FDR WITHHOLDS ACTION ON MINE UNION STRIKERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP)—President Roosevelt indicated today he will withhold further action in the captive coal mine strike until after John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers union meets with the UMW policy committee here tomorrow.

At a hearing before a senate judicial sub-committee, Roosevelt said he expected to hear tomorrow from Lewis and the policy committee on his request for settlement of the strike by freezing open shop conditions in the captive pits for the duration of the emergency or by submitting this issue to arbitration.

Other than this brief comment, the President said there was no news from him on the coal situation, or on the general subject of labor legislation which has been suggested to curb strikes that interfere with defense production.

Oliver Approval Meaningful, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson gave full approval to legislation that would authorize the government to seize and operate strike-bound defense plants and to freeze union conditions in these plants for duration of the emergency.

At a hearing before a senate judicial sub-committee, Roosevelt said he expected to hear tomorrow from Lewis and the policy committee on his request for settlement of the strike by freezing open shop conditions in the captive pits for the duration of the emergency.

The enactment of this legislation would be in furtherance of the national defense program and consequently in the national interest, Patterson said.

Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel and one of the central figures in negotiation of the coal strike, said he would support the national defense program.

Federal Charges Placed Against 3 Outlaws Here

Federal charges were placed today against three outlaws who, shortly after the middle of October, terrorized this section of Idaho and were thought surrounded in the mountains near Hailey, only to make their escape from there to be captured in Nevada.

The charges, filed by I. E. Nitschke, FBI agent, named W. L. Redtor, Twin Falls; Edgar LeRoy Pruett, Bliss, and L. R. Walling, Boise. Specifically, the charges were (1) transporting a stolen motor vehicle in interstate commerce and (2) violation of the federal firearms act.

The three men, held in the county jail here since their capture in Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 3, appeared before U. S. Commissioner C. Humphrey this afternoon. Under heavy guard, the three were not allowed out of the courthouse and so the hearing was held there.

Commissioner Humphrey set bond in each case at $2,000, on recommendation of John Carter, federal U. S. district attorney, and bound them over to await action of the federal grand jury at Boise.

He is under-secretary of defense, taken back to their cells and will be transported to Boise Saturday morning where they will be placed in the Ada county jail.

Nitschke filed the federal charges against the three on "instructions" from Kenneth Lougher, federal U. S. district attorney, Boise, in charge of the Idaho, Mont., and Utah district of which Twin Falls is a part.

A guard from the Idaho prison, Sheriff Clair King, Gooding county, and a Nevada deputy, returned the prisoners to the Twin Falls jail a few days after their Nevada capture.

The three are said to have committed a long list of crimes, including jailbreak at Pocatello, and robbery.

223-Day Siege at Tobruk Reported To Be Near End

By VIRGIL S. FINKLEY CAIRO, Nov. 21 (UP)—British eighth army drove 100 miles into Libya today and appeared on the threshold of lifting the 223-day siege of Tobruk.

Sweeping across the desert wastes of Cyrenaica like a battle fleet across a sea, the armored forces of Lieut. Gen. C. J. E. Auchinleck—many of them American-built tanks—may be already within sight of Tobruk's battered defenders.

The middle eastern command's latest communique placed the British forward lines at Rasruh, only 10 miles south of the garrison town where the German columns, British and British troops have held off every axis assault through a receding siege that started April 10.

Not since Mersin held out for six months in the Boer war will relief have been so long. German Field Marshal Lord Roberts on May 17, 1900, have British soldiers undergone a long, arduous and dramatic as the Tobruk garrison.

Today the end of that siege appeared in sight. The powerful forces assembled by the British middle eastern command in the desert of waiting were reported driving forward at all points along a front of nearly 100 miles.

They had swept around the strongholds of the axis on Halfaya (Heilbrunn) pass, and the coastal hills of Sollum and Bardia, racing ahead in an attempt to come to close grips with the main units of the two armed divisions of the German desert general, Erwin Rommel.

However, indications were the Germans are falling back in rear-guard action and there may be no full-scale pitched battle west of Tobruk.

It is obvious, the British general reported five months of war, Hitler's plans have failed to materialize in Russia.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 21 (UP)—British tank columns were reported fighting axis mechanized units south of Tobruk today while other imperial formations and German infantry units thrashed with encirclement near Bir Hadda.

Today's battle in darkness at the Edehoun mine of the H. C. Field Coal & Coke Co., a U. S. Steel subsidiary, was the second in two days. It was the most serious violence reported in the spreading strike situation.

One man was wounded yesterday at Edehoun when a Negro fired his revolver into the picket line.

Approximately 5,000 more commercial miners joined in the walk-out yesterday. The U. S. Steel subsidiary strike to obtain a union shop clause in their contract with the steel companies operating the captive mines. It was estimated today that over 20,000 commercial miners were out in Pennsylvania, as compared with 10,000 yesterday.

That in West Virginia, where a UMW official predicted that 20,000 miners would join the strike today, the situation appeared little changed. No new reports of strikes were reported today.

WOMAN SLAYER GOES TO DEATH

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Nov. 21 (UP)—"Duchess" Juanita Aquilino, 52, gun-leading murderer, died in San Quentin's gas chamber today after a long and bitter struggle with her grandchild against her life.

She was the first woman executed in California since 1915. She had been sentenced to life in prison for the murder of her husband, James, in 1934.

After receiving the lethal injection, she was pronounced dead at 10:25 a. m.

Regarded by prosecutors as the hardest case for execution in her experience, Mrs. Aquilino paid the penalty for ordering the death of Robert Alford, 19, now with a life term in prison for the murder of a young girl.

Two others of the gang—men are to be executed next Friday.

Violence Gains Among Miners In East Strikes

Strikers and a non-striker clash at a United States Steel Corp. captive mine in Pennsylvania, as violence flared over a wide front in the Pennsylvania-West Virginia captive coal mine front. The 23,000 miners remained idle, sympathy strikes spread in commercial mines.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21 (UP)—The spread of strikes in captive and commercial coal mines slowed today but violence in the rich Pennsylvania field was increasing.

Non-striking miners ambushed an estimated 150 United Mine Workers union pickets at Brownsville and when the blasts from shotguns, rifles and revolvers ceased, 12 pickets had been wounded. At Fredricktown, a Negro miner, armed with a shotgun, fired at an automobile filled with pickets, wounding one.

GIO RAPS TROOP STRIKE-BREAKING

DETROIT, Nov. 21 (UP)—The Congress of Industrial Organizations today denounced alleged "strike-breaking training" of federal troops.

Delegates attending the CIO's fourth annual convention embodied the condemnation in a series of resolutions on the selective service act.

The measure charged the selective service administration had served to break the back of the labor movement.

It called for the immediate cancellation of occupational deferments of strikers in every instance, notably the North American Aircraft strike at Inglewood, Calif.

This convention denounces such practices, the resolution said, and called upon the President as commander-in-chief of the army to order that the training of strikers be stopped.

KNOX UNCERTAIN WHEN U.S. WILL GET INTO EUROPEAN FIGHT

NAVY SECRETARY SEES GREAT NEW CRAFT LAUNCHED

By RICHARD C. HOTTLETT

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 21 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, speaking at the launching of the 35,000-ton battleship Indiana, said today that "no one can say when the actions of our avowed enemies may drag us into complete belligerency."

The Indiana, which slid into the James River at high tide, is the third battleship to be launched this year. Two others were launched last year and have been commissioned.

Knox, the principal speaker at the launching attended by high naval officials and prominent civilians, predicted the completion of the Indiana six months ahead of schedule as proof that "when our industry and labor are united, there is nothing on earth can stop them."

"We all know that we have need of record-breaking speed," he said. "We all know that the dangers which confront the United States today are as deadly as any in our nation's history. The perils which loom across the seas today are not merely threats to our national security; for they are a struggle between rival powers to a conflict between hostile ideas."

Know Which Side
"We know on which side of this fight our people and interests lie, and we have proclaimed our resolves that our side shall win this struggle which aids the world. No one can say when the actions of our avowed enemies may drag us into complete belligerency. But should that event occur, the burden upon our navy will be the greatest in our history. And in the struggle which would follow, this great ship here would be proof of strength to our battle line."

The launching was attended by Gov. F. Schuchert of Indiana, the wife of whose daughter, Mrs. Lewis C. Robbins, smashed a bottle of champagne over the new ship's steel bow a few minutes after Knox finished his address.

Completed two years to the day after the keel was laid, the Indiana represents all improvements designed that the navy has developed since it resumed building battleships four years ago. She will cost $70,000,000 when fully completed, with her guns and superstructure mounted, some time next year.

Full Speed Ahead
Since her keel was laid Nov. 20, 1939, some 5,700 men have worked on the huge warship. With her sister ships, the USS South Dakota and Massachusetts, she was launched this year, and the USS Alabama which will be launched in February. The Indiana possesses an improved type over the battleships North Carolina and Washington which were launched last year and commissioned this year.

The Indiana will carry nine 16-inch guns as her main armament in triple turrets. She was designed to make 27 knots (more than 30 miles an hour), but some observers believe her faster. The ship's armament will be the largest of any heavier than ships of the British King George V class, which carry 16 16-inch guns, and of the German Bismarck class which carry eight 18-inch guns. She is, however, slightly slower than both of them.

Most modern anti-aircraft weapons—light and heavy and multiple-barreled—will drive off enemy torpedo planes or bombers seeking to attack.

As a secondary broadside battery the Indiana will carry 15 five-inch guns. She also will have three aircraft launchers at a total of 17 and 1,500 men. The ship is 680 feet long, with a beam of 108 feet and a draft of 34 feet.

LIONS TOLD OF YOUTH PROBLEM

Dr. John Fawcett, of the University of Idaho, Moscow, today addressed members of the local Lions club in regular session and declared that the youth problem of today is "truly an adult problem."

The speaker was introduced by Dr. O. T. Luke, club president, who presided.

Dr. Fawcett said that the youth problem could probably be called an adult problem because "it makes the adults uncomfortable." Continuing he said:

"The real problem comes from the age group which is a 'no man's land' or between the ages of 17 and 23 years. At this age the youth is unemployable and is not held by restrictions of either educational institutions or social obligations."

Guest at the luncheon was Otten Cieske, local architect.

The mishap occurred on U. S. 30 a mile east of here.

At the Twin Falls mortuary chapel, burial will be in the Twin Falls cemetery beside the grave of her husband.

CHURCH'S YOUTH GETS CHALLENGE

"Can you think?" "Can you work?" "Do you have faith that our world can be changed?"

These were some of the pointed questions Gerald Wallace, vice-principal of the Twin Falls high school, put to his audience when he spoke on "A Challenge to Youth" at the Thanksgiving morning session of the district rally of the church of the Brethren at his local Brethren church.

Ented Last Night

The two day Thanksgiving rally, which was attended by hundreds of young people and adult church workers from various Brethren congregations of the state, concluded with an address to the young people last night by Rev. H. G. Shank, Nampa.

Dr. P. G. Edwards of the local congregation, gave the address of welcome at the opening session Wednesday, and Rev. Samuel Bollinger, Emmett, presented the opening address on "The Builder of Christianity," pointing out that Christ is still building His church in our day.

Rev. Walter S. Coffman, Fruitland, district secretary of religious education spoke on "One Generation to Another," urging Sunday school teachers to take more seriously their responsibility to the coming generation.

Following Mr. Wallace's address Thursday morning, the visitors attended the union Thanksgiving service at the Christian church, and a dinner was served at the Brethren church at noon, prepared by the women of the Twin Falls church. More than 150 persons were guests.

Afternoon Session

Yesterday afternoon's session was devoted to "Peace and Moral Welfare and Missions" when an offering was taken for district work.

At a men's work session, led by Dr. R. E. Blakenstaff, Nampa, state chairman, Stanley Kemp, Nampa, member of the National Men's work cabinet, spoke of the finances.

L. V. Nicholson and Charles Ronk, Twin Falls, discussed the work of men in the church. Earl Flory of the Boise valley church spoke on sponsoring the church publications.

The rally closed with a banquet for the young people.

Drammer Girl

Maybe there's too much glamor in Hollywood. Anyway, among all the actresses—and even the extras of the foreign colonies—Director Sam Wood at Paramount can't find a sufficiently formidable female to play Pilar in "For Whom the Bell Tolls." He says this sketch typifies the woman he wants.

Wife Drives 256 Miles Through Snow Storm to Rush Injured Husband Here

Injured near Wells, Nev., and brought to the hospital here after his wife made a spectacular auto dash to Wells and back again in a heavy snowstorm, Gerald Miller, 30, engineer here, had been removed to his home today.

Miller suffered internal injuries in a car-truck crash five miles beyond Wells at 7 p. m. Sunday.

Miller, notified by telephone, took another machine and drove 18 miles through the storm to Wells to keep her head out the side window in order to see the road. She drove back to Twin Falls immediately, reaching the hospital with her injured husband and his companion, Wayne Stutz-man, Filer, about 5 a. m. Monday. Stutzman, who sustained facial and head cuts, was not confined to the hospital.

The accident, according to Miller's family, occurred when his auto crashed into a stalled truck on the highway. Miller and Stutzman both claimed the stalled vehicle had no warning flares.

A heavy snow storm was raging at the time.

The truck is owned by John Flynn, Twin Falls hunter. Flynn and his son were reported as occupants. The big vehicle was loaded with eggs, and about 30 cases were smashed.

Miller's auto was considerably damaged.

British Strategy Points to Trapping Axis Foe in Africa

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

Of the United Press Wire Desk

The British army, in a daring piece of strategy, apparently is out to enter and then annihilate the axis forces within the coastal bulge which forms the northeastern corner of Libya.

General Auchinleck's British movements in the early stages of the campaign to indicate the broad outline of the plan. The British are attacking in force in the coastal region below Tobruk. Their line extends 150 miles south to Giarabub in the desert.

The southern end of the line is designed for an enveloping sweep through the desert to hem in the enemy. British strategy and aims were plainly stated by Prime Minister Churchill, who said the object is not to take "this or that locality" but the destruction of the armed and primarily the armored forces of the enemy.

Churchill explained: "If, in this case, enemy armored units are destroyed or seriously defeated and his air power dominated, the plight of his infantry and artillery crowded into the coastal region would evidently become serious in some respect."

"The depth of the British sweep has not yet become apparent. It is not impossible that an attempt might be made to drive west from Giarabub 300 miles across the desert to El Agheila on the coast. El Agheila marks the farthest British advance last February. Such an operation would be difficult and hazardous, but if it succeeded the Germans and Italians would be pocketed in a coastal area 300 miles wide and about 300 deep.

According to London, the main opposing forces have not yet been engaged. If the British are not only equal in strength to the axis, as they claim, but actually superior, then German Gen. Rommel may seek to avoid the trap and make a swift desert retreat westward along the coast.

In that case, the British would continue their drive towards Tripoli. If Rommel is forced to Tripoli he would have three choices: Make a stand there in a decisive battle; try to escape by sea to Sicily; withdraw into French Tunisia. With the British navy and air force guard, a withdrawal by sea would probably be disastrous.

PETAIN, DARLAN TO SEE GOERING

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—France said today that Marshall Henri Philippe Petain and Vice Premier Admiral Jean Francois Darlan would go to occupied France next week to meet Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering.

It was said that Goering would take the Vichy official to another point to meet Adolf Hitler.

The journey will mark the first time Petain has left occupied France since he met Hitler at Montoire about a year ago and agreed to Vichy collaboration with Germany.

The advisers said that the meeting was the first consequence of Vichy's ouster of Gen. Maxime Weygand as commander in chief in French north and west Africa.

This, think we, is tops. A certain Twin Falls gent (the one in Blue Letters addition) got himself a cramp in the leg while sleeping the other night. Such cramps are very painful, as all crampers know. This gent let out a holler. His wife got up, groggy from wine.

He managed to loll her what was wrong but then promptly relapsed into speechlessness because of pain and wine.

His wife vigorously massaged the gent's leg. He waved his arms at her frantically but couldn't speak. She went right on massaging. Finally the cramp relaxed. And the guy could speak again. Wherein he told his wife emphatically she'd massaged THE WRONG LEG!

ANSWER: LEAHY WAS N-O-T A "FOUR HORSEMAN"

Dear Sir:

I noted in a crossword puzzle of Nov. 17 that Frank Leahy of Notre Dame is listed as "one of the original four horsemen." In an article in the Saturday Evening Post of Oct. 19, 1941, we learn that Mr. Leahy attended that institution of learning around 1920, while I am sure the original four horsemen operated about 1922. Am I right or wrong?

Not that we can do anything about it, but where does the crossworder get his info?

Yours for more truthful puzzles,

Piccolos and Drums

What is to be the fate of the small nation in the days to come?

Jan Masaryk, foreign minister of the Czech government-in-exile, says that after the war the small nations of Europe must be reconstituted and play their part in the concert of Europe, even though they play only piccolos, and never the drums.

It's not too early to begin trying to write a score for such a symphony, even though it seems clear that it must be written differently from any political music yet heard in the world. To carry further Masaryk's symbolism, it is quite all right to let each of the small nations play its own musical instrument in the concert, but it is becoming clear that all must play something like the same selection, and there must be some sort of reference to a leader if there is to be any harmony at all.

The Nazi conception is not that of a concert of different instruments. There would be only one big Nazi pipe-organ played by der Fuehrer, while the rest of Europe, and eventually the world if the pipe-organ grew large enough, just sweated at pumping the bellows.

Concert there must be. But you can't have a concert without agreeing on what score to play, and appointing somebody as leader. The effort last time was that nobody felt compelled to follow, and the resultant discords still shriek across the world. This time we do better.

Whoever wins the war is going to be the leader. Either Germany wins, abolishes concert work entirely, and sets the western world to pumping air for her own pipe-organ, or the British and Russians win, decide what tune is to be played, and beat the time. The best hope here is that eventually the rest of the musicians, even the squeaking piccolo-players, may eventually be given a chance to vote on what to play, or even occasionally direct a number. Whereas if the Nazis win, the rest of the world has nothing to look forward to but a lifetime of dreary sweating at the pumps.

A Europe playing 40 different national anthems at the same time, however, as the Poles, Czechs, Hungarians, Croats, Serbs, Slavs, Rumanians, Bulgarians and Albanians were playing them before 1939, promises little improvement.

No maestro has yet arisen, however, to propose a tune so universally popular that all seem willing to play it together, nor so magnetic as to suggest that all will follow his baton.

Buying a Town on Shares

Home-seekers are buying, not individual homes for themselves, but equity shares in the whole community of Audubon Park, New Jersey.

It's a new plan devised by Col. Lawrence Westbrook of the Federal Works administration, sponsored by the federal government, and ready for application to eight other similar projects. The buyer makes monthly payments of from $24 to $36 a month, and this money goes not toward buying the house he lives in, but into a general fund for amortization of a $1,500,000 mortgage on the whole community. When the mortgage is paid up, each holder will own not a house of his own, but paid-up ownership shares in the community.

How this new plan will work, time alone will tell. It could conceivably revolutionize real estate practice. It is one of the new ways of doing things which are going to be tried out in increasing numbers in coming years, for better or worse.

Alice Through the Cellophane

Now use of cellophane is going to be cut down because the chemicals of which it is made are required in the defense program.

There may be cases in which this restriction will work genuine hardship, but there are other cases in which it will be a blessing in disguise. We've seen packages, both the mechanically wrapped trade kind and the home-wrapped gift variety, in which cellophane was used not to protect the goods merely, not even purely for decorative effect, but obviously in a malign and sinister plot to baffle the recipient. We've seen strong men, after minutes of futile clawing and pawing at such a package, tear out their hair by the handfuls and then just sit down and howl like a banshee. Those who have made a sensible use of that highly useful material, cellophane, may be put out by the new restrictions, but in some cases a little restriction is going to be just a plain relief.

SERIAL STORY

LADY BY REQUEST

BY HELEN R. WOODWARD

THE STORY: It did not matter that the night was dark. Diana thought it was. She had been told that she was to go to the party. She had been told that she was to go to the party. She had been told that she was to go to the party.

DINNER WITH STEPHEN

CHAPTER III

"Why are you going back?" Stephen Curt asked, his gaze sweeping over her flushing face. "For something."

Diana, hearing the low, sure notes of his voice, felt that she was listening to all authority and understanding.

"I was going back to apologize," she said simply.

"Don't do it," he commanded, and drew her back into the crowd. "Thorpe deserved every word you said. I happen to know he's somewhat of a bully. So don't spoil your little victory by retrenchment."

"I'm afraid it wasn't a very ladylike thing to say," she admitted weakly. "I did see him shake with laughter."

"Ladylike!" he chuckled. "So you were rescued in that tradition, and we can't stand here in the crowd. Thorpe deserved every word you said. I happen to know he's somewhat of a bully. So don't spoil your little victory by retrenchment."

Diana could not believe it was really she, dining in style at the Savola, with Maxwell Stephen Curt.

He ordered an excellent dinner from a waiter who called him by name, and then turned to Diana and smiled. "Well—for the purpose of the record, what is your name?"

She smiled, thinking how proud her parents would be to know she was dining with Stephen Curt. "Diana," she said.

"I'm sure it's proper," she said stiffly. "I'm not accustomed to dining with strange men."

"I'm sure you're not. As far as that goes, you know quite well who I am."

Diana was completely bewildered. From her knowledge of Stephen Curt, brief though it was, she knew that he was a man of the world. He had been in the glimpse of him in Thorpe's office, she would never have believed him the sort of man to seek a dinner with a woman of her class.

"You don't know my name," he said.

"You can remedy that with two words—you needn't tell me your name," he said.

HE was regarding her with ill-concealed interest, his blue eyes crinkling with laughter. "Have you summed up all the reasons why I would be profitable to dine with me?" he asked slyly.

Diana flushed, wondering if in addition to his other accomplishments, she had given valuable information to the press.

"Exactly," he said. "I hope you choose a much better place than the one to which I am accustomed."

He took her hand and guided her toward the doorway. "I'll do better than that. I'll let you select the place."

"Then let's make it the Savola," she suggested with the audacious eagerness of a child. "I've always wanted to go there."

"Right."

Moving along the noisy street beside Stephen Curt, Diana was surprised to find how tall he was. Also surprised to realize that she liked him tremendously. Liked the way he swept everything before him, making people do as he wanted. Since coming to the city she had seen many men—had not been in the right places. So had had only her father and Bill Jackson—and Richard Thorpe to measure Stephen Curt.

Her father was always saying, "Time for Curt," and hovered near the radio, grinning broadly, saying fondly, "It's a wonder someone don't bump that fellow off."

Diana smiled, thinking how proud her parents would be to know she was dining with Stephen Curt. "Diana," she said.

"I'm sure it's proper," she said stiffly. "I'm not accustomed to dining with strange men."

"I'm sure you're not. As far as that goes, you know quite well who I am."

HE was regarding her with ill-concealed interest, his blue eyes crinkling with laughter. "Have you summed up all the reasons why I would be profitable to dine with me?" he asked slyly.

Diana flushed, wondering if in addition to his other accomplishments, she had given valuable information to the press.

"Exactly," he said. "I hope you choose a much better place than the one to which I am accustomed."

He took her hand and guided her toward the doorway. "I'll do better than that. I'll let you select the place."

"Then let's make it the Savola," she suggested with the audacious eagerness of a child. "I've always wanted to go there."

"Right."

Warning Sounded as Shorter Days Increase Highway Perils

The shorter days of winter, with resulting longer hours of poor visibility on Idaho highways, will increase the danger of a deadly traffic jam in a concerted campaign of caution, the group of action for drivers and pedestrians. The program is another link in a safety campaign which has already included newspaper cartoons and radio interviews.

The Jaycees, approximately 48 hours since the Salt Lake Falls in Maglio Valley, offered these suggestions for reducing accidents at night:

1. Slower After Sundown: Things the driver can do:
  1. Drive at such a speed that the car can be stopped within the distance made clearly visible by the headlights. Slow down at sundown and during a fog or rain.
  2. Avoid stopping on the highway at night. If this cannot be avoided, keep the parking lights and the interior lights on.
  3. Avoid stopping on the highway at night. If this cannot be avoided, keep the parking lights and the interior lights on.
  4. Obey traffic signals, signs and markings.
  5. Check the car for good mechanical condition, especially with respect to lights, brakes and steering gear.
2. Avoid walking on country roads at night. It is necessary to walk where sidewalks are not provided, walk on the extreme left side face of the road.
3. Look carefully for approaching traffic when stepping into the street or highway.
4. Remain on the curb until there is plenty of time to get all the way across before approaching traffic can reach you.
5. Avoid hiding behind an umbrella on other objects while crossing the street or highway.
6. Wear or carry something white that will reflect light. The pedestrian should assume more responsibility for his own safety.
7. Avoid walking on country roads at night. It is necessary to walk where sidewalks are not provided, walk on the extreme left side face of the road.
8. Be alert to cars coming up from behind to pass other cars.
9. Avoid standing or working in the street or highway at night without adequate protection from motorists.

BARUCH ASKS FOR DRASTIC CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP)—Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the World War Industries Board, today warned congress that "unless we are able to drastically control when it will be necessary" to go-stop-the people with everybody having the same food, the same clothing and the same housing.

Renewing his plea for drastic control, he said the rising tide of inflation is the surest way to defeat the nation's war effort. He said the United States is today "a nation in arms," and declared that the government must defend the country on all fronts instead of merely attempting to put a fighting force on the sea and in the air.

"There is no surer way of destroying civilian morale than to make a mockery of the rationing program," he said. "Police control protection must be even-handed. It cannot advance the interests of any one group at the expense of another."

ment's progress and the only good to come from this program will be for the government to get possession of the farm products. A ceiling is automatically established on farm products by the market supply, and that should be sufficient.

Postponed consideration of every project now under construction is the suggestion made by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau to the senate committee on finance. This is one of several proposals offered by the treasury to hold down mounting taxes.

His program is to eliminate almost every expenditure that is not for war and to remove from national defense status such government agencies as are in that classification by court order, with a view to eliminating appropriations. Secretary Morgenthau says one billion dollars can be saved by forgetting these activities until after the war.

Winter Nears; Mercury Dips To 15 Above

Winter can't be far away. That was the opinion of many a Twin Falls householder stoking up his furnace this morning.

Official thermometer at the bureau of entomology showed a slump this morning down to 15 degrees, which is below an average winter temperature in Twin Falls. In farm areas the official readings showed temperatures as low as 10 degrees above zero.

Coldest level on Thanksgiving morning in the city area was 10 degrees.

Forecast in southern Idaho for tonight and Saturday says "fair and warm."

U. S. Offers Concessions if Japan Will Abandon Force as Policy

DIPLOMATS GET APPROVALS FOR RAW MATERIALS

By H. O. THOMPSON
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The United States has offered Japan access to all the raw materials she needs if she will abandon force as an instrument of national policy, it was learned today.

Whether Japan will alter her course in order to participate in the economic program which reliable sources said the United States has offered is one of the basic questions in discussions now being on between Secretary of State Cordell Hull and two of Japan's diplomats, Saburo Kurusu and Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura.

Another suggestion came today from Sen. Robert D. Thomas, D-Utah, a member of the senate foreign relations committee and one of the senate's leading experts on oriental affairs. He believes that the crux of Japan's difficulties with the United States is in her pact with Nazi Germany and suggested that agreement between Japan and China "freeze" military lines and arbitrate a territorial settlement might solve the U. S.-Japanese crisis.

Thomas proposed that a seven or nine-man American commission undertake to arbitrate such a settlement. He emphasized that this country could not back down on its policy of aid to China or make a settlement based on China's yielding territory outright to Japan; nor could Japan, he conceded, merely denounce its agreement with Germany. It would have to follow proper diplomatic procedure, he said.

"Dissolution of the German alliance by Japan is worth a great deal to this country," Thomas said. "The pact has these effects: It immobilizes a good part of the United States fleet in the Pacific; it immobilizes a Russian army in Siberia; it keeps thousands of Japanese troops in Hong Kong and Singapore; it causes France's oriental territories to fluctuate in allegiance between the Vichy government and the Free French; it makes untenable the position of the Dutch East Indies."

Daily Discussions
 The Hull-Kurusu-Nomura discussions have been held daily since Monday, including the last conference on Thanksgiving day at the state department. On Thanksgiving eve the men held an informal meeting at an uptown hotel.

Hull, already working toward a post-war economic adjustment which would avoid mistakes made after the last war, has started negotiations with Great Britain and China toward eliminating discriminations which in the past have divided the world into "have" and "have not" nations.

Water vs. Milk
 About 12½ gallons of water daily are required by the average milch cow, or three to four times as much as that needed for cows not giving milk.

Defense Plays Odd Business Tricks in Mansfield, Typical Industrial Town

Real-estate promoters behind such homes as these under construction in Mansfield, O., apparently don't believe in the threat of a priorities depression.

MANSPFIELD, O.—To a happy handful of U. S. companies, defense business has spelled BOOM in big capitals. To another small, but sorrowful segment of America, it has meant almost complete industrial collapse.

But to the average priority-perplexed Chamber of Commerce, defense business has proven a mixed blessing. It has cut payrolls at the north end of town; at the south end padded them—but not, all too often, with the north end's newly unemployed.

Such a typical industrial community is nervous, hopeful Mansfield, O., south of hurt-purging Cleveland. Twice per cent of the business of this town of 38,000 served up in a blue-green glow of middle Ohio hills is defense business. Mansfield Tire and Rubber... Ohio Brass... Empire Steel.

But 44 per cent of the town's payroll is paid out in Westinghouse's 38-acre, silver-roofed plant. As if priorities were not enough, the OPR is defense business. Mansfield Tire and Rubber... Ohio Brass... Empire Steel.

Stove Workers at Standstill
 On a similar griddle is the Tappan Stove company, which made mobile kitchens in World War I. It would like to do so again, but to date its only military requisitions are two sample orders for the army. You can't keep 1,000 workers slaving over two stoves for six months, nor over a sub-contract, even rated A-1-B, for galley equipment that will go into Martin bombers—you can't until bomber production is sufficiently huge, which may be next spring and then again next light.

Until Uncle Sam hands Tappan priorities for military equipment, Tappan stoves, like Westinghouse refrigerators, cry "critical" materials. Substitutions for brass, chromium and aluminum have already been made, but the shortage of other essentials, despite a year and a half of frantic foraging, is breathing warmly down Mr. Tappan's neck.

"Sometimes," glooms Tappan defense manager F. A. Weaver, "we send a half-ton truck to Cleveland for available firmings, handles and gaskets; things we used to get by the carload."

Special Order
 "We'll make anything we can make and a lot of things we have orders to learn to make," says Reese Mills, of the Westinghouse merchandising division, echoing the sentiments of every priority-fenced business man in the nation. Westinghouse is getting a break the average industrialist isn't, however. Some 700 workers will be employed to fill a $3,000,000 binocular order—so soon as tools are installed.

Tools. That's the rub for companies like Westinghouse and Tappan and a good many smaller Mansfield industries. Manufacturing Mansfield makes, among other things, book binders, blank books, buckets, building blocks, truck bodies, brass castings, boxes, bedspreads, roof heat radiator vaults and men's braces. On the one hand, they're at back-loggers with priorities for their consumer-goods products and can't fill their orders.

On the other hand, their kind of production runs long on man power in proportion to heavy equipment, so they have few hydraulic presses and similar super-essentials to the manufacture of such stuff as an army ordinance man's dreams are made of.

It's a vicious circle. The only way to get army work is to have machine tools. Machine tools are next to impossible to get unless you have army orders.

It will be a good many months before Mansfield's big Westinghouse plant can get into enough defense production to keep pace with layoffs made necessary by restrictions and priorities affecting consumer goods. Meantime such workers as these and others in similar Mansfield industries, discuss the securities of their jobs as they tump at close-to-work benches.

Mrs. Vance, department president, gave an inspirational talk, and Mrs. Craig, department radio publicity chairman, spoke briefly as did other visitors.

MARINES SENDING TWO RECRUITERS

Two United States marine sergeants will be in Twin Falls all day Saturday to interview applicants for enlistment.

The sergeants are Lester L. Trooske and James P. Young. They will make their headquarters at the Twin Falls postoffice from 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. and will interview applicants between the ages of 17 and 30, particularly those who are registered for the selective service. Men who have not actually been called for induction may enlist in the marine corps reserve, and serve on active duty, with regular marines, for the duration of the national emergency. At the conclusion of the emergency, if no further service is desired, these men may be discharged and allowed to return to their homes.

While in the marine corps they will have an opportunity to continue their studies by enrolling in the marine corps institute, the marine's own school in Washington, D. C. Vocational training may be had also in any of the following subjects: Mechanics, aviation machinists' course, radio and field telephone, motor transport, water purification and distillation, armor work and other specialized military subjects.

Feasting at a courtesy-to-trow evening for Miss Reed will be Mrs. Ella M. White, Mrs. William Adams and Mrs. Robert Magel.

Miss Reed's social calendar is an exciting contemplation these days. Already several hostesses have entertained in her honor, and other events are being planned prior to her marriage.

Tonight's courtesy, at the Kimes home, 209 Ninth avenue east, will take the form of a miscellaneous shower.

Three tables of bridge will be at play and refreshments will be served following the games.

The hostesses are employing a Thanksgiving theme of decorations.

Mrs. R. L. Reed, mother of the bride-elect, will be among the guests. Present from out-of-town will be Mrs. E. G. Recordan, Canoga Park, Calif., who with her husband has been visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. White, and will return tomorrow to their coast home.

Dessert Supper

Mrs. White, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Magel have arranged a dessert supper for Saturday evening at the White home, 225 Third avenue north.

A dessert supper for 20 guests will be followed by bridge.

MEAT GARNISH

Try this unusual garnish with a meat course some time. Grapes, cauliflower, drained and seasoned with salt and sugar, wrapped in half a strip of bacon and broiled under a medium flame. ### Miss Cavanagh In Riding Club

Miss Barbara J. Cavanagh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Cavanagh, Twin Falls, was one of four students to be elected to the Bridle 'n' Bit, riding club of St. Mary's, 209 Ninth avenue east, during the announcement made by the school.

Members were chosen for their riding ability, personality and interest in horsemanship. Invitations were extended formally at a student body assembly.

Miss Cavanagh is also secretary-treasurer of the freshman class, and a member of the Soon-ge-la-ha, honorary athletic organization.

She is here this week to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents. Also a guest at the Cavanagh home is Miss Peggy Cavanagh, a student at Maryhurst college, near Portland.

Both are energetic sportswomen and spend much of their time at Sun Valley during the summer season.

"Winterland Melody" Favored by Phi Delta

BUHL, Nov. 21 (Special)—Hundreds of holiday students, members of the high school faculty and escorts danced through an evening of "Winterland Melody," effectively staged in decorative trim, programs and music at the Phi Delta club formal dance Wednesday evening at the American Legion hall.

The blue and white club colors were attractively featured in the crepe paper streamers which covered the ceiling, hung gracefully at the windows, draped the orchestra pit and trimmed the refreshment and guide booths.

Sparkling Decor

White banners glistered, with metallic stars, crescents, musical notes and large metallic moon shoes above the orchestra. Small blue and white crepe paper streamers shined among the evergreen boughs.

The winter scene was strikingly enhanced by the sparkling snow covered slopes of Dollar Mountain in the background. Life-sized figures of all enthusiasts and models combined the scene. Charlotte Colbert on skis held the commanding view at the crest. Sonia Mies and Clark Baker, effectively singing, were in the shelter of the pine trees in the foot. Jolly-faced snow men gazed at the rustic furniture placed about the room. The crepe paper ladies stood close by.

The guide booth to Winterland playing the melodic club songs. Jao and Jill Frost, who were frocked in pretty pink formals and who distributed the snowmen dance programs.

The "Dango Mallettes", fragrant with sagebrush hung from the ceiling proved to be the center of interest, locally speaking.

The following girls in white blouses and skirts and white boots presided at the candlelit refreshment table serving cider and wafers: Betty Teeter, Audrey Husted, Loraine Shultz and Gloria Husky and June Tate, all members of the freshman class.

Grand March

Lillian Zucal, club president, and her escort, Jack Shaver, led the grand march at 9:30 p. m. followed in line by club members and partners, while Wayne Skerim's nine-piece orchestra from the J. Y. W. orchestra, played the theme song, "Skater's Waltz."

The balcony was crowded with spectators who enjoyed the festive Winterland melody frolic.

KNOWING EACH OTHER WOULD STOP WARS, SPEAKER AVERS

GASTLEFORD, Nov. 21 (Special)—No people of a nation would make war or hate those of another nation if they knew one another. Mrs. Cecilia Kenberry, Twin Falls, a returned missionary from China, said in her address at a meeting of the W. S. C. S. at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon.

She told of the friendship of the children of different nationalities at the international Sunday school and at the schools and of other incidents proving this point.

Displays Dolls

Mrs. Kenberry brought a family of dolls to show the dress of the Chinese of different ages and different stations in life. She said many of the young Chinese are beginning to dress in western fashion.

She also showed many small Chinese objects as a beautifully carved white jade hairpin, cup, chop sticks and a cloak lined with fur.

She told of the work the missionaries are doing in the schools and also in agriculture by introducing new species of fruits and vegetables.

Many of the schools in the interior are closed but some along the coast are functioning and she said the Christian Chinese are looking forward to the time of reconstruction after the war is over and are planning for that time.

Musical Numbers

Miss Norma Jean Darrow sang "Dear Lord" and "You and I" and Elmer Oskey played four numbers on his saxophone, "Cheerfulness," "Mandy's Tune," "Mandy's Star Duet." Miss Dorothy Brown accompanied all musical numbers.

Mrs. Lillian Rutherford was chairman and Mrs. W. P. Reese and Mrs. L. M. Dalley, hostesses.

Hansen Mission Union Planning Christmas Event

HANSEN, Nov. 21 (Special)—Hansen Baptist Missionary Union, meeting this week at the home of Mrs. D. B. Hansen, is planning for the Christmas program to be presented at the Hansen church during the Christmas season.

Mrs. Monroe Whittington gave the opening prayer; Mrs. John Rigney, president, led devotions, followed by singing and the offering. An interesting program on missions and Bible study followed, several members taking part in copying the "omph" girls are Hollywood experts, themselves.

"Don't dress like a 'omph' girl," "pleas don't!" is the plea of one of the newest film designers, Damon Griffard. He's been around enough to know what he's talking about. Joe Barr in Honolulu, he started out as an industrial designer, designed clothes in New York for the "omph" girls, turned to Honolulu to create custom-made gowns for that island's upper crust. Eventually, he was instrumental in bringing Hawaii an air cargo to American women and, before he could say "Dorothy Lamour" he had a contract with him and here he is in Hollywood.

Dolting "Omph Girls"

For over a year Damon Griffard never allowed dressing "omph" girls for the screen. He believes they are a wonderful example not to follow. And, at the same time, an object lesson to all women interested in clothes.

"All they are really," he said of his lion-teaching ladies, "overemphasized anatomy. Dressing as they do on the screen is like pouring a quart of perfume on your head when all you need is a tiny drop behind your ears; like wearing 13 neckties when you should wear a single clip. Dressing like that is over-exaggerated. In real life, they would be horrible!"

Damon Griffard offers a series of don'ts—illustrated by some of the gals he has dressed for films: "Don't go to extremes," he commands. "Start with restraint. You know your own limits and remember it in everything you put on."

"Don't go overboard on jewelry—wear just the amount that your face and figure can carry and be balanced with it."

"Don't be daring—the bare-midriff is right for so few women; femininity, the rubber-tie, girdles should never bare the tummy. Tight skirts suit only the snake-haired and a few of us are that. Loose, noisy colors scream in ugly tones. Watch your colors and never let them outline you."

"On the screen you can get away with murder—especially when you are costuming ludicrous figures. Meet one of them for an evening of bridge, at a church social, shopping in your home-land—and you'd die of the shock," Damon Griffard added.

Revise for Self

"But," he continued, "you can take almost any 'omph' girl's wardrobe and, with a few deletions, make it your own. That is, if you have any fashion ability. Mainly, it's a matter of pruning, cutting off, smoothing out. If Ann Sheridan wears a turban that almost scrapes the ceiling, and you like turbans, look well in them, by all means copy her turban—but make it less extreme, less outrageous."

"If one of Mona Maris' costumes has interesting lines, look at it carefully. Perhaps you're doing it for yourself again by delighting. If you see Virginia Field, for instance, in a film wearing a very simply gown indeed, the general idea of which you like—consider it translated into everyday terms. Think of it as being less of a caricature—and you'll probably find it very style-right."

Let's be fair—the "omph" girls themselves know all this. You'll never find them appearing in private life as they do in pictures; they have too much clothes sense.

HOLLYWOOD—Have you a yen to be an "omph" girl? Well, curb it. That is, if you ever hope to be admired as among your town's smartest looking.

"Omph" girls are one of Hollywood's best-selling, best-publicized products. But the first to advise against copying the "omph" girls are Hollywood experts, themselves.

Think of it as being less of a caricature—and you'll probably find it very style-right."

Let's be fair—the "omph" girls themselves know all this. You'll never find them appearing in private life as they do in pictures; they have too much clothes sense.

"Robinson Crusoe" first was published April 23, 1719.

Virginia Field, another "omph" girl in films, wears a dress that is just too striking for private life. But, says designer Damon Griffard, it would be fitting if modified. Make the skirt less skin-tight, the bodice less fluffed, wear one bracelet instead of two, one necklace instead of two.

Defense Starts At Home, P. T. A. Told by Speaker

JEROME, Nov. 21 (Special)—"The greatest thing in all the world is the unit of society between the home and child," E. M. Shepherd, prominent pioneer businessman, told members of the Lincoln elementary school's Parent-Teacher association Monday.

Mr. Shepherd spoke on the subject of "Defense Starts at Home," and declared that "we should teach our children trades and occupations in order that they may have a fair equal chance to become useful, valuable and honorable citizens."

"This present war that's going on now would never have been fought had there been the right regard between the home and the child," he concluded.

Mr. Shepherd, who was introduced by Owen Davis, principal of the school, also told of the need for manual training programs in the elementary schools, urging the association to get behind the project and see that it becomes a reality.

Robert Aupperle, junior high school music instructor, sang two selections, "Godslove" and "Here's a Forest Praying." He was accompanied by Mrs. E. M. Connor.

Miss Mamie Avelar accompanied at the piano for group singing, led by Mr. Aupperle.

It was announced that Miss Avelar's room will receive the award this month for the largest number of parents present at the meeting.

ESCALA, DUKE, NOTRE DAME IN LAST TILTS

Three Teams Get Chance to Finish Unbeaten Seasons

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—Three of the four top bidders for the mythical national championship—Minnesota, Duke and Notre Dame—wash up their regular schedules tomorrow in the final Big Saturday of the 1941 football campaign and all three teams look to be heavily favored to come out of the last game with undefeated records intact.

The Golden Gophers face the high-scoring Badgers of Wisconsin in a contest which can give them their second straight western conference crown and stretch their victory string to 17 consecutive games.

Duke and Notre Dame, on the other hand, are expected to settle matters in the Southern conference and produce the Blue Devils as top bowl eligibles.

While they aren't running for any national title, the Irish of Notre Dame will be in the hunt for the first undefeated season since 1929—the year the late Knute Rockne came up with his last and probably greatest season.

They are the most important card in the national card but at several other points of the contest fans will turn out for country squabbles. The rivalry between Missouri and Tennessee will attempt to wrap up the Big Six title by conquering weak Kansas and in the far west Washington will try to keep its Rose bowl hopes alive against Oregon.

Here is the program by sections:

Penn vs. Cornell—The big game of the season will be the battle between Penn and Cornell in a game that can clinch the Ivy title for the Red Devils.

Yale's embarrased Rams will try to prove that Pitt defeat a mistake at the expense of Duke's Carolina.

Yale's Navy tackles Princeton and Army engages West Virginia to clear the decks for the annual rivalry game between the two schools.

A week hence, Boston college moves into another embroglio with Boston College. The Ivy League offers two traditional classics in Yale-Harvard and Colgate-Columbia, while revitalized Pitt moves against a tough foe in Penn State.

Michigan and Ohio State will play in the Big 10 standings and maybe a tie for first should Wisconsin upset the Gophers.

Indiana faces Purdue in another conference battle while Northwestern engages Illinois.

Further west, in the Big Ten, Kansas State meets Iowa State within the conference and Nebraska faces Iowa and Oklahoma takes on Marquette and Oklahoma State.

Arizona State meets Arizona, while Notre Dame and Missouri put the card but Michigan and Ohio State will be in the fight to second place in the Big 10 standings and maybe a tie for first should Wisconsin upset the Gophers.

TED LAKE IS GROOMED AS TRACK STAR

Still quoting George Greene of the University of Idaho (as we were yesterday), it is interesting to note that at least one southern Idaho youngster is being groomed for stardom up at Vandaville besides the football prospects.

This boy is Ted Lake and if he ever had a future in hurdling, Ted is that youngster.

Mike Moran, the veteran track coach of the school and himself a great star in his day and a creator of many national and international-known athletes, is of the opinion that young Ted will go a long way.

In fact he is being groomed right now for track and field meets all over the country.

Along this line, Greene was cautioned by Hank Powers, who developed Ted into the state's best high jumper and a record-breaker, that Ted was not physically capable of too much competition and that caution should be used in the amount of meets Ted was allowed to participate in—at least until his body is further conditioned.

Last spring, running a sub-district, district and state meet, young Lake cracked every state record in the field and was named his fine form at the university.

Recently he walked away with honors in an intra-city meet and he is regarded by Coach Ryan as a jewel.

Albion Crushes Montana Mines by Score of 28-0

BURLEY, Nov. 21 (Special)—The football season was ended on a happy note for the Albion Normal Panthers here yesterday as they scored in every period to down a Montana Mines club by a score of 28-0.

With icy weather holding the crowd down to a few hundred spectators, the Panthers struck in the first quarter after four plays took them 30 yards. From there Knece and Sanders poked the ballway the rest of the way to the touchdown, with Knece scoring and Sanders kicking the extra point.

The second frame saw the Mines' Jumble and Albion rover, Max Johnson broke through tackle for a 48-yard run and the counter. Enke-kick kicked the point.

After both teams had done considerable punting in the third quarter, Knece went for a 23-yard run and ran down the sideline for the third score. Sanders again kicked the extra point.

The only third made by the Ore-diggers came in the last stanza. A pass, swanow to McHugh, netted 25 yards and put the ball on Albion's five, but in four plays from there the visitors were back on the 12.

To end the scoring, Sanders intercepted a Montana pass in the late moments of the game and raced 48 yards for a counter. Enke-kick kicked the extra point.

The Panthers were driving down the field and had reached the two-yard line when the game ended.

Albion collected 18 first downs to 10 for Montana.

Utes Assured Of Tie for Big 7 Title

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—Willie Coach Eddie Kinnhill, Brigham Young University football mentor, allied with appreciation his team's tussle with Colorado State Saturday, the Armstrong, University of Utah manager, relaxed today confident that his team would at least share top honors in the Big Seven conference.

Playing Thanksgiving day games, at all Big Seven transfer day games, the BYU and Colorado State, wound up their 1941 conference season and Saturday's game will ring down the curtain this year.

The powerful University of Utah looked to be the favorite in the Thanksgiving game, defeating the cellar-dwelling Utah Aggies, 33 to 21, and clinching their share of the crown. But the Big Seven title was held by the Aggies, playing on a field which several hours before had been covered with snow.

Meanwhile, Denver university's Pioneer smashed out a 27-0 victory over the 20th-ranked Utah State in their traditional Turkey day football rivalry with the Golden Buffaloes of Colorado.

The Big Seven team smashed out scores in every period to give Colorado its worst beating since Denver won, 48 to 0, back in 1927. It was the first time since organization of the Big Seven conference that Denver had done better than tie Colorado.

Winning university of the Big Seven and Colorado State of the Big Seven, "Little Five," struggled to a 0-0-0 tie after both teams, through lack of power, had failed to take advantage of scoring opportunities.

Saturday's BYU-Colorado State game was the last of the conference series of both teams.

Ken Overlin, Al Hostak Meet Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—Al Hostak's eastern debut will be unveiled at last in Madison Square Garden tonight, with ancient Ken Overlin an important participant in the event.

Hostak, who never fought east of Cleveland, is slated for 10 rounds with the ex-seller of Washington, D. C. The bout is ultra-important for both former middleweight king, since it officially launches the campaigns for the light heavyweight crown.

Overlin, though 31, is favored at 8-5 to rout Hostak's eastern debut because of his cleverness and ruggedness. Also because his 25-year-old opponent has had a successful career due to brittle hands. Hand injuries have contributed to at least three important defeats suffered by the Seattle Greco since he wrestled the lightweight crown (National Boxing association brand) from Freddie Steele on first round knockout in July, 1938.

Had tonight's bout been slated 16 rounds the odds would have been more than $100,000 outdoors, being listed together the N.B.A. ruler and Overlin, who was recognized as champion in New York and several states. Because of reverence suffered by both since then, it will be lucky to gross $25,000.

Nampa's Bulldogs Tounce Boise, 21-0

BOISE, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—Nampa's Bulldogs, with only a defeat by Twin Falls and a tie with Pocatello to mar their record, trounced the Boise Braves here yesterday by a score of 21-0 to end up in third place in the Big Six conference standings.

The last game from Hilary in the first and third quarters to rout the invaders and were never in serious trouble.

ON ARMY CACK CLUB
PORT LEWIS, Nov. 21 (Special)—Five men from Hilary are on the roster of the company "F", 110th engineers, 641 division, basketball team organized by Corporal Keith Madson.

They are Private Lee Van Beek, William McCullough, Jack Pettigill, Ted Johnson and Kay Evans.

Bengals Rout Chaffey for 13-0 Triumph

POCATELLO, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—Idaho Southern wound up its 1941 gridiron schedule with a 13 to 0 Thanksgiving day victory over Chaffey Junior college of Chaffey, Calif.

Playing on a frozen field, Bob Patton scored the first touchdown for the Idaho team by plunging through center from the one-yard line. Later in the second period, he repeated after Bob Goodnight set up a scoring play by snagging a 30-yard pass on the five yard line.

Both touchdowns came on light-oh runs in the second quarter and clinched the contest.

Along with Patton and Goodnight, two former Twin Falls high school stars, Dale Dykman, the ex-Pocatello high school flash, stood out. He played only during the first half, but during that time he picked up 54 yards for the Bengals.

The second half saw both coaches use many substitutions and the play was mostly in the middle of the field.

Idaho gained 132 yards—four scrimmage and 10 first downs. Chaffey's record hampered by the suffring weather, gained 56 yards with most of the ground covered by Beris and Vasquez, and held seven first downs.

The starting line-up:

Patton	RB	Bengals
Trindle	LE	Mayer
Fehl	LT	Trunnell
Simmons	LG	Kreln
Bohler	C	Vertice
Stockfish	RG	Wells
Kilday	RT	Taylor

Silt in Water Fails to Hurt Smaller Fish

BOISE, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—Silt conditions in Idaho streams, created by mining dredge operations, appear to have little direct effect on small fish, the state fish and game department says today as the result of a fish survival test.

The study was conducted by Lee Clark, Marshall Edson and Tim Vaughn, conservation officers for the department, on the Yankee fork of the Salmon river.

One lot of 10,000 small rainbow trout were placed in an aerated fish tank with 30 gallons of muddy water taken from below dredging operations on the river, in two hours were counted dead.

A second lot of 9,500 fish were placed in a similar tank filled with clear water. After two hours they were planted in Valley creek which has about 100 fish left, the report said.

During the course of the two hour tests the oxygen content of the muddy and clear water was reduced at the same rate.

Bill Dudley Leads Virginia to Win Over Carolina Club

By United Press

Bill Dudley, Virginia's triple-threat star, put in a strong bid for All-America football recognition as he led his team to a 28-7 triumph over North Carolina in the feature game of a sparse Thanksgiving day gridiron program.

Dudley personally scored three touchdowns, passed to Bill Preston, end, for another, kicked all four extra points and gained a total of 215 yards rushing and 117 on passes. The performance brought his season total to 988 yards rushing and 856 passing, and boosted the number of points he has scored in nine games to 124. The defeat brought to a close the most disastrous season in Carolina's history—seven losses and three wins.

The first of Dudley's touchdowns came on a 67-yard run in the first period after he had passed to Preston from the 22 for the initial Virginia score. His next came on a 79-yard gallop in the third and his last was registered in the fourth when he completed a 71-yard Virginia march by plunging over from the two.

Utah won at least a tie for its second straight Big Seven conference title by defeating Utah State 21-21. They will have an fourth round title if Colorado State upsets Brigham Young Saturday. Denver trounced Colorado, 37-0, and will finish as runner-up if BYU wins. Rutgers defeated Brown 13-7 and Georgetown licked Manhattan, 7-0, in other sectionally important contests.

Here's Football Yarn of the Season: About Presto Podesto

By HARRY FERGUSON
 NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (Special)—The Gaiety Gals of St. Mary's are coming all the way from California to play the Fordhans in our town tomorrow, and no matter how good their football team may be, the story that has crossed the continent ahead of them is that there is a rumor, as yet unverified by the St. Mary's coach or publicity man, that the Gaiety Gals have a forward passer who throws curves and drops. There is also a rumor that the St. Mary's publicity man started the rumor, and as a veteran rumor-runner-downer, I am inclined to believe the rumor about the rumor.

The St. Mary's team has been coasting for several years, and there always has been a shilling array of rumors, exaggerations and little white lies running interference about 12 hours ahead of the Gaiety Gals. Previously this interference was marshaled by an incredible gentleman named Mr. Alton Watson, president of the Gaiety Gals, for eight hours, 45 minutes and 48 seconds without stopping and got the word "Gaiety Gals" into every sentence.

Mr. Poudy was the press agent for the team. He usually hit town about two days ahead of the Gals, unpacked his baggage, cleared the dust of travel out of his mind, and then he was off to work. One day he was of a spirit of fun and then he began to disclose on his favorite subject—the St. Mary's football team.

He always started out in conservative fashion by stating casually that the St. Mary's line-men were as tall as California Redwood trees, that each of them weighed at least 400 pounds and that all of them could run 100 yards in nine seconds flat. When it was pointed out to Mr. Poudy that this sounds a little considerably better than the world record for 100 yards, he always brightened up and said: "Is that so? Then our guy could do the record, couldn't he?"

Mr. Poudy has gone on to other lines of endeavor, but he had something to do with this story about the forward passer who throws curves and drops. Here is the story. The miracle man's name is John Podesto and he is a California town called Modesto. Therefore, he now is known as "Presto Podesto from Modesto." It seems that Presto Podesto started throwing curves and drops some time ago. At first he had only a wide, round-house out and a drop, but he was quite a while before he broke downward. Gradually he began to develop a juggling curve that compared favorably with the one thrown by Tommy Bridges of the Detroit Tigers.

And then—hold your breath, now—the opposition began to complain that Presto Podesto was doctoring the football. They accused him of throwing spitballs, shine balls, slippery elm balls. They said he employed big league pitchers who used to cut the cover of the baseball with their finger nails so it would perform weird antics. Above all, Presto Podesto had superb control. One day the coach was giving him instructions:

"I want you to throw that ball right at the pass receiver's eye. Curve it so that the ball will hit him right in the eye. Don't let your eye catch it."

"Okay, Coach," said Presto Podesto, "but which eye shall I shoot for?"

"Neither do I."

appearance in collegiate football as does Bill Piedmont, tackle. Bill Peddy, who was called to the corps last week, may be back in the lineup for his final game after receiving a short deferment. Tony Aschmeyer, center, and Leslie Clark, right halfback, also wind up their varsity eligibility before Boise.

Bill Piedmont, Lava Hot Springs, winds up his varsity career as captain of the Vandal outfit. Idaho and Montana State have met in six previous seasons with the Moscow team holding four victories. One game ended in a tie to give Montana State only one victory over the Vandals. Last meeting was in Moscow in 1938 with Idaho skimming to a slim 7 to 6 victory.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Nov. 21 (UP)—Quarterback Frankie Albert, Halfback Pete Kmetovic and Guard Jack Francis of the Stanford football team, have "flunked" their draft physical examinations. It was learned today.

Albert suffers from a nasal obstruction, lack of natural teeth and of all things—flat feet. Kmetovic has a broken nose and lacks his own teeth.

Albert lost his front teeth in the UCLA game early in the season.

Idaho is coached by Coach Schmidt, Doyne of the Montana State team uses five or six offensive formations with a man in uniform, much the same as the regularized T-formation, and Coach Schmidt has a flock of offensive formations at his command. Final Game Seven Idaho seniors will make their final drive for the Vandals and the Boisees. Chase and Mito Anderson, both sides, will be playing their last contest; Rudy Franklin, fullback, makes his last

Country's Birth Rate Decreases

Being to the potential danger to the strength of any country which its rate of reproduction begins to fall, Dr. Kingsley Davis, associate professor of sociology at Pennsylvania State University, discussed the likelihood of control measures as he has been employed in Germany, Sweden, and France, before the ladies' banquet.

From 1925 to 1940, urban areas in the United States had a reproduction rate which would result in 28 per cent population loss with each generation, he said. Were it not for the rural areas, which during the same period, increased 66 per cent per generation, the situation would be even more acute he added.

Country's Birth Rate Decreases

Being to the potential danger to the strength of any country which its rate of reproduction begins to fall, Dr. Kingsley Davis, associate professor of sociology at Pennsylvania State University, discussed the likelihood of control measures as he has been employed in Germany, Sweden, and France, before the ladies' banquet.

From 1925 to 1940, urban areas in the United States had a reproduction rate which would result in 28 per cent population loss with each generation, he said. Were it not for the rural areas, which during the same period, increased 66 per cent per generation, the situation would be even more acute he added.
