53,000 IDLE AS CAPTIVE COAL MINES CLOSE

SEN. THOMAS FINDS ARMY SKI BASE PLANS STILL VERY INDEFINITE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (Special) — Sen. John Thomas has been endeavoring to obtain some definite information from the war department about the proposed training of ski troops at Henry's lake, Idaho, a few miles west of Yellowstone park, but to date has not been successful. First program was for a contingent of 30,000 troops to cost an estimated $15,000,000. Then the army changed its plans; authorized the formation of a regiment at Fort Lewis, Wash., with the explanation that these troops would be sent to Henry's lake for training. Meanwhile, however, the statement is made that the ski troops will train on the slopes of Mt. Rainier and later possibly at Mt. Baker, Wash.

But architects and draftsmen are busy plotting out the camp for 30,000 troops. The plan is to build the same work as is being done at Medford and Corvallis, Ore., and in other localities where the army has been discussing of cantonment locations. The army is making preparations for what may come what many Washington observers say will come, and that is congressional authority to increase the army and an appropriation to provide the cantonments.

If, as is hinted, the army is increased to two or three million men, or more, instructions will be given to start work on Henry's lake, recruit the mountain division and equip it.

Army is hoping for a great increase but has hesitated to submit plans to congress. These plans will be unfounded when the war situation becomes more critical and the people approve of a large army. For months the quartermaster department has been anticipating the increase and has been contracting uniforms, shoes, hats, etc., for 10 million men.

UNIONS SHUT UP PITS IN DEFIANCE OF FDR REQUEST

By FRED BAILEY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP) — All but one of the captive mines which supply the nation's steel mills with coal were closed today by a strike of the United Mine Workers who walked out in defiance of President Roosevelt's demand that the coal must be mined without interruption.

Reports from the captive mine zones — in Pennsylvania, Alabama, West Virginia, Illinois and Kentucky — showed that two mines in operation and all but about 800 of the 53,000 miners — 95 per cent of whom are members of the CIO mine union — were idle.

Picket lines were formed before some of the mines in Pennsylvania and in Harlan county, Ky. In the Birmingham area and in West Virginia, the miners merely stayed away. There was no report of violence and the only indication of rebellion by the miners to John L. Lewis' order not to open the mines was at the Rosedale mine of the Holloman Coal Corp. near Johnstown, Pa. There more than half of the 500 men scheduled to report on the first day shift marched through a picket line to work. This was the mine that refused to heed Lewis' strike call last month.

Mine is Open
A Jones and Laughlin Steel company mine, already working under a union shop contract, was in operation at Boldwin in Green county, Penn. It employs about 500 men. Other J. & L. mines under union shop agreements were closed, however, the miners engaging in a sympathy walkout.

President Roosevelt made no threat to use the army in the coal fields. Many of his closest advisers are against it. None has indicated yet how the government would operate the mines if it seized them. Mr. Roosevelt conferred Saturday, however, with Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Maj. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, commander of the seventh corps area of Birmingham. At the heart of the "captive" mine fields.

As Searchers Seek Body of Drowned Sportsman

Scenes on the Snake river in Hagerman valley are shown (top and right) as searchers looked for the body of A. J. (Art) Peavey, Jr., 36, prominent Twin Falls and Carey sheepman, who drowned yesterday morning. Directly above, Mr. Peavey, in the top photo, taken at the scene of the search this morning. State Policeman V. K. Barron is shown far out in the river on the rock where the body was found. Peavey was operating, Barron, clad only in shorts and a life preserver, braved the bitterly cold water to tie a rope on the boat and get it off the rock so it could be brought back to shore. Other volunteers are shown helping the rope. At the right volunteers watch as workmen lower the nearly dead gates in an effort to reduce flow of water where search for the body was centering. Art Peavey Drowns In Snake River; 75 Men Hunt for Body

Braving the bitter cold winds of a late fall day, an estimated 75 volunteers this afternoon continued search for the body of A. J. (Art) Peavey, Jr., 36, prominent local and Carey sheepman who drowned Sunday morning in the Snake river at a point just below the trestle bridge in Hagerman valley. The searchers found the going extremely difficult as they used long poles, ropes and grappling hooks in their quest. Use of boats was impossible in the section where the search is centering.

VESSEL SAILING FALSE COLORS IS HELD BY CRUISER

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP) — A United States navy prize crew is bringing to an unnamed Atlantic port today a captured axis merchant vessel caught sailing under United States colors in the equatorial Atlantic.

The navy announced its capture last night. Although a United States cruiser — unidentified — seized the Axis merchant ship on Nov. 6, the navy made public only the barest details. Where she was bound and from what port, the nationality of her crew and whether she was an armed raider or a blockade runner seeking momentary safety behind the United States flag — these were the questions the navy left unanswered.

Owned by "Subjects" — The navy department announced that the seized vessel, was "owned by subjects of one of the Axis powers" indicated it belonged to Italians or Japanese rather than Germans. The word "subjects" suggested she operated as a national of a state headed by a king or emperor. Suspicious despite the American flag astern and the pointed license on the sides and deck of the vessel, officers of the patrolling cruiser ordered her to heave-to.

While a boarding party was moving over in a small boat to examine her papers, she hoisted distress signals, her crew piled into life rafts and two explosions sounded within her hull. The Americans prevented the ship sinking. Badly damaged, she is coming to port now to be turned over to a United States marshal and charged with sailing under false colors — her crew, presumably was picked up.

Second Prize
The mystery ship is the second prize known to have fallen to the navy despite shattering contacts with an Atlantic enemy which blasted away the side of the destroyer Kearny and blew the destroyer Reuben James to the bottom with torpedo hits. First became known on Oct. 11 with announcement that "a U. S. naval vessel" had seized a Nazi-operated radio station in Greenland, and had captured a supply steamer and Norwegian personnel numbering 23, including a woman. Those prisoners are in Boston.

Three-Point Plan Set to Avoid Fight

By ROBERT BELLAIRE

TOKYO, Nov. 17 (UP) — Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo charged today the United States and associated powers have launched an economic blockade against Japan only a step short of armed warfare but insisted peace might still be saved in the Pacific if three Japanese demands are met.

Tojo addressed an extraordinary joint session of both houses of parliament. He expressed frank hopes German-Italian-Japanese plans for "a new world order based on justice" could be achieved.

Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo placed a "limit" — which he did not define — upon Japan's "conciliatory attitude."

Tojo asserted the government, "anticipating obstacles to our path" has taken all preparations "to assure the empire's existence." The three-point program he laid down as a basis for Pacific peace was as follows:

1. — End all interference.
2. — "That Japan's power" refrain from measures which menace Japan in a military manner, withdraw their economic blockade and resume normal relations.
3. — That utmost efforts be made to prevent the extension of the European war and "disturbances" to the far east.

Tojo did not state what measures Japan is prepared to take under the third point of his proposal in return for acceptance of his first two points — a free hand in China and withdrawal of the economic and military measures undertaken by the so-called "A-B-C-D powers" (America, Britain, China, Dutch East Indies).

He said, however, Japan persists in her hope that peace can be secured by diplomatic means.

LATE FLASHES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP) — The navy department disclosed today that the disguised ship which was seized by a U. S. cruiser was a German merchant craft on her way from Yokohama to Bordeaux with a cargo of over 3,000 tons of raw rubber and American automobile tires.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17 (UP) — The five-state captive coal mine strike was marked by violence on the picket line in West Virginia today as the walkout spread to commercial operations and scattered groups of militant miners went to work in defiance of John L. Lewis' call.

Pickets clashed with miners returning to work at four mines of the U. S. Coal and Coke Co. in Clary, W. Va., and the possibility of violence in Pennsylvania was seen as a CIO organizer's warning that mass picketing would be resorted to in Fayette county probably tomorrow if captive mines attempt to remain open.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP) — President Roosevelt today asked congress for a supplemental appropriation of $6,687,320,046 for the war department.

The president also requested a new $30,050,000 appropriation for the navy, including $120,000,000 for defense installations on merchant ships.

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Nov. 17 (UP) — United States naval and air forces were believed to be searching in the Pacific for an axis raider today following an attack on the Japanese freighter Olga Topic, which was feared lost.

MUNICIPAL GROUP SHIFTS TO BOISE

The district Idaho Municipal League session set for Twin Falls tomorrow has been cancelled and either will be held in Boise tomorrow afternoon, Mayor Joe Koehler announced.

Koehler made the announcement following a telephone conversation with Mayor H. Westerman Whitlock, Boise. Because the OPM defines special train will be in Boise Tuesday it was decided to hold the session there, the mayor explained, thus giving the members of the various communities the opportunity to visit the train in the morning and to confer regarding their own problems in the afternoon.

The afternoon session in Boise will probably be held at the Owyhee hotel, Mayor Koehler said. He urged all mayors of surrounding communities who were planning on attending the session in Twin Falls to go to Boise instead, visiting the defense train in the morning and attending the league's sessions in the afternoon.

All Kinds of Toys in First Jaycee Pickup

Twin Falls' initial Christmas toy drive which will provide playthings for needy local youngsters on Dec. 25 was completed today and had been termed "entirely successful" by C. A. (Bud) Buffington, general chairman in charge of Junior Chamber of Commerce toy activities.

The drive, held yesterday afternoon, was under the direction of Roy Babel.

Approximately 30 Boy Scouts donated their time during the collection period and manned the two trucks in service starting at noon from the city park. Practically every street in the city was covered and the toys left on front porches, were collected and returned to the fire station.

This morning the firemen started the task of repairing the donated toys which will be distributed Christmas eve.

All types of toys were found in the collection made yesterday and firemen said that many of them needed only a coat of paint to "put them in tip-top shape."

It is anticipated that additional drives, although of a different nature, will be held to obtain more toys but type of drive and dates have not yet been announced.

SOLONS DEMAND CLAMP ON LABOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (U.P.)—Acting Chairman E. E. Cox, D. Co., said today that the house rules committee may "put the lid on" all other legislation until congress has had an opportunity to act on bills dealing with "this mutiny and insurrection in the ranks of labor."

Cox made his new demand for anti-strike legislation as the committee started consideration of the price control bill recently approved by the banking committee.

Rep. Martin Dies, D. Tex., endorsed Cox's statement.

"The committee might determine to put on the lid and keep it on until we get action," Cox told Chairman Henry B. Steagall, D. Ala., of the banking committee.

Cox charged the President was not going to give a "go sign" for defense labor legislation and that "congress would proceed to adopt a just, fair and reasonable law, send it to the President and see what he does with it."

"If this mutiny and insurrection in the ranks of labor against national defense is to be dealt with at all, congress must make the first move—as is their responsibility," Cox said.

Cox said: "For myself, I am unwilling to wait any longer and no matter what disposition is made of the pending quarrel between the President and John Lewis, congress should do its duty."

GUARDIANS CHART CAMP FIRE PLANS

Concluding a series of Camp Fire-sponsored meetings last week, with Miss Edna DeMota, associate field secretary of Camp Fire Girls, Inc. in attendance, was the training course Saturday morning at Washington school auditorium.

Camp Fire guardians from Twin Falls, Buhl, Piler, Kimberly and Jerome attended the course of instruction and round table discussion, and a luncheon which followed at the home of Mrs. Fred Beer at noon.

Leaves for Burley
Miss DeMota left Saturday afternoon for Burley where she was entertained by Camp Fire officials under the direction of Mrs. L. V. Morgan, former Twin Falls resident. Later she went to Pocatello where she was entertained by the Twin Falls Camp Fire association on its fine work and successful planning.

Plans for a Horizon club, to be directed by Miss Rickett, and a Camp Fire group, to be led by Miss Mudding, were planned by Kimberly representatives Saturday morning.

A "V for Victory" party last week at the Herriott building, plans were made for the formation of a Horizon club in Twin Falls with Mrs. Larry Sweetman as leader. Organization meeting will be held on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Sweetman in the State apartments.

Friday afternoon, Miss DeMota addressed the mothers prior to a council fire session, telling them ways in which they might help girls earn Camp Fire honors. One hundred and twenty-five Camp Fire Girls and 30 Blue Bird Girls in uniform, and members of the Netoppe group of Piler attended the council fire meeting which followed.

Badges Awarded
Donut badges were awarded by Miss DeMota to the following girls: Joan Gardner for the highest individual sales; Arlene Barry, Justine Gasser, Violet West, Mary Jean Deagle, Ruth Van Engelen, Marilyn Grant, Barbara Brooks, Phyllis Burkhalter, Elvora Martins, Jeanne Saxton and Dorothy Gibbs.

Mrs. Arthur Bockwitz, whose group sold the most donuts, 256 dozen, during the drive, also received an award.

A committee headed by Mrs. H. G. Hayes served tea following the council fire.

AAA CONVENTION MEETS TUESDAY

With choice of the gathering place to be made by tonight, the Twin Falls county AAA convention Tuesday will select officers to head the farm program in this section for the coming year.

Even official delegates will be on hand for the convention. They will select or replace the present incumbents—Walter Reese, Castleford chairman; Kenyon Green, Twin Falls, vice-chairman, and L. E. Wilson, Hansen.

Pull discussion of the 1942 program and the intensive "food-for-defense" plans will be a highlight of Tuesday's gathering. Similar county conventions are being held, although not on the same day, throughout Magic Valley.

THIEVES

There were chicken thieves there all right but they were not the kind anticipated.

At 2:30 a. m. today Sheriff W. W. Lowery called the police station to ask officers to go to the Jim Johnston farm just south of the city. Johnston had reported chicken thieves active, Lowery said. Lowery asked police help because he had just returned from a search for the body of a local man drowned in that vicinity.

Police went to the Johnston farm. They returned and made the following report as regards the chicken thieves:

"Two dogs killing chickens."

LAST HONOR PAID TO MRS. H. SHIRK

Mrs. H. Shirk, Piler, was paid final tribute Saturday afternoon at the Reynolds funeral home chapel. Her son, Rev. Harry M. Shirk, and Rev. P. S. Kasey, both of Piler, officiated.

A mixed quartet, Mrs. F. C. Anderson, Mrs. P. S. Kasey, E. H. Furel and A. W. Barabert, accompanied by Miss Eva Metcalf, sang "The Eastern Gate," "Face to Face" and "The Peaceful White City."

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Twin Falls mortuary chapel, Rev. Mark C. Cronenberg officiating.

Interment will be in Sunset memorial park.

Local Carpenter Called by Death

Efforts were being made today to locate two daughters, living elsewhere. The body rests at the White mortuary, pending funeral arrangements.

It was indicated that Mr. Larson had been suffering from influenza. When a deputy sheriff was called by acquaintances in effort to convince the sick man that he should go to the hospital, the officer found him dead.

Failure of Italian Navy Units In Mediterranean Hurts Axis

By LOUIS F. KEEBLE
Of the United Press War Desk
In the midst of the struggle in the know of Russia, Adolf Hitler's diplomats appear to be working at both ends of the Mediterranean on some long range plan designed to overcome British control of the sea and the inland highway to the east.

What is going on in Italy is closely veiled by censorship, but from what has leaked out through private sources, something important is developing. There is no doubt Hitler is dissatisfied with the poor showing of the Italian navy and air force in keeping the supply routes open to north Africa.

The current activity in Italy is linked with this situation. It is known for a certainty that the talks are linked with a "crisis" "collaboration" between Germany and France. Such "collaboration" would mean only one thing—any benefits France gets out of it, such as release of war prisoners and softening of the staggering occupation payments, would be balanced by heavy concessions on the part of France.

Weygand Firm
What these concessions might be is not known, but the presence of Gen. Maxime Weygand, French marshal, is suggestive. Weygand is from a house that altered the status of the colonies and the units of the French fleet sheltered there.

The Mediterranean situation being what it is, Hitler undoubtedly would like freedom of movement in French Africa and the use of the French fleet to pull Italy out of the hole. The latter is the one concession which aged Marshal Henri Pétain would be the most reluctant to make and it might take considerable pressure, or his demotion in favor of such "collaborators" as Pierre Laval.

Removal of Weygand from control of the French fleet would be the first step in such a plan.

FOOD INDUSTRIES GROUP SELECTED

BOISE, Nov. 17 (Special)—Frank B. Wilson, of Boise, state secretary of the Idaho Association of Retail Food Distributors, today was named chairman of the Idaho state food industries committee, and six men from all sections of the state were appointed on an executive committee to assist him in supervising the federal food stamp plan.

William F. Walker, area supervisor, and Ray B. Schwartz, field representative, Boise, of the surplus marketing administration, bureau of the U. S. department of agriculture, made the announcement today when word was received from Washington.

Executive committee members are J. D. Armstrong, Idaho Falls, president, Idaho Association of Retail Food Distributors; Harry Vogel, Twin Falls, an executive of the state association and a south central leader; E. "Buck" Bivens, Boise; Ray A. Walshaw, Lewiston; Fred Griggs, St. Anthony; James E. McCall, Pocatello. Selected to serve with these men are the 44 county surplus food committee chairmen who helped set up the stamp plan on a statewide basis.

The naming of Wilson and his grocer committee is closely linked with the national food-for-freedom campaign, food production drive, which in comes the state are now launching. As front-line salesmen for the farmers, Idaho food retailers play an important part in the nation's total defense effort.

HUGE SHORTAGES LOOM IN METALS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (U.S.)—The defense and lend-lease programs face a copper shortage this month of almost 22,000 tons and shortage of other metals are anticipated for the remainder of this year and next, the OPM revealed today.

The OPM said that copper demand this month for direct military and lend-lease use totals 150,000 tons in comparison to the supply of only 128,100 tons. The OPM said that the copper shortage may be alleviated by conservation measures and rationing of scrap. Many civilian uses of copper already have been banned.

Some copper, the OPM said, can be saved in 1943 by substituting steel for brass in cartridge cases and bullet jackets.

The OPM gave the following thumbnail supply and demand picture for other critical metals:

Nickel—shortage of from 500,000 to 1,000,000 pounds during December.

Chrome—supplies currently equal to demand but supplies likely to be cut by one-third if African, Turkish or Philippine trade routes were severed.

Tungsten—supply equalling demand but there will be a 2,000-ton shortage next year.

Molybdenum—3,000,000-pound shortage in 1942.

Tin, lead and manganese—substantial supplies on hand but conservation measures necessary.

Scouts Perform For Buhl L. D. S.

BUHL, Nov. 17 (Special)—An invective Scout demonstration was given Wednesday evening at the regular M.L.A. meeting at the L.D.S. church under the direction of scoutmaster Earl Walker and two patrol leaders, Wade Quigley and Edgar Eldridge.

The demonstration included the advance of colors, flag pledge and Scout pledge as introductory numbers. A rope tying contest was given in which the participants were blindfolded while tying the intricate rope knots. The leaders explained the types of knots and their uses and announced Loyal Woodland as the winner competing with Rex Bannely.

The two patrol leaders assisted by members of the Scout troops demonstrated first aid methods used in rescuing persons injured or drowning.

The flag salute and Scout pledge was exhibited by Wade and Mickey Quigley. Harry Wilson, Jr., related the history of the American flag and Carl Hutchinson discussed the "proper respect to the flag."

The two troops dramatized an evening at camp realistically portraying conditions necessary in extinguishing camp fires, especially those which endangered their tent quarters, as the closing number on the program.

Correspondent Tells of Last Hours of Carrier, Ark Royal

(Editor's note: Arthur Thorpe, British newspaper man and correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph agency, was aboard the British aircraft carrier, Ark Royal, when she was torpedoed in the Mediterranean. He tells the story of the last hours of the Ark Royal in the following dispatch.)

By ARTHUR THORPE

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 17 (U.S.)—We realized she was finished. She topped over like a tired child. Her stern reared up a moment and then gently slid beneath the waves.

Thus, an officer described today the final moments of the Ark Royal, the 22,000-ton British aircraft carrier which vanished beneath the Mediterranean 25 miles east of Gibraltar at 6:30 a. m. yesterday, fatally damaged by a torpedo fired from an Italian submarine.

To the nearly 1,500 officers and men of the Ark Royal, her death was still a nightmare. They could hardly realize their ship was gone.

Believed in "Chained Life"

So many times had they seen the great ship slip safely through great perils and so many times had they heard false claims of her sinking, they believed she bore a charmed life.

Many of us were near tears when we heard that after a struggle of nearly 12 hours against the gaping hole amidships she finally had sunk. The captain and senior officers of the engineering staff remained aboard during that heroic 12-hour fight to bring her to Gibraltar.

At 4:30 a. m. Friday Capt. L. E. M. Maund realized she could not be saved and ordered her abandoned.

Two hours later the Ark Royal plunged.

I was in my cabin washing up before tea when the torpedo hit amidships on the starboard side. There was a sudden shuddering crash and the lights went out. I was flung against the wall. For fully a minute the ship shuddered. I knew we were torpedoed. Grabbing a lifebelt I ran out along the passageway in the dim light.

File up Ladder

I saw officers and ratings filing up the ladder leading to the upper deck. Often I have heard of the coolness of men in a crisis. These men were as calm as though they were going down the gangway at Gibraltar. "Dammed hard luck on the old lady, sir," one rating said.

Those on the ark were waving and cracking jokes with the others already safe.

Toward the bow of the ship I saw men in rubber boats and one or two men swimming in the water. Whale boats launched from the ship were already picking them up. The captain and certain senior officers and engineer officers and a strong body of men aboard the Ark Royal. As we were ordered away we could hear repeated dull booms of the depth charges as destroyers searched for the Ark Royal's assailant.

The destroyers were now circling around the stricken carrier to prevent any new attack. Not until darkness hid the ship did any of the officers and men on the Ark Royal or the destroyer seek warmth below decks from the biting wind.

Beaver of Western States Help in Defense Program

By JAY ROSENBERG

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 17 (U.S.)—Nearly a half-million members of the rat family living in the western states have become a part of an army of workers to supply defense needs.

Fish and game authorities in Idaho, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming and Utah have planned a meeting sometime during this winter to organize their work with a furry little animal with a spatula tail—the beaver.

Mark Anderson, head of the fish and game department in Utah, said that the beaver had unwittingly become an important part in the defense program in the west.

A few years back, he said today, wildlife authorities began recognizing the need for conservation. They started transplanting beaver from farm lands where they were doing considerable damage along irrigation canals to the higher areas where the beaver built their dams of sticks and stones and aided in keeping water from running off during spring.

The conservation program that the beavers played so prominent a role in has made it possible for hundreds of more acres of land to be developed—and for farmers to get better yields per acre—just because the tiny little rodents dam and prevent water from rushing to the ocean or desert sinks.

Anderson said the beaver control work had become so extensive that it was found necessary to get all of the western states together to organize a coordinated program.

Utah alone had about 10,000 beaver at work when a survey was taken recently under the federal Pittman-Robertson wildlife conservation act. Idaho had about 50,000, while Montana, Colorado and Wyoming had about 20,000 each.

The Utah wildlife department

That was the tenor of the conversation, so when I arrived on the quarter deck to find a score of officers pumping up lifeboats. The ark was listing alarmingly to starboard with white waves bowing past, ominously stained with dark brown oil. The fuel in the engines was still driving us forward but every minute the deck sank increased until it was difficult to stand upright.

Suddenly the vibrations of the engines beneath our feet died away. They restarted for a moment, then stopped. We glided on for another and then through the loudspeaker above came: "Everybody to port-side." Almost before we could move again came: "Prepare to abandon ship."

Crowd on Decks

Crowded the decks were hundreds of the ship's crew, some in overalls and some in underwear. Ropes began to snake down from the flight deck and cork rafts splashed into the sea.

Then a destroyer pulled alongside. An officer ordered the men to form in line four deep. Soon a destroyer came close under our rails. Ropes were hung up from her and we were caught and fastened.

"First men over," ordered the officer. Like monkeys the men began to slip down onto the destroyer's forcible head. I walked forward and found a clear space. In it, I slipped down 15 feet of rope to the destroyer. From there I saw a scene I will never forget. From the flight deck 60 feet above us, the boat deck and the weather snaked men were swimming down the ropes, dressed in all kinds of clothes, many of them half naked.

Crack Jokes

Those on the ark were waving and cracking jokes with the others already safe.

Toward the bow of the ship I saw men in rubber boats and one or two men swimming in the water. Whale boats launched from the ship were already picking them up. The captain and certain senior officers and engineer officers and a strong body of men aboard the Ark Royal. Questioners were especially interested in the length of the White House discussion, which caused a belief that there had been some discussion of the diplomatic situation.

A. PEAVEY, 36, DROWNS IN RIVER

The boat, which had overturned, was following him.

Also hearing the call for help were Bill Barnett and Harold Stearley, both of Twin Falls, who had been hunting nearby. They too ran to the aid but it was too late.

Brown expressed the opinion that the motor on Peavey's boat had fallen just above the dam because he recalled that just before the man jumped into the river he was struggling with his oars. In jumping, he apparently thought that it would be possible to swim to safety but the rough water at that point took him under.

The boat went downstream a short distance and washed against a rock formation where it lodged.

By means of a long rope, Barron and other volunteers were able to get enough the swirling waters to the boat. The water could be told from the rock holding it. It was brought back to shore. Roughness with deep holes in the river bottom and the area is home-combed with screens so the body would not get by that point.

The accident occurred when Williamson slowed while a car ahead was turning right. The driver who turned after signaling was B. Noel Bailey, Curry school district trustee who was going into his own driveway. Another machine directly behind Mr. Bailey continued ahead without mishap.

All four autos in the traffic "stunt" were going east at the time of the mishap, Deputy Hall said. Riding with Williamson were his wife and his brother, Max. TEXAS, STANFORD TEAMS OUT OF RUNNING

Missouri and Minnesota Near Titles

By JACK GUENTHER
NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—That unauthorized Rose bowl bid Stanford's Indians extended to Texas two weeks ago was just an embarrassing memory for both parties today with only five unbeaten teams surviving in generally full football week-end which all but settled five conference championships.

While Texas A. & M., Minnesota and Missouri assured themselves of not less than ties in the Southwest Big 10 and Big Six races, and Duke and Oregon State closed in for the kill in the Southern and Pacific conferences, all the Indians and Texas could show were the reverse ends of upsets and red faces.

Stanford bowed to Washington State, 14-13, dropped into a triple tie in its league and—unless Oregon defeats Oregon State Nov. 20—lost all chance for the sectional crown and Pasadena invitation. Texas blew its bowl opportunities and the southwest crown by losing to Texas Christian, 14-7.

Ex-Rose-Bowl-Bound Indians Bow to Cougars

Throwing the Coast conference back into the champion-less chaos from which it emerged only recently, the Stanford Indians dropped their second-place game Saturday to the determined, smoothly-clicking Washington State Cougars by a score of 14-13. Here Billy Sewell, W. S. C. ace half, is stopped, after a 3 yard gain, by Ed Stamm, Indian half.

Longhorns Can't Win
The Longhorns, now defeated and tied, no longer can salvage the Southwest title because Texas A. & M. all but wrapped it up with a 19-6 conquest of Rice which kept the Aggies in the thinning ranks of the unbeaten schools.

Stanford's bow to Washington State, 14-13, dropped into a triple tie in its league and—unless Oregon defeats Oregon State Nov. 20—lost all chance for the sectional crown and Pasadena invitation. Texas blew its bowl opportunities and the southwest crown by losing to Texas Christian, 14-7.

Oregon State, Washington Move up in Coastal Race

Bid for Rose Bowl Still Wide Open

By JIM SULLIVAN
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Oregon State, Washington and Stanford led the Pacific Coast conference football scramble today, but there was no clear favorite to win the 1941 round-and-round robin for the western Rose bowl bid.

Washington State college, scourge of bowl-bound teams, did it again Saturday in dumping Stanford, 14-13. It was the fourth time this year the Cougars have knocked off a top-ranking team, yet they ruined their own season with three early losses.

Special Delivery Jones Named 'Player of Week'

By HARRY FERGUSON
NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Monday morning grid-iron: "Player of the week—Special Delivery Jones, Pittsburgh's great back, who in two games, has blossomed into a distinct All-American possibility. A week ago he helped to bring about the upset of Fordham, and on Saturday he broke the hearts of the Nebraska trojans at Lincoln. With only 45 seconds left and the score tied at 7-7, Jones intercepted a pass and ran 65 yards for the winning touchdown.

BYU and Utah Tie for Lead in Big Seven

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 17 (AP)—Figured on the basis of ties counting as a game half won and half lost, or on a straight winning standing, Brigham Young university was tied today with University of Utah for championship of the Big Seven conference.

Games over the week-end left Brigham Young and Utah tied with 1,000 per cent while Colorado, defeated by BYU, went into third place and Denver university in fourth place.

OSG Triumphs

Oregon State took a routine 6-0 win from California to gain a slight edge in the Rose bowl picture, since the Beavers have beaten both Stanford and Washington, the other main contenders. The issue will be at stake Nov. 20 in two "traditional" grudge battles: Stanford-California and Oregon State-Oregon.

Montana spanked Idaho, 16-0, in the annual game between the conference power relations, to decide the cellar. U. C. L. A. beat the Camp Haan soldiers 20-0. Washington and U. C. W. were tied and Oregon State-Oregon.

This Week's Feature
Washington and Oregon meet in this week's feature game. Oregon State plays Montana, U. C. L. A. meets Santa Clara and W. S. C. plays Gonzaga, Stanford and California rest for their "big game." H. Mary's goes east to play Fordham and U. S. C. journeys to North Bend for Notre Dame.

The Santa Clara's displayed a superior running attack and thumped St. Mary's college 25 to 13 before 40,000 persons in their annual "little big game" here yesterday. The passing of Ken Cavanaugh and Ward Heiser of the Broncos was matched by that of Procto Padrota of Modesto, the star (Gale) sophomore, but the Santa Clara's learned on the steam in the second period and were never headed.

The population of Arkansas increased from 1,164,462 in 1930 to 1,949,258 in 1940.

Idahoans Take 16-0 Beating From Grizzlies

MOSCOW, Nov. 17 (Special)—The University of Idaho Vandals couldn't lick Montana Grizzlies here Saturday, so this coming Saturday Coach Francis Schmidt's boys get a crack at another Montana club—Montana State from Bozeman.

The game will be played at Boise and is expected to attract a big crowd in the capital city when south Idaho fans get their first chance to see the Schmidt, razzle-dazzle in action.

However, if it comes up rain and snow as it did last Saturday, the razzle-dazzle won't amount to much. The Idaho club couldn't get along and took a 16-0 lacing from the Grizzlies before a smug crowd of 2,500 fans.

The Montanans scored a touchdown in the first quarter, added another in the second and then got a field goal in the final frame just for extra measure.

Idaho made only one serious threat—marching to the Montana 20 on a series of short passes by Sophomore Howie Maxson—but couldn't get a receiver into the clear for the touchdown.

There's one thing about the 1941-42 basketball season: There'll be more action than ever before on the south central Idaho courts—a good diversion for fans who have commenced to worry about the world situation.

With many schools scheduling over 20 games, there were contests slated nearly every night of the week throughout the area as coaches from some 315 schools met here Saturday afternoon.

While things ran off smoothly in the Class B division of the season, the talk drifted around to football after the basketball question had been settled in the Class A meet, and the result was an old-fashioned squabble that finally resulted in a call for another meeting.

Meet at Jerome
This next session of the Big Seven conference will be held at Jerome on Wednesday, Nov. 26, at Wood's cafe, starting at 8 p. m. A faculty member and coach from each of the Big Seven schools will be requested to be present and the gathering is slated to stay in session until the 1942 football schedule is ironed out—something that was never completed this year.

Also, the Big Seven conference, which has been operating as a loose-knit organization since its formation a few years ago, will be banded into a tight unit with full rules, regulations and by-laws.

"A" Tourney Here
Chose Twin Falls for the district tournament, with Ed Rogel as manager. The Class B meet was returned to Wendell, with Supl. H. A. Doering serving as manager.

Elected to serve on the "A" basketball board with President C. O. Simpson of Oakley and Secretary-Treasurer W. A. McLaughlin of Burley was Supl. Earl Ramsey of Piler. Supl. Jan Hansen of Hagerman was elected secretary of the Class B district and will serve on the tournament board.

At the joint session, Supl. Simpson of Oakley presided. A report was given by Principal Ed Rogel of Twin Falls on the recent state athletic association session, which he attended as a representative from this district.

Buchholts Reports
Supl. J. J. Buchholts, of Glenns Ferry, a member of the state board, also gave a report on the session, and he explained the reason why Twin Falls didn't get the state championship this year was the fact that it was Twin Falls' turn last season—and that this city couldn't possibly get it before 1945. Buchholts also pointed out that the state association is trying to conform more with national association basketball policies and along this line urged cooperation of schools from throughout this area.

Buchholts revealed that the state organization is also considering the possibility of regional tournaments by the time the 1943 season rolls around—thus cutting down the number of teams in the state game tourneys. He also reported that there is a chance some action will be taken to force compulsory insurance on all athletes performing in the high schools of the state.

Receipts pooled. The state athletic association, said Mr. Buchholts, has voted to pool

Declo, Albion To Play for Regional Title
Declo and Albion high schools clash on Wednesday for the south-side Class B championship—but to the winner will go the doubtful pleasure of tackling the Shoshone Indians, one of the toughest grid clubs in the state—but none.

The two south side schools will meet on the Albion field and the battle will be the third time this year the two aggregations have met. Declo won the first encounter, 13-0, while Albion took the second game, 6-0.

The losses were the only ones suffered by the two teams in conference play this year, although Declo has lost to Hagerman from the north side.

THE 5 CROWNS GIVE TOUGHNESS THE AXE

Here's something to try that's quite "perky"—
Serve Seagram's with Thanksgiving turkey.
For we've put that old fox,
Mr. TOUGHNESS, in stocks—
He's the stuff that makes whiskey taste murky.

Our 5 Crown's so smooth, it's polite,
And no one can ever indict
It for harshness, or TOUGHNESS
Or rawness or roughness—
Be sure to say Seagram's—it's light!

Steelers Win 1st Game of Grid Season

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Art Jones yesterday sparked the Pittsburgh Steelers to their first victory of 1941 in the national football league, a 14-7 upset over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Jones, a 30-pound freshman from the Richmond U. circled on a reverse for 24 yards and the winning touchdown in the final period before a crowd of 20,843 at Pittsburgh.

While their two closest rivals were faltering, the New York Giants stormed closer to the eastern title by smashing the Cleveland Rams, 48-16, before 32,740 at the Polo Grounds.

The Chicago Bears, although outgrained for the first time this season, gave the Washington Redskins a 30-17 thrashing to remain half a game behind the Green Bay Packers, western division pacemakers.

A crowd of 15,493 at Green Bay saw the Packers repulse the hard-fighting Chicago Cardinals, 17-9, and retain their half-game margin over the Bears.

Two final period touchdowns passed thrown by Dick Butkus, former Western Reserve star, led Detroit to a 21-17 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles before 16,208 at Detroit.

STUDENTS' PRESS MEET DRAWS 250

More than 250 high school students of high school paper, annual magazine staffs of south central Idaho and their sponsors attended the annual journalism conference for the district, held Saturday at the Haley high school, Sun Valley.

Mrs. Peggy Serpa, Buhl, was secretary and treasurer, and Miss Kay Kenney, Rupert, defeated Miss Margie Tyler, also of Rupert, in a ballot for secretary-treasurer of next year's conference, which is to be held at Gooding, as decided by popular ballot at the general meeting. Gooding is a high school paper editor for next year automatically becomes president of the session. During the day students attended general business meetings, panel discussions, and an evening's entertainment of dancing, following a banquet at Sun Valley.

Hemingway Speaks
Highlight of the day's events was a general panel discussion presided over by the noted author, Ernest Hemingway. He told of adventures and stresses meted out to journalism as a profession, told of its value as background training for writing, and discussed the future of the newspaper and the role of the reporter and editor under possible governmental "meddling." Mr. Hemingway declared that journalism, especially reporting, is "the toughest job in the world." He claimed that a career of journalism is the hardest way in the world to earn a living, and presented facts to show chances of success.

The panel discussion was to determine in what way modern journalism affects the American way of living, and deals with the question: "Is there too much propaganda in the present day newspaper?" "Is there too much sensationalism in the present day newspaper?" "Does modern journalism do its part toward preserving a democracy?" "Does modern journalism do its part toward the betterment of the world?" "Is the American educational leader?" and "How far should censoring of the press go?" Mrs. Hemingway, former foreign correspondent, addressed her views on these topics and spoke especially on journalism as a career for women.

On Panel
Among twenty members of the panel were H. Schofield, Haley; Mr. Redford, Glenn; Perry, Mrs. Merced; J. Paul, Twin Falls; O. Foster, Haley; Clair Perkins, Murtaugh; Miss Louise Matterson, Shoshone; R. A. Hodgson, Haley; Mr. Colley, Ketchum; Miss McDougle, Wendell; and Donald Hunt, Carey. The members of the conference attended a banquet and dancing entertainment at Sun Valley. Program during the banquet included soprano solo by Miss L. Sever: "I Love Life" and "Without a Song." Benny Brooks played saxophone and trumpet solo, and Harry Johnson sang as a baritone solo, "On the Road to Mandalay."

Special speaker of the evening was Neil Regan, newspaper reporter, now publicity man. He told of newspaper experiences, journalism's advantages and disadvantages.

Twin Falls Delegation

BOTT BLASTS AT DEMO EXPENSES

POCAHELLO, Ida., Nov. 17 (UP)—Keynote for the 1942 state Republican campaign had been set today after former Gov. O. A. Hoteloffen assailed expenditures of the present Idaho administration.

In a speech at the annual meeting of Idaho Young Republicans, Hoteloffen described the present administration as "the most extravagant in the state's history." He said state expenses were boosted $1,400,000 for the first year of the present administration "than when the last Republican administration guided the state."

Robert Albright, Boise attorney, also addressed the meeting and appealed for party unity during the present emergency.

The convention approved resolutions charging the use of the national convention, permitting sale of membership cards, and approving appointment of a national committee.

SUGAR GROWERS GET $8,000,000

BAIT LAKE CITY, Nov. 17 (UP)—More than $8,000,000 in sugar beet payments was en route to growers today in Utah, Idaho, South Dakota, Montana and Oregon, representing initial payments by three Utah sugar companies.

Officials of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Beet Association reported checks totaling $8,000,000 had been mailed to growers in four states, Montana, South Dakota, Idaho and Utah.

A total of $2,700,000 was pooled by the Amalgamated company to Oregon, Idaho and Utah growers, while the Layton Sugar company paid out $300,000 to growers in Davis county, Utah.

Growers in Washington will get their first checks next week.

Four Point Plan Advised To Help Military Fitness

Further modernization of laws and regulations governing induction examinations and health care of draftees in service to "eliminate injustices and increase military fitness," has been urged here today by Dr. O. H. Meredith, Nampa.

Dr. Meredith was one of the principal speakers during yesterday's sessions of the mid-year convention of the Idaho Osteopathic association, held at the Rogerston hotel. The conference attracted nearly 80 delegates from all parts of the state. The convention opened Saturday night with a banquet at which Dr. Orval W. Rose, Twin Falls, association president, presided and was speaker. Informal discussion followed the banquet period.

Immediate Need
In his talk Dr. Meredith declared there is immediate need for the following four-point remedial program:

1—Correction of procedures whereby under 15.7 per cent of men passed by draft board physicians are thereafter rejected by army induction center doctors.

2—Rehabilitation of the majority of the 45 per cent of the men being rejected for full military service because of physical or mental unfitness.

3—Provision that men in the army and navy may obtain the benefit of systems and methods of treatment now supplied under the law to civilians, including federal civilian employees.

4—A physical fitness drive, to make health fashionable among the people generally.

Other Speakers
Other speakers heard yesterday during the various sessions included Dr. Rose, Dr. Susan B. Kerr, McColl; Dr. W. S. Warner, Idaho Falls; Dr. Andrew McCauley, Idaho Falls; Dr. E. C. Hilt, Weiser; and Dr. D. W. Hughes, Boise.

Dr. Rose, following a national declaration, said that "if America is to be supreme, all doctors, in respect of their schools of practice or systems of medicine, must cooperatively undertake the Herculean task of correcting physical and mental unfitness among the people."

"The present emergency requires that we abandon false prophesies and promises of health and healing and adopt methods that will make American men and women physically strong and mentally alert."

Dr. Kerr said that more and more women doctors will be needed to replace men in civilian practice if people

America is forced to become a military nation.

Pointing out that there is a shortage of good general practitioners in the nation as a whole, especially in the small towns and rural communities, Dr. Kerr said women osteopathic physicians can be just as successful in general practice as can men.

"The manipulative therapy which is the distinguishing feature of osteopathy," she added, "is not a matter of strength but of scientific skill and technique."

Fatigue In Arthritis
Speaking on the topic of arthritis, Dr. Warner said that fatigue, both mental and physical, is a major cause.

"The average arthritis," Dr. Warner said, "is a hard working, high strung, nervous individual who presents a picture of exhaustion, physical and mental, and for this reason any treatment, to be successful, must take these factors into account."

Dr. McCauley spoke on sciatica and said that it is often the result of accidental injuries, which both physician and patient may think are entirely healed. Among the important causes of sciatica, he said, are violence arising from faulty posture and local or general infections.

Dr. Hilt, during his talk, declared that safety precautions in examinations to "fit the right men into the right jobs" and better methods of rehabilitating the injured were needed to "cut the nation's two billion dollar industrial and occupational accident bill in half."

Greater Strain
He pointed out that the defense emergency is forcing industrial production to a high peak, with workers going at more speed, under greater physical strain. He said that industrial hygiene should be modernized for the purpose of accident prevention and for better rehabilitation of injured workers.

Dr. Hughes during his discussion declared that women are almost three times as prone to arthritis as men. He urged members of his profession to undertake further research and other additional efforts to cope with the affliction. He said that it has been determined that the white race is afflicted more than Negroes and those in temperate or cold climates more than people in tropical or dry areas. The disease also attacks this persons with few women doctors will be needed to replace men in civilian practice if people loosened as permitted by regulation. "I realized we didn't have much time."

"I managed to get my arms through the shoulder straps as I stepped out the door onto the ice-coated wing. But I didn't have my leg buckles fastened."

"I hugged the chute with one hand and jumped. I hit the plane going over and hurt my leg. But I pulled the ripcord with my free hand as soon as advisable."

"The shock of the opening parachute almost wrenched me loose. I thought I was a goner for a while but managed to hang on and seconds later—it seemed like hours—was able to pull myself up and fasten the other straps."

"I hit fairly soft and was picked up right away. I'm surprised to be alive."

Another of the parachutists—Lieut. C. A. Smith—lost a shoe when his chute opened, so violent was the pull.

Here Is How It Feels To Bail out of Plane

PARK CITY, Utah, Nov. 17 (UP)—What happens when a plane you're riding runs into trouble and the flight officer orders you to bail out? This question was answered today by Private Raymond Torgersen, one of the survivors of a bomber that crashed in the hills near here in a wilderness.

"I was taken by surprise by the pilot's order to abandon the ship," Torgersen told the United Press from his bed in the Park City hospital.

"I was merely sitting on my chute with the straps and buckles loosened as permitted by regulation."

"I realized we didn't have much time."

"I managed to get my arms through the shoulder straps as I stepped out the door onto the ice-coated wing. But I didn't have my leg buckles fastened."

"I hugged the chute with one hand and jumped. I hit the plane going over and hurt my leg. But I pulled the ripcord with my free hand as soon as advisable."

"The shock of the opening parachute almost wrenched me loose. I thought I was a goner for a while but managed to hang on and seconds later—it seemed like hours—was able to pull myself up and fasten the other straps."

"I hit fairly soft and was picked up right away. I'm surprised to be alive."
