

PRESIDENT WITHHOLDS ACTION ON COAL MINE STRIKE

ADVISERS REJECT TROOP USAGE TO FORCE REOPENING

By FRED BAILEY
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt withheld action today in the "captive" coal mine strike in the hope, apparently, that other means of obtaining resumption of vital production could be found.

Associates of the President indicated strongly he believes present action today in the "captive" coal mine strike in the hope, apparently, that other means of obtaining resumption of vital production could be found.

No Army Use
Whatever legislative action is taken by congress would not be directed at forcing the $3,000 coal miners in the pits supplying the major steel mills back to work, authoritative labor officials said.

Mr. Roosevelt, they said, has been "strongly advised" against using the army in an effort to break the strike.

That fear also was expressed by Sen. Harley M. Kilgore, D., W. Va., who said:

There was no indication of what development Mr. Roosevelt might expect to end the strike that already is threatening to curtail steel production. He has no further conferences scheduled on the coal situation.

NAMPAN RETAINS HUSKING CROWN

ONTARIO, Ore., Nov. 19 (AP)—The Pacific northwest husking crown was held today by Claude Campbell, Nampa, Ida., for the second year.

British Cosmetic Shortage Spawns Big Bootleg Racket

By ROSSETTE HARGROVE

NEA Service

LONDON—There were few women throughout the length and breadth of the British Isles who were not appalled when the "cosmetics" shortage was disclosed recently in the "pocket."

The thought that backward manufacturers were knowingly defrauding the government of over a million pounds sterling a year about 4,000,000 dollars, did not affect them so much as the thought that these defrauders, these makers of cheap cosmetics, might be responsible for ruining the looks of thousands of womenfolk.

Racketeers of the British Black market, most of whom have been operating since the onset of the war and the subsequent introduction of the limitation of supplies act, have seen perfectly well that this was told by the managers of a beauty parlor.

The new racketeers have sold cosmetics made from the lowest quality ingredients and under the most unhygienic conditions, often with only a dirty kitchen sink and correspondingly filthy utensils for their laboratories.

Cosmetics Tested
Deals were made in unsupervised ten-shops, in public houses, in the street, and the finished goods were tested around an army of men and women.

Leading manufacturers as well as the authorities were growing very worried over the amazing growth of illicit beauty products.

The cutting down of legitimate brands to 25 per cent of their pre-war output offer a marvelous loophole on the other hand, to small traders whose volume of business did not come up to the 100 pounds sterling (400 dollars) a month proviso.

Look Like Real Thing
Many of those fake preparations looked enough like well known brands to be mistaken for them.

There is also to be a control of perfumery, and beauty creams and preparations generally, but for soap, shaving cream and dentifrice are exempt.

Many women, unable to buy their favorite brand of cosmetics, have been patronizing these "parlor cosmetics." Those who have escaped serious skin troubles may be thankful.

Altogether the beauty outlook is bleak. The new order will result in a further reduction of lipstick, powder and face cream, but from the girls of the ordinance factories in the west of England are to be privileged.

DRIVER SERVES OUT FINE
Serving out a $100 fine, and costs were charged to the driver, Wayne Rutherford, 29, is in county jail. He was sentenced by Justice H. H. Stewart, Buhl.

Chandless cosmetics, manufactured in filthy, hidden laboratories and bootlegged to English women, have endangered the beauty of a number of pretty faces.

The Public Forum

Editor, Times:

I wish to correct a public misconception which arose because of an article in the Evening Times of Oct. 21, based on a divorce complaint filed by Miss Wilkerson (Rumrout).

Although the wording of the complaint justified the article as written, I have been told personally by the mother of the plaintiff that there was no actual infidelity.

The girl's mother assured Mr. Rumrout that "your father and mother were grand about the baby—we all know that they did everything humanly possible to save him."

I wish you would print this letter in order to clear up the misunderstanding.

Imaginary Home Designed During Century Meeting

Illustrating his address with slides of some of Boise's most beautiful homes, English, Georgian, Colonial and Dutch styles, Dr. David D. Over, prominent Boise architect, addressed the Home and Garden department of the Century club yesterday afternoon at the American Legion Memorial hall.

He emphasized the importance of "starting on the inside and building out." Mr. Over, associated with the Boise Payette Lumber company, made his address in response to an invitation of Mrs. Bartlett Sinclair, department chairman.

He designed an imaginary home, pointing out that a U-shaped kitchen is more practical than any other. Factors to be included in homes to provide plenty of room for furniture arrangements, made his talk especially valuable to the audience.

Light woodwork, he said, is widely in preference to dark woodwork was one of his concluding remarks.

Mrs. Albert Corless gave two vocal selections, "One Kiss" from "No, No, Nanette" and "Glad to Be Here," accompanied by Mrs. Russell Potter.

Mrs. Amanda Kautz and Mrs. Lena Friedman presided at the tea and coffee service. The table was covered with a Madeira lace cloth and centered with yellow and white flowers.

There must be something of the Paul Bunyon in the "tall tale" that Harold Lacy (man with the pipe) is telling, judging from the slightly skeptical expression on Ted Scott's face. Other members of the group, listed by the Times photographer last night at the Fidelis class pioneer party, are, left, Mrs. Ted Scott, and right, Mrs. Arthur Gordon. Party was held at the Baptist bungalow.

Pioneer Atmosphere For Party by Fidelis

Sitting in the half-hoof of coal oil lamps that were "the bright lights" of another era, members of the Fidelis class of the Baptist Sunday school heard Mrs. Mel Cook, Castletown, and Mrs. J. H. Seaver, Twin Falls, tell of the thrilling and humorous times of the southern pioneers, who literally "wrestled" with mud and dust to get the community started.

Members and guests of the class arrived at the Baptist bungalow attired in costumes appropriate to the "early days" of the community, and joined in the singing of old English, Scottish and Early American songs and spirituals which the pioneers brought to this country.

Antique furniture, lamps, quilts and other items lent authentic atmosphere to the occasion.

Tells of Roseworth The early days on the Roseworth tract, when Mrs. Cook was teacher of the two Hartwell boys, and lived in the Hartwell home, a log ranch house with a red roof and a huge chimney, and a small garden.

Mrs. Seaver, who was a pioneer, told of the hardships of the early days, and of the all-night dances, followed by rodeos next morning, staged by the cowboys.

Mrs. Seaver's reminiscences were focused principally on Twin Falls. She presented pictures in illustration of the Twin Falls of today, as she described vividly. She remarked that every incoming train was met by herds of real estate men waiting to show land to the newcomers.

Defense of Main Street Stressed By B. P. W. Head

Calling attention to the Thanksgiving message of Mrs. Minnie L. Moffett, M. D., president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, Mrs. Frankie Alworth, president of the local group, asked members to meditate on the sentiments as expressed by the national leader.

In answer to the question, "What have we to be thankful for in this year 1941?" Dr. Moffett enumerated the following:

"First: We are thankful that we are citizens of the United States of America. By reason of our citizenship we enjoy freedom of press, freedom of speech, freedom of worship.

"Second: We are thankful that as women we are voters, workers, defenders of democracy.

"Third: We are thankful that we are members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, for by reason of our membership we can participate in our program 'Strengthen Democracy for Defense'.

Through our program we can contribute to the defense of Main Street. Defense of Main Street means we are learning to know Main Street, and the problems of its front and back yards, so that we may be prepared to cope with these problems in an intelligent, visioned and realistic way."

Mars Dancing Group Plans Farm Festival

Mars Dancing club will entertain at a "1941 Farm Festival" Friday evening, Nov. 21, at 9:30 o'clock at the American Legion Memorial hall.

In charge of arrangements will be Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sweetman, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Frazier and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Washburn. Mr. Washburn, who was accredited to leave this week for Denver, to assume management of one of the Western Auto Supply company stores, is remaining in Twin Falls until after Thanksgiving.

All Masons and their partners and Eastern Stars and their escorts are eligible to membership in the club.

The novel invitations, mailed today to the membership, said "Don't worry about clothes, but come!" Amplifying that suggestion, Mr. and Mrs. Sweetman, chairmen, said today that guests could use their originality in determining what to wear.

"You may wear anything from Puritan costume to present-day formal, but come in festival mood," the committee said today.

A special meeting of the board of governors, it was decided to have one dance a month, to be held on the third Friday of each month, later during December, January, February and March.

Decorations will be appropriate to the chosen theme, and several prize dances will be conducted.

Tracing the progress of ceramics from the time of the Egyptians, he concluded his talk by displaying three fine models in the process of completion, and told that he uses those models in his size range from 4 inches to one 12 by 12 inches, in firing his pottery.

Moscow Clay Best He declared that the pottery found in Moscow, Idaho, is as good as any in the entire United States, but is so "short" that it has to be mixed with something else. He uses a local clay, pinkish in color, as the most ideal mixer.

On display was a large white flower bowl which Mrs. Martha Bove, also of Gooding, had made in Moscow, Idaho. The piece was particularly attractive, Mr. Westergaard said, on display at the show, also discussed glazing.

Second special attraction of the week will take place Friday at 2:30 p. m. when Mrs. Ruthann Hansen, Twin Falls, will give a demonstration on soap carving.

Outstanding Paintings One of the many interesting groups of paintings being shown this week are three still life studies in water color, the work of Miss Sun-ning Williams, a native Twin Falls artist, who is now an instructor in Lindsay, Calif. They are vivid, colorful, alive, and reflect the perfection which has achieved in this medium.

Outstanding among the oil paintings on display are three canvases by Ole Moeller, probably the best-known of Idaho artists.

One is typical of his autumn landscapes, the trees brilliant with yellow foliage. Another characteristic piece is a Teton mountain setting with the "Moeller blue" sky effect.

Tie Expected To Stay in Big Seven Loop

DENVER, Nov. 19 (AP)—Last week there were two schools of thought as to who was leading the Big Seven conference but now Utah and Brigham Young are deadlocked for the loop lead anyway you look at it.

One school counts each tie as half a win and half a loss, with the result that Brigham Young went half a game up on Utah last week although the old system which ignores ties gave the teams identical records.

The last Saturday Utah took Colorado State 25 to 13 while Colorado defeated Brigham Young with a 13-13 tie. Thus Brigham Young and Utah each has three wins and no losses under the old system which discounts ties for each team or three and a half wins and one loss according to the new system.

It looks like they will end the season tied, as both are favored to win final games this week. Utah meets Utah State at Salt Lake City on Thanksgiving day (tomorrow) and Brigham Young plays Colorado State at Provo. Of the two, Brigham Young has the tougher assignment.

Meanwhile, the traditional Thanksgiving day contest between Denver and Colorado holds a major interest in the Rocky mountain section. More than 25,000 will see the battle although it was not betting on the title race unless both Brigham Young and Utah lose, in which case Colorado could win the championship by defeating Denver. Wyoming meets Colorado Mines at Laramie in a Thanksgiving day tilt.

Quick, Watson, the Smelling Salts! Here's Truthful Note

By HARRY FERGUSON
NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—These words are being written with a physician in attendance and a nurse hovering in the background equipped with smelling salts. A few minutes ago you were fainting dead away.

At first the doctor diagnosed it as a case of overwork and I was knee deep in train schedules to Florida when the boss stroked over and said, "Please take another look, Doc. I'm sure it must be something else." Whereupon they decided it was shock.

That's what it is, all right. The shock was brought about when I opened a letter from Bub Madry, an eloquent gentleman living in Chapel Hill, N. C., who can write essays, sonnets, dazzling prose, madrigals and cantos on the subject of the North Carolina football team. He not only can but does and he gets down for it, too, because he is the publicity man for the team.

I have been an admirer of Mr. Madry's prose for several years now and have a valuable collection of his first editions, autographed by the author with a rubber stamp and set in the distinctive, beautiful type used in the North Carolina university mimeograph machine. Whether Mr. Madry writes the year round I do not know, but come Indian summer he yields to the muse. In September his prose has the lean understatement and restraint of Ernest Hemingway. In October his communications take on some of the farcical, avalanche quality of the late Thomas Wolfe. In November, and particularly around All-American time, he soars to Shakespearean heights.

His magnanimous open undoubtedly was a series of essays he wrote in an attempt to persuade sports editors to put a hero named Severin on their All-American teams. If memory serves this Severin was a North Carolina end a right good one, too, but no matter how brave and dashing he seemed on the football field, he became even more so when filtered through the beauty and brilliance of Mr. Madry's prose.

Essays on Severin reached me by air mail, by regular mail, by telegraph, by special delivery, by couriers and sometimes by telephone. Once a pigeon wheeled over the office and I opened a window, figuring it would fly in bearing a metal tag that read "Severin for All-American." All that happened last week, and this season I became alarmed as week after week passed and there was no word from Mr. Madry.

Today I was sitting before a desk piled high with communications

THE SCOREBOARD

NEW YORK—Pittsburgh, the social climber, wants to forget Fordham, which is quite all right with the Rams.

Inasmuch as their alma mater's burning ambition is to acquire a sprinkling of Ivy, the Panthers were guilty of a serious breach of etiquette when they took the Rams by the horns and apart. It was like a horse going to the mill and forgetting to shave.

On Rose Hill, what happened in Ivy stadium, however, will be known as the Pittsburgh incident, nothing more, and it has been put behind coaches, athletes, officials, faculty, students and Frank Prich, the old Fordham Planch.

You have the word of Tom Deagan, the tub thumper, that even the publicity department has issued orders to its minions to burn the Pittsburgh files and destroy all allusions of the game.

"To answer the usual questions before they are asked," reads a communique from young Deagan's office, "there will not be a shake-up in the lineup."

"Athletics will continue at Fordham. It still requires eight teams to play in four bowls."

There was one nice thing about the Pittsburgh incident. It silenced the cry, "From Rose Hill to Rose Hill!" It attired the pen of those New York sports writers aviarat-

By Deke Houlgate

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19 (AP)—The nation's top rated college football team today in the Deke Houlgate ranking system.

Although Oregon State and Stanford were the leading contenders for the western Rose bowl team, providing both with their remaining games, Oregon State was ranked 20th, Houlgate said Saturday, who thumped Stanford 20 to 0 for the Indians' first defeat since 1939, had an easier schedule, Stanford, twice beaten, was rated ninth.

OPTIMISM REIGNS AFTER HULL-KURUSU SPECIAL SESSION

U. S.-JAPAN MEN SET RECORD WITH BIG CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—A cautious feeling of optimism for a peaceful settlement of critical issues between the United States and Japan was apparent today among informed persons on both sides of current conversations here.

The optimism was tempered, however, by realization that past efforts in the same direction have not been successful.

More Hopeful Trend

It was said the talks which began Monday after arrival of Saburo Kurusu were on a more hopeful trend than the preceding conversations between Secretary of State Cordell Hull and the regularly assigned Japanese ambassador, Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura.

It was agreed, however, the talks had not reached a point where the outcome could be forecast with any assurance. Some of the points proved to be points of disagreement in the previous conversations have not yet been reached in the current talks.

Both President Roosevelt and Hull expect to hold further conferences with Kurusu and Nomura.

The Japanese conferees retired after yesterday's talks of two hours and 45 minutes with Hull and Nomura.

Conferees were recalled by officers at the state department, to discuss the matter among themselves and also to Tokyo.

Hull Ready

The understanding was Hull would be ready to receive them whenever they desired to resume.

Dr. Hs. Shih, the Chinese ambassador, was a caller at the state department late yesterday, giving rise to reports Hull might have wished to see him before China some of the points involved in the U. S.-Japanese discussions. It was learned, however, the appointment was made at Dr. Shih's request and was not directly connected with the Japanese matter.

TROOPS ON DUTY AS MEN RETURN

MUSKEGON, Mich., Nov. 18 (AP)—Under protection of 250 state troopers, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (I.B.E.W.) today marched peacefully through a picket line at the strike-bound Anacosta Wire and Cable Co., and resumed production of defense cables.

Their return ended a tie-up resulting from a strike called Sept. 18 by the United Auto Workers (U.A.W.) which claimed jurisdiction over a majority of the plant's 600 employees and demanded a collective bargaining election.

State troopers were ordered to Muskegon last night when the brotherhood vowed to pass through the U.A.W. picket lines after refusing to do so previously.

The U.A.W. employees remained on strike despite all-night efforts by the state mediation board to persuade them to return to work.

The Anacosta company has defense contracts for electric cables and supplies.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 18 (AP)—Andrew Jensen, 91-year-old assistant historian of the Latter Day Saints church, who traveled more than 1,000,000 miles in gathering data for historical church works, died at his home last night following a heart attack.

WILLKIE BLASTS LABOR POLICIES

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie said last night that "during an emergency, when Hitler is holding a pistol at our heads" is no time to settle the closed shop controversy.

Without directly mentioning John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers (U.M.W.), Willkie took issue with him. Lewis was Willkie's chief labor supporter last year when he was running for President.

Willkie said the reason for the current labor crises was not a lack of patriotism on part of labor. Short-sighted labor and industrial leaders were partly responsible, he said, but the fundamental basis was the government's, for not announcing a "clear and open" labor policy.

Willkie addressed the Churchman associates, an organization composed of sponsors of the Churchman, a publication of the Episcopal church. He reviewed the organization's annual award for the promotion of good will and better understanding among peoples.

PORT MYERS, Fla., Nov. 18 (AP)—The Lee county selective service board refused today to draft men into the army "until the government puts John Lewis and his miners back to work."

Chairman Guy H. Strathern said the board had telegraphed President Roosevelt it could not "conscientiously sign induction papers for any more draftees as long as John L. Lewis dictates the labor policy of the United States government and deprives the 321,000-miner soldier of the full benefit of industrial production in his preparation to wipe out the scourge across the seas."

Despite spotty weather, a total of more than 1,000 bombers left England to raid Europe in five consecutive nights recently, according to RAF reports.
