BODY OF PEAVEY FOUND IN RIVER

(From Page One)
Went into the river water above the dam, the man either jumped or fell from the boat. He tried to swim but he was dragged over the dam and disappeared. The boat also went over the dam and when brought to shore from a reeling place on a rock the next day it was battered and the motor was badly damaged.

An immediate search, led by Sheriff W. W. Lowery and State Police, and Sheriff Clark King, Gooding, got underway but to no avail because of the swirling water. After several days the search was called off and a wader was posted in the area.

ADMINISTRATION SEEKS SENATE HELP ON PRICE CONTROL

HOUSE APPROVES INFLATION CURB WITHOUT 'TEETH'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Administration leaders today voted in the senate to put back into the anti-inflation control legislation most of its "teeth" which were struck by the house last night when it approved a drastically modified measure.

Before the final vote to reject a bill, a solid Republican front and a substantial bloc of dissident Democrats virtually eliminated regulatory features of the bill and wrote their own version on the floor. Administration efforts at compromise were in vain.

Three major blows were dealt the bill before passage:

1. The bill's provision for the controversial provision to permit the government to license businesses in order to force compliance with price regulations. Price Administrator Leon Henderson claimed his provision was the "backbone" of any control program.

2. Creation of a five-man board of review with power to overrule regulations laid down by the price administrator.

3. Restriction of the government's power to buy and sell commodities to stimulate production in key or high-cost industries. The administration wanted the power to buy and sell commodities in order to stabilize domestic prices.

As opposition to the measure mounted, administration leaders abandoned plans to offer a modified version, fearing it would only precipitate stronger measures against the bill.

Rep. A. Willis Robertson, D. Va., after an amendment to bar any increase in the government's power to buy and sell commodities, with administration and Republican opposition, however, the amendment was rejected 107 to 83.

Something to Work on

However soundly the administration was routed, at least the bill number and existing clause for the senate to work on.

Senate action awaits the return of the bill to the house. The bill of Kentucky. No plans for further hearings have been made, but Sen. Robert R. Owen, D. Okla., of the banking committee, said he expected at least two or three weeks of action.

As the bill finally passed the house, the price administrator is expected to prescribe commodity price ceilings during the Oct. 1 to Oct. 15, 1941, and at various times thereafter. Regulations can be overruled by a five-man administrative board of review.

Legislation specifically is exempt from regulation, and the administrator may set ceiling on farm products at the highest of three alternative bases—110 per cent of parity; the general level of prices for Oct. 1, 1941; and the average level of prices from 1919 to 1929.

JOHNSON ELECTED BY CHURCH CLUB

Twin Johnson today has been elected president of the church club of the Protestant church, succeeding Russell Harkness, who served during the past year.

The election was held last night during a business session which was held at the church and which attracted over 40 club members. Elected vice-president was Roy Painter. Mr. Painter succeeds Lawrence Hall, who served as secretary-treasurer was Robert J. Haller.

Following the business session, motion pictures were shown by Harry Haller, Phil. The down films shown by Haller, all taken by himself, showed war and shark fishing in the Gulf of California; hunting scenes in the scenic views in Alaska; hunting scenes in the Minnesota forest and others.

Feminine Bowlers Go to Boise Meet

Goose Transportation bowling team, made up of twin Falls feminine bowlers, left today for Boise where the highest of three alternative bases—110 per cent of parity; the general level of prices for Oct. 1, 1941; and the average level of prices from 1919 to 1929.

The local bowlers will bowl as a team this evening and tomorrow night in double and singles.

Grange Gleanings

By A. HARVESTER

NORTHVIEW

When they elect officers out at Northview they make that the business of the evening and no fooling. The Northview Grange had their P. D. at a previous meeting and with that out of the way, they could give their leaders for the new year. At the meeting last Friday night only the usual Grange routine was taken care of, and the election was the main event, so to speak. A good crowd was present and the Grangers voted their approval of the leadership of Charles Reed by reelecting him as master.

Leon Morris was chosen as overseer. I believe also a reelection of Mr. Morris was chosen as overseer. Mr. Charles Reed was the choice, with the rest of the officers as follows: assistant steward, Carl Datto; chaplain, Mrs. Datto; treasurer, Alvin Reed; secretary, Florence Morris; gate keeper, S. Erickson; clerk, Mrs. Erickson; Pomona, Mrs. Charles Hart; Flora, Mrs. M. K. Cunningham; assistant to the master, Mr. Robert Maxwell; business agent, John Kaloushek.

No arrangements have been made as to the installation of the new officers, though I understand an invitation to join in a joint installation would be acceptable at the Northside folks. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Datto, after which a social hour ensued.

LUCERNE

Lucerne Grange also met last Friday night at the school house. With a good turnout, the usual Grange routine claimed the attention of the members. Lecturer June Harted held a meeting. The rest of the evening was spent playing hearts. At the next meeting, Dec. 8, the Idaho products contest will be held. Officers will be on the docket and a good attendance is desired. If you haven't been coming to Grange regularly try to be on hand election night anyway.

FILER

Down Filer way the Grangers had their Idaho products dinner last Friday night and that was enough for one night. They are having their election of officers at the meeting Dec. 5 and request a good turnout for the occasion.

The Stanley Walters family is leaving soon for a trip to California, for a couple of weeks, and watch your step Stan, and don't let the Grange know you're away from Idaho sunshine. (I could be just for mentioning that for I live in California. They call it a haze.)

KIMBERLY

Kimberly Grange met in regular session last Monday night, Nov. 24, for the dinner served by the men of the Grange, with special guests. More than 80 Grangers and friends were on hand to partake of the turkey dinner that was served by the men of the Grange. (They have a wonderful bunch of fellows over at Kimberly. The men of the Grange do perform most any other kind of housework. Think of a group of fellows cooking an entire turkey dinner and serving it with a side of turkey. That can hardly put the tea kettle on to boil without the direction of the men of the Grange. Well, I'm voting for Kimberly Grange men to have the Banner Grange for 1942, without any further contest.)

Three large turkeys, with all that goes with a turkey feed, graced the festive board with a beautiful display of good things to eat. Yum, yum. The dining hall was especially attractive with bowls of bright colored Christmas candies and table centerpieces of assorted fruits in equally bright colors. Two long tables were spread with the good things to eat. No one went away hungry, if I know my Grangers.

After the dinner, the entire group assembled in the upper room of the Grange home and the following program was presented, with Fred Beer as the capacity of leader. Address of welcome, Master Frank Beer (if anybody need to be told he was welcome after such a demonstration of devotion to the ladies).

Vocal Offerings

Next came vocal offerings, "The Rose of Tralee" and "All Through the Night" by Ben Jensen, accompanied by Mrs. Joe Laughlin; "The Origin of Thanksgiving," Fred Beer; vocal numbers by the Clodhopper Quartet composed of Ben, Ben, Ben, and Ben, and accompanied by Mrs. Laughlin. "Come to the Feast" and "Speed Away," sound picture in technical color, "Forests of the Northwest," shown by Ben Jensen as operator of the machine, owned by the Twin Falls County Pomona Grange. This machine is available for use by all Granges and other organizations.

After the program, guests were excused and a regular business session was held. Rev. and Mrs. Jensen were received into the Grange as new members. The Grange also subscribed for a membership in the Red Cross, as well as several members making memberships. A committee was appointed to investigate the purchasing of more chairs for the Grange home.

Announcement was made that State Master E. T. Taylor would be present at the next meeting.

Morale Not so Bad-But Industry, Labor Irritate Soldiers, Reporter Finds

By O. A. KELLER

Morale of the United States Army is "not as bad as it has been pictured" but several things which have occurred and are still occurring irritate the boys in camp.

The statement made here last night by Dr. Henry Knight Miller, flying reporter who spoke before a Town Hall assembly on the subject "Labor, Industry and Rearmament Program."

"The boys do a lot of grumbling in the camps but at heart they are real Americans," the speaker said. He cited three reasons why the soldiers are "irritated" with present conditions. They are:

1—Extension of draft time after they were originally told they were to be released in one year.

2—Industry of labor thus far to supply them with the necessary equipment.

3—All the fighting which is going on within the ranks of organized labor.

Concerning the failure of industry to supply the needed equipment, Dr. Miller declared that this comes about because the "what they are doing" is not working for big industry at all and that 70 per cent of the needed tools are in the hands of small industry.

Not Enough

The speaker likewise declared that at the present time we are not turning out enough of our industrial production to maintain our war effort. He pointed out that 80 per cent of the production in Germany is for war use, 50 per cent of the industry in Canada and the United Kingdom is for war while in the United States the total is only 15 per cent.

"This 'lag' in defense preparations," he said, has come about for the most part because of the demands of "big industry" that they have new plants in which to perform the war work.

Plays John L. Lewis

The speaker then turned to a scathing denunciation of John L. Lewis and his methods.

"John L. Lewis is no friend of labor," he said. "He is a labor hater just for power."

"The right of labor to strike in such times as we are now passing through and said:

"Many of the labor leaders are racketeers. They don't care a damn for the United States or the stars and stripes. They are unpatriotic. They are the enemy of the boys in arms can quit and throw down their guns and say 'I don't like this war' and they will be treated as traitors. There is no legal or moral right for the 'soldiers' of industry to throw down their tools and say 'I don't like this war' and go to quit."

Because of the near completion of many great factories the United States is just about ready to step into a great war production period, the present lack in defense activity will be taken up. This will prove that the effort is not "bogged down" as some isolationists would have the people believe. For mis-labeled the people along the line he played Senator Burton K. Wheeler and other isolationists.

Brighter Side

The "brighter side" of the defense picture comes when you look at all these factories nearing completion," he said.

He added that shortly the United States will be turning out from 500 to 600 four-motored bombers a month. Hitler, now at his peak production, is producing about 2,000 planes of all types every month.

"In a short time we in the United States will equal that peak," Dr. Miller said.

Concerning activity of the merchant marine, the speaker said that during the first three months of 1942 there will be 90 cargo ships completed; during the second three months there will be 140; during the third three months there will be 154 and during the fourth quarter, 184. These ships are in addition to the battleships, destroyers and other boats of war which will be completed during that same period.

Don't Fool Yourself

"Let's not fool ourselves," Dr. Miller said, "we are in this war to the extent of 60 billion dollars, which is more than we spent during the last war."

Boys Make Cedar Chests and Skis In 'Manual Arts'

Manual arts classes at Twin Falls high school have as several outstanding projects cedar chests, walnut chests, inlaid trays, reading and coffee tables, and other stands, chairs, tables and furnishings. According to Lawrence Mayer, instructor, an increased interest is being shown this year in mechanical drawing, because of the definite practical use offered through national defense work, classes having doubled enrollment over last year.

Woodrow Livingston is making a large sized walnut chest, lined with cedar, to provide aromatic qualities. cedar chests are being completed by Jim Ford, Wayne Green, Robert DeBord, Ted Fox, Eugene Winkle, Vernon Adams and Ralph Ward.

Don Moore is making an inlaid coffee tray of Philippine mahogany and bird's eye maple; Eugene Malone's project is a Duncan Phyfe coffee table, and a Queen Ann style dining table, and a Queen Ann style oval table.

Carlton McMullin is working on an early colonial chest of bird's eye maple, while Mr. Mayer himself is completing a modernistic telephone table and chair. Five pairs of skis are also in process.

ing the time we were in the last war.

"We have not declared war on Hitler, but we have pledged our wealth and industrial might to overthrow Hitler and all he stands for," he said.

"Hitler has said that he will hold us accountable for every implement of war we send to England or Russia so don't get the wrong idea. If Hitler wins in Europe then his next target will be the United States."

Always an American

He concluded with a "brighter" note when he declared that "there will always be an America—brave and strong."

Dr. Miller was introduced by Edgar W. Moorman, Murtagh, Loyal P. Perry, president, spoke briefly and announced that the Town Hall meeting would be held during December but that on Jan. 30, the noted poet, Carl Sandburg, would appear here.

Prior to the address last night, the high school orchestra, under the direction of Richard R. Smith, presented several numbers.

FDR PRESIDES AT GEORGIA DINNER

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt will observe a "third Thanksgiving" with patients at the infantile paralysis foundation here tonight.

He will preside over a belated Thanksgiving dinner attended by 300 patients, former patients and their families.

The President had intended coming to Warm Springs for Thanksgiving dinner on Nov. 20. The "caper" had more strike and intensive diplomatic conversations with Japan kept him in Washington. He asked officials of the foundation to delay their observance until November 27. But again official duties prevented him from leaving the White House. He then suggested a "third Thanksgiving" at Warm Springs.

Before leaving Washington yesterday he advised correspondents accompanying him the far eastern situation might require him to return at any time, although he hoped to stay at Warm Springs until the middle of next week.

At the dinner tonight, he will speak extemporaneously.

While at Warm Springs, the President will live at the "Little White House," a white clapboard cottage near the foundation.

Utah May Not Get Passage To Honolulu

The Utes planned to sail from San Francisco Dec. 18 on the steamship Matsonia, but the Matsonia has been taken over by the government. The only other ship sailing before the scheduled games was the U.S.S. Intrepid from San Francisco Dec. 11, is already booked to capacity.

Kelth Brown, assistant Utah coach, said that Honolulu officials were appealing to Washington for aid in getting the Utes to Hawaii, contending the games would be a financial boon. The builder to Hawaiian defense workers but no definite arrangements have been made yet. The University of Nevada said which also had Hawaii scheduled, but already made reservations on the Lurline.

Without the Hawaiian games Utah will only one game left on its regular schedule—Dec. 9 at Tucson against University of Arizona. Cancellation of the Honolulu game would leave the Utes in a position to accept possible offers to play in one of the New Year's day bowls, possibly the Sun bowl at El Paso.

Duquesne Awaits Bowl Bid After Completing Successful Season

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
PITTSBURGH—Picking the coach as well as the team of the year, football players would do all to examine the three-year record of the dandy, daring, dashing, devastating and durable Dukes of Duquesne university and their dynamic little home-grown leader, Aldo T. Donelli.

Buff Blinotto took command of the Pittsburgh squad in the spring of 1939. He is the first Duquesne graduate to head the athletic staff of his alma mater. Every coach in every sport at Duquesne is a graduate of the institution. This is Donelli's first head-coaching job.

When Donelli, played over half-back for Elmer Layden, took over as successor to John P. (Little) Clapper, Smith, the one-time Notre Dame, he inherited a squad of 34 which included 18 sophomores. Graduation and scholastic deficiencies almost decimated the regulars of the previous autumn.

Dukes Trained Far
That sophomore group of '39 has been the nucleus of the Hilloppers who have lost only one game in three falls, during which they have scored 413 points to the opposition 130. The Dukes, in the season they just closed with a 10-1 victory over previously undefeated Mississippi State, scored 143 points to their rivals' 23.

Over the three-year span, the Dukes have defeated such clubs as Carnegie Tech when that school was strong, Pittsburgh, South Caro-

Phil Alkewah Johnny Yacina
lms, Mississippi State, Villanova, Saint Mary of California, Marquette, Manhattan, North Carolina State and Texas Tech.

The Dukes have traveled far to tackle the best available opponents. Detroit led the Dukes in the last game of '39 and Mississippi upset them in '40, though the men of old Holy Ghost college out-statistified Ole Miss considerably.

Young coach in his first head-coaching position can point to such a record against such opposition with material which, as a whole, can be considered only fair.

No One Stands out
Donelli teams are units in more ways than one. No one stands out except in one or two cases.

Johnny Hockley is entitled to mention as an All-American end. Phil Alkewah, a halfback and Johnny Yacina, an end, are co-captains. The team has three sets of backs. The best back is George Gionda. Other Grade A first-string backs are Bernie Semes, Gene Ball, Johnny Blinotto and Joe Chadonis.

Victories are team victories, not individual shows. The team is well-balanced, exceptionally well drilled in fundamentals, and very cool under fire.

Ready for Any Bowl
Having bumper crops of victories they could get their hands on, the Dukes are ready for any of the bowl games, the Sugar bowl preferred.

Donelli had no intention of leaving Duquesne when he took over the professional Pittsburgh Steelers. He joined the money trails only as a favor to his boyhood friend, Art Rooney, half owner of the Steelers.

Now does Duquesne have any idea of dropping football, as reported. If the Dukes were short of cash, the capacity 31,423 who attended the Mississippi State game would be a big help.

And the bowl bid certain to come will further contribute to putting Duquesne back on its athletic feet and keep one of the more ambitious college football programs going.

Glore Chosen As Outstanding Backfield Ace

of Wendell gave Jones of Shoshone a close battle for the spot on the second club.
One of the standout features of this year's Class B clubs was the great crop of good tackles. Dayley of Shoshone and Bennett of Flag-erman would have made the first club nearly any other year. As it was they had to take a back seat from a couple of performers who were super-tops.
The same can nearly be pointed out for the ends where Doman of Declo and Ebert of Richfield starred only to be nosed out in close battles by Wheatcroft and Anderson. Fifth of Wendell was another stand-out wing man.

The second team backfield is composed of Bob Baumann of Shoshone, Woodland of Kimberly, Simpson of Halley and Clegg of Glenns Ferry.

Simpson of the northern club must certainly have been a stand-out on his club to gather in ballota the way he did with a team that wasn't any too strong. Every team the Wolverines played mentioned him in the balloting—either on first or second clubs. Baumann, of course, was another big gun in the Shoshone attack. Woodland, a shifty, all-around athlete at Kimberly high school, was the lone shining light in a mediocre Bulldog eleven that played a light schedule.

For the first time since the Idaho Evening Times poll was instituted four years ago, Glenns Ferry failed to place a man on the first club. However, Jack Clegg, 169-pound senior, was the standout on the River Pilots and landed on the second squad. Kenneth Golden, another senior, drew enough ballots to rate the honorable mention.

To each of the players chosen on the first all-star squad will go a bronze medal, while to each of those on the second club will be sent a scroll of honor.

All with the compliments of the Idaho Evening Times.

Accidental Shot Kills Mail Carrier

DUBOIS, Ida., Nov. 29 (AP)—Accidental discharge of a .22 caliber rifle yesterday resulted in the death of Howard Ellis, 41-year-old Idahoan carrier, Sheriff Eld Clegg reported.

Ellis unloaded mail bags from the back end of his car and the trigger apparently caught, and the rifle discharged, sending a bullet through Ellis' head, the sheriff said.

During 1939, the Netherlands East Indies yielded 8,000 tons of oil, 2.6 per cent of the total world output.

As Jim Crowley, initiating Dr. Stal Stevens, said at the football writers' luncheon, N. Y. U. lost so many players in the draft one would suspect it was their war.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—Critics frequently say Minnesota's play is uninteresting.

There is little of the razzle-dazzle shenanigans about the Gophers. Description frequently is passed up for just plain bust.

Why fool around with fancy stuff when you can bowl them over and rip them apart with timing and power?

Bernie Bierman believes—and utilizes—the time-worn theory that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line.

And the simplest way to get a ball carrier to—and across—the goal line is to have several big blockers blast a hole for him.

That big and mobile Minnesota line. Everybody in the stadium knows when Minnesota is going to run to the right and the most unfortunate opponent is the one who correctly diagnoses the play.

Returning to Oklahoma, where he formerly coached, with his Marquette team, Tom Stidham, speaking of the Sooners, said, "They're grand kids and great football players. The toughest part about leaving Norman last winter was saying 'Goodbye' to those youngsters."

Marquette led at the conclusion of the first quarter, 14-6, and by that time Indian Stidham was so fond of his old idea that he was going to invite them into the Hilloppers' dressing room for tea at the half.

But the most beautiful friendshipships have to come to an end. The final score was Oklahoma 61, Marquette 14.

After that, saying "Goodbye" to those youngsters wasn't half as tough as meeting them again.

How they matured in a year. New York university players were determined by the vote of the players.

You never saw so many candidates who didn't want to be elected. I'll wager the Vienna didn't ballot on that schedule.

As Jim Crowley, initiating Dr. Stal Stevens, said at the football writers' luncheon, N. Y. U. lost so many players in the draft one would suspect it was their war.

Denver 'U' May Quit Big Seven

sectional opponents, however, for a free-lance schedule. Iowa State, Baylor and Kansas U have announced their willingness to play each year—and two of them already have done so for at least two years.

Overshadowed by the home-game argument, the defeat of the training table was a major setback for Denver also. Revelation that 11 D. U. players were anemic and reported support of a majority of the schools apparently had clinched a majority for the Denver-backed measure.
