JAPS OPEN "GRAND" ASSAULT

JAPAN LAUNCHES HUGE ATTACK ON IMPERIAL LINES

By STANLEY JONES
SINGAPORE, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Japanese forces, supported by armored units launched a heavy attack on British imperial positions on the west Malaya coast today, seeking to rip through the empire lines in a sector in which, it was admitted, they had succeeded in effecting local penetration.

The new attack had come after a brief lull during which Japanese planes bombed ferociously on the west and east coasts, apparently in preparation for new attempts to land troops behind the British lines.

On the west the Japanese bombings centered on Port Swettenham, 200 miles up the coast, but on the east side they were concentrated in the Mersing area only 75 miles north of this island.

Dispatches reported, however, that there had been no new landings as yet and it was asserted that on the west coast Japanese penetration had been effected on only a small scale, with the empire lines holding well.

Troops Strengthened
It was indicated that on both the west and east coasts, empire troops' concentrations had been strengthened at possible landing points and it was said that confidence was growing that the empire troops could hold a line above Kuala Lumpur island from Port Swettenham and about 200 miles from Singapore.

Dispatches reported that Japanese casualties were mounting in proportion to their gains as British fire power steadily increased.

Behind the British lines, food was being distributed in large quantities to Malay and Chinese civilians so they could disperse in the jungles out of the way of Japanese airplane attacks.

Though confidence was still expressed that the Japanese would find their path more and more difficult with each mile they might gain, hope was strong that the allied army in Burma, reinforced now by Chinese troops, might soon attack through Thailand.

START OFFENSIVE
BERLIN, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Official German broadcast recorded by United Press in London—Radio Berlin quoted reports from Tokyo today as saying that the Japanese had started a general offensive in Malaya this morning.

The offensive was started after the Japanese had penetrated the British lines between Perak and Selangor provinces, about 230 miles above Singapore, it was said.

British empire forces were reported to have chosen the jungle and mountains as providing a natural defense line to meet the Japanese attack, it was said.

SANDERS-KILLERS GRANTED PARDON

BOISE, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—The Idaho state pardon board today committed to five years the life sentence of a 50-year-old Indian convicted of murder and agreed to give further consideration to the case of Darrell Thurston, convicted bank robber and slayer.

The Indian was Jonas Frank, convicted for slaying his wife near Spaulding in 1938. The board voted to grant him a pardon, effective in August, 1942.

Thurston was convicted for slaying a police officer near Lewiston after he and three companions robbed a bank at Craigmont. His pardon request will be considered after the board has investigated the offer of a California doctor to find employment and a home for the convict.

Robert E. Devaney, sentenced to 20 to 40 years imprisonment for rape in Bingham county, was granted a two-year conditional release.

Late yesterday the board voted to continue the case of Walter "Blackie" Miller, convicted in Cassia county for the murder of a Burley taxicab driver.

The board granted two-year conditional pardons to Joseph Sanders, 22, and Mrs. Flossie Phillips, 23, who had been convicted last year of involuntary manslaughter in the starvation death of their father, Joseph Sanders.

The pardons gave freedom to the last of the four youths charged with participation in Sanders' hog-tie slaying. Last October, the board granted a pardon to George Sanders, 18, another son, and Chester Phillips, husband of Flossie, was released from the state mental hospital at Blackfoot where he was placed shortly after his arrest in 1940.

HOUSE VOTES TRANSFER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—The house tentatively voted today to transfer to the war department the functions of the office of civilian defense, headed by Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York.

Soviets Threaten to Cut Off Nazi Army in Crimea

By ROBERT DOWSON
LONDON, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Stockholm reports asserted today that a powerful Russian drive threatened the entire German position in the Crimea peninsula and that Red army forces had intensified their attacks on German lines all the way north to the Finnish front.

The Russian noon communiqué heard from radio Moscow, gave no details of the fighting, saying that "in a number of sectors Soviet troops occupied several localities, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy in men and material."

A British radio announcement, heard in New York by NBO, said the Russians had captured "men and important bridgeheads" in the Crimea.

(CBS heard the British radio report that "It is now stated in Berlin that a further shifting back of the winter front in Russia has been decided upon" in location to be announced "only when the German troops have already taken up positions along it.")

An Exchange Telegram Stockholm dispatch, quoting Swedish advices from Berlin, said Germany expected further troop landings on the Ormeau coast and recognized the danger that the Russians might cut the Perekop isthmus at the top of the peninsula.

This would force the Germans either to abandon the Crimea or risk the danger that their Crimean army, including its Italian and Romanian auxiliaries, would be cut off.

The Netherlands exile government radio Orange, broadcasting to Holland from London, asserted that in the Donets river basin, where the Russians are reported to be developing a big drive on Kharkov, the German 71st, 98th and 407th infantry regiments and the 37th Chasseurs regiment had been wiped out. The official Russian newspaper was cited as authority.

Stockholm, quoting Berlin reports among others, told of the constant reinforcement of Russian troops at Yevpatoriya, only 40 miles north of Sevastopol, under a bombardment of the Russian Black sea fleet and the ceaseless attacks by Stormovik dive bombing planes.

Moscow announced the capture of the important city of Meschovok, on the Yuzovka-Bryansk front, 135 miles southwest of Moscow, and reported that its troops had freed many other towns and villages in a relentless drive all along the front in which the Germans were suffering heavy casualties.

Defense Army Stands Firm in Island Conflict

By HARRISON SALISBURY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today his forces stand ready to meet "with skill and courage" a final grand Japanese assault which appears about to be launched with the aid of strong enemy reinforcements.

MacArthur, coolly awaiting the massive Japanese blow which may fall at any time, reported that morale of his U. S. and Philippines forces is notched high.

He indicated plainly that he and his men are ready to fight to the last to hold off the attacking enemy.

Already they have endured a fearful cost in casualties and war material upon the Japanese. A war department spokesman said today that American casualties, in contrast have been comparatively light.

This indicated that MacArthur, employing all the tactical skill for which he is famed, has marshalled his small troops virtually intact in their strong final positions in Bataan province and Fortress Corregidor awaiting all-out Japanese attack.

Rush Reinforcements
The official communiqué today reported that the Japanese, who probably outnumber MacArthur's command at least four or five to one, are rushing heavy reinforcements up to the front "probably preparatory to a large-scale general attack."

Each side jockeyed for position preparatory to the decisive battle there was a momentary lull in the Japanese air attack of Rocky Corregidor and the strong positions in which MacArthur has placed his troops on Bataan peninsula.

The Japanese indicated sent over reconnaissance planes, the communiqué revealed, apparently to determine the extent of damage inflicted upon the powerful positions and rock-protected positions of Corregidor.

But the communiqué made plain that the lull in the air was not accompanied by any cessation of ground pressure.

Seek Weak Spots
"Fighting of varying intensity" was reported along the Luzon land front. Presumably consisting of puny Japanese forces at MacArthur's short, tight defensive line in an attempt to locate weak spots at which the final assault may be directed.

Assistant Secretary of War John J. McCoy reported that the war department has had no complete report on casualties on either the American or Japanese side.

MacArthur, he indicated, has been too busy fighting to furnish the department with detailed bulletins on the progress of the battle. However, McCoy said that indications were that American casualties have not been "unduly heavy" and that Japan has lost "considerably more" troops than has MacArthur.

MacArthur himself, McCoy said, is in the field at the side of his troops, directing their operations in (Continued on Page 14, Column 3)

FIRST TIRE O. K. GIVEN BY BOARD

First authorization for purchase of new tires by an eligible applicant was granted today by the Twin Falls county rationing board as the program officially started.

Simultaneously with start of the ration setup, board members announced tentative plans for a meeting next Monday night, Jan. 12, at which the executive assistant to the Idaho tire rationing board will be speaker. The official is Al Forbes, assistant to the governor and to the state board.

To Bus Operator
The initial tire authorization went to J. L. Personius, who was granted permission to buy two tires necessary for use on the Twin Falls Wells stage, according to Carl N. Anderson and Asher B. Wilson, local members of the county board. Third member is Mayor G. C. Voeller, Buhl.

Contrary to some forecasts, applications for tire purchase were infrequent today.

The inspectors named for Twin Falls are Enos Schiffer, Union Motor company; W. W. Henderson, Magel Auto company; A. H. Timmons, Firestone Home and Auto Supply store. More will probably be selected in Twin Falls.

Mayor Voeller is to nominate inspectors for Buhl, and the full board will then act on the nominations.

Can't Delegate Job
The rationing leaders pointed out today that inspectors must do the tire checking-up themselves; they cannot delegate the job to assistants. Fee for removal of the tire and tube from the wheel, and replacing these, is set at 50-cent maximum (the inspectors, however, need not do that part of the work).

Regarding the luncheon meeting tentatively planned for Monday night at the Rogers hotel, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Wilson said ration board members will attend and members of the tire industry in this section will also be invited. The session, however, will not be a public meeting because of lack of facilities.

If Mr. Forbes cannot arrive in time for luncheon, the board will arrange a later session Monday. The state official will be asked to clarify a number of points in regard to the entire program.

TOO OLD

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Another aged man has attempted to enlist in America's armed forces. The effort was that of Samuel E. Kimball, who said he wanted to "join up and fight until those Japs are killed."

Recruiting officers linked to 92 years, when Kimball admitted to 90 years.

Patient, "Dead" for 20 Minutes, Returns to Life, Doctors Reveal

CHICAGO, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—The patient was undergoing a lung operation when his heart stopped beating. It was "dead" for 20 minutes, but the man fully recovered and the lung operation was a complete success.

Two Boston physicians told of the case today because it "demonstrates that the time interval of heart arrest compatible with normal recovery is much longer than formerly appreciated."

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Herbert D. Adams and Leo V. Hand said that recovery, as in all normal cases, was dependent upon adequate saturation of tissue, especially brain tissue, with oxygen.

Artificial respiration and massage of the exposed heart were begun immediately, they said. Oxygen was supplied to the lungs by rhythmic pressure on the re-breathing bag used in administering anesthesia.

The patient began breathing spontaneously shortly after the heart resumed beating and five minutes later his color began to return and his breathing gradually became normal.

Management, Labor Still Squabble Over Production of Arms

By JOHN GONZALES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Automobile manufacturers have won an initial victory in their dispute with labor over direction of that industry during the war, but labor is expected today to continue its efforts to obtain equal authority in converting motor plants to armament production.

The office of production management is the "umpire" in the labor-management wrangle which has threatened to delay the immediate all-out war production program.

The dispute has been going on for almost a week, but broke into the open last night after a joint labor-management super-committee which was set up last Monday was scrapped and a new subcommittee to "assist" rather than direct conversion of the plants was announced by OPM.

Labor favored the super-committee plan which would have given it an equal voice with management to "determine" policy and force execution of it in the industry's effort to produce war weapons. Management opposed it.

Still Divided
Management favors the new subcommittee, which apparently would have only advisory power. Labor opposes it.

Management bases its stand on the contention that it has done a good job on the production lines. Labor charges that the corporations have failed to convert their facilities to war work and threaten widespread unemployment among auto workers.

President C. E. Wilson of General Motors, acting as spokesman for the manufacturers, brought the dispute into the open late yesterday at a press conference by announcing that the 10-man joint committee had "disbanded" and that a new group to be announced by the OPM would be acceptable to industry.

Wilson Reports
Referring to the super-committee plan, Wilson said: "To divide the responsibility for management would destroy the very foundation upon which America's unparalleled record of industrial accomplishment has been built. There is no way to pool facilities in the method suggested without socialization."

As soon as the OPM announced the new plan, labor immediately declared that the new subcommittee had powers "completely inadequate to insure effectuation of the program" (Continued on Page 2, Column 2)

BRITISH ATTACK BASES

LONDON, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—British planes heavily attacked the German naval and submarine bases at Brest and St. Nazaire on the French occupied coast during the night, the air ministry announced today.

WAX

SUN VALLEY, Ida., Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Jim Grimm, chief attendant at the Sun Valley ski shop, said today he couldn't blame a woman for being impatient to start skiing but he wished he had kept his tobacco plug in his pocket.

Grimm put down a plug of his best chewing tobacco on a bench near the shop and walked away for a moment. When he returned, a woman skier was industriously "waxing" her skis with his tobacco.

Grimm gave her some genuine wax, but said his eating tobacco had taken on an unusual flavor.

SPY ACTIVITY IN U. S. ENDED, SAYS J. EDGAR HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Director J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation said today that spy and sabotage activity against the United States has been virtually halted so far in this war.

"And there will be no relaxation of the intense program, which has given us this favorable position in meeting the threat of devastating secret warfare," he told the United Press in an interview.

He said this hidden challenge against peace and security long had been anticipated and planned for. He described FBI wartime operations as "undramatic but intensely effective."

Counter-Espionage
"The less the foreign agent knows about these operations, the more insecure he feels," he said.

Rather than follow the usual procedure of law enforcement in meeting the threat of secret warfare, he said, the FBI and cooperating agencies have engaged in counter-espionage.

"It is often more advantageous to keep under surveillance a known spy or group of spies and potential saboteurs than it is to make premature arrests," he said.

Surveillance permits observation of their contacts, methods of communication, sources of information and permits warding off any overt act.

Weekly Meeting
When war broke out in Europe in 1939, he said, President Roosevelt designated the FBI as the coordinator of intelligence and since then FBI, naval and military intelligence heads have met weekly to correlate their activities and develop general policies.

The FBI has mobilized more than 150,000 local policemen and trained them in the essentials of national defense, Hoover said.

Spud, Onion Week Set for Jan. 16 to 24

BOISE, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Gov. Chase A. Clark today issued a proclamation setting aside Jan. 16 to 24 as Idaho potato and onion week "in the interest of national health and nutrition" and on behalf of Idaho potato and onion growers.

Nation-wide advertising will be given the event by the Idaho advertising commission, maintained by potato and onion growers of Idaho.

In addition to newspaper advertising and personal contact by a force of 20 service men in many important cities, the advertising commission has obtained the cooperation of Chambers of Commerce in 80 important cities in fostering the week.

DEPUTY ADMINISTRATOR
BOISE, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—R. M. Logsdon, Boise, today was named to replace John Churchill as deputy administrator of the state defense savings staff.

About Weather

At request of the western defense command, current weather information will be regarded by the Evening Times as information of importance to the enemy—and no current forecasts or data will be printed.

This will apply to practically all weather information of current nature. Maximum and minimum temperatures, however, will be published after 24 hours. The western defense command requests that snowfall information not be published until after 48 hours.

As for warnings of storms and severe temperatures, the Evening Times will print these only when the regional weather bureau director deems them necessary from time to time in the interest of safety or crop and livestock protection.

KOSTER DIRECTS STARCH FACTORY

Otto T. Koster, manager of the Jerome Cooperative Creamery in Twin Falls since the fall of 1929, today had resigned that position and accepted the post of superintendent of the new Magic Valley Processing company.

Succeeding Koster at the Jerome Cooperative is Lyndon Smith, who was advanced to acting manager from the position of office manager. Smith has been with the company since 1931 and started as a deliveryman in the plant. He is widely known in agricultural circles.

Koster, as superintendent of the processing company, which manufactures starch from cult potatoes, succeeds Henry Jenkins, who resigned to accept another position.

The new processing superintendent is active in community and Magic Valley affairs and has taken a leading part in Chamber of Commerce work. Through his work with the Jerome Cooperative he has had the opportunity to meet and talk with many farmers as well as other men in the section.

In taking over his new position, Koster announced that unlimited quantities of cult potatoes will now be accepted from farmers at any time without previous arrangements being made. The new plant, which is expected to develop into one of the greatest industries in the valley, is located on the truck line on the east end of the Union Pacific freight depot.

While running the full capacity of cult starch plant, Magic Valley is producing 10 tons of cult starch daily. It is produced by the Magic Valley Processing company, which is a subsidiary of the Jerome Cooperative.

Before it is placed on the market, the demand for this product.

AXIS TROOPS RETREAT AS BRITISH PUSH AHEAD IN AFRICA

ROMMEL TAKES ARMY 90 MILES FURTHER SOUTH

By WALTER COLLINS
CAIRO, Jan. 8 (AP)—Imperial troops pursued the main axis north African forces today after Gen. Erwin Rommel abandoned his last hold Cyrenaica and under cover of a dense sandstorm retreated into Tripoli, leaving rear guards and mine fields to protect his withdrawal.

Rommel, his Afrika Korps and tattered remnants of a defeated Italian army were moving from Agadabia, 90 miles south of Benghazi, into territory already penetrated by British imperials. British general headquarters for the middle east, said in a communique. The withdrawal of the axis troops started the British on the second lap of a drive which, it was hoped, would carry them through to the Tunisian border before Rommel again can make a stand.

Colstream and Scots guards led the pursuing forces.

Chance for Battle
Military experts believed that even more important than Rommel's abandonment of his Agadabia position was the fact that the British again had the main axis forces on the move, affording an opportunity, if sufficient pressure is maintained, to keep the battle flowing westward.

Rommel now was regarded as facing the necessity of attempting an evacuation by sea, standing at bay for a final battle or of attempting to flee from Tripoli into Tunisia, with or without the permission of the Vichy government.

The main axis force has been in and around Agadabia since Christmas week, when the British captured Benghazi and moved on southward in an attempt to cut Rommel's retreat and the arrival of his reinforcements from Tripoli. Lately weather south of Benghazi has been most unfavorable for combat. First there were heavy rains which turned the desert into quagmires. They were followed by sandstorms.

Bad Weather
Headquarters said the progress of the pursuing forces was slow because of bad weather and because the Germans had planted many mine fields to cover their retreat. However, the Scots and Colstream guards established contact with the retreating troops about noon yesterday about seven miles south of Agadabia. Further south the British Dragon Guards and south-African units, supported by armored vehicles, penetrated country previously held by the enemy.

Penetrations by the imperials ranged in depth from 20 to 40 miles. The enemy was pushed back as the South Africans moved onto new terrain.

Sandstorms also raged on the Egypt-Libya frontier, the communique said, but operations continued against remnants of axis forces holding Halfaya Pass and Sidi Barrani.

7 YOUTHS CITED FOR HOOKING CARS

Seven more boys today had been cited to appear before Municipal Judge J. O. Humphrey after school today for a "little discussion" concerning the practice of hooking on and sliding behind cars.

Records at the station show that several others have been asked to come to the station on similar charges. City ordinance prohibits any person from hitching onto or climbing upon a moving vehicle, with or without consent of the owner or operator of that vehicle.

Many complaints have been received by police regarding the practice being followed by scores of youngsters, many of them of high school age.

Officials today asked cooperation of parents in warning their children of the dangers of such a practice.

"The scope of power accorded the subcommittee is such that labor will have no effective voice," five officials of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said in a statement.

Thomas J. Watson, president of UAW, said the union proposal—which was rejected by the management and Mr. (William B.) Knudsen—would have provided for a subcommittee whose powers would be "to determine and make effective" best conversion methods.

The new subcommittee—as yet unnamed by the OPM—probably will include three representatives of labor and three for management with a government chairman at the helm. To this group will fall the right only "to assist in the development of the best method for the utilization of labor, tools, machinery, facilities, etc., for the most expeditious conversion of the automobile industry for the production of war materials."

REDS THREATEN TO ISOLATE NAZIS

the fact that Meschovsk is about 32 miles east of the strategically important Vyazma-Bryansk railroad and is only 135 miles east-south-east of Smolensk, where Adolph Hitler is reported to have established headquarters from which he had hoped to stop the Red army drive.

Apparently to cover up still developing operations, Russia was almost silent except for brief war communiques. But it was indicated plainly that the Red army was increasing its pressure everywhere from Finland to the Crimea, along all the 1,100 mile front.

In the area midway between the Vyazma-Bryansk and Crimean regions, the Red army was still developing an offensive aimed at Kharkov, great industrial center of the Donets river. According to Stockholm reports, the Germans now admitted that troops of Marshal Semyon Timoshenko were attacking only 3 miles northeast of the city.

The London Daily Mail reported a great battle in the southern Finnish area. It said Russians, for the first time enjoying superiority in armored forces on that front, were throwing in heavy reinforcements.

WOOL GROWERS IN FINAL SESSION

BOISE, Jan. 8 (AP)—The annual convention of the Idaho State Wool Growers' association went into its final session today as experts continued explanation of industry problems resulting from the war.

Dean E. J. Jiddings of the University of Idaho told of agriculture's place in defense, emphasizing that "the wool industry has an extremely important part to play in winning this war."

Ernest E. Henry, Spokane Wash., predicted the wool and mutton industry would improve during 1942 and 1943 but warned against "get rich quick" business policies.

"Run your business on a safe and sane basis," Henry advised.

Committee reports on freight rates, stock yards, feed yards, and transportation were also heard at the morning session.

C. C. Anderson, state tire rationing officer, told the convention that an increase in Idaho's monthly tire quota will be requested so that essential livestock industries can use their high priority ratings.

An executive session of association members and election of officers will bring the meeting to a close this evening.

Greatest book circulation was in adult fiction with 4,781 while juvenile fiction was next with 2,370. Books taken from the pay shelf came to 301.

Largest daily circulation during the period of the report was 603 while the average was 339. Total collection for the month amounted to 127,22.

INVASION FEARED ON ITALY COAST

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Reports that the axis was preparing against a possible British invasion of Italy as a result of the trend of the war in north Africa were received today in responsible sources.

The anti-Nazi newspaper Die Zeitung, published in London, received reports that Italian troops had been ordered to withdraw from the Balkans to the Italian mainland and that Hungarian forces would replace them.

Responsible sources then received reports that Hungary had ordered complete mobilization, tending to confirm the newspaper's dispatch.

Reports to Die Zeitung said Adolf Hitler had arranged for Hungary to take over the unruly Balkans and permit Italian troops to go back to Italy because the Germans cannot spare forces from the Russian front.

EDEN SAYS NAZI ARMY DECLINING

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Fresh Russian divisions driving the Germans back from Moscow "turned the tide" of fighting on the eastern front, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said today in telling commons that "the German army in Russia today is not the German army" of six months ago.

The combination of new Russian divisions thrown into the Moscow front and of the "wearing down" of the Germans resulted in turning the trend of battle, Eden said.

"This does not mean there is any guarantee against further setbacks in the future," he added. "It does not mean that the German army is not still very strong."

"What it does mean is that the German army in Russia today is not the German army of last June 22 (when the Nazis invaded Russia)."

36 Die in Storm In Rio de Janeiro

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 8 (AP)—Officials listed 18 persons killed and 36 injured today in the city's "worst storm in 40 years," with rescuers toiling through the wreckage of collapsed buildings in search of still other victims.

Heavy rains caused the structures to crumble. It was believed that a number of persons still were buried beneath debris.

Lindy Visits U. S. Capital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here today, presumably in connection with his offer to serve in the army air corps.

Lindbergh visited a local hotel this morning and was seen talking in the lobby. A hotel attache confirmed that he was there but said Lindbergh had not registered.

Asked at his press conference this morning whether Lindbergh's service offer had been accepted, Assistant Secretary of War John J. McCloy said he knew no more about the flier's informal application than was disclosed by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson last week.

"Is Mr. Lindbergh on active duty in the war department now," a reporter asked.

"I know that he is not," McCloy replied.

Mr. Jones said the Pomona will outline its work for the year, and will act on committees to boost the defense bond and stamp program.

The session will open at 10:30 a. m. at Filer Grange hall. Pot luck luncheon will be at noon.

He said that he will be present during the first aid session tonight which is a part of the course being given for police and deputies, as well as Jaycee members assigned to this work in case of emergency. The class will be at the fire station starting at 7:30 p. m. with Ed Berryman as instructor.

It is expected that Barton will also attend other first aid classes, among them being the ones which are being attended by school teachers and also employees of the Detweiler firm.

FDR STEPS IN ON PRICE CONTROLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt intervened personally today in the senate fight over price control legislation, sending a message which called for a bill providing a single administrator in charge of farm as well as general price ceilings.

Mr. Roosevelt made known his views in a message to Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky. The President opposed pending proposals for control of prices by a five-man board and co-equal authority over farm prices for the secretary of agriculture.

His message said:

"I appreciate the speed with which the senate committee is handling the price control bill, for price control legislation is a very important part of the whole war structure."

"But I am somewhat disturbed by reports that a board has been suggested as a substitute for a single responsible individual. I am also disturbed at the suggestion that control over agricultural commodities be separated from all other articles and vested in the department of agriculture."

"I strongly hope that no division of control will be made. The whole price structure is linked together. I am sending a copy of this to Sen. Brown (Prentiss M. Brown, D., Mich.)."

Brown is floor manager for the bill.

Medical Students Told to Apply for U.S. Commissions

Advanced medical students and internes who had feared the army draft would prevent completion of their studies can assure fulfillment of medical training by applying for commissions in the army or navy, area No. 1 draft board was advised today in an order from Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service.

The board here was told that the advanced medical students who apply for commissions will be permitted to finish their training (including one year of internship) before being called to active duty. The new ruling applies to third and fourth year medical students and to first year internes.

The future doctors may exercise their own choice as to which branch of the service they prefer.

If the advanced students and the internes do not apply for commission, draft boards are to consider them without regard to medical study. Under that procedure they may be drafted as privates in general army service.

FUND TO ASSURE IRRIGATION WORK

BOISE, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt's budget approval of allocations for Idaho reclamation projects was viewed today by irrigationists as an indication construction would be continued despite war conditions.

J. L. Driscoll, a member of the board of directors of southwestern Idaho water conservation projects, Inc., said the $2,000,000 allocation for Anderson ranch dam on the south fork of the Boise river would permit construction at about the same rate planned before outbreak of the war.

"With the funds we now have, the additional appropriation would provide for continuance of the project at least until we find out how tough things are going to be as a result of the war," Driscoll said.

There had been speculation in reclamation circles that the project might be suspended until after the war because of lack of funds or because of priority problems.

The President also approved $500,000 for continuance of preliminary work on the Cascade dam project, and for minor improvements on the Minidoka and Boise projects.

B. P. W. to Form First Aid Class

GOODING, Jan. 8 (Special)—Business and Professional Women's club met for a pot-luck dinner at the home of Mrs. Lleuru Lucke Monday evening. A committee, Miss Anna Goss and Miss Mary Brown, was appointed to arrange for Red Cross sewing which the club members will do at the next meeting. The customary monthly party will be dispensed with for the sewing.

Interesting talks were given by the two guests. Mrs. Bryan, a member of the Gooding county civilian defense committee spoke on "Defense." Mrs. Cargill, was production chairman and also home service chairman of the county Red Cross chapter talked on the activities of both committees.

The hostess displayed her collection of antiques which includes a number of interesting pieces of furniture, heirloom dishes and other articles.

Here's a Bargain: 59 Billion Dollar Budget--All for $2.25

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—"The budget of the United States government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1943 (United States government printing office)" is a handsome paper bound volume measuring roughly two hands by one and a half and weighing slightly less than half a stone.

This year's edition costs $2.25. This is 25 cents costlier than last year's, but the rise seems justified in view of the fact that the contents are listed at $59,027,992,300 (compared with 1942's paltry $30,075,700,162). At first glance it appears that the new edition has 1,172 pages, but that figure fails to take into account XXVIII pages of preliminary stuff—tables of contents, the President's message, a general budget summary—and 114 pages devoted to a detailed comparative statement of receipts.

Starts with Abe
The alphabetical index starts with "Abraham" Lincoln, Michigan, of preservation" and, running through 25 of the 26 letters, winds up with "Zoological park, national, District of Columbia."

The only letter which does not cost the taxpayer millions is X—in this book unknown. The book is meaty and full of facts but by no means dry as dust. It contains enough ideas for a dozen thrillers, starting with "Alaska: crab investigation," pages 687-688.

The investigation must have intrigued the indexer, too, because he mentions it outright again under the "C's" as "Crab, Alaska, investigation," and alludes to it slyly under the "T's"—"Investigation of: (See also under specific object.)"

If big figures are to your liking you can revel in the $18,818,815,000 which the war department is expected to spend for purely military purposes in 1943.

Other Extreme
Or you can go to the other extreme and glean over the 50 cents which the department of agriculture's central supply section charged against the animal husbandry division for some unexplained purchase.

The alley dwelling authority had a similarly tantalizing notation in a section accounting for some $3,000,000 in anticipated expenditures. The alley dwelling authority, it should be explained, operates exclusively in the District of Columbia, which has some very fine alleys, indeed. The item in question reads: "Transportation of things—$250." As titillating as the big crab investigation in Alaska is the section devoted to "Fees—unearned." It appears that "Fees—unearned" crop up in the securities and exchange commission, the immigration service, the interior department, the patent office and in naturalization.

War Is a Matter of Faith
War is a matter of faith.
War is not a chess game in which men sit in favored nooks of safe withdrawal and solve abstract problems.
War is not a balance of forces, in which some geometrical ratio between the productive power of one group is balanced out on a sheet of white paper against the productive power of another and the whole resolved into a balanced equation.
War is not entirely factory against factory, gun against gun, plane against plane, though these are vital.
War today is not color against color, or race against race, or even nation against nation in the sense in which that was understood a few years ago. It is also men against men.
War is faith.

We have today a conflict of faiths, as we have had so many times in the world's past.
We are going to win this war, for many reasons.
Not alone because we will pile up the greatest mound of munitions, though that will help, though it is indispensable. Not alone because we have at our disposal the greatest natural resources, though that will help, and that, too, is indispensable.
We are going to win this war because we have faith that we must win.
We are going to win because we have faith that the things we fight for are good, and needful to men. We are going to win because we shall cleave mightily to our faith.

The other side believes it is ordained to establish superiority over other men. The German and the Japanese believe (the Italians do not really believe it) that they are somehow chosen to dominate others. We believe in the right of the others to rule themselves.
We wish dominion over none.
The other side believes man is a puppet, a cog, a unit. We believe man is a personality, a soul, a collaborator. We believe he is competent to get together with his fellowmen and to rule himself. That is the difference.
We have our faith. They have theirs. Which faith shall prove stronger? Which faith shall persevere?
Which faith is just and right? Which faith deserves to live?

The guns are necessary. The tanks, and the planes are necessary. The industrial production is necessary.
The whole material panoply of victory is necessary.
But in addition, there is needed faith, faith unbending and undying that what we struggle for is worth survival.
That is the faith that will carry us to victory.

Enlist Them—Naturalize Them!
Thousands of Filipinos in the United States are unable, because of a quirk in the naturalization laws, to serve in the United States military forces. Milton Bronner, in a serviceable story, recently told how Filipinos born in the United States are citizens, but that there are some 20,000 of them who were born in the islands, now reside in the United States, but who are not under present law allowed to enter military service under the U. S. flag.
For many years there has been an increasingly close bond between Filipinos and Americans. This bond is now being cemented in blood.
Congress might well consider a law providing for enlistment of these eager Filipinos in the U. S. forces, with further provision for their citizenship on honorable discharge.

Forty-Six Millions, Unregretted
Up to the time war came to America, the people of the United States had contributed $46,000,000 for war relief in the countries which preceded them in the war.
Not a dollar is regretted. It has, meant wounds stanching, mouths fed, bodies warmed.
Now we have a sterner contribution to make. We shall have our own wounds to bind, our own refugees to care for, our own suffering to alleviate. If, in addition to our own direct contribution in the field, we can continue to relieve others who have given so much already that they cannot now help themselves, let us do that, too.

The tire ball is going to put a lot of people back on their feet.
Scientist says the universe is not expanding. It's bigger now than the Germans thought it was.

How to Lick Japan With Pennies

Pot Shots:
Was interested in your item a few days ago, the penny-a-plane idea. Would like to make an amendment to said proposal. A penny a plane by 100,000,000 Americans—that's not figuring 42,000,000 kids—would make $1,000,000. Now I urge that half of this go to the government to build more war planes and the other half go to the ones who down the enemy aircraft.
Just imagine what a rush there would be to get a Jap plane or two! All the crack shots of the world would get in on the big hunt. By the time 5,000 Jap planes were downed at only $50 for each U. S. pilot—plus the government's part—we'd provide for 50,000 new U. S. war planes to be manned by more expert hunters.
Say, how long could Japan go on furnishing targets at that rate? In fact, how long could Japan last?
—Penny Ante Ed (Lava Hot Springs)

P. S.—On the train Monday I met a young man stationed in a Texas air corps. I told him my idea. He remarked: "That would be getting somewhere. My, how the boys would go after them!"
TRY YERLING THESE ALOUD!
We guess it makes sense. You decide.
This business, we mean, where by young ladies go around making such remarks as:
"Oh, it's swell."
"Aw, that's swell."
"Oo, ter!"
"Oo, heaven help all staid citizens."
"Yes, I feel very well today."
Some day, we fear, somebody may come back with: "Aw, the hell you say."

NOMINATION FOR OFFICIAL AIR RAID "SIREN"
Friend Pottle:
It said in the Evtimes on page one that the folks in the justice department building at Washington couldn't obtain an air raid siren, so they appointed a man worker as the official siren. They say this man has a voice which can shatter windows at 50 feet.
Now the Twin Falls city council is apparently having a heck of a time finding an air raid siren for Twin Falls. So why not take a leaf out of the justice department book and pick ourselves the fellow with the booming voice in town?
I nominate Sprouts Lechler for official air raid siren of our fair town.

COUPLE OF BARRISTERS IN ONE-ACT DRAMA!
Our sleuths bring us this:
Scene: Courthouse.
Personnel: Harry Benoit and Ray Agee, two counselors at law.
Action: Benoit at telephone.
Benoit: "1408, please."
Agee (pricking up ears): "Harry, you must have the wrong number."
Benoit: "1408 is the number I want."
Agee: "But that'll be my wife on the other end."
Benoit: "Sure will. I'm calling her on business."
Agee: "Oh."

SORRY, MADAM, WE GOT OUR OWN MONEY TROUBLES!
Dear Pot Shots:
Ever since last spring I've been reading about what the nutrition experts say each person should have each day in order to have "top notch" health.
Now if the nutrition experts will just finish the job—tell me how to make the money to provide my family of four the foods they need each day then there won't be any malnutrition and everything will be 100 per cent.
In the meantime, the day we have eggs, we can't afford meat. And we either have vegetables or fruit, but our minimum budget doesn't provide for both.
Help us housewives.

ANGEL GETS A CHILL
CHAPTER III
"I'm not slightly open for trade yet," I told Jane Ann, watching her face to see how the grub was setting. "There won't be any one else unless the Indian digger comes in. Do you good to meet a little company."
"Please don't mind my not being clubby."
"I don't mind anything," I said. "Just to prove it, I'm going to shoot you full of questions."
"What kind of questions?" I could feel her tense up.
"Snoopy ones, of course. No-body's got to look twice at you to see that you've been used to money. Plenty of it."
"There isn't plenty of it any more."
"Then what are you here for?" She hesitated over that. Then she must have figured that I was friendly. She said, "I've got to live somewhere. My theory is that I'll keep this up as long as I can and then go down with the ship."
"Maybe the ship won't go down," I said, for an idea was fermenting in the old brainpan.
"Maybe not," she said.
I tapped my garter and peeled off three ten-spots from the roll.
"What's this?" she said.
"The first month's rent."
I gave the space the once-over. There was plenty to be done before I could get going.
Weeds and scrub grew waist-high. I was just working up a nice sweat when a jalopy rattled in and a young Greek got out. He was a big, square-shouldered, flat-backed, blond-haired bird with nice, friendly blue eyes and a Welliver football sweater.
"Hiya, Mom Baumer," he said.
"That's me," I said. "Pleased to meetcha, Big-and-Handsome."
"I'll be breakfast for me. I could eat a horse."
"Just out of horseneat. Eggs. Ham or bacon. Griddle cakes. Coffee and toast."
"Right. That's my order," he said.
"Your night on the tiles hasn't spoiled your appetite, Big Boy," I said.
"Tiles, your eye!" he came back at me. "I've been gold prospecting."
"And this is the Hotel Ritz," I said.
"No; I mean it. Haven't you heard? It's headlined in the papers. They've struck gold again. Back in the Colony Hills."
"Find anything?" I asked.
"Not a sparkle. I've got no luck anyhow." And he smiled like a cherub on a pink cloud.
"You ought to be able to roll your own luck with that face and shape," I told him.
"Thanks," he said, finishing the last six cakes. "How about putting this on the hook, Mom? I'm Angel Todd."
So this was the Great Todd. Nevertheless and notwithstanding, as they used to say in Montana, rules are rules.
"Angel or devil, there's no tick here," I said. "That'll be sixty-five cents, please."
He spilled his cash-pocket, spreading out two quarters, three dimes, a nickel, and seven pennies.
"How much gas could I buy for twenty-seven cents?" he asked. "The old boat's about dry."
WELL, I went soft. I told him to put his money back. And then, while he was promising that

Clearing Up Federal Income Tax
NO. 4
How to Avoid Common Errors
Twenty-two million persons, firms, and corporations, it is estimated, will probably file income-tax returns this year. These returns begin to trickle in around Jan. 1. Every return for the calendar year 1941 must be in by midnight of March 16. In order to handle the enormous volume of work alone entailed of receiving these returns, the bureau of internal revenue has greatly increased its staff in its several district offices. The experience of former years shows that the bureau is always swamped with late returns. If taxpayers will file their returns early, they will find that this will be mutually beneficial to them and to the government.
A large number of these returns contain errors which, if not corrected by the audit, would result to the disadvantage of the taxpayer. Many persons pay in more than the amount of the tax due; others fail to take advantage of the personal exemption, the credit allowed for dependents, or deductions from gross income to which they are entitled.
In making out your income-tax return, read carefully and study the instructions that accompany the forms on which the tax is computed. If you need more information, it may be obtained at the office of the collector of internal revenue, deputy collector, or an internal-revenue agent in charge. When you visit an internal-revenue office to get assistance in making out your return, take a copy of your 1940 return with you.

Nazi Army Works to Oppose Fuehrer, Washington Hears
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (U.P.) — German army officers are working in direct opposition to Adolf Hitler, even using an underground radio station to attack him, and the army plans to take over "when the moment is propitious," according to unofficial reports circulating here today.
The reports are accorded prominence in the weekly review, "Foreign Correspondence," published by Sir William Lewis, London Times correspondent, and Edward Weintal, a Polish journalist.
The radio station is described as the "Gustav Sternberg" which, the report says, "pours out contempt and hatred for the scoundrel and Hitler."
"It is obvious that the army leaders might have to face a serious social disturbance if they attempted to take over control in Germany, but our informants insist that they will try when a serious defeat is suffered," the review said.
"Should present conditions on the Russian front continue, an army put on is only a matter of time. The generals intend to salvage as much military conquest as possible."
"Their plan is to withdraw the German army to a shorter front in Russia, possibly to the Smolensk-Dnieper river line, and to evacuate Norway, which has been of no use to the army."
"At home they will take over all the government posts, they would liquidate all the important members of the Nazi party without trial, and a new government of generals would turn to the world with peace proposals."
The correspondent asserts that German losses have been heavier than generally believed, with tank losses the equivalent of 12 divisions and killed and missing to Dec. 1 estimated at 1,250,000.
"The German generals are quoted as saying that if the number of killed should reach 2,000,000 the state of the army would be tragic because of the loss of cadres and young elements," the review said.

Idaho logging truck operators last night in inquiring where they "come in" on the restriction on new automobile tires. The tires used by these trucks are big, so large that a log truck can handle a gun weighing several tons. War department has just discovered the northwest log truck, for there is nothing like it in the east, and has borrowed one for experimental purposes at the proving grounds at Aberdeen. As a logging truck has the power to climb the roughest country with a load of logs, the war department is anxious to learn whether it can give the same performance with a gun. To date, the Idaho loggers have not been advised about new tires. It is a matter that must be considered by the allotment boards in that state.
Department of agriculture hopes that the war will develop white starch from potatoes (two plants in Idaho) to the point where a large part of the two million pounds of imported root starch will be replaced by domestic product. Foreign sources of supply are, for the time being, out of making an unlimited market for the potato product. Important expansion of the industry is looked for in 1942, and the department expects such expansion to be permanent. It would solve the problem of surplus potatoes in Maine, Idaho and other leading potato states.
The Tolman committee, investigating national defense migration, says not one resident of Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Montana, Oregon or Washington is employed in the automobile industry by any of the eight companies now engaged on war orders. That is the only area in the United States that is not represented on the payroll. This com-

All major cities in Idaho, including Twin Falls, will be linked with police teletype lines and machines here will be installed and operating by the end of the week.
The plan is part of the network sponsored by the state department of law enforcement. It will operate on a 24-hour service and will permit police here to communicate instantly with officers in other sections. The machine will be capable of sending or receiving 60 words a minute.
Request that a machine be installed here was made by Jack Baldwin, state police chief. Cooperating were Chief Kenneth Barclay and Commissioner O. H. Coleman.

EIRE OPPOSED TO BASES FOR U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The use of pressure by the United States to induce Eire to give naval and air bases to the allied forces would be a "grave mistake," Robert Brennan, Irish minister to the United States, said today in an interview with the United Press.

"If President Eamon de Valera were to agree to grant the bases tomorrow I don't believe it would do any good," he said. "It would only disunite the Irish people. It would be almost certain to put Eire right into the war."

"The people in my country have found that their policy of neutrality has been best for them. They don't want to get into the war. The only way in which they will get in is if they are attacked as you were."

"Then, if they are attacked, they will be, as you are, united. That would be the best for everybody concerned. I don't think anything would be gained by insisting on the bases now."

The suggestion that the United States might try to persuade Eire to grant the bases came from London after President Roosevelt told congress in his state of the union message that American troops would fight in all parts of the world, including the British Isles. The assumption here was that an American expeditionary force soon may go to Great Britain and, since so many persons of Irish origin live in this country, persuasion for the use of Eire bases for them and for Britain would be more effective now than in the past.

Brennan, however, recalled that de Valera had announced soon after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor that Eire's position toward the United States would be one of "friendly neutrality."

Grandpa Enlists to Avenge Two Sons

Day after Japan's Hawaii attack, Walter D. Bromley, 51, a grandfather, tried to join the navy. He was turned down—a day too old. When he found two of his sons were killed on the Arizona at Pearl Harbor, he renewed his application, so insistently that the age requirement was waived, and Commander H. J. McNulty is shown swearing him into service. His wife enthusiastically backed his plea. "Just want to get back at those Japs," he said.

30,000 Japs Encircled In Chinese Engagement

By GEORGE WANG
CHANGSHA, Hunan Province, China, Jan. 7 (AP)—(Delayed)—Gen. Hsueh Yeh, commander of the 80,000 Chinese troops who soundly trounced 120,000 Japanese trying for the third time to take Changsha, said today that 30,000 Japanese were encircled 20 to 30 miles northeast of Changsha, facing annihilation. Approximately 65,000 casualties already have been inflicted on the Japanese army. Gen. Hsueh received newspaper correspondents at a victory celebration attended by Lieut. Col. David Barrett, assistant American military attaché at Chungking. Col. Barrett toasted Gen. Hsueh and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Gen. Hsueh said the Japanese encircled northeast of Changsha had no chance of breaking out of a carefully planned Chinese trap disposition. They will be unable to cross the Milo river, 40 miles north of Changsha, because all the crossings are held by Chinese forces. All other points of escape have several lines of Chinese troops in position, said Gen. Hsueh, who is commander of the Chinese ninth war zone. Discussing the Changsha battle, Gen. Hsueh said "The Japanese were defeated because they were completely outwitted." He said the battle raged from Jan. 1 to 4 and he charged that the Japanese had used "gas bombs" against the Chinese. The Chinese chased a Japanese army from Changsha in September of 1939 and again in October, 1941. Hsueh said they now were accustomed to beating the foe outside the Hunan capital.

MEXICAN GIVEN TERM IN PRISON

JEROME, Jan. 8 (Special).—Martinez Salazar, 30, Mexican, was sentenced Monday by District Judge
T. Bailey Lee to serve a two-to-10 year term in the penitentiary at Bolsa after a guilty plea of first degree burglary. Salazar was taken to Bolsa Monday by Sheriff Lee S.
Johnson and Prosecuting Attorney
Richard H. Seeley.

Officials from Bols removed Salazar Tuesday.

Salazar was found guilty of breaking into and stealing two radios from the Fred Vickers service station in mid-November. He took the two radios to Twin Falls and sold them at two different second hand stores.

Salazar, when arrested in a rooming house in Jerome, was found to have a quantity of stolen goods which had been identified as merchandise from stores in Gooding. A shotgun which he had stolen and sold in Twin Falls, from a Gooding county car, was also found.

4000 Take Part In Play Program

Four thousand persons took part in some form of activity at the Twin Falls recreation center between Sept.
1 and Dec. 31. Miss Erma Gold, city recreation supervisor, said in giving a summary of activities of the recreation center.

During the four months, 3,500 pounds of plaster paris were poured, and 18 new rubber molds were made, according to Jasper Stewart, in charge of the plaster paris craft.
Basket weaving was started Dec.
10, under the direction of Ora Barner, and classes are held each Wednesday from 7 to 9 p. m. and each Friday from 1:30 to 3 p. m. in this craft.

Woodwork is progressing rapidly at the center, with Edward Granville as superintendent of this work.
During the past four months, 504 square feet of lumber has been used.

Besides these crafts various miscellaneous crafts were offered, and special events included a Halloween party, a junior ping-pong tournament, open house and a Christmas party, Miss Gold's report indicated.

present time engaged in construction work.

Also receiving favorable news this week were Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Minor from their son, Roy Minor, that he is also alive and well. Roy is a navy

President Hints At Ration Cards

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (UP).—President Roosevelt hinted in his budget message Wednesday the American public may be issued ration cards for necessities before the war is over.

"I do not at present propose general consumer rationing," Mr.
Roosevelt said. "There are not as yet scarcities in the necessities of life which make such a step imperative."

"Consumers' rationing has been introduced, however, in specific commodities for which scarcities have developed. We shall profit by this experience if a more general system of rationing ever becomes necessary."

LEGION SPONSORS 'SGT. YORK' EVENT

By official proclamation, Mayor Joe Koehler today set aside Sunday, Jan. 18, as "Sergeant York day" for Twin Falls and announced that the local post of the American Legion will cooperate in the observance.

Designation of that particular day for the observance coincides with first showing here of the motion picture "Sergeant York" which stars Gary Cooper and which will be shown at the Orpheum theater.

Legion Sponsorship
The day will be sponsored by the American Legion post, it was pointed out, and the theater management will reserve a main floor section of from 50 to 75 seats for Legion officials, city officials and distinguished veterans who will attend the showing at 7:30 p. m. on that date. The veterans and guests will march to the theater in a body.

Anybody Know Him?
Announcement was also made by Frantz urging anyone who personally knew the famous World War hero Sgt. York to get in touch with him at once. Sgt. York came from Tennessee and because there are many former residents of that state residing in this section at the present time, it is possible that some of them might have known the hero personally. Frantz said.

More complete arrangements for the day's observance will be made between now and the time the picture is shown.

In his proclamation, Mayor Koehler pointed out that Sgt. York captured almost single handed an entire German machine gun battalion that was holding up the American advance, killing 25 of the enemy, taking 35 machine guns and bringing in 12 prisoners. The deed, according to the mayor, was cited by Marshal Foch as "the greatest exploit performed by a private soldier during the World War." For it Sgt. York received the congressional medal of honor, the distinguished service cross, the croix de guerre and the medaille militaire.

PARDONS BOARD GIVES RELEASES

BOISE, Jan. 8 (UP)—The Idaho state pardon board yesterday began consideration of 79 applications for clemency by granting three releases and denying freedom to two others.

Kurt Kohnke, sentenced in Twin Falls county to serve 5 to 15 years for robbery, was granted a one-year conditional pardon. Another conditional release went to Cecil B. Smith, convicted of burglary in Jefferson county, and the respite of Don R. Wheeler, Ada county, burglary.

Albert Bates, Canyon county, convicted of grand larceny, and Donald Woods, Ada county, burglary, were denied pardons.

Warden C. Van Clark reported that slightly less than one-half of the biennial appropriation for prison operations was spent in 1941. Expenditures for last year totaled $135,028, leaving $138,347 for 1942 operations. Expenses for 1941 included purchase of $14,500 of merchandise which was still on hand, Clark said.

Waste Pick-up Opens in Week

Collection of waste paper for national defense purposes within the Twin Falls Boy Scout district is expected to get underway within the week as 250 Scouts participate, it was announced today by Gordon A. Day, executive of the Snake river area council.

Plans for the collection in Twin Falls and other communities in this Scout district were discussed here Tuesday as Scoutmasters met at the area offices. Other districts within the council will set up similar plans for wastepaper collection in their respective communities.

In Twin Falls a three-man committee was appointed last night to zone the city for the collection. Members of the committee are W. W. Frantz, Ed Libert and Mr. Day.

Under the plan each house in the city will be canvassed and a pledge card will be available to each resident, enabling them to designate the best time each week that wastepaper can be picked up there.

The pledge card will be printed in local newspapers next Monday and Tuesday. Residents should fill out the pledges and have them available when Scouts call at their home.

Wastepaper from key points over the entire Magic Valley will be collected through facilities of the Idaho Junk house, Twin Falls, and will be placed in national defense channels.

Dedication of the Magic mountain ski shelter last Sunday was explained in a report made by Dr. Frank J. McAtee.

Announcement was also made that distribution of tickets for the annual community civic awards banquet which will be held on Jan. 20 has been completed and that after the 110 available tickets are disposed of, no more will be issued.

Jay Spracher, program chairman for the general membership meeting slated for the Park hotel the evening of Thursday, Jan. 13, announced that final arrangements for the session are being made at the present time.

JAPS SCHEDULE FOOD RATIONING

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8 (UP)—A drastic food rationing program will be instituted in six of Japan's most heavily populated provinces in February, an official Japanese language broadcast from Tokyo said today. The broadcast was recorded by CBS.

Under the ration plan, each person living in the affected provinces will be limited to 35 handfuls of rice a month, and slightly less than four kilograms of misono daily. (Misono is a bean product, resembling cottage cheese in texture and consistency. It is an important part of Japanese diet).

200 Filipinos Await Orders To Join Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8 (UP)—A stocky, gray-haired, husky little man who served four years under Gen. Douglas MacArthur as a scout in the Philippines, was organizing his fellow Filipinos today to fight for the United States, anywhere, any time.

Capt. Mariano S. Sulit, U.S. army, retired, secured 200 recruits to a Filipino expeditionary force at a mass meeting of Filipinos last night, and dispatched telegrams to the war department and to Gov. Culbert Olson announcing the group, was "awaiting orders."

"I'm not making speeches," said Sulit. "It's too late for that. It's time to act."

"We're all steamed up. The hardest thing we have to do is to wait. But we're willing to take our turn. This is a big war. We know that. In the meantime, we'll be preparing for a call to action."

He said the Filipino population of the United States naturally was concerned with the attack on its homeland.

"But this is a big war," said Capt. Sulit. "We'll fight wherever the government wants us. If we are lucky enough to fight those Japanese savages, we won't fight the way they do. We won't stab them in the back. We'll fight them face to face—very close face to face. Somebody will lose lots of face, too."

BRITISH APPLY SCORCHED EARTH POLICY IN MALAYA

ATTLEE REPORTS INITIATIVE TAKEN AWAY FROM AXIS

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE

LONDON, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Appointment of a supreme war council of the allies was one of the principal topics discussed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill in Washington, Clement Attlee, lord privy seal, told commons today.

In a broad discussion of the trend of the war, Attlee, answering criticism that Britain had "ruthlessly" applied the scorched earth policy in Malaya and other far eastern areas to keep oil out of the hands of Japan.

Confidence of eventual victory was expressed by the government spokesman in regard to the far east, although Christopher Addison, Labor leader in the house of lords, had attacked Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, ousted commander in the far east, as a "nincompoop."

Attlee gave the following picture of the war:

1. Withdrawal of empire forces to a line about 60 miles north of Kuala Lumpur, some 200 miles from Singapore.
2. Steady progress of the Russian offensive, with the initiative definitely out of Hitler's hands.
3. British forces operating 800 miles from their starting point in Libya, with heavy tank battles taking place at Agadabia and fighting in the Halfaya-Sollum area.
4. Proposed establishment of a corps of airborne defense troops to protect airfields in the United Kingdom.

Attlee asserted that the British had applied the scorched earth policy ruthlessly in Malaya, despite reports to the contrary, and had destroyed oil wells, refineries and a pipeline in British Borneo, under instructions worked out before the Japanese attack.

He said investigation was proceeding on reports that the Japanese had found a large amount of shipping to assist them at Penang, as result of British failure to destroy it.

Complete Upset

Attlee, discussing the German retreat in Russia, said that there is hardly a pretense by the German commands that all this retreat is in accordance with a plan.

"Goebbels' frantic appeal for clothing showed clearly that there had been a complete upset in Hitler's plans," he said. "Snugly housed in Moscow and Leningrad, gorged with the loot of two great cities, the German army might have passed a very different winter."

"The fact that the United States entered the war on our side determined its ultimate result beyond a shadow of doubt," he said, "but it did not offset the immediate advantages which accrued to Japan through her strategic position and the initiative she seized by her treacherous attack," he said.

No Relaxation

"Great efforts will be needed for the change of potential strength to actual power, and there is no excuse for any relaxation in our striving. But we can go forward this new year with sober and well grounded confidence in the ultimate victory of our cause."

Asserting that the visit of Mr. Churchill to Washington had resulted in a degree of unity and cooperation which could possibly have been achieved by other means, Attlee added in tribute to President Roosevelt's gigantic arms program:

"It shows that the full power of American industry is going into the American war effort."

Announcing a plan to appoint a supreme war council, he said he could not amplify his statement in the absence of Mr. Churchill.

NO RED AID FOR U. S. SEEN SOON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Members of the senate foreign relations committee today warned that the United States must entertain no false hope for immediate and complete collaboration of American and Russian forces in the far east.

The senators urged effective lend-lease aid to the Soviet Union whenever transportation lines remain open or can be cleared.

Sen. Joseph R. East, D. Okla., said Soviet troops are playing a "noble and a great role in the battle against the world's No. 1 enemy—Hitler."

He said that effort probably would make any Soviet action against Japan unwise and "unfortunate" at the present.

Sen. Elbert D. Thomas, D. Utah, said Russia's treaty with Japan prohibited immediate collaboration with United States forces in the far east, but urged that "everything possible be done" to wear Moscow from that alliance.

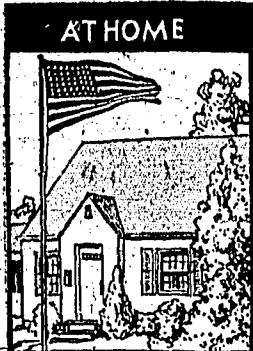

He urged that sea lanes to Vladivostok "be blasted open if necessary" as route for lend-lease goods, perhaps shipped via Alaska and the Aleutian Islands.

Thomas, in a message broadcast by short wave radio from San Francisco to Japan, said last night that Japan's celebration of the surprise attack on Pearl harbor would eventually turn to "a day of mourning." In what he described as an appeal to moderate groups in Japan, Thomas declared that the combined might of the anti-axis partners would reduce the arms of the German-Italian-Japanese bloc to "broken toys."

Patriotic Americans are proudly displaying their flag more than ever since the U. S. went to war. Here are some of the ways it is done. Allied Union Kindles Revolt Spirit in European Nations

By LOUIS F. KEEBLE

Of the United Press War Desk
Germany's crumbling invasion of Russia, the entry of the United States into the war and the union of 28 nations against the axis is striking a blow at German morale and kindling the spirit of revolt among the conquered nations of Europe. It is indicated by the latest information in London and Washington.

Berlin is patently uneasy about Nazi ability to keep conquered Europe in line. One sign is a campaign started by Marshal Goering's newspaper for closer "collaboration" on the continent, threatening nations who do not cooperate in the German "new order" with exclusion forever. Another is increasingly repressive measures taken in Norway, France and other countries.

No Collaboration
Vichy, France, Germany finds, is not "collaborating" as fully as expected after Gen. Weygand was booted out of Africa and Marshal Petain seemed about to knuckle under. Something, the nature of which the outside world has not learned, happened.

Sweden and Turkey steadfastly refuse to collaborate and their attitude apparently has been hardened by the German reverses in Russia.

Finland seems inclined to desert the axis camp and make peace with the Soviet. If terms can be reached and arrangements made for the Finns to get food elsewhere than from Germany.

Perhaps Germany is beginning to see the handwriting on the wall. The heavy losses in Russia and the suffering of the German troops from cold and disease cannot be kept entirely from the German people. When they are asked to contribute miscellaneous used clothing for the soldiers they must have suspected all was not well.

Can They "Take It?"

There has always been a question of whether the German people can "take it" when they are not winning. They were buoyed up by continued successes in the first two years of the war and were fed with promises of ultimate triumph and world domination as a superior race. Their reaction may be violent when they find they have been deceived and face the hardships of defeat on top of what they already have suffered.

Now comes word from London that the governments in exile of the conquered countries will meet there next week to formally list Germany's crimes against humanity and make plans for full retribution for the suffering she has caused. When the war ends, the conquered peoples demand vengeance.

Haven't Forgotten

The Dutch have not forgotten the slaughter of Amsterdam, nor the Poles the murder and devastation of their country. The Greeks and Serbs and Norwegians have not forgotten their sufferings. In the occupied countries, groups of patriots are said to have been assigned as watchful, vengeful vigilance committees, marking down Germans and German Quislings for instant death when the day comes. It is to make the process of retribution more orderly and complete that the London conference has been called.

The Germans cannot be completely unaware of the vengeance that awaits them. Premier Molotov's indictment was a terrible one, aside from the truth or exaggeration of his atrocious charges. Even President Roosevelt, in his address to congress, promised the oppressed peoples that they will not be denied arms when they rise against the aggressor.

DATES SET FOR TAXPAYER HELP

Assistance to Twin Falls county residents in filling out Idaho income tax returns will be provided at Buhl and Twin Falls this month, L. A. Wheeler, state income tax deputy, said today.

Mr. Wheeler will be at the Buhl hotel from Jan. 12 to Jan. 15, inclusive. He will be at the county auditor's office in the courthouse, Twin Falls, from Jan. 16 to Jan. 24, inclusive.

All assistance in making out returns and in answering questions is free of charge.

Deputy Wheeler also plans similar help in other major communities of Magic Valley.

Water Main and Sewer Underway

Work is now underway on two new WPA projects in the city of Twin Falls. It was announced this afternoon by Robert W. Hampton, district WPA manager.

One project, he said, consists of laying 10,000 feet of 24-inch steel water pipe, and the construction of seven concrete manholes. The pipe will form an auxiliary main from the storage reservoir south of the city. Cost to the city will be $35,898 while WPA contribution amounts to $22,508.

The other project is a sewer job which calls for a 1,250-foot extension of six-inch vitreous pipe on the present sewer line in the new Tyler addition to the city. Total cost of the project is $23,113 of which the city is furnishing $920 and the WPA providing $11,893.

BLAZE DESTROYS NEW YORK PIER

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Fire burned municipally-owned pier 83 on the Hudson river to the water's edge today, and damaged the 7,516-ton freighter Lancaster.

Federal bureau of investigation agents were seeking evidence of sabotage.

It took firemen, using almost every piece of land equipment in Manhattan borough and three fireboats, two and a half hours in the bitter cold to bring the flames under control.

A high wind threatened for a while to sweep them to adjoining piers.

The pier and its contents, authorities said, were a "total loss."

The Lancaster was unloading a cargo of copra (dried coconut meat). It caught fire, but tugs shoved it into the middle of the river and the flames were extinguished with slight damage.

Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia sped to the pier after the fourth alarm to direct firemen. His right cheek was frost-bitten, and fire department surgeons treated him and he soon left for home.

Four firemen were treated for burns and smoke inhalation.

It was the third disastrous waterfront fire in recent months. Last Aug. 18 the New York and Cuba Mail line freighter Panuco burned at its pier on East river in Brooklyn.

At least 33 men were killed. Four days later the Finnish freighter Aurora caught fire while anchored under the George Washington bridge. One man was killed and the ship's superstructure badly damaged. It was loaded with grain.

Finn Pre-War Fleet

Before the war, Finland's fleet consisted of two coast defense ironclads, four gunboats, seven motor torpedo boats, three mine-layers and five submarines.

Canadian Whaling

Canada has only two whaling plants, both in the province of British Columbia. They took 219 whales in the four-month season of 1940, compared with 310 in 1938.

Retribution Hits Two Killer Dogs

It took a six-man posse to do it, but the killer partnership of two dogs that attacked sheep near Twin Falls had been broken today.

The dogs killed a dozen sheep owned by Tom Bucklin, who lives five miles northwest of Twin Falls. Bucklin and five neighbors promptly took to autos and chased the dogs. They caught the killer animals, shot one to death and wounded the other. The wounded dog escaped in Rock creek canyon.

'Help at Home' by Giving Warm Materials to Assist Local Needy

By JEAN DINKELACHER

Women of Twin Falls, you can "help at home"! Warm clothing, bedding and handmade rugs are needed in local homes this winter, and especially right now, with the sudden drop in temperature.

Stored in your attic and basement, or hung in the backs of closets are dozens and dozens of discarded garments which could be made over into items that are needed immediately.

An agency has been formed to see that these articles get to the persons needing them. Sponsored by the Community Welfare Council, women of 18 local churches are opening a sewing center at 224 Main avenue south, and Friday and Saturday of this week from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. they will receive warm material which can be utilized by local families.

The council is organized with the idea of helping Twin Falls people to help themselves, and women who lack sewing facilities may come to the center during January and February, where they will receive material and aid in manufacturing clothing, bedding and other items for their families.

"We want clean, warm material that can be made up immediately, don't destroy any material that can be made into handwoven rugs or quilts, as this can be used advantageously," Mrs. J. H. Murphy, council publicity chairman, urged today.

Anyone having a pedal sewing machine to loan to the organization during January and February, when the center will be in operation, is asked to communicate with one of the officials, Mrs. W. L. Cloninger, general chairman, Mrs. Claude Pratt, secretary, Mrs. H. H. Flynn, treasurer, or Mrs. Murphy, publicity chairman.

Twelve churches are already cooperating, and others are expected to assist. Now enrolled in the project are the Assembly of God, Christian, Salvation Army, Emmanuel Lutheran, Church of the Nazarene, Church of God, Baptist, Latter Day Saints, Presbyterian, Methodist, Church of the Brethren and Christian Reformed.

Material will be received Friday and Saturday of this week, and production will start next Monday morning, Jan. 12. Women of the various churches will take turns in directing the sewing center. You can "help at home" by donating clean, warm material NOW!

Hollywood Stars Have New Slant on Slacks

Most amazing lounging costume to appear in a long time is the novel version of a Grecian shepherd boy's balloon pants worn by Margaret Sullivan at left, above. The extremely tall trousers of navy blue silk jersey are draped to fasten half-way between knee and ankle; gray jersey makes the fitted top and coral jersey the swathed skirt. Her gray suede sandals are authentically Grecian. Hollywood wouldn't be Hollywood without its feminine uniform—the classic black suit. With very few exceptions, these suits are like the one Evelyn Ankers wears at right. The beautifully tailored slacks are in aviator blue with matching, wrist-length jacket, nipped in at the waist. Bone buttons and patch pockets are the usual trim.

Intensive Research Shows Value of Sensational New Dandruff Treatment That Kills Germs!

Amazing antiseptic massage brought improvement in 76% of test cases

Bothered by flakes and scales, inflammation, itchy scalp? Then you may have the infectious type of dandruff... the type in which millions of germs are at work on your scalp!

Here's the verdict of a number of leading skin specialists... dandruff is often infectious. And the results of recent scientific research reinforce this view.

But, fortunately, there is an amazing antiseptic treatment, Listerine and massage. Listerine Antiseptic kills germs on the scalp by the millions—even including the stubborn "bottle bacillus" (Pityrosporum ovale), which many authorities consider a causative agent of infectious dandruff.

What Science Found

1. Rabbits, inoculated with the "bottle bacillus," developed typical dandruff symptoms—scales and flakes. When treated with Listerine Antiseptic, their symptoms disappeared completely within 2 weeks, on an average!

2. Then severe clinical tests were undertaken, on men and women. Dandruff sufferers used Listerine Antiseptic and massage twice a day. Inside of a month 76% showed complete disappearance of or marked improvement in the symptoms!

What Listerine Does

Start today with Listerine, the same antiseptic famous for over 50 years as a gargle. Here's what happens:

Your scalp and hair get an antiseptic bath. The "bottle bacillus" and other germs associated with infectious dandruff, are killed in vast numbers. Ugly flakes and scales begin to disappear. Irritation and itching are relieved. Your hair feels cleaner, your scalp looks healthier.

Listerine Antiseptic is an easy, quick, delightful treatment, with no mess or grease. Get the large economy-size bottle today.

LAMBERT PHARMACEUTICAL CO., St. Louis, Mo.

Recent research by skin specialists supports the view of many authorities that dandruff is often of the infectious type, accompanied by germs.

Pityrosporum ovale, the strange "Bottle Bacillus" regarded by many authorities as a causative agent of infectious dandruff.

THE TREATMENT

MEN: Douse full strength Listerine Antiseptic on the scalp morning and night. WOMEN: Part the hair at various places, and apply Listerine Antiseptic right along the part with a medicine dropper, to avoid wetting the hair excessively.

Always follow with vigorous and persistent massage with fingers or a good hairbrush. Continue the treatment so long as dandruff is in evidence. And even though you're free from dandruff, enjoy a Listerine Antiseptic massage once a week to guard against infection.

EDUCATION VITAL, SCHOOLMEN TOLD

Education as the basis of democracy is one of the first lines of defense, and there must not be curtailment of education or educational procedures during this war, O. E. Roberts, state superintendent of schools, and John I. Hillman, executive secretary of the Idaho Education association, told the South Central Idaho School Masters association last night.

The meeting, held at Rupert, featured a discussion on problems relative to school finance. Mr. Hillman's talk branched from this topic into the explanation of several other problems and projects that are being considered by the Idaho Education association, principally the matter of teacher-placement service and teachers' credit union.

Tells Situation
Mr. Roberts, besides giving a general view of the education situation as it is today, gave a summary of information gathered at a recent meeting of all the state superintendents of the schools of the United States held in New York.

Both speakers emphatically stressed the important part that schools are playing and must of necessity play in the matter of defense, telling of the need of education for all in order that the generation coming will be well prepared to meet the many problems it must face after the present world conflict.

30 on Hand
In spite of poor weather and traveling conditions, 30 were present at the session, during which it was decided that school trustees be invited to attend future meetings. Next regular session will be in Twin Falls on the evening of Feb. 4; further announcements will be made at a later date.

Rupert high school girls' sextet sang "I Love Life," and a second number.

8 MISSING AFTER SHIP GOES DOWN

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Jan. 8 (AP)—Eight civilians were reported killed and only the master was rescued when the junior mine planter Arnold sank suddenly in a gale early today while being towed to Portsmouth.

The army, in disclosing the accident, said the mine planter Baird, which had the Arnold and another disabled mine planter in tow, would arrive here late this afternoon with the lone survivor, Capt. William Chastain.

The Arnold, a 98-foot craft, went down in heavy seas and a snowstorm about 50 miles off Fort Constitution, which guards the entrance to Portsmouth harbor.

The Arnold left the fort at noon yesterday to go to the aid of an L-boat, a small army mine planter which had become disabled in heavy seas en route from Boston to Portsmouth.

The Arnold contacted the L-boat, but while towing it to port became disabled and sent out an SOS.

The Baird, a 130-foot mine planter, hastened to the scene and took both vessels in tow, with the Arnold directly astern and the L-boat in the rear.

At 1:50 a. m. today the Arnold foundered so suddenly that an army spokesman said it seemed almost as though "the bottom dropped out."

He said that the L-boat was almost drawn under by the towline attached to the Arnold.

All the vessels involved are attached to the coast artillery.

BRITISH REFUGEES TELL SEA STORY

SINGAPORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—Four elderly British refugees described today the perils of an 18-day sea journey in a small Malay fishing boat from their small island home northwest of Japanese-captured Penang.

They were unaware of the Pacific conflict until a Malaysian district officer returned from the mainland with news of the Japanese invasion.

The Japanese advance necessitated immediate evacuation, so the Britons and a pioneer Malaysian planter embarked for Penang in a single-sailed prau (small fishing boat).

Sail With Wind
Unable to tack, they were forced to sail with the winds and trust that their meager provisions of rice and water would hold out.

They told how a heavy storm sent waves over the sides of their small craft, threatening imminent disaster. But the same storm carried them to the island of Penang, their original destination.

Approaching the Penang, the party saw huge fires raging in the British port and Japanese bombers soaring overhead. So they set sail again, this time for Singapore.

As they drifted away from Penang, the Britons said Japanese bombers swooped over their tiny craft. Fearing attack, the men put sarongs around their heads to impersonate women and the bombers departed.

Drift to Sea
"We drifted miles out to sea, befuddled here and there by winds and unable to tell where we were going," one refugee said. "We were unable to control the direction of our journey during high winds because our boat had only a primitive rudder."

The party virtually had abandoned hope of reaching Singapore when a steady wind carried the boat into British-patrolled waters. Their food supply was running short and their water was gone when they were rescued.

Mahogany trees are cut by moonlight. This is done in the belief that they are more "true" of sap than, and that the wood is richer in color.

Dempsey Told He's Too Old To Join Army

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, who tried to join the army last Tuesday, didn't have a chance to get in, Capt. Herbert Chase, publicity relations officer of the second corps area recruiting and induction office, revealed today.

"When Dempsey volunteered his services to the army," Chase said, "he was told that the age limit was 18 to 35 at the present time and he could not be accepted. He was examined physically and found to be fit as a fiddle but it was distinctly understood that the recruiting office could not accept him at this time."

Today Dempsey said he still was under the impression that he might obtain a waiver from Washington and be admitted despite his 46 years, 11 over the age limit.

"I thought they might let me in because I'm as fit as any man 15 years my junior," Dempsey said. "I've been waiting to hear from Washington—and I'm still waiting. I'm ready to go any time and do anything they want me to."

Nevertheless, Dempsey's status remains a private citizen "too old to fight," the army said here.

KELLAND OPPOSES POLITICAL UNITY

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 8 (AP)—Warning every "thinking American" against political unity as opposed to national unity, Clarence Budington Kelland, noted author and publicity director of the Republican national committee, today asserted "The hope of the world is in the ballot boxes of America."

Kelland's address followed a statement from Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev., which was read to the American National Livestock association convention. Grover B. Hill, assistant secretary of agriculture, was to have spoken, but was delayed and officials announced he would appear tomorrow.

Kelland urged that Americans "learn to distinguish between unity under a flag and unity under a symbol—printed at the head of a column upon a ballot."

He said the "second duty of every citizen was to 'engage himself vigorously in politics,' but not the politics of 'purchased votes, chicanery and thimble-rigging of elections.'"

"Politics is the machinery through which the common man may see to it he is properly governed," he said. "Politics is the voice by which he may express his will. It is a weapon for the defense of human liberties, and for offensives against encroachment upon human liberties."

McCarran, unable to be at the convention, sent an address which was read by William B. Wright. McCarran's statement emphasized the vital part played by the open public domain in the welfare of our nation and its people.

He asserted that no country in the world "has afforded more opportunity to the individual for the utilization of waste or unoccupied lands than has the United States." Like Hill, he urged stockmen not to increase their herds to a point where the range would be taxed.

Election of officers will highlight tomorrow's concluding convention session.

2 Die in Colorado Railway Accident

DENVER, Jan. 8 (AP)—Denver & Rio Grande Western railway officials today ordered a thorough investigation of a freak accident which took two lives last night at Rollinsville, Colo.

H. L. Tindall, a D. & R. G. W. conductor, and G. W. Knickerbocker, a brakeman, were killed when a freight car on the westbound "Flying Ute" jumped the tracks as they stood watching the train pass.

The car did not become detached from the train, but its protruding corner swept both men to their deaths.

JAPANESE ADMIT STIFF RESISTANCE

TOKYO, Jan. 8 (Official radio recorded by United Press at Singapore, New York and San Francisco)—Military dispatches admitted today that British resistance in Malay had become "much stiffer in the north" and that Japanese forces were "going against a much stiffer defense in Selangor state."

"In the north" apparently referred to Perak, the northernmost Malay state. Selangor is on the west coast, being some 180 miles from Singapore at the nearest point. Earlier, the army had another admission of troops withdrawn from Changsha, in China.

A communique gave the following explanation of his "withdrawal":

1. The imperial forces which entered Changsha New Year's day withdrew from the city after completing mopping-up operations around the city and destroying military establishments.

(The Chinese had announced that they had done all the "mopping-up" with the Japanese wallowing in the mud north of Changsha and more than 50,000 of an original 150,000 Japanese soldiers killed in their futile attempt to take the city.)

2. Chungking forces displayed a panic-stricken strategy by massing troops in the provinces of Kwantung, Kiangsi and western Hunan on the occupation of Changsha by the swift advance of Japanese forces.

3. The Japanese forces advancing north in search of the enemy who have fled into the mountains are now attacking them and are inflicting heavy losses on enemy troops.

(The Chinese announced that the Japanese remnants had fled north.)

HEARING SET ON BEET LABOR PAY

POCATELLO, Ida., Jan. 8 (AP)—Information from sugar beet growers, workers and processors on labor sales and grower-processor contracts for the 1942 sugar beet crop in Idaho, Utah, Oregon and Washington will be received at a public hearing here Jan. 10, AAA officials announced today.

The meeting will be one of several held this year at central points of the nation's beet growing areas. The hearings provide a basis for determination by the U. S. department of agriculture of "fair and reasonable" wages for producing, cultivating and harvesting sugar beets under a stipulation of the sugar act of 1937.

The act, extended to Dec. 31, 1944, by congress last month, also authorizes the secretary of agriculture to determine fair prices to be paid by processors who wish to receive benefit payments, and provides that the secretary may make recommendations regarding the terms and conditions of contracts between growers and processors, and between laborers and growers.

Similar hearings will be held at Billings, Mont., Jan. 16 and Denver, Colo., Jan. 22.

"If It Isn't Right, Bring It Back"

'Help at Home' by Giving Warm Materials to Assist Local Needy

By JEAN DINKELACKER

Women of Twin Falls, you can "help at home!" Warm clothing, bedding and handmade rugs are needed in local homes this winter, and especially right now, with the sudden drop in temperature.

Stored in your attics and basements, or hung in the backs of closets are dozens and dozens of discarded garments which could be made over into items that are needed immediately.

An agency has been formed to see that these articles get to the persons needing them. Sponsored by the Community Welfare Council, women of 12 local churches are opening a sewing center at 224 Main avenue south, and Friday and Saturday of this week from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. they will receive warm material which can be utilized by local families.

The council is organized with the idea of helping Twin Falls people to help themselves, and women who lack sewing facilities may come to the center during January and February, where they will receive material and aid in manufacturing clothing, bedding and other items for their families.

"We want clean, warm material that can be made up immediately. Don't destroy any material that can be made into handkerchiefs, or quilts as this can be used advantageously," Mrs. J. H. Murphy, council publicity chairman, urged today.

Anyone having a pedal sewing machine to loan to the organization during January and February, when the center will be in operation, is asked to communicate with one of the officials, Mrs. W. L. Goodman, general chairman; Mrs. Claude Pratt, secretary; Mrs. E. H. Flynn, treasurer, or Mrs. Murphy, publicity chairman.

Twelve churches are already cooperating, and others are expected to assist. Now enrolled in the project are the Assembly of God, Christian, Salvation Army, Immanuel Lutheran, Church of the Nazarene, Church of God, Baptist, Latter Day Saints, Presbyterian, Methodist, Church of the Brethren and Christian Science.

Material will be received Friday and Saturday of this week, and production will start next Monday morning, Jan. 12. Women of the various churches will take turns in directing the sewing center.

You can "help at home" by donating clean, warm material NOW!

Hollywood Stars Have New Slant on Slacks

Most amazing lounging costume to appear in a long time is the novel version of a Grecian shepherd boy's balloon pants worn by Margaret Sullivan at left, above. The extremely full trousers of navy blue silk jersey are draped to fasten half-way down knee and ankle; gray jersey makes the fitted top and coral jersey the swathed girdle. Her gray suede sandals are authentically Grecian. Hollywood wouldn't be Hollywood without its feminine uniform—the classic slacks suit. With very few differences, these suits are like the one Evelyn Ankers wears at right. The beautifully tailored slacks are in aviator blue with matching wrist-length jacket, nipped in at the waist. Bone buttons and patch pockets are the usual trim.

Intensive Research Shows Value of Sensational New Dandruff Treatment That Kills Germs!

Amazing antiseptic massage brought improvement in 76% of test cases

Bothered by flakes and scales, inflammation, itchy scalp? Then you may have the infectious type of dandruff... the type in which millions of germs are at work on your scalp!

Here's the verdict of a number of leading skin specialists... dandruff is often infectious. And the results of recent scientific research reinforce this view.

But, fortunately, there is an amazing antiseptic treatment, Listerine and massage. Listerine Antiseptic kills germs on the scalp by the millions—even including the stubborn "bottle bacillus" (Pityrosporum ovale), which many authorities consider a causative agent of infectious dandruff.

What Science Found

1. Rabbits, inoculated with the "bottle bacillus," developed typical dandruff symptoms—scales and flakes. When treated with Listerine Antiseptic, their symptoms disappeared completely within 2 weeks, on an average!
2. Then severe clinical tests were undertaken, on men and women. Dandruff sufferers used Listerine Antiseptic and massage twice a day. Inside of a month 76% showed complete disappearance of or marked improvement in the symptoms!

What Listerine Does

Start today with Listerine, the same antiseptic famous for over 50 years as a gargle. Here's what happens:

Your scalp and hair get an antiseptic bath. The "bottle bacillus" and other germs associated with infectious dandruff, are killed in vast numbers. Ugly flakes and scales begin to disappear. Irritation and itching are relieved. Your hair feels cleaner, your scalp looks healthier.

Listerine Antiseptic is an easy, quick, delightful treatment, with no mess or greasiness. Get the large economy-size bottle today.

LANDBERT PHARMACAL CO., St. Louis, Mo.

Recent research by skin specialists supports the view of many authorities that dandruff is often of the infectious type, accompanied by germs.

Pityrosporum ovale, the strange "bottle bacillus" regarded by many authorities as a causative agent of infectious dandruff.

THE TREATMENT

MEN: Douse full strength Listerine Antiseptic on the scalp morning and night. WOMEN: Part the hair at various places, and apply Listerine Antiseptic right along the part with a medicine dropper, to avoid wetting the hair excessively.

Always follow with vigorous and persistent massage with fingers or a good hairbrush. Continue the treatment so long as dandruff is in evidence. And even though you're free from dandruff, enjoy a Listerine Antiseptic massage once a week to guard against infection.

EDUCATION VITAL, SCHOOLMEN TOLD

Education as the basis of democracy is one of the first lines of defense, and there must not be curtailment of education or educational procedures during this war, O. E. Roberts, state superintendent of schools, and John I. Hillman, executive secretary of the Idaho Education Association, told the South Central Idaho School Masters Association last night.

The meeting, held at Rupert, featured a discussion on problems relative to school finance. Mr. Hillman's talk branched from this topic into the explanation of several other problems and projects that are being considered by the Idaho Education Association, principally the matter of teacher-placement service and teachers' credit union.

Mr. Roberts, besides giving a general view of the education situation as it is today, gave a summary of information gathered at a recent meeting of all the state superintendents of the schools of the United States held in New York.

Both speakers emphatically stressed the important part that schools are playing and must of necessity play in the matter of defense, telling of the need of education for all in order that the generation coming will be well prepared to meet the many problems it must face after the present world conflict.

In spite of poor weather and traveling conditions, 30 were present at the session, during which it was decided that school trustees be invited to attend future meetings. Next regular session will be in Twin Falls on the evening of Feb. 4; further announcements will be made at a later date.

Rupert high school girls' sextet sang "I Love Life," and a second number.

8 MISSING AFTER SHIP GOES DOWN

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Jan. 8 (AP)—Eight civilians were reported killed and only the master was rescued when the junior mine planter Arnold sank suddenly in a gale early today while being towed to Portsmouth.

The army, in disclosing the accident, said the mine planter, Bad, which towed the Arnold and another disabled mine planter in tow, would arrive here late this afternoon with the lone survivor, Capt. William Chastean.

The Arnold, a 58-foot craft, went down in heavy seas and a snowstorm about 50 miles off Fort Constitution, which guards the entrance to Portsmouth harbor.

The Arnold left the fort at noon yesterday to go to the aid of an L-boat, a mine planter which had become disabled in heavy seas en route from Boston to Portsmouth.

The Arnold contacted the L-boat, but while towing it to port became disabled and sent out an SOS.

The Bad, a 140-foot mine planter, hastened to the scene and took both vessels in tow, with the Arnold directly astern and the L-boat in the rear.

At 1:50 a. m. today the Arnold foundered so suddenly that an army spokesman said it seemed almost as though "the bottom dropped out."

He said that the L-boat was almost drawn under by the towline attached to the Arnold.

All the vessels involved are attached to the coast artillery.

BRITISH REFUGEES TELL SEA STORY

SINGAPORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—Four elderly British refugees described today the perils of an 18-day sea journey in a small Malay fishing boat from their small island home northwest of Japanese-captured Penang.

They were unaware of the Pacific conflict until a Malayan district officer returned from the mainland with news of the Japanese invasion.

The Japanese advance necessitated immediate evacuation, so the Britons and a Malayan planter embarked for Penang in a single-sailed prau (small fishing boat).

Sail With Wind

Unable to tack, they were forced to sail with the winds and trust that their meager provisions of rice and water would hold out.

They told how a heavy storm sent waves over the sides of their small craft, threatening imminent disaster. But the same storm carried them to the island of Penang, their original destination.

Approaching the Penang, the party saw heavy fires blazing in the British port and Japanese bombers soaring overhead. So they set sail again, this time for Singapore.

As they drifted away from Penang, the Britons said Japanese bombers swooped over their tiny craft. Fearing attack, the men put sarongs around their heads to impersonate women and the bombers departed.

Drift to Sea

"We drifted miles out to sea, buffeted here and there by winds and unable to tell where we were going," one refugee said. "We were unable to control the direction of our journey during high winds because our boat had only a primitive rudder."

The party virtually had abandoned hope of reaching Singapore when a steady wind carried the boat into British-patrolled waters. Their food supply was running short and their water was gone when they were rescued.

Logging by Moonlight

Malagany trees are cut by moonlight. This is done in the belief that they are more free of sap than those cut in daylight, and that the wood is richer in color.

Dempsey Told He's Too Old To Join Army

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, who tried to join the army last Tuesday, didn't have a chance to get in, Capt. Herbert Chase, publicity relations officer of the second corps area recruiting and induction office, revealed today.

"When Dempsey volunteered his services to the army," Chase said, "he was told that the age limit was 18 to 35 at the present time and he could not be accepted. He was examined physically and found to be fit as a fiddle but it was distinctly understood that the recruiting office could not accept him at this time."

Today Dempsey said he still was under the impression that he might obtain a waiver from Washington and be admitted despite his 46 years, 11 over the age limit.

"I thought they might let me in because I'm as fit as any man 15 years my junior," Dempsey said.

"I've been waiting to hear from Washington—and I'm still waiting. I'm ready to go any time and do anything they want me to."

Nevertheless, Dempsey's status remains a private citizen, "too old to fight," the army said here.

KELLAND OPPOSES POLITICAL UNITY

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 8 (AP)—Warning every "thinking American" against political unity as opposed to national unity, Clarence Budge, Kelland, noted author and publicity director of the Republican National Committee, today asserted "The hope of the world is in the ballot boxes of America."

Kelland's address followed a statement from Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev., which was read to the American National Livestock Association convention. Grover B. Hill, assistant secretary of agriculture, was to have spoken, but was delayed and an official announced he would appear tomorrow.

Kelland urged that Americans "learn to distinguish between unity under a flag and unity under a symbol printed at the head of a column upon a ballot."

He said the second duty of every citizen was to "engage himself vigorously in politics," but not the politics of "purchased votes, chicanery and thimble-rigging of elections."

"Politics is the machinery through which the common man may see to it he is properly governed," he said. "Politics is the voice by which he may express his will. It is a weapon for the defense of human liberties, and for offensives against encroachment upon human liberties."

McCarran, unable to be at the convention, sent an address which was read by William B. Wright, McCarran's statement emphasized the vital part played by the open public domain in the welfare of our nation and its people.

He asserted that no country in the world "has afforded more opportunity to the individual for the utilization of waste or unoccupied lands than has the United States." Like Hill, he urged stockmen not to increase their herds to a point where the range would be taxed.

Election of officers will highlight tomorrow's concluding convention session.

2 Die in Colorado Railway Accident

DENVER, Jan. 8 (AP)—Denver & Rio Grande Western railway officials today ordered a thorough investigation of a freak accident which took two lives last night at Rollinsville, Colo.

H. L. Tindall, a D. & R. G. W. conductor, and G. W. Knickerbocker, a brakeman, were killed when a freight car on the westbound "Flying Ute" jumped the tracks as they stood watching the train pass.

The car did not become detached from the train, but its protruding corner swept both men to their deaths.

JAPANESE ADMIT STIFF RESISTANCE

TOKYO, Jan. 8 (Official radio, recorded by United Press at Singapore, New York and San Francisco)—Military dispatches admitted today that British resistance in Malaya had become "much stiffer in the north" and that Japanese forces were "going against a much stiffer defense in Selangor state."

"In the north" apparently referred to Perak, the northernmost Malay state. Selangor is on the west coast, being some 180 miles from Singapore at the nearest point. Earlier the army had another admission of troops withdrawn from Changsha, in China.

A communique gave the following explanation of his "withdrawal": "The imperial forces which entered Changsha New Year's day withdrew from the city after completing mopping-up operations around the city and destroying military establishments."

(The Chinese had announced that they had done all the "mopping-up," with the Japanese wallowing in the mud north of Changsha and more than 50,000 of an original 150,000 Japanese soldiers killed in their futile attempt to take the city.)

"2. Chungking forces displayed a panic-stricken strategy by massing troops in the provinces of Kwantung, Kiangsi and western Hunan on the occupation of Changsha by the swift advances of Japanese forces."

"3. The Japanese forces advancing north in search of the enemy who have fled into the mountains are now attacking them and are inflicting heavy losses on enemy troops."

(The Chinese announced that the Japanese remnants had fled north.)

HEARING SET ON BEET LABOR PAY

POCATELLO, Ida., Jan. 8 (AP)—Information from sugar beet growers, workers and processors on labor rates and grower-processor contracts for the 1942 sugar beet crop in Idaho, Utah, Oregon and Washington will be received at a public hearing here Jan. 10. AAA officials announced today.

The meeting will be one of several held this year at central points of the nation's beet growing areas. Hearings provide a basis for determination by the U. S. department of agriculture of "fair and reasonable" wages for producing, cultivating and harvesting sugar beets, under a stipulation of the sugar act of 1937.

The act, extended to Dec. 31, 1944, by congress last month, also authorizes the secretary of agriculture to determine fair prices to be paid by processors who wish to receive benefit payments, and provides that the secretary may make recommendations regarding the terms and conditions of contracts between growers and processors, and between laborers and growers.

Similar hearings will be held at Billings, Mont., Jan. 16 and Denver, Colo., Jan. 22.

Couple United at New Year's Rites

RUPERT, Jan. 8 (Special)—Miss Esther Eilers and Ray Linard were united in marriage at 11 a. m. New Year's morning.

The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. Albert B. Farrell, pastor of the local Methodist church, at the parsonage in the presence of immediate members of the family and a few close friends.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Lottie Eilers, and a graduate of the Paul high school with the class of 1939, was becomingly attired in a street length frock of powder blue crepe and wore a corsage of Tulleman roses.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Pauline Saylor, accompanied by Miss Elsie Watson, sang, "I Love You Truly."

After the marriage ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Linard were honor guests of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lottie Eilers, at a wedding dinner. Forty relatives and friends were guests at the wedding dinner and showered the newlyweds with gifts.

Mr. Linard came to Rupert about two years ago from West Virginia and is employed in the Wolford Mill and Elevator company.

Both bride and bridegroom are active members of the local Methodist church and officers in the Wesley league, the young people's organization of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Linard are at home on Fifth street in Rupert.

Larry MacPhail Holds Up Contracts, Points To Uncertain Angle

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Major club owners are very much up in the air about the war, Larry MacPhail, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, revealed today in discussing baseball's future and the contract situation.

Sportsmen Hear Report on Greatest Season, Elect Three New Directors

Southern Idaho Fish and Game association last night completed organization for the 1942 season, elected new directors to the board and heard reports of a record-breaking 1941 year that saw the local sportsmen set an all-time mark in fish plantings.

The session, held at the Idaho Power auditorium, was attended by 85 members from throughout this county and was presided over by O. H. Coleman, president.

SESSION

First meeting of the new board of directors of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association will be held on Friday, Feb. 16, at the Idaho Power auditorium, it was announced today.

At that time the new board will elect officers for the coming year and outline the activity program for the 1942 season.

Caution Urged In Feeding Of Wildfowl

A warning to "use caution" in the feeding of wild fowl during the current snowy spell was issued today by outdoor sports officials of this area.

Grover C. Davis, district conservation officer, pointed out that early feeding in cold spells by sportsmen and farmers "tends to make the birds lazy and may result in them becoming sluggish from failure to search for their own food."

Davis suggested, while pointing out that the state game department has a good supply of its own wheat on hand, that caution be used in starting of any feeding—and that the feeding program be held up for the time being.

W. R. Priebe, president of the Fourth District Associated Sportsmen's clubs, seconded Davis' warning, adding that "feeding too early would be a great mistake." "We have the biggest duck population in history wintering here and if we start feeding now we'll have to feed for at least three more months—regardless of weather. The birds are in excellent condition yet and until such time as the snow is frosted over so that the birds can't reach the ground I would urge that feeding be delayed."

TROUBLE

MOUNT VERNON, Wash., Jan. 8 (UP)—What-with western cattle-men complaining against the importation of Argentine corned beef, comes now the news that Skagit county's cabbage seed crop is a total loss.

Skagit county was growing 85 per cent of the American cabbage seed crop since imports from the Netherlands were cut off by the war. It's crop was believed to approximate 200,000 pounds, but snow and cold weather ruined it, Secretary Charles E. Gaches of Skagit Valley Seed Growers association revealed.

Soil and climatic conditions here were similar to those of the Dutch lowlands and the crop flourished until the cold spell.

Great Britain and Russia had depended upon Skagit seeds sent them under the lend-lease program, Gaches said, and are bound to feel the shortage of cabbage.

Failure of Owner to Write Letter Bars Whirlaway From Widener Race

By JACK GUENTHER
NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (UP)—Letters which are dashed off at odd moments often prove to be unexpectedly expensive, particularly if they are read aloud in court, but harken to the tale of a letter which cost $50,000 and maybe the all-time champion of the turf because it wasn't written—by a Mr. Wright.

The Mr. Wright who didn't write is Warren Wright, of Culmet, Pa., the address he didn't write to is Hialeah park, and the information which he didn't jot down was the fact that he wished to nominate Whirlaway for the $50,000 Widener cup to be run in Florida in March.

The letter is one which may be engraved in turf history as the letter which stopped the first great horse of the 1940's short of the world's money winning record. Whirlaway can't run in California because the army has ruled racing-out and he can't run in Florida because his owner didn't rule him in. So he has nowhere to go and nothing to do until spring. If anything that ever has happened in racing is ironic, this is it, because Warren Wright is famed on the turf as a man who gives his horses every chance. He nominated them for so many races every year that he pays as much in dues to secretaries of race tracks as Henry Ford does to secretaries of the United States treasury. But it is a long way from Arcadia, Calif., to Coral Gables, Fla., so Warren Wright didn't bother to pay Whirlaway's way at Hialeah. The little red horse was going in the big hundred grander at Santa Anita for a race that, along with another $10,000, would have won him the title of biggest money winner ever bred. And Wright didn't foresee a war.

So when the big blows among the palms and flamingos in Miami in March, Whirlaway won't be among the thoroughbred celebrities present and all the old railbirds will shake their heads and say that one of the oldest flukes on the turf's back in working order. That, of course, is the disaster eventually overtakes every great money winner.

The roll call of horses who have pursued the all-time record has grown long with the years and it is cluttered with the names of thousands of failures. In the past few years alone there were dozens of beauties who looked like money from Pommersland, Kayak II, War Admiral, Chaldean, Johnston, Elmloch, Lawrin—but they all went down one way or another.

Even horses who reached the goal had to conquer the equine equivalent of hell and high water in doing it. Phar Lap died after hunt showed a 97 per cent kill—789 permits, 730 entering the forest and 709 getting their deer. Of these, 459 were bucks.

Priebe Reports
W. R. Priebe, new president of the Fourth District Associated Sportsmen's clubs, reported on migratory waterfowl. He stated that the duck population for this area increased 200 to 300 per cent over a year ago and that his organization would ask that the federal government extend the duck season to 75 days for southern Idaho.

Jim Thompson, representing the Snake River Archery club, asked the sportsmen for comment on a plan of the archers for an open season in the Minidoka forest—either prior to the special hunt, or at the same time as the special hunt, with a special area marked only for archers. His organization will request that the state game and fish department set up a special time for the local Robin Hoods—as is now the custom in most states where big game hunting is allowed.

Biggest Project
Biggest project of the season was that reported by Lud Drexler, chairman of the planting committee. During 1941, Drexler reported, a total of 426,000 Rainbow trout and 43,580 Eastern brook were planted. Added to this amount were thousands of other species of fish in waters all over southern Idaho.

Drexler's report listed the following plantings:
RAINBOW TROUT
Rock creek, north of Kimberly—4,400.
Salmon dam, Gray's Landing—100,800.
Roseworth reservoir, upper end—100,800.
Crystal Springs, Snake river—50,000.
Rock creek, south of Kimberly—25,000.
Snake river, Murtaugh—40,000.
Levenson creek, Cassia county—9,000.
Trapper creek, Cassia county—23,000.
Land Springs creek, Cassia county—8,000.
Snake river, Blue lakes—49,000.
Cassia creek, Cassia county—15,000.
EASTERN BROOK
Rock creek, fourth fork—43,580.
CRAPPIE
Pillar Falls, Eagle—7,500.
Salmon dam, Eagle—10,000.
PERCH
Murtaugh lake—9,500.
Murtaugh lake—10,750.
Miscellaneous plantings included 75 bass in the Snake river and 1,000 blue gills at Salmon dam in one planting and 20,000 at the same spot in another planting.

Drexler reported that 120,000 fries were at the hatchery here now, and that 185,000 eggs were just starting to hatch.

This committee also handled the planting of 250 trees—plantings that met with varying success.

Larry Bassett reported on upland birds and big game. He stated that 1,275 pheasants were planted in this sector—before the hunting season opened. A report on the Minidoka center, with Bill Morris and Norm Daltrop at guards.

Huskies Set Record
Washington, outplayed by Washington State when the two teams defeated Missouri and Kansas State here a fortnight ago, later confounded its critics by sweeping three games on an eastern trip and breaking the Madison Square Garden scoring record in defeating New York university 72-35.

But the Cougars showed so much spark against the midwestern teams that their hopes will die hard—at all. Captain Kirk Gebert, the only returning regular, will lead a team of fast-moving youngsters, including juniors Marvin Gilberg and Owen Hunt, and sophomores Gail Bishop and Al Atkins.

Leaving this week for two series in the Willamette valley, the Cougars may find the first, against Oregon, the easier. The Webfoots dropped five of eight games on their eastern junket, after ending last season down in a tie with Washington for third.

Two Regulars Back
Only two 1941 regulars are back at Oregon for another year—George "Rocky" Andrews, last year's floor captain, and Paul Jackson, both guards. Hobson could fill out the team with such lettermen as Donald Kirsch, Warren Taylor, and 6 foot 7 inch Archie Marahik, but Ralph Furman, big reserve from last year and some newcomers won't let him. Furman and Bob Wren, speedy sophomore, will figure strongly at

WAR USE TAKING MOST OF BURLAP

Because two-thirds of the available supply of burlap has been reserved for sandbags and other military purposes, Magle Valley farmers must use burlap sacks carefully. Chairman Walter Reese of the Twin Falls county USDA defense board warned this afternoon.

War in the Pacific has cut off importation of jute, from which burlap is made, the chairman said. Normally, farmers use about three-fourths of the burlap sacks which are made, taking up about 60 percent of the total burlap supply. However, war has made the job of packaging foods for the nation's armed forces, chemicals, concrete and other war materials of first importance.

Farmers must make their sacks go as far as they can by handling them carefully, repairing damaged sacks and returning used sacks as quickly as possible for re-use, Reese said. Coarse cotton fabrics are being studied as a substitute for burlap, but cannot be expected to take care of all the needs.

Check-Bouncing Plan Finally Catches Chicago "Financier"

CHICAGO, Jan. 8 (AP)—H. Donald Sutphen rode a financial merry-go-round for eight months, depositing receipts from bogus checks before they cleared to keep them from bouncing. Then his system broke down.

It worked, Sutphen confided to Detectives Leo Wolff and Arnold Bloch, until "writer's cramp" and the strain of "getting up early every morning" slowed him down.

He said he worked out his financial system eight months ago when he discovered he owed $400 to Sutphen and Sutphen Co., a die-cutting establishment which he and his brother own.

He went about the city writing and cashing personal checks, until he had $800, he said. Then, he made up his business shortage by depositing the money to the account of Sutphen and Sutphen.

Sutphen said he knew his personal account wouldn't cover the checks, but he also knew it would take a day or two for the checks to be brought to the bank for pay-

Nurses in Masks

A new mask has been added to the equipment of army nurses at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco. In addition to the gauze masks used in the surgery, Lieut. Ann B. Bakalar shows the gas mask issue.

CLUB WILL GIVE LOYALTY PLEDGE

Members of the local Lions club will pledge loyalty to the United States at a "victory week" session set for the Park hotel Friday noon at which time Judge James R. Bothwell, civilian defense county chairman, will be speaker.

Judge Bothwell's topic at the session, similar to those being staged by some 4,000 Lions clubs throughout the United States, will be "Loyalty and Unity of Citizens."

Resolutions of loyalty and support will be sent to President Roosevelt and Gov. Chase A. Clark. The resolution is being drawn up at the present time by Earl Walker. It will be read as an individual pledge by the members.

Group singing of patriotic songs will be led by Wilton Peck. Guests for the session will include Mayor Joe Koehler and Chief of Police Kenneth Barclay.

Horace Holmes is program chairman and Dr. O. T. Luke, president, will preside.

Plane Every Four Minutes Is Scheduled

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—The United States must turn out one airplane every four minutes, one tank every seven minutes and two ships every day to meet President Roosevelt's war production schedule for 1942, the National Association of Manufacturers estimated today.

The President called for 125,000 planes, 75,000 tanks and 10,000,000 tons of shipping by the end of 1942. The enormity of the program is best emphasized in the aircraft production schedule, the NAM said.

"Some idea of the size of this program is shown by the fact that to produce 60,000 airplanes a year, with plants working 385 days a year and 24 hours a day, one plane could be turned out every nine minutes," the association said. "To turn out 125,000 planes would call for the production of one plane every four minutes."

SNOWY STREETS CAUSE MISHAPS

Three minor automobile crashes were investigated by local police yesterday afternoon, records show. At noon cars operated by Neil Howard, Twin Falls, and Melvin H. Switzer, route three, crashed at the intersection of Sixth avenue east and Fourth street.

At 2:30 p. m. a pickup truck driven by L. D. Cunningham and a private car driven by Claude Brown, Jr., crashed at the intersection of the Truck lane and Sixth street east.

Records also show that damages estimated at $30 occurred when cars operated by Fannie Wilson, route three, and Harvey Cook met at Main avenue west and Second street.
