Japs Warn U. S. on Building Bases in Northern Sectors

AMERICA DRAWS BLAME FOR FULL WORLD UPHEAVAL

TOKYO, Nov. 18 (UP)—Japan warned the United States against establishing bases in the strategic areas to the north today and indicated a basic American-Japanese understanding is balked by American support of the Chungking regime in China.

A parliamentary spokesman charged the United States is "the root cause of the world upheaval."

The government studied initial reports of the meeting of President Roosevelt and the Japanese Emperor, special envoy to Washington, "There was no hint whether the situation had deteriorated but Japanese defense leaders appeared to be rushing preparations to meet any eventuality."

CAMP ASSUMING GHOST TOWN AIR

Twin Falls migratory farm labor camp south of the city today was assuming the "look" of a ghost town as closing of the shelter port, set for Thursday, loomed.

Roy C. Lane, camp manager, said this afternoon that the population of the shelter portion of the camp at noon today totaled 164 against the season's high of 800. With closing of the shelter unit next spring will also come closing of the laundry building, shower buildings and the camp school.

Nursery School Hays Lane said, however, that the nursery school under WPA direction would operate in the community hall all winter because enough children will be here to justify the expense.

This afternoon Lane also announced various personnel changes in the camp staff. Elmer Quigley, of Walla, Wash., has arrived to take the position vacated by Leo I. Byington who was shifted to Idaho Falls, Wash. Quigley, who will live in Twin Falls proper, determines the eligibility for migratory labor assistance and also eligibility for emergency medical treatment.

Nurse Emma Kriele, formerly with a mobile camp in Washington state, has been assigned to the local camp as nurse, replacing Miss LaDeme. Nance, who has been transferred to aid in work of the traveling dental clinic.

The clinic here will continue throughout the winter months.

AT THE NATIONAL LIBERAL BLOC FIGHTS TO SAVE SMALL PLANTS FROM GOING TO WALL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (Special)—The Frank statement is made by a GPAB official that he sees no hope for 120,000 small business plants continuing to operate; that all of the metal and other strategic materials must be diverted exclusively to the making of things for war and that, with the task of being the "arsenal of democracy," civilian needs and non-defense industries must be sacrificed; many of them stop in this line of contemplation.

Because there is a shortage of tin, argue liberals, there is no reason why a tin mine in Moscow or Twin Falls should be deprived of material to make a roof or a gutter for a house and go out of business; nor a locksmith put on the street because he can not obtain material for his tools.

The maladjusted plumber is threatened unless he can find something to substitute for steel and iron pipes for drains. Another headed for the rocks is the dealer in wire, nails and stoves. The novelty shop will have no stockings (women are being urged to knit to save wool) and the shoe store will have no buttons and eyes and the dozens of little conveniences made of metal.

Originally the army and navy placed orders with less than three score large industries, and most of the work went to a half dozen. Last spring when the administration decided on the lend-lease bill, the program of the army and navy was upset and it dawned on them that to produce what is expected they must conserve all the strategic materials that the housewife reserves of what happens to non-defense industries and civilian needs. This has caused the trouble.

In the fast growing defense organization at Washington are several hundred army men drawn from the big companies to give advice. If they remain 12 months, they are also carried on the books of their companies at their regular salary, ranging from $20,000 up.

These men are specialists, but the liberal bloc points out that the companies they represent have been given many millions in plant expansion and all the metals they require; the little fellows and the housewife, in consequence, must the investigators.

Top-Flight Luftwaffe Leader Dies in "Firearm Experiment"

BERLIN, Nov. 18 (UP)—The Luftwaffe suffered a severe blow today when a top-ranking officer died while experimenting with firearms.

Col. Gen. Ernst Udet, World War ace and originator of the Nazi parachute technique, died today.

Udet, 40, was head of the technical bureau of the air ministry and was responsible for many of the achievements of the Luftwaffe in the war.

Adolf Hitler ordered a state funeral for him in recognition of his achievements, and named Luftwaffe Squadron No. 2 the Udet squadron in his honor.

Udet was Germany's No. 2 ace of the World War—second only to the great Baron Manfred von Richthofen—with 61 planes to his credit. His record has since been exceeded by a younger flier of the Luftwaffe to whom he had devoted his energies since start of the Nazi regime.

In this war Udet had no chance for actual combat. He was tied to the rear by a number of details. But he still spent his spare time in the air whenever possible and he had retained this trim youthful figure and appearance.

Last July when rumors circulated in foreign countries that he had been in contact with the enemy and had committed suicide, he received a United Press correspondent at his office in the Reich air ministry and emphatically denied the rumors.

An announcement by the official news agency today said Udet died Monday of "fractured skull suffered in an accident while experimenting with firearms." He died on route to a hospital, it was said.

Udet had been Germany's greatest surviving World War ace. He was well known in the United States, having appeared at American air shows.

ANTI-STRIKE LAW NEARS AS HOUSE PLOTS ON CURBS

By FRED BAILEY
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (UP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn said today after a conference with President Roosevelt "I don't think it will be a very long time" before congress begins consideration of legislation to curb strikes.

Rayburn, Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Sen. Tom Connally, D. Tex., conferred with Mr. Roosevelt for about an hour and a half on the labor situation in general and the coal strike in particular.

Rayburn said the conversation had been general. He would not discuss details of the legislation which is most likely to have administration backing.

Fully Discussed Connolly, who had a new labor bill pending before the senate judiciary committee, said the captive coal mine strike called by John L. Lewis was discussed "fully and thoroughly" with the President.

The Connolly measure would authorize the President to seize and operate industrial plants or mines shut down by strikes.

There still was no definite indication as to what specific action the President had in mind regarding the captive coal strike, although associates reported he intended to "crack down hard."

Mr. Roosevelt postponed for the second time his departure for a scheduled Thanksgiving holiday in Warm Springs, Ga., due to the press of business.

No Comment He had issued without comment the reports of the heads of three steel corporations and of the executives of the United Mines Workers of America detailing why they had been unable to get the union to accept a union shop in the steel corporation's "captive" mines, which it has in the majority of other coal fields.

ARGUMENTS OPEN ON SOLONS' PAY

BOHE, Ida., Nov. 18 (UP)—The Idaho supreme court today heard arguments on a suit testing the 1941 act to provide Idaho legislators with $2,000 in expenses.

Harner Budge, Boise attorney and state representative from Ada county, appeared for the plaintiffs, who were their constitutional right to receive compensation totaling $5,000 per day, if they were not provided with money to cover living expenses.

Appeal to High Court Budge and Willis Sullivan, another Ada county representative, presented State Rep. Arthur Peak, D. Hammon, who appealed to the high court after the state board of examiners rejected his claim for $3 expenses for one legislative day.

Peak had filed the claim under a 1940 act, passed by the legislature which provided each legislator with $300 expense money for the session. The board turned down the claim on grounds the constitution set a limit on the amount.

Germans' Panzer Columns Swing South for Winter

Invaders Fail In Drives on Major Cities

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Foreign News Editor
Germany's panzer columns today were reported swinging southward in preparation for a winter offensive toward the middle east—and possibly the Suez canal, British life-line in the Mediterranean.

Reports from the Russian fighting front were meager, but the Nazis appeared to have failed in new thrusts at Volokolamak on the Moscow sector and London believed Adolf Hitler was attempting to gather strength for a pincer operation against Moscow and a drive southward toward the Caucasus.

President Calls On CIO to Keep Up Production

(By United Press)
Violence flared today in the Pennsylvania-West Virginia captive coal mine fields as President Roosevelt called upon the Congress of Industrial Organizations for production "without interruption" on the nation's defense efforts.

The President's message was read to the CIO's fourth annual convention at Detroit by President Philip Murray as delegates debated a proposed resolution supporting the administration's policy of aid to foes of Germany.

At Gary, W. Va., close by the Kentucky-West Virginia state line, two Negro members of an independent union were shot and wounded when they participated in a strike to charge a picket line at the number 10 mine of the United States Coal and Coke company.

NO CHANCE SEEN FOR INVASION BY BRITISH TROOPS

MANILA, Nov. 18 (UP)—(Special)—For five months the Soviet government has been pressing the British to throw an expeditionary force across the channel and create a second front against Germany to relieve pressure on the Red army.

Falling this, Russia wants a British land and air force sent to the Russian front.

In Manila, as in Moscow, I find the first question a government official, soldier or hotel porter asks is "Why don't the British invade the continent?"

Could Help Russia The average Britisher is just as eager as the average worker and peasant in the Soviet Union that Britain should give effective aid to the Soviets and push it left.

In August he was asked to wonder whether his government would send troops to Russia down the sacrifice of a few British divisions on the continent now undoubtedly would relieve the pressure on 30 or more Soviet divisions. It would help keep the Red army intact for many months and might even permit the Russian to launch an offensive.

NO SETTLEMENT ON STRIKE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (UP)—A White House conference on a threatened railroad strike ended today without reaching definite conclusions, but conferees representing labor and management of the nation's railroads agreed to meet again tomorrow with President Roosevelt.

Alvan Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, one of five operating brotherhoods which have voted to start a strike Dec. 7, said after the conference that the White House discussions had altered plans for the nationwide walkout lying virtually all American railroads.

President John J. Pelly of the Association of American Railroads said the conference "discussed the wage situation generally and reached no conclusions, but consideration of the situation is continuing."

TRANSIENT DIES IN TRAIN MISHAP

Injuries suffered in a fall from a moving freight train proved fatal here today to Ernest Benjamin Hashman, 42, Roscoe, Pa., transient worker.

Hashman died at the Twin Falls county general hospital this morning. Cause of death was laceration of the brain, according to the attending physician. Hashman also suffered severe exposure, but was being kept unconscious at the side of the railway tracks for about 24 hours.

Near Rogerson Railway police authorities and Twin Falls county sheriff officers said Hashman fell from the train on which he had "hitched" a ride around noon Sunday at Meter siding, just beyond Rogerson. They said he fell off while the freight was en route to Wells, Nev., and was picked up by the train crew on the return trip yesterday shortly after 2 p. m.

The train crew's first intimation of an accident occurred at Wells. Hashman's suitcase and a pint bottle of whiskey were found on the ledge at the rear of the tender bound for the locomotive. The liquor bottle, according to Charles Lewis, Union Pacific railroad official, was found today at Wells, and the third empty.

Hashman was riding on the right side of the tender. He was seen by the crew as they were passing the tender.

Officials said the train was carrying a load of coal.

ATMOSPHERE "HOPEFUL" AS JAP ENVOYS AND HULL CONFER

DIPLOMATS GET DOWN TO WORK AT WASHINGTON

By H. O. THOMPSON
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (UP)—The second meeting between Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Japanese diplomats in their crucial "peace or war" parlay began today in what one of the Japanese participants described as a "hopeful" atmosphere. Saturated Kurusu, Japan's special envoy, and Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, the Japanese ambassador, conferred with Hull for the second successive day.

Nomura greeted newspapermen at the state department with the remark: "We are the newspapers so gloomy? We are hopeful." Nomura continued:

"War Minded?"

"You Americans are always in a fighting mood. Why are you so war minded?"

Both men had replaced yesterday's formal attire with business suits, indicating the softening of the tenor of the conversations from yesterday's formalized opening to the real business of discussing actual issues and disagreements between the two nations on far eastern politics.

During the pre-conference discussion with newspaper men Kurusu was silent for the most part. At one point, however, he interjected:

"We have had naval holidays. Why don't you have a holiday?"

May Have Outlined Policy

There were reports that yesterday's opening conversations went beyond general and preliminary subjects to the fact that President Roosevelt took 70 minutes out of the middle of an exceptionally busy day to talk to Kurusu and the Japanese ambassador. Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, caused some observers to believe the President had delivered a frank exposition of American far eastern policy.

Such a procedure would set the key-note for the subsequent negotiations. The Japanese diplomats with Hull. It also would remove any idea the United States might recede from her position, which is being presented as of benefit to Japan in the long run as well as for the welfare of our peoples bordering the Pacific.

LABORERS SPEED AHEAD ON GIANT TUNNEL PROJECT

BOISE, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—Work on the world's highest earth-filled dam—the Anderson ranch dam—on the south fork of the Boise river is progressing rapidly despite difficult construction problems brought on by winter weather. R. J. Newell, construction engineer for the U. S. bureau of reclamation, reported.

More than 750 men are being employed on the project which will supply 520,000 acre feet of water for Boise valley farms when completed four years hence.

At present, Newell said, the crews are working on the foundation for the dam and on a 1,500-foot long tunnel which will divert water of the river around the dam site.

Purpose of Tunnel

The tunnel serves the important function of keeping the main construction area free from river water. To accomplish this, crews are boring through a mountain side about a quarter of a mile. The tunnel, lined with about two feet of concrete, will have an inside diameter of 20 feet, Newell said. Spillway excavating was also underway.

Tractors and scraper outfits are at work gouging out the river basin to provide for the dam's foundation. The excavation will go 120 feet below the present river bed before completed.

Present plans call for pushing the work on the diversion tunnel throughout the winter and engineers hope to keep working on the foundation excavation even when the snow flies, Newell explained.

Lands Engineers

He lauded engineers for the speed with which they started work, and described the pace as the "most rapid" he had ever seen on similar projects.

Men working on the project live in a camp which sprawls along the river valley for about two miles around the dam site. Newell reported excellent quarters have been provided for the workmen.

The elaborate camp also includes a schoolhouse for children of employees, he said.

CITY WILL CHART POST-WAR WORK

Twin Falls city officials today made plans to confer with a federal official next Monday night regarding the setting up of projects which could be started when the present emergency is over.

Announcement of this fact was made at last night's council session by Mayor Joe Koehler after a communication received from E. P. Horsfall, Boise, state director of the federal works agency, public work reserve.

Will Ease Let-Down

Under the tentative plan, each community would prepare plans for public works which could get underway when the emergency has passed and necessary materials are once more made available. In this manner the "let-down" after the war would be eased, Koehler said.

Mr. Horsfall will meet with the council members and other city officials at 7:30 p. m. next Monday, time for start of the regular weekly council session.

Koehler also announced last night that Col. Lowell H. Smith, group commander of the seventh bombardment squadron in Utah, would probably inspect the local situation in the near future. Government aid is being sought in making the field here an early first class airport or an army base.

Dr. Groomer Appointed

Councilmen last night, at suggestion of C. H. Coleman, commissioner of public health and safety, named Dr. H. R. Groomer as city meat inspector and Dr. M. K. Jarvis as deputy inspector. Jarvis will serve without pay.

The move was necessary because that Col. Lowell H. Smith, group commander of the seventh bombardment squadron in Utah, would probably inspect the local situation in the near future. Government aid is being sought in making the field here an early first class airport or an army base.

GUARD PLACED ON BOMBER'S WRECK

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—Officials of the Fort Douglas air base said today a heavy guard, had been placed around a B-18 bomber which crashed yesterday, 35 miles north of here, killing two airmen.

They said guards would be kept around the plane until a heavy snowstorm in the vicinity of Park City, Utah, where the plane crashed, had stopped.

Meanwhile, five members of the bomber's crew who were able to parachute to safety were transferred from the Park city hospital to the air base. They suffered minor injuries.

The two dead airmen—Maj. R. E. L. Little, 34, Council Grove, Kan., and Sgt. J. D. Anderson, Ogden, Utah—were brought from the mountainside to the Fort Douglas base in ambulances last night.

Maj. Little met death when his parachute became fouled in the plane, and was torn. He fell to the ground about a mile and a half from where the plane was discovered. Sgt. Anderson was unable to get out of the ship, and was burned to death after the gasoline exploded.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Nov. 18 (U.P.)—Edwin Belden Michael, 32, Des Moines, Ia., a roustabout with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus, was charged today with fatally poisoning 11 of the big show's trained elephants.

Eleven elephants, valued at $110,000, died of arsenic poisoning. Ten succumbed at Atlantic City, last week, shortly after the show had moved from Charlotte, N. C. Another died a few days later.

Odel Griffe and Claude Bolich of Gastonia, N. C., told police they had seen Michael feeding capsules to several elephants since the show was playing in Charlotte about 10 days ago.

Industrial Democracy

Along these broad lines America has moved: First it broke the shackles of monarchy and the sway of kings, to achieve free government by free men. That was political democracy.

Then it broke the shackles of a closed society—a society in which every man was born to a place, which he could never leave—and achieved an open society in which every man was given a chance to find a place proportionate to his abilities. That was social democracy.

Now it is trying to solve the problem of industrial democracy. A defense emergency is not perhaps the ideal time and place to solve that knotty problem, but solution will not wait. Modern industry is an industry of great units in which impersonal masses of capital employ the services of great masses of men at work. It created new relationships with little similarity to the old relationships between one employer and a few employees. America, late in tackling this modern problem, is still in the midst of it.

What progress have we made? This: We have generally agreed that masses of men employed by masses of capital must deal collectively to assert their rights and make themselves felt as a force in modern industry.

But the exact techniques by which the organized labor of men may organize and treat with organized masses of capital and come amicably to sane and workable relationships are in their experimental phase. Such a condition, with labor exercising a share in the conduct of industry in some way proportionate to its importance, is industrial democracy.

Yet labor has not itself learned perfectly the lessons of democratic conduct of even its own agencies. There can be no real industrial democracy when the parties to it are themselves undemocratic.

The American civil liberties union announces a study of democracy in trade unions. That is a proper subject of study, for it is obvious that it is just as bad for an individual workman to be robbed of his democratic rights by an oppressive union domination as by an oppressive employer. The twenties were spent in examination of the means by which capital was undemocratically controlled; how unscrupulous people often wielded power by undemocratic control of other people's money. It is quite as evil to control undemocratically other people's labor.

It is only through study, experiment, practice, that we can improve these techniques, and it is idle for either capital or labor to try to avoid the utmost searching into their technical practices on the pretext that either is in some way holy.

As has been repeatedly said, every human institution is on trial today, and the present techniques and practices of labor are no more an exception than those of capital, the law, teaching, medical practice—or editing newspapers.

Kennedy the Iconoclast

Do not be surprised if you hear Congressman Martin J. Kennedy of New York is being given the polar star and that some of his colleagues make snarling faces or fail to speak when they pass by. He is apt to be a lonely outcast, a veritable pariah with nobody in the capitol at Washington to give him even a stinging howdy.

He has done the unheard of. He has broken the unwritten law. He has failed to be clubby. His dreadful offense is one that his nerve-shocked colleagues will have a hard time forgiving or forgetting. Even sack cloth and ashes will not appease them.

This rash brash man has actually introduced a bill in congress to pay its members on the basis of $25 per day for each day they are in session, instead of the 10,000 lettuce leaves per annum they now enjoy. He estimates this would reduce their salaries to about $6,000 and thereby set the nation a noble example of self-sacrifice.

Here is where we offer to bet our best-laundered fancy shirt his colleagues will refuse to be noble.

LADY BY REQUEST

BY HELEN R. WOODWARD

CHAPTER I

THE office of Durbin and Thorpe were exactly like any other successful law firm—the usual, rather musty, book-lined affair. But to Diana Tucker these rooms represented security of the most desirable sort on this, the last afternoon of her two weeks' notice.

Her dismissal had not come exactly as a surprise. She had been nervous and ill-at-ease ever since she had taken the job. Mr. Durbin had been kind and considerate, admonishing her to take things easily and calmly, but depositions had become the nightmare of her existence, and dreams, wills, and codicils anathema to her soul.

Richard Thorpe, the junior partner whose personal secretary she was really supposed to be, had not been so patient with her mistakes. Diana had disliked him instantly. An extraordinarily handsome man with a slave-driver complex.

Diana knew that he had numerous "not-so-fair" women posing as clients, and when she first came into the office, she made the mistake of refusing his invitation to dinner rather coldly. Thereafter he had become her tormentor.

Miss Montgomery, a caustic young lady with fawn-colored hair, an assertive manner and 10 years' legal experience, had come a week before. Efficiently fair, she oozed from Miss Montgomery's lacquered finger tips, and since her coming Diana had been relegated to such unimportant tasks as greeting clients and opening the mail. Of course, Miss Montgomery could have done all this, with scarcely an extra flicker of her mascaraed lashes.

ALONE for a moment in the office, Diana walked to the window and looked out. The first snow of the season swirled in eddying circles about the heads of pedestrians in Center street eight stories below. Lights from shop windows made little spots of brilliance on the sidewalks in the fast-fading gloom.

She thought of how things looked at home now—she probably be back at the farm in a few days. Desolate, "windy" barrenness—and after this taste of another life, desperate loneliness.

Not that Diana did not love her home. The spacious clapboard house had always been her special haven. Her hard-working mother and father, her sister and brother were all there. But her father had said, when he watched this lovely child blossoming into womanhood, "We got an idea to take care of one defense strike situation. Just put Joe Louis and John L. Lewis in the ring for two minutes."

THE outer door opened and Richard Thorpe came in, escorted by a tall man who walked with a long swinging stride and carried a brief case. Nodding briefly to Diana, he passed on to Mr. Thorpe's private office and closed the door.

Diana wondered if the tall man was a new client. Another lawyer perhaps. There was something striking, distinguished even, about his appearance. She had seen that he had strong, jutting jaw and blue eyes which swept Diana blue.

She turned back to her contentment of the street below. Before another hour had passed, he would be one of that hurrying through—but without a destination. During her two months with Durbin and Thorpe, she had not managed to save anything. She had needed shoes and a winter coat. Richard Thorpe's private office was more pleasant than the outer one. It was bright with burnished polo trophies and maps and charts of the owner's travels, and in the sun shone it was all delicately striped with light from venetian blinds.

He began to dictate the opening sentence of a "presentment" between Laird and Burton, publishers, parties of the first part, and Stephen Curt, writer on economics, current history, and politics, party of the second part, for the publication in book form of a series of articles heretofore appearing in the National News.

Diana's eyes left the notebook and traveled to the figure standing at the window looking out on the winter scene as she had done. Everyone knew about Stephen Curt. One of the country's most popular and highest paid writers and political commentators. He was younger than she had thought he would be—not a great deal over 30, she decided. He had dark hair that curled as he had done from his brow and blue eyes that looked like a frozen-over lake.

"Miss Tucker, if you do not intend to take my dictation, please say so."

Richard Thorpe's voice cracked like a whip across Diana's startled consciousness. Her face flushed crimson, and she turned away from the window, her hands behind her back, and her confusion increased.

Suddenly, something long dammed up burst within Diana. She rose, trembling, and slammed her dictation book down on the desk directly under Richard Thorpe.

"You're quite right, Mr. Thorpe," she said, her voice hot with fury and humiliation. "I do not intend to take your dictation or your insults! As far as I am concerned, you and all your associates may go to hell!"

The only way to help made in Idaho by the eight-car train carrying a line of samples of articles wanted for national defense is in the train. It is a demonstration train intended to show the military and navy what the government, and the people, are capable of doing for the war effort. One car will be for army officers, signal corps, medical corps and chemical warfare service; quartermaster corps, marine corps, and the navy. The train will be accompanied by a band of music, and the union idea does not appeal to the farmer.

To date, Co-director Hillman has found no cooperation for his idea, either from the military or the navy, or the farm operators. The Hillman's lifetime activities have been centered in union organization in metropolitan areas, and the union idea does not appeal to the farmer.

BUHL, Nov. 18 (Special)—The "april doctor kit" thefts hit Buhl Sunday evening.

This time it was a bag owned by Dr. Vern H. Anderson. It was stolen from his car, parked in front of his residence on Ninth avenue east. Dr. Anderson's name was on the handle of the kit, which was of black leather.

Similar thefts in Twin Falls involved the bags of Dr. R. A. Drake and Dr. Valdi B. Pundellich, both taken from cars.

Chief of Police Buhl, indicated belief that the thefts might possibly be the activity of a narcotics addict.

Nazi Diplomatic Moves Point To Winter Campaign in South

By LOUIS F. KEMBLE
Of the United Press War Desk

Germany's diplomatic moves in Ankara point towards an expected winter spring offensive in the Mediterranean and near east.

The latest move is a purported "offer" by Ambassador Franz von Papen, salute Nazi trouble shooter, under which Turkey would provide her good offices towards promoting a European settlement.

Whether this is the first step in a German "peace offensive" which the British have predicted is in the offing is problematical.

It could be. Ten days ago Vichy reported Germany was considering calling a new "Vienna conference" of occupied and satellite states of Europe to bind them to the "new order" and consolidate Germany's overlordship of the continent. Since then, conversations have been underway Vichy to bring France closer into line, and Alfred Rosenberg has been designated to police up the occupied portion of Russia and prepare it for the "new order."

No Negotiated Peace

However, Hitler could have little real expectation that Britain or Russia either would consider a negotiated peace. Prime Minister Winston Churchill has rejected such moves in advance when he declared last week he would never negotiate with Hitler "or any privy" in Germany, that represents the Nazi regime.

The "peace angle" of von Papen's remarks may have been the sugar coating for an ominous hint that Turkey (and Spain) may be required to furnish "certain transit facilities" for the axis this winter.

It has been reported persistently Germany has been pushing strong pressure on the axis this winter, tempting inducements to get her to throw in her lot with the axis. These offers may be accompanied by threats, now or later. Turkey has been holding back, but axis successes in the Caucasus and Mediterranean will cause her to waver.

The general view is that Hitler will swing strongly to the southeast this winter, especially if his final drive for Moscow and Leningrad now in the doldrums fails. While he would have to keep a strong holding force in the north, he should be able to reinforce his land and air strength considerably in the southeast.

Good Winter's Work

How far and how fast the Germans hope to go in the Caucasus this winter is problematical. Possession of the oil and gas fields of the Caucasus mountains would be an important achievement in itself. To get to the southern flanks of the Caucasus, the Germans would have to pass through the great mountain barrier would have to be passed. It would be a tremendous operation. The only pathway to the near east, South of the mountains the British might be found fighting the Russians.

Hitler's more likely objective would be to take all the northern Caucasus and encircle Rostov from the north and south. The Rostov area is the Black Sea port of Batumi.

STORM BLANKETS MOUNTAIN AREAS

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 18 (UP)—A storm brewed on the Gulf of Alaska last week jumped the continental divide and headed eastward into the Dakotas today, after spreading snow and rain over the Pacific slope from Canada to Mexico.

The U. S. weather bureau here predicted sharply dropping temperatures in the wake of the semi-blizzard, and in some sections the mercury already had tumbled far below freezing.

The principal snowfall occurred on the west slope of Utah's Wasatch range, extending from the central part of the state north into Idaho. Salt Lake City had the heaviest recorded precipitation, with more than an inch—actually several inches in terms of snow.

The storm area covered all of Utah, Arizona, New Mexico and Nevada, and parts of Wyoming, eastern Colorado, Montana and eastern Oregon and Washington. Weather bureau officials said it was an extension of the same disturbance which brought flood conditions to western Oregon and Washington.

The cold wave traveling in the wake of the blow produced sub-freezing temperatures in southern California, and a low mark in degrees above zero in Reno, Nev.

During the night the storm moved over the divide, blanketing eastern Montana, eastern Wyoming and Colorado, and parts of western North and South Dakota and Kansas.

Despite the storms, most highways on the west slope of the Rockies remained open. The Utah highway patrol reported slippery conditions in parts of the state, and for a time U. S. 91 was partially blocked by heavy snow.

Idaho and Montana roads also were open, although in the higher mountains the going was difficult. More than two feet of snow fell in the Alta ski resort, east of Salt Lake City, and winter sports conditions were reported good throughout the intermountain west.

IDAHOAN TO HEAD EAGLE SQUADRON

LONDON, Nov. 18 (UP)—Flight Lt. O. C. Peterson of Salmon, Idaho, has been appointed to command the American Eagle Squadron of the royal air force, the air ministry said today.

Peterson, the first American appointed to command the Eagle Squadron, recently received the distinguished flying cross for gallantry and daring in action.

The new commander, who is only 21, has been in the air force since 1934. He has participated in more than 40 RAF sweeps over northern France and he has been decorated with the DFC. The only other member of the squadron, credited with destruction of five enemy aircraft in Pilot Officer G. A. Daymond of Great Falls, Mont., who also was awarded the DFC.

ITALIANS REPORT BRITISH ATTACKS

ROME, Nov. 18 (UP)—An official communiqué said today that British planes carried out a heavy attack upon Naples, attacking in "successive waves" and killing at least 28 persons and wounding 40.

The communiqué said that all 28 persons were killed in one building which was destroyed by a British bomb.

Italian forces at Gondar in Ethiopia fought off British attacks, the communiqué said.

Life of a Dollar

The life of dollar bills was cut in half by the advent of the automobile. Increased circulation and constant handling by greasy hands account for this.

With a vaporized solvent cleaner just developed, it takes just nine minutes by the automatic timer that turns off the electric heating unit to clean the truly emission and differential of an automobile.

MRS. BOETTIGER CALLS ON CLARK

BOISE, Nov. 18 (UP)—Mrs. Anna Boettiger, Seattle, Wash., daughter of President Roosevelt, yesterday visited Idaho's civilian defense program and predicted expansion of such organizations soon "when civilians have more defense work to do."

Mrs. Boettiger, a member of the eighth corps area volunteer service committee whose territory covers Washington, Montana and northern Idaho, conferred with Gov. Chase A. Clark and C. E. Arney, state defense coordinator, on defense committee work before leaving for Seattle last night.

Mrs. Boettiger and her husband, John Boettiger, publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, had been vacationing at Sun Valley.

PRIORITY SET ON ARMING OF SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (UP)—Secretary of Navy Frank Knox announced today American merchant ships destined to serve the British Isles and northern Europe will be the first to be armed under the amended neutrality law.

Second preference on arms will be given to ships operating to and from the Red Sea, Knox said.

Third priority will be given merchant ships plying to and from the south Atlantic.

Knox' statement indicated armor-plated American merchant ships might carry cargoes to Murrumbidgee or Archangel, the Soviet Arctic ports. These are the only northern European ports outside the British Isles that are not under axis domination.

Special Features Await 'Gas Bugs'

Special demonstrations will feature at a meeting of the Magic Valley Gas Bugs which will be held at the Idaho Power company auditorium today at 7:30 p. m.

Displaying a racing bug, which did 80 miles an hour in a Chicago meet last summer, will be George Hammer, who now resides in Murtaugh.

Dale Clark and Paul Brown will give demonstrations with their special controlled gas models and also a new type hydroplane.

SLAYER HUNTED IN MINE DEATH

MILFORD, Utah, Nov. 18 (UP)—Southern Utah authorities today began search for an unknown slayer who attacked Gustave Knuts, caretaker at a ghost mine, and threw his body down the abandoned mine shaft after cutting his throat.

Knuts' body was recovered from the 800 foot level of the old Moscov mine northwest of Milford. Spent brasses and bullet holes descended more than 100 feet by rope to remove the body, after blood was found at the head of the mine shaft.

The slaying was discovered by Gustave Mumberg, caretaker at the new Moscov mine a mile away. He had not seen Knuts since Wednesday when he went to the man's cabin yesterday and found the 48-year-old Finnish prospector missing and the walls of his tiny shack splattered with blood.

Mumberg called officers at once, and they followed a bloody trail to the mine entrance.

An inquest was scheduled in the early today, with Mumberg and his wife expected to be the principal witnesses. Knuts was well-known in Milford, where he obtained supplies, but no one was able to suggest a motive for the slaying.

The victim made his living mining silver and lead from the old diggings, but it was believed his returns were moderate and barely provided a livelihood. The cabin had been ransacked, and no money was found there.

USIB STUDENTS TO TAKE SURVEY

POCAHELLO, Nov. 18 (UP)—A group of University of Idaho, southern branch, students this week started a house-to-house survey of Pocatello householders as part of a study preparatory to allocation of $350,000 for a federal housing authority project here.

An accurate survey of living and housing conditions was required by the government, before the grant could be made, Hugh D. MacCoshan, chairman of the Pocatello housing authority, explained.

Dr. Oscar Kaplan, a psychology instructor at the university, offered to direct the study as a project for a group of his students. They will question residents on amounts of rent, number of persons per room, family income and other questions relative to housing conditions.

The housing project provided under the proposed grant, will be available to families who can show incomes between low wage brackets. The dwellings will be rented at low rates and their construction will be supervised by the federal government.

PUBLICITY

BOISE, Ida., Nov. 18 (UP)—D. L. Toffinetti, New York and Chicago restaurateur, has advised Gov. Chase A. Clark that the state of Idaho and its most advertised farm products are in for a new publicity boost in the two eastern cities.

Toffinetti, who features large sized Idaho baked potatoes in his restaurants, said an "Idaho room" with a large painting of the Idaho statehouse and a wall map of the state, constructed in each of his establishments.

CATHOLIC HEADS RAP NAZIS, REDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (UP)—The Catholic bishops of the United States, speaking as spiritual leaders of the nation's 30,000,000 Roman Catholics, today denounced Nazism and Communism equally as the "two great evils" extant.

This was the first official Catholic statement of position on the ideologies since Germany invaded the Soviet Union.

The pronouncement, touching on world and national problems of major importance, made no specific mention of American war aims to Russia, which President Roosevelt has classified as essential to the defense of the United States.

The prelates specifically and wholeheartedly endorsed "adequate defense of our country," appealed for national unity, condemned inhuman treatment of Jews, expressed hope for labor peace and asked prayers for the President, the congress and "all who bear the grave responsibilities of government in these difficult days." They likewise asked prayers for the suffering and oppressed of the war and for "the attainment of a peace that will be accepted by all right-thinking governments and individuals as permeated by justice and charity."

The bishops met here last week and their views were voiced through the administrative board of the national Catholic welfare conference in a statement, which was headed "Christianity faces today its most serious crisis since the church came out of the catacombs."

RETURN

BURLEY, Nov. 18 (Special)—Their motor truck stalled in the mud—and that's why three Burley boys and two girls, all teen age students, were missing from Sunday evening until Monday afternoon.

They returned home after borrowing a shovel from a rancher and digging out the truck wheels. They were forced to spend the night in the desert.

The five, who had gone rabbit hunting Sunday night, were Wynne Harris, Phyllis Hanks, LaVerne Adams, Lyle Adams and Gale Adams.

PAIR ESCAPES Death in Car Dive on Hill

Two former residents of this area escaped death at Boise Friday by what officers termed "a near-miracle," according to word received here by friends of the couple.

The pair is Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith, now of route four, Boise. Their motor car lurched over Crescent Blm drive half a mile west of the Boise railway station. The machine plunged nearly 100 feet down the side of a hill, and was so totally demolished that Mr. and Mrs. Smith crawled out through the trunk.

The former residents were taken to St. Alphonsus hospital but were released in 30 minutes.

INFECTIOUS DANDRUFF
Recent study sheds new light on part germs play... shows value of new antiseptic treatment
76% amazingly improved in test cases
If you're bothered by flakes and scales, itchy, inflamed scalp, be careful... you may have infectious dandruff—the type in which millions of germs are at work on your scalp. Better get started at once with the Listerine Antiseptic Treatment that attacks and kills these germs in large numbers.
Results of Study
It will pay you to learn that a recent intensive research furnishes additional evidence in support of the following views:
1. Dandruff is often of the infectious type.
2. Countless numbers of germs are found in the infectious cases, including millions of the "bottle bacillus," regarded as a causative agent of infectious dandruff by many leading authorities.
3. In a series of severe clinical tests, men and women, twice a day for a month, used Listerine—the same germ-killing antiseptic that has been famous for over 50 years as a mouth wash and gargle. 76% showed complete disappearance of or marked improvement in the symptoms within a month!
Doesn't all this add up to one thing: that a sensible way to treat an infectious dandruff condition is with Listerine Antiseptic.
What Listerine Does
You see, when you use the Listerine treatment: 1.—Millions of organisms associated with infectious dandruff—including the "bottle bacillus"—are killed. 2.—Your hair feels cleaner, your scalp looks healthier. 3.—Itching and irritation are relieved. 4.—Itchy, loosened flakes and scales begin to disappear.
If you have the slightest symptom of this often miserable condition, start today with the easy, delightful Listerine Antiseptic treatment. Listerine has helped so many others, it may help you!
LAMBERT PHARMACEUTICAL CO., St. Louis, Mo.

THE TREATMENT
that brought improvement to 76% of cases in a clinical test
MEN: Douse full strength Listerine on the scalp morning and night.
WOMEN: Part the hair at various places, and apply Listerine Antiseptic right along the part with a medicine dropper, to avoid wetting the hair excessively.
Always follow with vigorous and persistent massage with fingers or a good hair brush. Continue the treatment so long as dandruff is in evidence. And even though you're free from dandruff, enjoy a Listerine massage once a week to guard against infection.

Taking of finger prints was postponed until another time as police officers had been engaged on special duty.

16 TOP-RANKING GAMES ON GRID SCHEDULE

Burley Prepares for Greatest College Grid Battle

Four Conference Crowns May Be Settled in Tilts

By JACK GUENTHER
NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—Most of the loose ends of the 1941 football year will be wrapped up this week in a handful of top games which will settle four conference championships and can produce Minnesota, Duke and Notre Dame as the foremost claimants of that elusive bauble—the mythical national crown.

There is no standard game; at least six rate equal notice and four more will help decide who will play whom and where when the whistles blow on the Jan. 1 bowl extravaganza. Here are the 10 contests on which national, sectional and post season claims hinge.

Notre Dame-Southern California—This is tops from an historical standpoint because it can provide the Irish with their first undefeated season since the Rockne era. Notre Dame has only a tie to mar its record while the Trojans have been beaten four times, but the record shows favorites here seldom win.

Big Ten Feature
Minnesota-Wisconsin—The Golden Gophers have run up 18 straight triumphs and are headed for their second successive Big 10 title and perfect season.

Duke-North Carolina State—The Blue Devils have only this tie to get by and their perfect season—and a bowl invitation—is assured.

Missouri-Kansas—The Tigers, who seem to get stronger each week, can clinch the Big Six title by beating an opponent already beaten five times.

Pennsylvania-Cornell—One of the annual naturals of the east.

Washington-Oregon—Washington's slim Rose bowl hopes can be kept alive at the expense of a team which is unpredictable as Tulane.

TCU vs. Rice
Texas Christian-Rice—The Horned Frogs face the same problem in the Southwestern title chase.

Fordham-St. Mary's—The normal quota of interest in this annual collision has been removed but the game is important as a gauge of the Ram ability to rebound after that Pittsburgh upheaval.

Alabama-Vanderbilt—Bowl bids and the Southeastern title may well be at stake in this one.

Michigan-Ohio State—These once-beaten midland power-houses will seek the right to second place in the Big 10—or a title tie should Wisconsin upset Minnesota.

ZUPPKE QUILTS ILLINOIS POST

Coach Resigns After 29 Years at Helm

By STEVE SNIDER
CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—Robert C. Zupke stunned University of Illinois trustees today by announcing his resignation as head football coach with only one game remaining to complete his 29th full season.

The 63-year-old coach authorized a former Illinois football star to submit his resignation to President Arthur C. Willard. Zupke will direct the Illinois team for the last time at Northwestern Saturday.

Action Is Surprised
His action, presented through Harold Fogue of Decatur, Ill., was a surprise in view of the excellent showing of the Illini against Ohio State last week.

It was the second time the colorful little Dutchman had resigned. In 1932, he brought an anti-Zupke faction into the open by quitting only to have the trustees refuse to accept his resignation.

Alumni pressure continued despite this victory, however, and this spring, during a shakeup in which Doug Miller replaced Wendell S. Wilson as athletic director, Zupke was told he was to be replaced.

Time after time during the bitter controversy over his resignation, Zupke repeated he never would quit, that they'd have to throw him out.

He doesn't believe he is leaving as a quitter now.

"My boys played a wonderful game against Ohio State last week," Zupke said. "I've been thinking of resigning for a long time and when someone asked me about it after we lost the Michigan game I said no because the time wasn't right."

"I believe it is after the way they played Ohio State. We lost 12 to 7 but I'm not a quitter because it was a wonderful game."

Born in Germany
Born in Berlin, Germany, in 1878, Zupke played a little basketball at the University of Wisconsin and turned to coaching at Muskegon, Mich., high school. From Muskegon, he went to Oak Park, Ill., high school, then to Illinois as head coach in 1913.

In 29 seasons, his teams won 122 games, lost 70 and tied 12. He has failed to win a single Big Ten football championship in his career.

During his boom years, Illinois won conference championships in 1914, 1918, 1919, 1920 and 1928 and shared the championship in 1920 and 1923.

The greatest single figure in football history—Harold G. Hooton, dubbed the Galloping Ghost of Illinois—was a Zupke product.

Notre Dame Wins 7 to 6 Over Northwestern

Montana Mines Sends Down Fine Club to Battle Albion Team

BURLEY, Nov. 18 (Special)—A strong-arm Butte Mining school gridiron aggregation was slated to pull into this city tomorrow to get a short rest in preparation for their Turkey day game here with Albion Normal Panthers.

The game is expected to start at 11:30 a. m. at Denman field and another big crowd is expected to be on hand to witness the Albion club's annual performance in Burley.

This game will mark the reopening of football relations between the two schools, the last Ore grid-Panther clash being held in 1939 in which Albion scored out a 1 to 0 victory.

In the previous five encounters, Albion has managed to come out on the long end of the score which, on some occasions, has only been by a margin of 1 or 2 points.

Coach McLaughlin, a veteran of more than 20 years, has always featured an offense with a great deal of deception and trick plays. The Ore grid crew is reputed to have one of the best teams in the school's history. They have a bulky but fast charging line to open holes and protect their punter, press backfield in their maneuvers towards their opponents' goal line. A highly touted aerial attack will bolster the minor back attack with accurate pass flippers to sticky fingered ends.

Coach Orville Hull reports that his Albion side are in fairly good condition with the exception of a few minor injuries and colds, and that he will be ready to send his charges on the field in full strength by Thanksgiving day. The Panthers have always had a strong passing attack and are a hard-hitting, hand-fighting crew of boys. An all-around more open style of football is in the offing being special plays and formations can be uncovered for the first time and scouting opponents will not be present in this, the last encounter of the year. The lack of reserves in the Panther camp has made even minor injuries disastrous in the past. Coach Hull says for the first time, turn on the heat and will not have the worry of saving his boys for the next encounter.

A win for either team will clinch a highly successful season and a great deal of open football is in store for the Thanksgiving day football fans.

Ski Club Will Hold School Of Instruction

Establishment of a Magic mountain ski school and selection of the head instructor was principal of business last night as officers of the Magic Mountain Ski club met at the Elks lodge.

Presiding at the session for the first time was Verle Moser, new president.

Officially announced appointment of Henry D. Molony, Twin Falls, as head instructor for the school which will get in operation as soon as snow is suitable. Molony will select the other instructors.

Instruction will be given each Sunday on Pike mountain, across the road from Magic mountain, and also on Saturday if the demand is sufficient. Molony is especially well versed in the ski and will be urged to enroll in the school. A deal will be maintained at the ski shelter where registrations for the course will be taken.

During the session last night President Moser named Dr. Frank McEneaney as chairman of the committee which will work in conjunction with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in making plans for formal dedication of the ski shelter after the season gets underway. Dedication date will depend on weather conditions. It was established that Sherman Osgood, a qualified Red Cross instructor, was named head of the ski patrol and plans for a membership drive were mapped. The drive to start in the immediate future and end about Dec. 15. Teams will be headed by Mrs. Huell Warner and William Garnett.

Also appointed last night was a public relations committee headed by Dick Hepler. Other members are Miss Margaret Kennedy and Wayne Tucker.

Washington State Clamors For Rose Bowl Invitation

McCorry Will Represent Cowboys at National Meet

Bill McCorry, the wise old manager of the Ogden Reds, who knows nearly every important baseball personage in the nation, will represent the Twin Falls Cowboys at the national association convention in St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 3-4-5.

Announcement of the move was made today by Carl N. Anderson, business manager of the Wranglers.

While at the meeting, McCorry will attempt to line up a big league connection for the local club to help it get players for the 1942 season.

There's the possibility that McCorry may also represent the league at the meet if President Jack Halliwell doesn't attend—which seems unlikely, according to Anderson.

Coach Asserts Congrats Are No. 1 Outfit

PULLMAN, Wash., Nov. 18 (U.P.)—The Washington State college football team, which has punctured the Rose bowl bubble for three Pacific coast conference teams this fall, arrived home today from California and immediately set up a clamor for the "Pacifiers" induction with Coach "Babe" Hollingbery officiating as head drum-beater.

Women Keglers Post High Bowling Marks

While men bowlers have been holding the spotlight since the season opened on the Twin Falls alley, it might do some of the masculine keggers a bit of good to take a look at the averages in the Magic City Ladies' league.

According to averages released by Fred Stone, Twin Falls Bowling and association secretary, Mrs. Ruth Rogers has a seasonal mark of 176—a total that will make 90 per cent of the ball toters of this city take a back seat.

However, Mrs. Rogers isn't the only feminine kegler with a high mark. Her sister, Lola Vazquez, has a seasonal average of 160 and Dee Berlich has a 155—all good marks in any league.

However, tops for the city is still held by Corky Carlson of the National Laundry club in the Major league. His seasonal total is 195. That's still one pin better than the mark held by Ray Fries in the same league. Leading 10 bowlers in each league follow:

Major league—Carlson 195, Fries 194, Jones 191, House 191, Jirinegar 183, Ford 183, Reed 180, Grah 179, W. Smith 172.

City league—Weller 190, Fries 173, Berlich 171, Albin 168, C. Coleman 160, Pullman 160, Kilborn 164, Parsh 164, O. Anderson 162, Fells 160, Smith 152.

Ladies' Minor league—D. Berlich 160, Watson 164, Davis 160, Kleinke 160, Vey 153, M. Becker 152, B. McRoberts 151, M. Buchanan 151, C. Richfield 147, R. Harvey 147, B. Greene 147, M. Houth 148, Wellborn 148, Laughlin 144, Williams 142, Cowan 143, Burton 141, Kuper 140, Loring 140, Brans 140.

Vandal Backers Urged to Attend Football Movies

Coaches, athletes, University of Idaho alumni and all others interested in Vandal athletic teams are requested to be on hand at the Twin Falls high school auditorium and watch the movies of Vandal football games this fall.

The occasion will be the special showing of movies of University of Idaho football games this fall—and a concert by the Vandal pep band—one of the best on the coast.

The special showing was requested here by George W. Greene, athletic director at the university and was arranged by Supr. A. W. Morgan.

WENDELL WATER SUPPLY WIDENED

WENDELL, Nov. 18 (Special)—A complete dual water supply system is ready for use in Wendell, after drilling was completed last week on the new town well, which extends to a depth of 385 feet, with a heavy water flow several feet above that mark.

Combined, the two pumps will throw 240 gallons a minute, if needed for an emergency, and an additional 100 feet from the tank to the mains will, in event either has to be closed for repairs, enable a shut-off. The new pump, with a capacity of 150 gallons per minute, will be housed by the old pump house which is at the northwest corner of the water works plot. When measurement was taken the water from the second vein stood within 100 feet of the surface—20 feet higher than that of the second vein.

Slightly over a week was required for the final stage of the drilling on 105 feet of eight-inch hole. The hole was opened at 12 inches and tapered to eight inches at the lower level. A group of men in Franklinton, N. C., have played marbles every Saturday for the past 50 years, weather permitting.
