SANTA CLAUS, TOO, SHARES IN DEFENSE

Santa Claus has a new viewpoint this year. He, too, has gone "all out" for defense—for gifts that are in keeping with 1941's defense-time Christmas.

Electrical gifts, if you please! They're time-savers, but instead of providing leisure time, they're doing their part to provide more time for useful and necessary defense projects --- knitting, sewing, Red Cross, all the many duties that America's homemakers have taken up with enthusiasm.

And they're contributing to the nation's health through better meals, better care of food, less waste of the important vitamins.

Electrical gifts are the practical answer for Christmas 1941. Start filling your list at your electrical dealer's today.

POT SHOTS

WITH
The Gentleman in the Third Row

Is America Glum? No!

Dear Mr. Shola:
You can't keep an American student downhearted very long. Here's the sign I saw on one fraternity house at the University of California.

"IF YOU THINK WE'RE SCARED, YOU SHOULD SEE OUR TOKYO CHAPTER."
—Just Back

WOMAN, MOST MARVELOUS CREATURE!
Fow-wle with Virg Barron, who stole pillows in these parts, Pot Shots ran onto a little item which you could easily place in your voluminous file on Women.

A 19-year-old girl from Susanville, Calif., overturned her car near Twin Falls the other day. The auto landed on its wheels after doing a once-over, or maybe a couple-over, it was damaged maybe $400 worth but moved away under its own power.

And what do you think the young lady had to say about her narrow escape, the car damaged, and her own luck?

She told Virg she was awfully upset—ABOUT THE HOLE SHE TORE IN HER STOCKING!

IT TAKES ALL KINDS OF PEOPLE!
DON'T YOU JUST LOVE PEOPLE? Who run on and on about the last operation they had.

In Minutes Detail! What all they said under their pillows, under the ether, and what all they said when they came out.

And tell me the doctor said about their tonsils. Or their appendicitis. Or their gall-bladders. Or their kidneys.

Or whatever it was they got operated upon for? And how the night nurse was, and what they TOLD her.

And what the doctor TOLD her, and how they hope they won't never have to go to that old hospital again.

Because there is something about Hospitals. And doctors. And operations. That make awful bores. Out of the best of us!

One reason why people who've had operations are so awful bored is because they always insist upon talking about their operations right when they get home.

Operations of your own. You would like to talk about. "Did I ever tell you about the time I had my appendix out? Well, my dear, I was under the anesthetic for five minutes. I never expected to see me come out alive."

Can you beat that! Here I sat all afternoon and listened to her talk about her gall-bladder and the minute I start in on my appendix, she has to go home and dinner for her husband. That's gratitude for you.

—May N. B.

Letter to Santy Claws
Dear Santy Claws:
Please don't believe all you hear from the Republicans. I saw on a very old radio that they were a lot of fine things if I do say so myself.

So for Christmas, Santy, just look one thing into your bag for me. If you will do this you can skip all the candy and nut stuff.

I sat all afternoon and listened to her talk about her gall-bladder and the minute I start in on my appendix, she has to go home and dinner for her husband. That's gratitude for you.

THE ENEMY WON'T HAVE EYES FOR LEGS!
Estimable (if not) the local ladies are now wearing cotton hose, which are quite dark in color. An eminently patriotic move, I'd say, because in case of air raid blackouts it seems to me the lighter-colored hosiery would show up too much. Yes?

—The Neolux Swede

KIDNAPING ON THE UPSTREAM!
Dear Sir:
What this country needs today for the kiddies is clothing the same color as the gutter mud.

FUGACITY ON THE UPSTREAM!
Dear Sir:
Bound like even the P.T.A. has the war spirit. Notice this item in the morning paper: "Members are asked to be on hand for the next assembly of material."

SERIAL STORY

HIS CHRISTMAS CAROL

BY ADELAIDE HAZELTINE

CHAPTER I

ON the wide main floor far below Carol Fairfield could hear a steady click of cash registers and that peculiar melody played by the shuffle of hundreds of feet. The smell of gift perfumes mingled with the odor of burning tapers. The hum of voices rose and fell in an orchestra of sound.

It was Christmas at Dearborn's, The People's Store.

But in the balcony office which had housed the management for fifty golden years there was only a breathlessness, a hush.

Carol said, "Is he—oh, Bill!"

The red-coated figure straightened up, pushed white rayon whiskers impatiently from his face, leaving the body of Santa Claus grotesquely draped about the person of Bill Reece.

"Yes, Carol, he's dead!"

She pressed her hands against her mouth to suppress a choking gasp. She must not make a scene. As his secretary, Carol knew Andrew Dearborn would expect business to go on. Business as usual. He wouldn't want even the end of his full and kindly life to interrupt the gaiety of Christmas shoppers.

"Dearborn's is for the people," he so often told her. "All the people. Carol. Customer and employee alike. Not run merely to take their money. But to serve their welfare."

And that was the secret, the contrary, sentiment just a part of it. And for fifty years he had made it so. This policy had built Dearborn's, from a small one-story building to the great emporium of activity it was this December morning. Mr. Dearborn had made money, yes. Incidentally. Above all he had served his public.

The store had been his inspiration in life. It would be his monument in death.

"What shall we do?" Carol whispered hushed. Her blue eyes were widened in distress. The pale oval of her face framed by a shining halo of brown hair was lovely even in grief. "One small, maneuvered hand swept over her forehead and smoothed the soft, already perfect pompadour."

Bill put his arm around her shoulders, urged her to sit down. "Take it easy, Carol. I'll phone the doctor."

She heard him dial the number and speak quickly, very softly. Then he came back to her side. "He was a swell boss, Carol," he said as they gazed at the motionless grayed head.

She reached for Bill's hand. Big, good Bill. How calm he was! He had thought of Mr. Dearborn almost as a father, yet he controlled his shock. That was his way. Never excited. Matter of fact. Assured in the display department when he wasn't playing Santa Claus. President of the employees' store organization. He was her sort. She liked him. Sometimes she was tempted to believe that liking was enough. But her heart rebelled.

She wanted love. The kind that was a shining thing. The kind that she was miserable when she thought of it—the kind she cherished for Andy Dearborn, playboy son of the man who had been dead. The doctor came then, bawled himself with Mr. Dearborn's still form. When he looked up his eyes

It was Christmas at Dearborn's, but in the balcony office there was only a breathlessness. Carol said, "Is he—oh, Bill!"

He pushed Santa Claus whiskers impatiently from his face. "Yes, Carol, he's dead!"

Can't you get a doctor? Do the two of you have to sit there staring at the body of the old man? He had known he would. Four months ago he had said that.

"We got a doctor," Carol managed to say with a calmness which his temper had provoked. "Bill's trying to tell you Mr. Dearborn is dead!"

"Dead?" Mr. Herrick glared at her. "My God!" he muttered and played with his pen. "Why didn't you say so?"

"He died in his office. A few minutes ago. We didn't let it be known. It might cause confusion. He wouldn't have wanted that. Her voice rose and hung suspended. "They've taken him away."

"Who was with him?" Mr. Herrick asked.

"Bill was talking to him."

"Yes," Bill said. "We were laughing about what a youngster said to me. Mr. Dearborn told me to keep them believing in Santa, to play my part even with the boys who tried to kid me. Suddenly his voice broke off. He died—right there."

A look of undisguised anticipation began to spread over Mr. Herrick's face. "Well, I guess I'm in charge until the new guy here. Have you notified him, Carol?"

"No," the doctor asked me to. "Cable him to return at once."

"I will."

She and Bill left the office together. "Mr. Herrick seems to like the idea," Bill said grimly. "I suppose he'll have his own way until Andy comes."

"I don't know," Carol said. "He's been with me to work for him very long."

"So would I. So would everybody. He's been dead enough with Mr. Dearborn to hold him down. In a moment, Bill said, "Carol, do you remember Mr. Dearborn had me witness a will for him?"

"What do you imagine was in it?"

"Didn't Mr. Dearborn tell you read it?" he evaded over her. "No. He asked the doctor and me to sign it but he didn't let us read it. I suppose it all goes to Andy. What do you think, Carol?"

"I don't know, Bill."

But she did know. The terms of the will were burned upon her memory. She had typed it and taken it to Mr. Dearborn and his lawyer, Mr. Benson.

"Do you want to make it that strong?" cautious Mr. Benson had asked when he read it.

"Yes, I do," Mr. Dearborn had replied. "The people trust Dearborn's and I won't have that trust betrayed. Not even by my own son!"

HELP AVAILABLE ON BIRTH PROOF

Complete information as to methods to use in obtaining birth certificates or the proof of birth and U. S. citizenship is now available at the local office of the Idaho state employment service, W. Clyde Williams manager, said this afternoon.

Williams said that the local office now has data from all the states and also possessions as to how birth certificates are obtained in each state. In each case the date is also given since birth records have been kept.

"Because we anticipate a big demand for defense workers, even a greater demand that we have had in the past few months, we have compiled all this information to make it easier for workers to obtain necessary certificates and proof of citizenship," Williams said. "This information will be given to any interested person and there will be no charge."

Williams also said that among jobs now open are 1,000 positions for final assemblies (attaching subassembly units to finished airplanes) for duty in California. Men with three years recent auto mechanic experience will be acceptable and the jobs pay from $5 to $5 cents an hour to start. Men applying must provide their own tools. A list of tools needed is available at the employment office here.

An urgent call has been received for 20 bricklayers to engage in national defense works. Application blanks and full particulars are obtainable at the employment office, 129 Second street, east.

NAME UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Dec. 17

Blewett registered in the university, signed up for the draft, and enrolled in the civilian pilot training course as Rex Royden Blewett.

When the United States entered the war all O.P. pilots were grounded until they could prove their citizenship, so Blewett obtained his birth certificate to establish his citizenship. But he's still grounded.

He found out that his name is not Rex Royden Blewett but Rex Norton Blewett.

Democratic Education Seeks to Develop Personality, PTA Told

Free secondary education in a democracy should provide means of developing students as individuals; should offer a wide variety of experience and develop a well-rounded personality.

Two hundred persons heard the panel discussions on the subject, "The Philosophy of Our High School" with John Platt as chairman. Mrs. E. S. Johnson presided in the absence of Mrs. D. P. Groves, president.

Art and Enjoyment

Discussing the enrichment program, Miss Agnes Schubert said, "Art has crept into every corner of our American life. Art should equip individuals to enjoy life around them, scenery as well as everyday objects."

Musical courses in the high school have attracted many, and "we try to have each student as interested as humanly possible," Bert Christensen said, speaking on music courses.

"We teach boys and girls how to think, listen, speak and write their thoughts," commented Miss Georgia Dean, in speaking about practical courses. "This is a world of few producers and many consumers."

College preparatory courses were presented by Mr. Platt, who stressed better methods of study, more confidence, full use of all talents and what he called "an at-home" feeling about college.

"We help students to find their place in a world which is highly competitive," he observed.

Instructors study each pupil to discover his particular traits, and stress development of a well-rounded personality. Miss Gladys White said, in explanation of the vocational courses.

"We show students how to make a self-analysis and make a study before they select their vocation," she continued, concluding with "progress and success depends to a great extent on a likeable personality. Every normal person desires success and happiness."

The school's sports program is a competitive system or the American way of life, "Dodge" Christensen said, "We either humor or honor them. If we coddle them, they grow soft; if we challenge them, we strengthen them."

Concluding, she said, "We must help boys and girls to grow up not only physically but mentally, emotionally and socially. They must have experience which will enrich their lives. Group guidance is good, but individual guidance is what counts."

Final speaker on the program, Gerald Wallace, vice-principal of the high school, considered school activities, declaring that the local high school offers the boys and girls the most varied activity program in the state, in which every youth has a chance to participate.

Nichols to Speak

Mrs. C. H. Kregel, program chairman for the year, announced that Dean John Nichols, of the University of Idaho, southern branch, Pocatello, will be the guest speaker of the January meeting of the association.

Mrs. Milo Cook, membership chairman, urged everyone present to affiliate with the P-T-A. Mrs. John E. Hayes, in the interest of the national publication, reviewed the current issue of the national P-T-A magazine.

PGA TO SPONSOR $5,000 PRO-AMATEUR MEET

Bing Crosby Still to Foot Major Costs

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17 (UP)—Bing Crosby's annual pro-amateur golf tournament at Rancho Santa Fe will be sponsored this year by the Professional Golfers association of America, and professionals will be shooting for a richer purse of $5,000, it was announced today.

The tournament, which heretofore has been worth $3,000 to the pros, will be known as the national pro-amateur championship. It is scheduled for late January, after the $10,000 Los Angeles open. All proceeds are earmarked for charity.

Larry Crosby, business manager for his sportsman brother, said the new basis necessitated a change in play plans. He said Bing again will sponsor the tourney and foot the bills.

"With $5,000 at stake we have a major championship, even though play is 36 holes, it will be necessary to charge both pros and amateurs an entry fee of $5. This is the suggestion of the PGA itself," said Crosby.

Crosby said changing the tournament to the pro-amateur championship will make an appeal to combinations of the country's outstanding professionals and amateurs. Amateurs will receive medals, while the pros will play for cash awards.

Louis and Baer Prepare for Benefit Fight

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (UP)—Joe Louis and Buddy Baer appeared before the New York boxing commission yesterday to sign articles for their world heavyweight championship contest on Jan. 9. Both said they were "very happy to be fighting such a fine cause as navy relief."

Louis, who will turn over his entire purse—40 per cent of the gate—to the navy, weighed 218 pounds and said "I am very glad to do what I can to help America in the war. I think it will be a good fight; at least I know the last one we had was."

Louis left after the brief appearance for training quarters at Greenwood lake. Baer, who weighed 250 pounds, expressed similar sentiments. He said he would train at Lakewood, N. J., in the next three weeks and said he would win the title "because I had him almost out in the round last time and should gain by my experience."

The commission also examined lightweight champion Les Jenkins and his opponent for next Friday night, Sammy Angott, and pronounced them in excellent physical condition.

WAR SPOILS EXHIBITION TRIP TO SOUTHERN IDAHO FOR COAST BASKETBALL SQUAD... YOU WANT TO BE A SPORTSWRITER?

Short shot: That's a story in a national ski magazine, "Ski Illustrated," this month by Chuck Helm. Chuck, a former Twin Falls band leader and husband of Marie Dunn Helm, dancer, is now stationed at Jackson Hole, Wyo., where he has been for the past several years—skiing and band leading.

The war hits southern Idaho: Aero Industries Tech had scheduled two exhibition basketball games in this area for late December. However, they were called off today by Billie Lovitt, coach—"due to war"...

Bill Folsom, back for the holidays from Washington State college, tells us that George Davidson is being kept off the varsity case club there this year. The reason is that Coach Jack Freil wants George to mature a little more—afraid he'll come out before he would finish his college career.

Faster than most cashes stars, George is not yet 19 years of age and is still growing.

Young Folsom, incidentally, was kept out of football this year for the same reason... He'll be 21 when the next season rolls around—weighing about 300 and reaching a height of something around six feet, three inches—if the war department doesn't exert its prior claim on his frame.

Al Warden, sports editor of the Ogden Standard-Examiner, informs us that the Bears will definitely be back at Ogden next year... We quoted a piece recently from the Thompson, Kovacs posed for a picture which summed up his attitude in a single gesture. That photograph, distributed by national syndicates, displayed Kovacs holding his nose against an imaginary snout exuding from the cups he was an amateur.

Both Players Rated In fact of all this, however, the U. S. L. T. A. insisted on rating both players. What prompted the association, displayed Kovacs holding his nose against an imaginary snout exuding from the cups he was an amateur.

Whatever the reasons, the rankings have drawn a lot of fire from fans from Riggs and Kovacs, who obviously don't care now if they are rated first, last, or not at all. They are getting tired of the game starting the day after Christmas when they open at Madison Square garden and they'll be on and off it as long as they can draw the crowds.

Robbed of Honors But what of the others? Parker, for one, has been robbed of the one honor towards which he has worked most of his life—the official No. 1 spot. He has been needlessly humiliated by being ranked as No. 2, the best amateur left in the United States and must be considered under the previous numbering of Alex Thompson, the Pittsburgh play-promoter.

Point two that got out of Kovacs turned professional... He was under suspension for infraction of the rules laid down by the U. S. L. T. A., which now proudly claims him as its second best player. As for Riggs, his suspension was inevitable. His lack of discipline and an outburst was accepted as a matter of course.

When the two boys signed with the army May 7, 1941, they were slightly behind the "Tiger" group early.

Two individual exploits—Joe DiMaggio's 40-0 hitting streak and Ted Williams' 400 batting average—altered up a raging argument which did not subside at the season's end.

Joe DiMaggio's 40-0 hitting streak was the first in 66 consecutive games—the Yankees ran away with the American League pennant, finishing 17 games ahead of the Boston Red Sox. The Cleveland Indians, so-far-favorite for the season, finished 10 games behind the Yankees.

Oakley Wins Three Games On Road Trip

OAKLEY, Dec. 17 (Special)—Back from a three road trip, Coach J. S. "Monk" Halliday and his Oakley Hornets today were prepared for two games this week-end—and were certain that the opposition wouldn't be much tougher than they faced in eastern Idaho on a three-day jaunt.

The opposition this week will be finished by Shelley here on Thursday, Dec. 18, and by American Falls on Saturday, Dec. 19.

Going into these games the Hornets will be able to boast of a perfect record, because on the trip to the east the local boys really cleaned up—taking three victories.

The Hornets trimmed Blackfoot 19-13; then drubbed the Shelley outfit 27-3. After that came a 34-23 victory over the American Falls outfit. The games were played in successive nights.

Scoring honors on the trip went to Port McMurray, the veteran from last year's district championship squad, with 32 points. Larson had 22 for second place.

Coach Halliday reports that the boys looked in very good shape and that they would be in fine condition for start of league play.

EDEN, Dec. 17 (Special)—Invading Hudson Panther basketballers handed the Eden Grizzlies a 29-25 setback in a nip-and-tuck battle which was not settled until the last minutes of play.

However, with the score tied at 25-25, the Grizzlies, led by Ed Penlon and Toome each came through with a basket to give the visitors the victory.

Eden's quarter, 8-4 and at the half 10-8. However, in the third Eden pulled into a 17-15 lead before the visitors came back to take a 19-17 advantage at the rest-period.

Then in the final frame, with four minutes to go, Eden led 24-23, but the Panthers rallied for the victory. Toome scored 13 points and Penlon 11 for the winners. Barnhill was high for Eden with eight and Schultz had seven.

The primary contest went to Eden by a 28-21 score.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (UP)—Full shares of the money from the National league championship football playoff with the Bears at Chicago next Sunday will go to 38 members of the New York Gladiators' team, it was announced today.

In addition, six half portions were allotted for the four quarter shares. The payoff chiefly benefits the players. They receive 70 per cent of the receipts, which include five per cent for each of the four teams.

Of the balance, the play-off winners get 60 per cent, the losers 40 per cent.

In the 1940 playoff at Washington, the victorious Bears each received $875.90 and the Redskins, $603.25. The net gate was $102,280.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (UP)—First baseman-outfielder Buddy Hassett has been obtained from the Boston Braves, completing last week's deal that sent outfielder Tommy Holmes to the Hub club for cash and a player.

The Yankees' office said Hassett may be used in another deal early next year.

Paul Defeats Shoshone by 29 to 26 Score

PAUL, Dec. 17 (Special)—Coach Melvin Gruwell's Paul high school casters staged an early-season upset here last night by handing the invading Shoshone Indians their first loss of the current basketball campaign.

When Coach Speed Rush, Paul mentor, brought his Indians here, they were still on the edge—last night the Panthers edged up a 19-11 margin in the first half and then out-lasted the Indians for a 29-26 victory.

The state champions were led in scoring by Cannon, who got 12 points—the same number collected by Gruwell, Paul guard. Platts got 10 for the winners, while Winters scored nine for the losers.

Preliminary engagement went to the invaders when they walked off the floor with a well-earned 27-10 victory over the local seconds.

LINEUP: SHOSHONE—PAUL: Cannon (12), Winters (9), Handwick (10), Platts (10), Baumann (2), Gruwell (2), Winters (9), Handwick (10), Platts (10), Baumann (2), Gruwell (2).

PARADISE, Calif., Dec. 17 (UP)—The Rose bowl football game at Pasadena, canceled at the request of army officials and moved to Saturday, N. C. home of Duke university, would have been a sell-out as of Monday, Oregon State college officials revealed today.

Perry Luce, OSU athletic director, said arrangements had been made for refund of money paid for seats at Pasadena.

Those checks which have been received but not yet deposited in a bank will be returned to the applicants, Luce said. Checks which have already been deposited cannot be returned, but checks to the applicants covering their payments will be made good by check from Pasadena, home of OSU, about Jan. 5, Luce said.

Yank Comeback, Brooklyn Victory Top Year's Highlights in Baseball

By GEORGE KIRKNEY
NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (UP)—The comeback of the New York Yankees, who regained the world championship after being thrown in 1940, and the triumph of Brooklyn in the bitterest season in baseball history featured the 1941 season.

The Yankees' feat was the crowning achievement in a season of unprecedented drama. The Dodgers' first pennant in 11 years stirred up the city of New York.

Occasionally termed by their legion of followers as "the Cardinals' terror" because of the Cardinals' terrible run of hard luck, The Cards had their comeback after being thrown in 1940, and the triumph of Brooklyn in the bitterest season in baseball history featured the 1941 season.

DiMaggio started his streak May 16 and wasn't halted until July 17 when Al Smith and Jim Bagby gave the Sox a 4-0 victory at Cleveland. During the streak, which surpassed Willie Keeler's 44-game-old record of 44 straight games as well as George Sisler's modern mark of 41 games, the Yankees climbed from fourth place to first and made a run-away of the race the last part of the season.

During the year baseball lost one of its greatest characters when Lou Gehrig, the one-time "iron horse" died on June 2 after an illness of two years.

Racing May Be Continued on Western Coast

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 17 (U.S.)—The possibility that the army might permit racing to continue kept 1,400 of the nation's top thoroughbreds in local stables today.

Virtually no owners and trainers have made plans to ship the animals to other tracks. The management of the Santa Anita track, where the world's richest racing program was scheduled to start Dec. 31, asked Lieut. Gen. John DeWitt, senior defense commander, to reconsider his order postponing the opening of the race meeting.

Although owners based their protest on the fact that England continued its horse racing under even great war dangers, Jerry Chisler, chairman of the California horse racing board, and Charles H. Strub, general manager at Santa Anita, said they could only keep the track closed until clarification of DeWitt's order.

Those desiring to ship their horses to Florida or New Orleans for winter meetings will have difficulty obtaining horse cars because the army has requisitioned most of the cars.

Gooding Ready For All-Star Cage Feature

GOODING, Dec. 17 (Special)—One of the finest basketball attractions ever to hit southern Idaho will be offered here on Thursday evening when the House of David Bearded Aces tangle with the Broadway Colored Gladiators at 8 p. m.

This game will highlight a double-header that also brings Coach Stone-Park and his American Falls Beavers here to play Coach Mack Saunders' Gooding Senators. The preliminary contest is slated to commence at 8 p. m.

The touring teams will present some of the finest basketball talent in the nation—along with some of the better athletic comedians traveling today.

Manager of the House of David club is George Anderson, direct from the House of David at Benton Harbor, Mich. Anderson is also a star on the regular Hoops of David basketball team and a key man in that club's famed pepper game.

Another of the outstanding members on the David quintet is Bob Carstens, center. He stands six feet, three inches tall and weighs only 170 pounds—a string bean, more or less. This is his second season with the team and he is rated as one of the top-scoring centers in the nation.

The David team has been here since it was organized in 1937 and since that time has played 441 games, winning 341 and losing 90. They have played from Atlantic to Pacific and from Canada to Mexico.

The first plays tonight at Caldwell, Thursday at Nampa and Friday at Boise. All games are Big Six conference games and will count in the official standings.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Herbert Orin Grissler does not confine himself to platitudes, but deals in fundamentals in outlining the college athlete's position in the war.

"College athletics can supply four great needs of the armed forces," he writes. "They are: Material, leadership, morale and physical fitness."

Michigan's distinguished athletic director and head football coach puts forth a constructive suggestion. War should broaden, not curtail, athletic participation.

To further that end, Grissler introduced a proposal to add 100-pound football to the Western conference program. The "lightweights" have been playing right along, and with tremendous enthusiasm, in the east.

Grissler's suggestion is one of undeniable merit. There is no percentage in the health department in only a few participating in football, or any other game.

We are no longer spectators in this war.

We are participants.

It is time for America to get out of the stands.

In color it is what best can be described as geranium red. Spotted on the lawn of the walking ring are four trees of the date palm family, popularly known as Phoenix. ## Blackout Note: California Students Sit on Library Floor for Pep Rally

By MARGARET ELISWORTH
(Student at University of California, Berkeley)

At University of California and in the San Francisco Bay area the outbreak of war seemed just as inconceivable as it does in Twin Falls. Blackouts and blackouts were made the actuality seem more real.

Blackout students were many—including a pep rally in which students sat on the floor.

On the first night of war, just the Golden Gate bridge blacked out, and away the bridges were the first to put out the lights. On Wednesday night the San Francisco blacked out, although it was reported later that it wasn't very successful. We watched the lights of the city come back on across the bay, while blackouts were a time. The same evening there was a practice blackout on the campus at 8 p. m., but not many people were in it.

No One Ready

When the blackout came for the whole bay area on Friday night, no one was ready for it. There had been one earlier warning for the whole area, but it came in the early hours of the morning when everyone was asleep. The air raid warning is a two minute pulsating blast of siren, but they were too loud enough to hear inside houses.

The first hint we had of the blackout was complete pandemonium outside in the streets, with every college boy for blocks yelling, "Shut out your lights!" It was a hysterical uproar, and it lasted until every light was out as far as you could see.

Just the Opposite

There was no feeling that there was serious danger.

One of the prime rules in case of air raids is to get on the first floor of the building and get away from windows and danger of flying glass. Instead everyone went to the top floor and hung out the windows because you could see more. There was little fear, although at least one who was walking home alone when the lights went out got panicky before she got home.

In one church the choir was practicing Handel's "Messiah." The choir was singing, and the organ was playing. The choir was singing, and the organ was playing. The choir was singing, and the organ was playing.

Most students sat around and sang Christmas carols or told stories or watched around in the streets to see what was happening. One of the rules of air raids is to stay off the streets. In the university library, all students were herded into the hallways on the first floor, where they sat on the floor and had a pep rally.

No house had provisions to cover windows or provide for lights inside. Some tried to stuff windows with blankets to keep the light from showing, but generally they weren't successful and had to put the lights out.

The darkness was amazing. One of the beauties of the bay area is the display of city lights, and you can see them from miles up and down the coast. They were all off, and the darkness was so complete that the stars and planets seemed to come out as someone walked down the street, and the glare of a match being lighted was across the street. The light from the tubes of a radio was sufficient for one room, and after not having any light for two hours the glow of a candle seemed as bright as a 60 watt electric light globe.

Students Offer Story of Carol

Outside the darkness was complete. The only lights to be seen were searchlights on the coast. Otherwise there was no light except the most unbelievably dark, ironical, the gift of the last graduating class to the University of California was a system to light up the campus at night. Now all outside lights must be out over the bay area from dusk to sunrise.

Most persons went ahead to do ordinary things in the darkness, as nearly as possible. One girl discovered it is possible to wash hair and take a bath in the dark. Another former Twin Falls resident and her husband started for a movie, but he had to flash his car headlights on twice to see where he was going, and they were stopped by police and sent home. A movie theater is the place to be during a blackout, since they have only to turn off their marquee lights.

Can't Telephone

It is impossible to telephone during the blackout. The operator politely replies that she is sorry, but the line is in use. At the station were off the air, street cars stopped, and those in restaurants simply had to stay there until the blackout was over. A waitress said that most of the customers then left immediately without their dessert.

After signal is a steady blast of the siren for two minutes. It came as a great relief to everyone. The next day there was a great rush to buy flashlights and batteries and dark blue cellophane. Dark cellophane over headlights of autos makes it possible to drive through with their being seen, but it is illegal except for emergency. As the all-clear came, cars were released from the campus after being thoroughly searched. Rules strictly prohibiting cars on the campus after dark are being enforced, and no one is permitted in the buildings after regular hours.

Peak 30 Minutes

It was reported that the blackout of the bay area was successful, but it took 30 minutes for the region to become dark. The warning is given only 15 minutes before enemy planes are expected. The way in which a blackout light shows up in the blackout is a great relief to everyone.

gave directions on what to do in case of air raid to his class, but generally hysteria was recognized for what it was.

Raid rules were posted. At the beginning of the week, Alameda county public schools were closed, but they were reopened to make the situation for children as normal as possible. Children were given air raid drills in school, and taught to get under their desks, as British children do. During the blackout Friday night, one little boy insisted that his mother get under a ping-pong table in a recreation room with him, because that was what he'd been taught to do in school.

Civilians Tolerant

Civilian attitude toward Japanese is quite tolerant. The official attitude is more severe, and one student had to get a birth certificate to prove her citizenship before she was permitted to go home to Monterey after her final examinations. In Chinatown in San Francisco all Japanese shops are closed, and those which are open have signs. "This is a Chinese store," or "This store belongs to an American citizen." Lights in the city in display windows and from stores must be darkened at all times, so the city is gloomy. There are no Christmas lights such as Twin Falls boasts. Trade fell off after the war scare, and people tend to try to get home before dinner and danger of blackout. Stores closed and clerks were dismissed early in order to get home before the blackout.

Sandbags

Sandbags are being banked around telephone buildings, and water hydrants. The water front is completely closed and guarded by soldiers, and a 24-hour watch has been set on the bridges and on railroad. The army is in evidence everywhere in San Francisco. A sign of public feeling was one in Reno, "We will set the Rising Sun."

Those whom the war has touched most closely, besides the Japanese, are the students who come to California from the Hawaiian and Philippine Islands. Some of these know that their home towns have been bombed, but the cable wires are not yet cut, so they can get no word through to home.

See Victory

H. H. Freedheim, voluntary organizer for the A. F. of L., stated that it was a "signal victory for the contentions of the laundry workers."

Officials of the laundries, after the conference at the Park hotel yesterday, announced they were "not fighting the unions and never had." They pointed out that the Pocatello laundries had been unionized for some time.

When signed, the contract will set up a scale of wages here about two cents less than those existing at Pocatello with eight hours being considered a day's work and provisions for time and one-half for overtime.

DEFENSE THEME FOR "AG" CLASS

Regular Thursday evening meeting at Twin Falls high school agricultural room, for adults interested in agricultural problems concerning the national defense, will be at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow, and Bert Bollingbrook, county agent, will be guest speaker.

Mr. Bollingbrook will speak on agricultural problems for national defense, and all interested are invited. No admission will be charged.

Registration for Nurses Arranged

Registered nurses who are inactive and wish to do something for civil defense, may register with south central Idaho district health unit, Miss Mary Ann Reber, district supervisor of nurses, announced today.

Active nurses who want to enroll for similar service, may also register, she stated.

SCHOOL HOLIDAY STARTS FRIDAY

Four o'clock Friday, Dec. 19, will be an outstanding date at Twin Falls schools for this year—all schools will be out by that time for the winter vacation, according to Supt. A. W. Morgan.

This week is marked by more than a dozen Christmas plays, musicals, pantomimes and presentations by the high, junior high and grade schools, given for students, parents and P-T-A. meetings.

Students Offer Story of Carol

Story of the writing of the Christmas carol, "Silent Night," was presented at the high school auditorium by Twin Falls junior high school students, under direction of Miss Winifred Taylor, for a junior high assembly at 10 a. m. today.

"Silent Night," by Leslie Hollingsworth, had as its setting, Oberndorf, Austria in 1818, and in the cast were Robert Webb, as Pastor Joseph Mohr; Doris Clark, Frau Mohr; Ted Lewis, Joseph Mohr; Martin Fox, Franz Xavier Grober, and the organist, Ted Ryan.

Daughters of the organist, who sang the carol, "Silent Night," were Bonnie Bingham, Peggy Lou Porter, Colleen Reckman and Mary Jane Nease.

Barbara Young gave a reading, "Santa Claus' Burial," a reading, by Doyle Hill, was "Making a Happy," and Laurin Maxson told of "The Night After Christmas."

Carols were sung by a choral group under the direction of Fred D. Harbo, instructor. This group sang "Oh Come, All Ye Faithful" and "Luther's Cradle Hymn."

James Kessler was announcer, Melba Holt, Jacqueline Rutherford, Ray Cunningham, Ronald Jacobs were in charge of properties, and costumes were arranged by Virginia Fuller and Justina Burke.

AGREEMENT ENDS LAUNDRY STRIKE

Twin Falls' laundry strike, which lasted six days, had ended this afternoon. Practically all workers who went out returned to their jobs this morning.

Settlement of the strike was announced late yesterday by a conference between union officials and laundry owners. It was reported that the "order" was in effect pending actual signing of a written contract between parties involved.

One Plant Discontinued

Announcement was also made at the session that the National laundry plant in Twin Falls will not be operated in the future and that striking workers from that unit, as "scabs" occurred in other laundries, would be considered for employment there.

When signed, the contract will set up a scale of wages here about two cents less than those existing at Pocatello with eight hours being considered a day's work and provisions for time and one-half for overtime.
