. Tobin, Indianapolis; Harry C. Bates, Washington; Edward J. Gilmer, Washington; W. D. Mahon, Detroit; Felix H. Knight, Kansas City; Harvey W. Brown, Washington, and W. C. Birchright, Indianapolis.

George Meany, Washington, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Annual American Royal Stock Show Opens Oct. 18

By CARL LUNDQUIST
 KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 16 (AP)—The stockmen who turn out steaks for a nation of beef eaters are ready to begin a week of trade with Great Britain for teaching them how to raise prime quality cattle.

They will give the first practical demonstration of their appreciation at this year's American Royal livestock show which will be held here from Oct. 18 to 25, and which has adopted an unofficial theme of "Beef for Britain."

Long before the turn of the century, the men of the great southwest led their rangy long horn steers over the hills to the slaughter houses and replaced them with the thickest imported beef breeds from the British Isles. The purebred Shorthorns, Aberdeens, Angus and Hereford cows and bulls soon transformed their herds into "animated gold mines." At the markets they resped, so where they formerly got one and as their "handic bar" cattle gradually were eliminated they put stably into an industry where thousands of them had gone bankrupt annually.

Farm Patriotism Strengthened
 This year, in Britain's days of need, I think the stockmen are ready to help in a most practical manner and they will demonstrate it at the American Royal. Andy M. Paterson, secretary of the exposition, said, "Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard has asked for sweeping increases in the nation's livestock population and record breaking entry lists in all classes at the Royal seem to indicate that the farmers are ready to do their part."

Paterson said that at the show, farmers will assume the role of "rural defense workers" helping in the emergency "as surely as if they were tool and die erectors in tank factories."

"These men are the molders," he said. "They are rebuilding livestock herds which were depopulated by drought and depression in a manner that will provide meat, not only for our millions of husky defense workers, but for the thousands of hungry people in war torn countries. The herds will place our livestock production on the highest standard in its history."

Harry Darby, urbane owner of a boiler works engaged in defense production, and president of the American Royal, said that city and country defense workers would meet at the show on common ground for the first time.

Country and City Linked
 "Together, these men in the city and the exhibitors from the country must realize that they are part and parcel of the same great project, the project of saving democracy," he said. "On the stockman's shoulders rests the gigantic task of feeding not only America's millions, but the herds of Europeans who are facing famine. The American Royal is meeting the challenge of the present crisis as surely as the biggest steel plant."

In conjunction with the Royal, the Future Farmers of America will hold their 14th annual national convention, with more than 12,000 youths from every state and from several territorial possessions. They hold their registration at the Royal itself, but keep in close touch with their ranks through the "Future Farmer" to appear with Royal of fliers in a special program at the show.

Greyhound racing in America began in 1917 with the first mechanical hare appearing in Oklahoma.

TRAINING STARTS FOR ARMS PLANT

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Plans to begin training permanent personnel of the new, multi-million dollar Salt Lake small arms ammunition plant were announced today, coincident with assignment of Lieut. Col. Duncan G. McGregor as ordnance department commanding officer for the plant.

McGregor has been stationed at a similar plant already completed at Denver and has been directing preliminary ordnance work here from Denver. On Nov. 15, he will move to Salt Lake City and be succeeded at Denver by Major Seth Ward.

The employment plans were announced by L. E. Therien, assistant service superintendent of the Remington Arms company that will operate the plant under government contract to turn out 50 caliber rifle and machine gun ammunition.

Therien said application would be taken immediately for 200 to 400 supervisory positions. Successful applicants will be hired soon and sent to the plant at Denver and Kansas City for training, to return here when the Salt Lake plant nears completion and instruct other supervisors and workmen. Therien said the company would endeavor to hire most workers from the Salt Lake area.

DRIVING ENERGY ABETS HEADACHE

CHICAGO (AP)—The "kick headache" of one mankind's commonest ills, stems from the hard-driving, perfectionist personality and can best be relieved by relaxation, according to a study of the ailment by Dr. Harold G. Wolff, a neurologist.

Writing in the Archives of Neurology, Dr. Ward said a recent investigation of patients suffering from migraine or sick headache showed that treatment through almost any form of relaxation relieved attacks from one every two weeks to at few as three or four a year.

The reason why games, short holidays, literature, music or love-making relieves sick headaches, Dr. Ward said, is that migraine literally is an outgrowth of personality—the nervous, ambitious and energetic type.

He found that a number of his patients overcome their susceptibility to attacks by changing their lives to the greatest extent possible that others preferred headaches to changing their ways.

In an analysis of the "perfectionist" personality subject to migraines, Dr. Ward found:

- 1—The tendency to drive on to a goal, once one had been set.
- 2—Extreme susceptibility to attacks if interrupted with.
- 3—Frequent shuffling of pieces with tense facial expression, narrowed forehead, quick-moving eyes and uneasy laughter.
- 4—Inclination to repeat routine acts frequently to be sure they were done. A business executive "will perform many of his tasks in three, including tiding of his tie, combing his hair and turning the pages of a book."

Explaining the physiological reasons for migraines, Dr. Ward said the pressure of a driving personality tends to increase blood vessel diameter and contract muscles of the neck and scalp, affecting the arteries of the head in both cases and causing the headache.

Collegiate Spirit Marks O. A. O. Dance

Homecoming for the O.A.O. Dancing club last night was a gala "open" for a series of six dances this season. Dancers paused while the Twin Falls high school Pep band, "surprise" entertainers, played gridiron and varsity favorites. Inset, left, are Max Gray, and Mrs. Kenyon Green.

In genial mood. Right, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Adams, Jr., enjoy a joke being told by one of the guests. Mrs. Green is chairman of the board of governors this year, and Mr. and Mrs. Adams were chairmen of last night's dance. (Times Photo-Montage and Engraving)

Pep Band Plays During Homecoming for O. A. O.

As exciting as "big game" night on a college campus, was the football special dance last evening at the American Legion Memorial hall, first dance of the season for the O.A.O. Dancing Club.

O.A.O. Homecoming was proclaimed by a large banner hung above the orchestra platform, which was marked by blue and white-wrapped goal posts.

Guests were greeted by the host committee, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Adams, Jr., chairman, and Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Stowe, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Max L. Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Cannon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Read and Mr. and Mrs. Ascher B. Wilson were hosts at a large supper party preceding the dance. First course was served at the Read home, 206 Seventh avenue north, and the second at the Wilson home, 708 Shoshone street east.

Guests of the club were Frank Feldman, who is here from California for a visit with his uncle, Aunt Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Robinson, and Miss May Olson and Twin Falls.

At intermission, or in football parlance, "half-time," the pep band of the Twin Falls high school, directed by Bert Christianson, entered the pavilion, encircled the dancers, and played a number of traditional college songs.

Dancers joined in the singing of bars of familiar tunes as the band played, and at the conclusion of the "surprise" feature, formed a "snake dance" as the band "cleared the field."

As another specialty, Will Wright's orchestra played a medley of college Alma Mater songs, and guests whose Alma Mater songs were being played were the only dancers on the ballroom floor at that time.

Legion Auxiliary Offers Chance to Work for Defense

Continued activities in behalf of strengthened national defenses for the United States will be part of the American Legion auxiliary's program during 1941. Mrs. W. W. Thomas, chairman of the national defense committee of Twin Falls unit, has announced the full strength of the auxiliary's membership, now being enrolled for the new year, will be placed behind the national defense program of the Legion, she said.

"Large increases in the defensive forces of the United States are being asked by the Legion to protect the nation's peace and increase its security," Mrs. Thomas stated. "The European war makes this question vital to every American woman and we are inviting all eligible women to come into the auxiliary where they can give active support to the Legion's program."

"For many years, during which our nation's defenses were neglected, the Legion and auxiliary were almost alone in urging the need for more adequate armed protection. We are going forward during the coming year to make sure that our country is adequately defended against the increasing dangers. We want defenses strong enough to discourage aggressions that lead to war. We want America to be strong enough to meet any unfettered invasion before it arrives and turn it back so that our homes and families will be safe. Fire Departments Of Utah Studied

CAREY, Oct. 16 (Special)—Mrs. Lullie Condie was hostess to the Boise county camp of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers at her home on the Hot Springs ranch near Carey Monday, Mrs. James Baird, president, presided and Miss T. O. Parks gave the lesson on fire departments of Utah.

In speaking of the early history of these fire departments, Mrs. Parks said that all fire fighting was done by volunteer fire fighters. An order for leather buckets was placed by the early Salt Lake City fathers and several ladders were ordered to be made.

A hand-made fire wagon was made at a cost of about $600, she said, and it was drawn by man power and its water pump was pumped by hand. This crude device was in use in Salt Lake City for about 30 years and about the only change in the fire departments during that time was that the leather buckets were replaced by copper ones.

She stated that the fire fighters were paid after some years, 25 cents an hour for the time they spent at fires and when this pay was raised to 50 cents per hour, the city fathers thought it more economical to hire men at steady pay and hours.

The fire chief was paid $200 per year and his helpers were paid according to 30 years and about the only change in the fire departments during that time was that the leather buckets were replaced by copper ones.
