U. S. Renews Appeal for Americans to Leave Japan

Move Termed Added Pressure as Envoys Talk in Washington

By ROBERT BELLAIR

TOKYO, Nov. 26 (U.P.)—The United States embassy, acting on orders from Washington, made a new urgent appeal to all Americans today to evacuate Japan and occupied China.

The Japanese thought it was a new pressure move to influence negotiations now proceeding in Washington.

Premier Hideki Tojo conferred with Emperor Hirohito, presumably upon progress of the Japanese-American conversations there.

Government quarters tacitly said the American evacuation appeal deserved no comment and was "the U. S. government's own business." They said the appeal "speaks for itself."

Some informed sources said the move did not necessarily reflect developments at Washington which "must be viewed from the long range viewpoint."

However, the press gave prominence to pessimistic reports in Washington over outcome of the talks.

It was understood Americans in French Indo China as well as those in Japan and Japanese controlled territory in China have been urged to get out.

Line's Departure Delayed

The foreign office announced the liner Tatsumi Maru has delayed its departure until December 3 when it will sail from Yokohama, a port in Japan.

On December 10 and 11, the liner Atsuta Maru will sail for the U. S. The sailing was delayed, it was understood, to enable Americans leaving in response to the embassy appeal.

Some 400 Americans remain in Japanese territory not counting American-born Japanese. The embassy was unable to give a precise figure, but said many more have left in response to previous appeals without notifying officials. Today's appeal is the fourth.

U. S. READY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (U.P.)—The United States is ready today to proceed with the "peace" process, the State Department said today on the basis of a United front with other powers confronting Japan in the Pacific.

Arrangements were being made for further conferences between Japanese and American officials and the Japanese ambassador, Kichisaburo Nomura, who arrived in Washington today.

It was understood that the Japanese proposals made in conference going on here since Monday of last week.

Allied Army Bids For Decisive Win In Desert Areas

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Foreign Editor

Great Britain rushed tank, infantry and artillery reinforcements into the Libyan desert today in a bid for a decisive victory in north Africa but on the eastern front axis armies again were threatening encirclement of the Red army defenders of Moscow.

Intensive fighting was renewed on all sectors of the Libyan and Russian fronts in battles that seemed likely to affect the whole course of the war as a time when Germany officially was promising victory to her allies even if the United States enters the conflict.

The promise was made by Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop in a Berlin speech promising to "destroy" the British and claiming that axis Europe could fight for 30 years if necessary.

Developments on the war fronts were of a more definite nature, especially in the great battle for Sidi Barrani in the Libyan desert south of Tobruk.

Main Battle

The main Libyan battle around Sidi Barrani, where British tanks and artillery were held the ground previously taken by British tanks and infantry, was a tactical success, but the British were unable to break through the German lines.

On the Russian front, the German attack on Moscow was repulsed, but the German army was still within 25 miles of the city.

On the Italian front, the German attack on the Egyptian frontier was repulsed, but the German army was still within 25 miles of the frontier.

U. S. PROPOSES 3-MONTHS TRUCE FOR ASIA CRISIS

By H. O. THOMPSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (U.P.)—The United States was understood today to be favorably disposed toward a plan for a three-month "breathing spell" in the far east to provide time for more extended discussion of critical issues between the United States and Japan.

It was reported a proposal along those lines was ready for presentation to Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

The Japanese, however, were understood to be reluctant to accept such a proposal.

The American proposal for a temporary agreement which would prevent aggravation of the far eastern situation was understood to include a limited relaxation of the U. S. economic blockade against Japan.

Japan also would be required to rearrange her troop dispositions so that she could not threaten the Burma road, over which American supplies are going to China, for duration of the proposed agreement.

The American plan was a counterproposal to a Japanese suggestion for a temporary agreement which would provide for a temporary relaxation of trading privileges with the United States.

But there were signs that apprehension by some house members over how President Roosevelt would use the power to demand disputes create compulsory arbitration might create another strange alliance of strong New Dealers and the hard-shielded old dealers.

Such an alliance bet the administration's first attempt to acquire a statutory weapon against defense strikes. Last summer the house rejected a senate-approved amendment specifically empowering the President to commandeer struck plants.

Then the extremists outvoted the middle-of-the-roads.

"Stashed Deck"

House champions of unrestricted business now fear that presidential authority to order labor disputes to compulsory arbitration, with the President designating the arbitrator, may find management playing against a stashed deck.

The most vigorous supporters of organized labor also are opposing the program. Labor always has opposed compulsory arbitration on the grounds it removes a union's right to strike.

National Session Urged to Settle Dispute on Labor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (U.P.)—President Philip Murray of the CIO today proposed that President Roosevelt call a national conference of representatives of labor, industry and government to work out voluntary methods of settling industrial disputes and guarantee maximum production for defense.

Murray announced his plan in a letter to all CIO affiliates in which he said:

"Compulsory anti-labor legislation at this time endangers the national defense program. It can only serve to arouse resentment and encourage industrial disputes."

Murray's letter was made public as Rep. Robert Ransome, D. Cal., submitted to the house labor committee further details of an administration bill which would arbitrate labor disputes and strip their rights under federal statutes if they failed to abide by the measure's compulsory mediation and arbitration features. Penalties for management would be depriving them of their plants.

Ransome Bill

Ransome's bill, based on the "general understanding" reached by President Roosevelt and house leaders at the White House Monday night, provides that labor which refuses to submit to compulsory arbitration shall be subject to a fine of $100,000.

HOPE FADES TO SETTLE DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (U.P.)—Railroad labor and management officials today expressed little hope the emergency board's rehearing of wage disputes involving 1,125,000 railroad workers would bring a complete settlement.

Although accepting President Roosevelt's request of yesterday that both management and labor appear for a second time before the special emergency board, spokesmen interpreted the move merely as "an effort to keep both parties talking across a table."

A nationwide strike is threatened if a settlement is not reached by Dec. 7.

Both John J. Foley, president of the Association of American Railroads, and George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, declined to express hope or expectation that reconsideration of the board's original recommendations would resolve the dispute. They emphasized the move was made "solely on the President's initiative."

Mr. Roosevelt announced at his press conference yesterday that he had requested both parties to meet with the board next Friday and Saturday, because of additional facts brought out in direct management-labor negotiations. A single day would be insufficient for the parties to present their cases.

The board has recommended a settlement granting operating trainmen a temporary seven and one-half percent wage increase and non-operating groups a nine cent hourly raise.

GO TO BATTLE LICENSE CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (U.P.)—House Republicans in a conference today decided to make a strenuous fight to prevent adoption of price control provisions which would hamper the government's control of businesses and to buy and sell commodities.

Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., said that if those provisions were in the bill when it came to a final vote, the Republicans probably would vote to send the measure back to committee.

The conference was held immediately before the house began the third day of consideration of the bill. A vote on the controversial price control provisions was scheduled for the day.

System Essential

At the same time Price Administrator Leon Henderson filed a last-minute conference with Speaker Charles McNary, he said that the system provision was essential to successful enforcement of price regulations.

"The issue goes down to do they want price control or don't they," he said.

Martin maintained, however, that inclusion of licensing and buying (Continued on Page 4, Column 4)

Program Set For Arrival Of St. Nick

Complete plans for arrival of Santa Claus in Twin Falls Thursday evening, marking first time this season the city will have a Santa Claus, will be turned on, were announced this afternoon by O. J. Boland, merchandise bureau chairman in charge of arrangements.

Boland said that all festivities, starting promptly at 8 p. m., would take place in the downtown area of Main and Broadway streets. A platform will be erected at that place by high school students under the direction of Principal Edward Rogel.

He will arrive over the city in a plane which will be flown by Maynard Craig, local commercial pilot and instructor. After making a close circle of the downtown section, Craig will land at a "secret" point just outside the city limits, in Santa Claus out. Santa will then step into a Times press car driven by O. J. Boland, and will be whisked to the downtown platform.

Turn on Lights

Tough Guy Veneer Fades as Young Escaper, 18, Faces Questioning After Recapture at Burley

By O. A. KELKER

The "smart guy" attitude of the escaped prisoner was a thing of the past when Arthur B. Peters, 18, Bellevue, Wash., was brought into the sheriff's office here last evening and slumped into a chair to be questioned.

Only a few minutes before he had been returned to the jail from which he escaped yesterday morning. He had been captured while seated in the railroad station at Burley, by Deputy Sheriff Virgil R. Borden and had been returned here by Borden, Sheriff Inspector Harold Halverson and Constable Blaise Givens, Kimberly.

The Times reporter "let in" during the questioning of the prisoner, St. Peter, favoring a right ankle he apparently injured in his 15-foot drop from a courthouse ledge to the inside steps during his getaway. Charles Meyer, 60, Mr. Givens, who is 45 and weighs 128 pounds, has been ill for several months at the Garretts farm near here.

"Through a window yesterday I saw the bull trying to kill Meyer, who was clinging to a ring in the animal's nose."

"Not now," St. Peter mumbled. "You knew what you were doing when you left that jail and you knew it was a felony, didn't you?" the sheriff asked.

St. Peter's answer was a snappy "yes."

"And you knew you were committing another felony when you stole that car, didn't you?" the sheriff asked once more.

St. Peter admitted he did. He told Lowery that shortly after breaking jail he looked around town at the McClure and house led.

The wedding ring, an antique and heirloom of the Brown family, was worn by Richard's grandmother and his own mother, both deceased.

The bride couple was accompanied by Miss Lottie Brown, sister of the bridegroom, and Donald Tullock, both of Carey. The bride was lovely in an afternoon dress of white and velvet with black accessories.

They returned to Paul the same evening and Mr. Brown was called to service Nov. 4 and left at once for San Francisco. Mrs. Brown will operate her beauty salon here for a few weeks before joining her husband.

Patriotic Symbols Featured at Victory Ball; Elks Band Plays

"V for Victory" and "Keep 'em Flying"—two morale-building slogans of 1941—"and "Join the Red Cross NOW" and "Keep These Bloody Hun Boots Off the United States, Buy Liberty Bonds"—posters of 1917-18, figured prominently in the decorations for the Victory Ball at which the O. A. O. Dancing club entertained last evening at the American Legion Memorial hall.

Entering through the red, white and blue bunting-draped doorway, guests were received by the host committee, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hollingsworth, chairmen, and Mr. and Mrs. John Breckenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benoit, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Sheneberger and Mr. and Mrs. Walton C. Swain. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Washburn, who assisted in planning the event, were unable to be present. Mr. Washburn has gone to Denver to accept a position. Mrs. Washburn will leave in a few weeks for Colorado.

Row on row of small American flags outlined the ceiling beams. Red, white and blue "stepped" arrangements of Victory Vs studied the walls. The Liberty Loan drive posters and the Red Cross campaign posters, used as wall decorations had belonged to the late Mrs. Adam B. Barclay, Jerome. Augmenting them were posters of today, encouraging the enlistment in various branches of the United States service.

An American eagle with spreading wings, perched on a huge V emblazoned with an electric U. S. A. in red, white and blue bulbs, occupied a position of prominence at the east end of the pavilion. Red and blue artificial cat-tails and gilded grasses and foliage in a red cellophane-wrapped container marked a corner of the orchestra platform, and a huge gilded Liberty bell was suspended from the center of the ceiling.

Garbed in white band suits and wearing steel helmets, the Twin Falls Elks band entered the hall at 10 o'clock, and marched in formation to the east end of the hall, where chairs and blue music holders, decorated with Vs and the numerals of the Elks lodge, had been arranged for them.

They played several selections, some with unusual arrangements, under the direction of Bert Christensen, and concluded the intermission program with a rousing rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Club members stood at attention during the playing of this selection. J. H. Blandford, member of the board of governors, presided as toastmaster, introducing the band.

Mrs. M. C. Robinson, San Diego, Calif., formerly of Twin Falls, was a guest of the club. She is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Cannon during her stay in Twin Falls.

The Cannon and Mrs. Robinson were among those who attended the breakfast at the Higley coffee shop following the dance, arranged by Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Duval and Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Cavanagh.

A dinner provided over by Mr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth at the Park hotel for members of the host committee, and several cocktail parties preceded the dance.

Mrs. Thomas Offers Play Review at Club

The part of Miss Moffitt, the English school teacher, "The Corn Is Green," current Broadway hit by Emyln Williams, is the strongest role in 40 years for Ethel Barrymore. Mrs. W. W. Thomas told members of the Drama and Literature department of the Twentieth Century club yesterday when she reviewed the drama at the American Legion Memorial hall.

Similarly, Mrs. Thomas excelled her own past performances in presenting drama discussions, according to the 60 women who attended the department meeting. Mrs. Claude Brown also appeared on the program, giving "thumbnail" reviews of "In This Our Life" and "For Our Vines Have Tender Grapes."

Most Local Girls Wed at Age of 21

Survey showing that the average Twin Falls girl who marries does so at the age of 21 years, and that the young men who marry from Twin Falls average 23 years of age, was figured as a special project for Miss Marion Taylor and Miss Virginia Knight, for sociology class at Twin Falls high school.

The girls spent after-school hours at the court house for several weeks, going through countless records. They figured statistics on marriages from Twin Falls from Jan. 1, 1931, to Oct. 7, 1941, and considered only those people who were residents of this town, thus having to consider most couples separately.

Miss Knight and Miss Taylor submitted the fact that the reports show the youngest girl to marry was 15—the oldest woman was 54. Eighteen years old was the average age of the young men, and the oldest was also 52.

Youngest girls on the entire record during the time considered were from Port Hall and Rogerson; they were 14 years of age. Two boys from Hooten married at the age of 17 years.

Cases where the couples had never been married before were the only instances considered in the survey, and it is interesting to note that in a period of approximately 10 years only two couples (Christians and Neegoo) were not white.

One of "Meanest Women" in her discussion of "In This Our Life," Mrs. Brown quoted this character: "is one of the six meanest women in literature." Lady Macbeth when she is being seen by Macbeth No. 1.

Mrs. P. B. Wilson presided and Mrs. H. L. Rogers, club president, reminded members to bring their customary Christmas gift or donation to the Twentieth Century club luncheon, Tuesday, Dec. 2, at the Park hotel.

Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Wilson presided at the silver service. The lace-covered table was centered with an arrangement of autumn fruits. Mrs. H. E. Ryan, hostess chairman, was assisted by Mrs. W. B. Brown, Mrs. A. Boston, Mrs. George Ballard, Mrs. R. E. Bohrer and Mrs. H. B. Bralford, in arranging the tea.

Rupert Man and Utah Girl Wed

RUPERT, Nov. 25 (Special)—Marriage vows were exchanged at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in the St. Nicholas Catholic church between Miss Mary Gehard, Salt Lake City, and David Asson, Rupert. The ring ceremony was read by Father D. L. McEligott, pastor of St. Nicholas church.

Mrs. Joe Georges, sister of the bridegroom, acted as mother of honor, and Dell Asson, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. The bride wore a blue and white street-length frock with blue accessories, and the matron of honor was attired in a brown dress with brown accessories.

Following the church ceremony the bride and bridegroom were home guests at a wedding dinner given by Mrs. Phil Perotito and Mrs. Walt Asson at the Walt Asson home.

Christmas trees and tall candles were effectively used to carry out a pink and white color scheme in entertainment rooms and at the table where pink and white place cards indicated seating for 12.

That evening Mrs. and Mrs. David Asson were honor guests at an informal reception given by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Asson, at their home. Seventy-five relatives and friends were guests, and showered the newweds with gifts.

Vanderbilt's Red Sanders Chosen as "Coach of Week"

By JACK QUENTHER
NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (U.P.)—His players being the season earmarked for the cellar slot of the Southeastern conference bracket but they'll end it this week with a routing bid for a New Year's day bowl plum.
The Vanderbilt Press praised as coach of the week—Henry (Red) Sanders, the one-time bench warmer who has revived Vanderbilt as a football power in Dixie.
Red Sanders is a 155-pound all-around athlete who sat on the sidelines for three years during his own college days and then waited 13 seasons for his big chance as a coach.
Despite a scarcity of material and despite the defeatist complex which always sets in when a team suffers its worst year, he has made good.
Sanders first drew attention in Nashville as a skinny kid who flogged a football around the vacant lots of the east side. A tattered crim-

Deer Population In Middle Fork Still too Large

BOISE, Nov. 25 (U.P.)—Special deer hunts along the middle fork of the Salmon river will be necessary for several years to reduce herds sufficiently to prevent winter starvation, Owen W. Morris, director of the Idaho fish and game department, said today.

The special hunt conducted this year in which each hunter was permitted to take two deer "didn't even take care of the increase in herds during the last year, Morris declared.
To insure sufficient winter forage for the winter herd about 5,000 head of the present 12,000 deer should be removed, he reported. Only about 1,400 deer were taken out in this year's hunt.

Game Killing Fines Costly To Texas Pair

BOISE, Nov. 26 (U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Woodward, Corpus Christi, Tex., paid out nearly $1,000 in fines, court costs and other expenses for killing an elk and deer in Idaho, the state game department announced today.
The couple, charged with illegal hunting of Idaho resident licenses and killing of big game, were fined $240 each and court costs by justice of the Peace Maude Henry in Nampa. They were arrested in the Texas city by a U. S. game management agent after they had successfully ended conservation officers in Idaho.
In addition to the fine levied by Justice Henry, Woodward was fined an additional $200 and costs in Texas courts for importing game when the season was closed without having first secured a permit. The couple gave Nampa as their legal residence when they purchased licenses and hunted in the Selway state game preserve.

By HARRY GRAYSON
COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 25 (U.P.)—Speaking of the coach of the year, how about the job turned in by Homer Hill Norton?

Texas A. and M. lost 22 lettermen by graduation.
Nine were starters on the great Aggie teams of the last two years, including the renowned Fulbrook, Jarrell, John Kimbrough.

This autumn only Dancer Mover, Fulbrook and Jarrell, end, remained for Builder Norton to fashion his attack around.

For two seasons Mover practiced passing, but never did he unleash the pitching arm in a game.

This year Norton told the world the Aggie would be just as formidable as Mover—and he was good that led from Stephenville, Tex., has turned out!

Norton paced the unbeaten Aggies in a masterful fashion by making full use of the unlimited substitution rule. He kept his strength in the game at crucial times, related point-blank when their services were required. Unlike Navy, he did not remove his first team when it was mired, or have his second team in the thick of things when the enemy had the ball on his five-yard line.

Recalling at the outset that he did not have a Grade A ground attack, Norton gave his youngsters dazzling aerial pyrotechnics that have worked against all opposition.

Norton added to the running attack each week until new Aggie players were ready on the ground as well as in the air.

Norton shifted his starting lineup frequently. No member of the squad knew exactly whether he would be in the attack. They don't get nervous that way, the wily mentor tember, but they always lose it, Oscar Vill, who had what at managing them, is a good baseball man. So is Peckinpah. The trouble is they are struggling by themselves to do a job that really calls for a board of three.

How can one man direct the team on the field, supervise practice and patrol the front office to keep the players from running there on Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays?

Since Boudreau, regular shortstop for the team and a half seasons, has been given the job, although nobody has asked me to do so, I shall now suggest a board of directors be named to help run the Indians in 1942. There is no rule that one man has to be in charge, and this makes Bob Peckinpah's Indians get rid of four managers instead of one.

Here are my choices:
1. Uncle Don.
2. Lane Turner.
3. Joe Louie.

At first blush, it would seem that this would lead to a conflict of authority. Not at all. Each member of the board would have a definite function. Uncle Don, for instance, would do his work while the players were in the dressing room—strictly an inspirational job.

Lifted to a "fighting pitch," the Indians run out of the field where the first thing he does is pick the pitcher for the day. He then turns up again in the dugout, sitting in his seat on the bench. The idea is they race for the bench to sit down beside her and sit down there. There are no three pitches. Miss Turner, no fool when it comes to baseball and this makes Bob Peckinpah's yards behind all the other pitchers and therefore he has to pitch every day.

Joe Louie? Oh, he would just wait in the dressing room to slug each player every time they lose a game.

Expert Lists "Board of Strategy" To Help Boudreau Run Indians

By HARRY VERGURION

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (U.P.)—Autumn is the leaves turn red and gold, college football players start cashing their paychecks and the Cleveland Indians get a new manager.

Once more all those things have happened. Yesterday the word came out Cleveland that Roger Peckinpah had been hooded upstairs into a vice-presidency, and 24-year-old Lou Boudreau had been named manager. Boudreau, known to whether Peckinpah got a new deal along with his new job, but it so be in the line of plenty busy for a month cleaning out the old one. Those empty and tin boxes are tough to get rid of.

As you know, the Indians start almost every season with a great invincible ball team, heading the best pitcher in the game, and still manage to lose the pennant.

Sometimes they lose it early and sometimes they wait until September.

New Action Asks Ditch Land Right

Renewing a previous effort by filing a second district court action, this time asking quieting of title, the Twin Falls Canal company has begun suit against Mahlon J. Neumann and his wife, Mrs. Martha Neumann, Twin Falls.

The title clearance is sought for a ditch right-of-way across ranch property, owned by the Neumanns northwest of Pile.

In its first suit, dominated on the canal company's own motion, condemnation had been asked for the right-of-way. The company terms the ditch necessary for delivery of water in the area.

At first blush, it would seem that this would lead to a conflict of authority. Not at all. Each member of the board would have a definite function. Uncle Don, for instance, would do his work while the players were in the dressing room—strictly an inspirational job.

It's not like we have another coming. A cardload of stuff around the Prater Sales Company don't amount to very much. It sells out too fast. We sell in twenty-five different categories of commodities and we do apparel and, at the patience of our customers as long as many of them come at one time and that it makes it a little inconvenient for them but I am satisfied that if they have to wait to wait an hour, they get paid high the money for waiting. However, it is very aggravating—it's just like when you're in a strange city and you see a restaurant that isn't very busy and you could just make up your mind that's a poor place to eat. But if you see a restaurant that is swarming with customers, they're getting something to eat and not paying a fortune for it.

All these years we've been in Twink Falls, we've never entered into a franchise agreement with anyone. Our business has been independent from A to Z. We cannot represent the farmers and at the same time enter into price agreements with monopolies and I believe the farmers appreciate that fact. They have proved themselves loyal from the very first month we opened our business in Twin Falls. The first thing we did was to ship in two carloads of shingles and we lowered the price of shingles $1.40 a square. And the day that our two carloads of shingles arrived, you could have bought the shingles in Twin Falls for a nickel a square less than our new low.

price. We had taken orders for the entire two carloads—we never took one penny down on these orders. We wanted to see what kind of farmers lived around Twin Falls. We told them when we took their order about what they could expect; thus our price would undoubtedly be met, but they all said that they would stay with us and only one of them backed out. And he apologized to me several times since. He said that he felt that he didn't do right after we had lowered the prices for them to turn his order down. We have sold over a million dollars' worth of building material, gas, oil and other products since we came here from the dust bowl of Kansas less than six years ago. And our customers have been mighty nice to us and we surely appreciate it.

I guess you know this is old China. Practically without me telling

$4,000 GRANTED IN DAMAGE SUIT

JEROME, Nov. 26 (Special)—A damage suit in which the plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Summers, Jerome, asked $12,000, was settled yesterday when the jury of 12 men came in shortly after 2:30 p. m. in favor of $4,000 judgment.

Mr. and Mrs. Summers brought suit against George Hamilton, following an automobile accident which occurred about two years ago near Paul. Mrs. Summers asserted sustained permanent injuries when the Summers car in which she was a passenger crashed into the parked trailer of Hamilton.

The Hamilton car, with the trailer attached, was parked on the highway and the Summers' automobile struck the vehicle. Mrs. Summers was in the hospital for an extended period and was put to great expense for hospital, physician, medical and surgical fees, it was claimed in the suit. Mr. Summers' car was badly damaged in the accident.

BOY CONFESSES RANCH SLAYING

ST. GEORGE, Nov. 26 (AP)—Vernon Penley, 18, was held today by Washington county authorities to face charges of murdering Royal Hunt, 43, a rancher.

Penley, a former CCC youth, confessed he killed the farmer in order to get him out of the way. He was captured after several hours search seven miles from Hunt's ranch.

Officers said the youth told them he had been released only last week from the Glendora, Calif., CCC camp.

According to Penley's confession, he shot the rancher after Hunt had given him his dinner and offered him a job. He said he shot Hunt from the window the first time, hitting him in the side, according to police.

He then saddled a horse, and prepared to pull Hunt's body out of the house and hide it in the hills. However, when he returned to the ranch house, he found Hunt was still alive and he shot him three more times, the officers related.

Before being shot the second time, Hunt had managed to drag himself to a telephone, and called a friend, asking for aid.

A Washington county coroner's jury returned a verdict after the shooting, claiming the CCC youth was responsible for Hunt's death.

Throughout the United States every 24 hours, 170 cars are stolen, according to police records.

Town Hall Will Hear Facts About U. S. Labor, Defense

Present state of America's effort to build up her defense and to bolster the nations fighting Hitler will be told to the Twin Falls Town Hall Friday evening by Dr. Henry Knicker Miller, flying reporter for Associated Executive Clubs and Associated Town Halls.

Dr. Miller, speaker and writer of international repute, will talk at 8 p. m. at the high school auditorium Friday. His appearance will be the last Town Hall attraction of 1941, since no speaker is booked for December. Carl Sandburg, famed poet, ballad compiler and Lincoln biographer, comes in January.

Labor and Defense The Friday night lecturer will discuss the topic, "Labor, Industry and Rearmament Progress." Because current labor difficulties are impeding defense, his authoritative analysis is expected to draw a full house, according to Loyal L. Perry, Town Hall president.

A year ago the associated clubs sent Major Thomas A. B. Ditton to get a report on the new Atlantic demand of member clubs of the national organization was so overwhelmingly in favor of continuing the study that Dr. Miller was invited to investigate and report on the topic which most of the clubs favored.

This innovation in reporting in an objective, non-partisan manner on major developments of interest to Americans was undertaken by a man who for many years was editor of psychology magazine. Under his direction the circulation increased to 120,000 copies an issue—one of the largest ever attained by a scientific magazine.

Dr. Miller's contact with labor and management as consultant of corporations on labor and production problems, and as director of a "job clinic" in New York City, made him particularly suited to the assignment of getting the information concerning defense production progress and the outlook for labor stability.

Until just before the outbreak of the present war, Dr. Miller was following English morals with lectures on psychological themes and current world developments on a highly successful tour of British cities.

In America Dr. Miller's writings and platform appearances have made him one of the most prominent individuals in his profession, and he has done much to awaken widespread public interest in the practical application of psychology to improve employer-employee relations and to build greater efficiency in industrial, sales and commercial establishments.
