

NEW, OLD WOUNDS THREATEN PROPOSED LABOR PEACE

MURRAY REBUKES LEWIS ON OFFER FOR CONFERENCE

By GEORGE E. REEDY, Jr.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (U.P.)—New wounds as well as old grievances threatened today to impede negotiations for uniting the labor movement after seven years of separated units.

Sen. Robert F. Wagner, D. N. Y., co-author of the national labor relations and social security laws, said labor peace "definitely is in the cards," although it may be some time before the differences can be composed.

President Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, in a letter interpreted by most observers as a rebuke, told former CIO President John L. Lewis that only the organization's executive board could order peace conferences resumed with American Federation of Labor representatives.

Proposes Peace Talks
Lewis had proposed to both Murray and AFL President William Green that the peace talks broken off in April, 1939, be resumed. The AFL executive council promptly accepted the proposal.

Murray, making no effort to veil his belief that Lewis acted without proper authority, invited the former CIO president to attend a meeting of the executive board in New York on Jan. 24 to present his viewpoint.

Green denied a newspaper report that an agreement already had been reached and that it included his resignation. He said there was "absolutely no truth in the statement," and it rendered "a great disservice" to the cause of "labor unity and labor peace."

Wagner believed the "bitter animosity" resulting from difficulties between the AFL and CIO would provide obstacles, despite the "overwhelming desire of labor's rank and file for unity during the war period."

He said unity would result in three important benefits:

1. Elimination of jurisdictional disputes and "raiding" to the detriment of war production.
2. Strengthening of labor's hand "by unification of its strength," which will be felt particularly in the post-war period.
3. Improved relations with employers heretofore plagued by jurisdictional disputes and "union politics."

Sen. Walter F. George, D. Ga., Harry S. Truman, D. Mo., and Elbert D. Thomas, D. Utah, joined Wagner in the hope that labor's war would end as a contribution both to labor itself and to the war production program.

It was learned that Lewis has been carrying on "exploratory" conversations with AFL leaders but according to informants no definite agreement has been reached. The parties involved in these conversations were AFL Secretary-Treasurer George Meany, Daniel Tobin, head of the large AFL teamsters union, and William J. Hutchinson, leader of the AFL carpenters.

Take No Part
Murray and Green were said to have taken no part in them.

Lewis was represented as believing that labor should unite to win the war. Furthermore, his friends said, he believes that unity is essential if unions are to maintain their social gains after the emergency is over.

The informal negotiations were called, it was said, because Lewis thought that formal conferences would be useless unless some basis had been reached beforehand. He was said to be firm in demanding that Green resign as a prerequisite to unity.

One AFL official said his organization had accepted the Lewis suggestion for a resumption of conferences in the belief that he spoke for the CIO. The Murray letter, they declared, leaves the status of the conferences in doubt.

ENEMY ATTACKS 4TH OIL TANKER

naval vessel was scouring the waters close to the populous Atlantic coast to rid them of what President Roosevelt has termed "raiding" attacks.

One member of the Malay crew, Beatrice, Walter Bruce of Stanton, Ill., said the submarine apparently deliberately chose the Malay as its target.

Other Ships
"There were several other ships around us," he said, "but none were bothered, showing that the submarine was after oil tankers."

But the Malay was empty, en route from Philadelphia to Port Arthur, Tex., to take on a cargo of crude oil.

Crew members revealed that the submarine opened the attack with a fusillade of shells from 500 yards. The first shell hit the bridge, splintering and firing a lifeboat. Three others followed quickly, striking aft. One pierced the cook's sleeping quarters and inflicted fatal burns on Adams J. Hay, second cook, who died in a lifeboat.

As soon as the shellfire started, 18 of the Malay's crew abandoned ship in lifeboats. The submarine then ceased firing and the men climbed back onto the tanker. After the men had returned, the submarine—then about 1,500 yards away—fired a torpedo which struck her amidships.

A Swedish ship pulled along side the M. J. and offered assistance but Capt. John M. Dodge of the Malay instructed her to proceed.

The four missing members of the crew lost their lives as the result of a "panicky" lifeboat crew, survivors said.

Philip Gauthorn, seaman of Tappanahock, Va., described the loss of those men:

Panic Blamed
"No members of the crew got panicky during the siege except the crew of one lifeboat which lost four of its members while launching. They cast off the forward bow first while the rear was still attacked. The lifeboat swung around and pitched them out. The men haven't been seen since."

He also revealed that the Malay's steering gear was damaged by shellfire and that she had been steered into port by her auxiliary apparatus.

One of the crewmen was 17-year-old Anthony d' Alexander of Philadelphia who had signed on only three days ago. He had been rejected by the U. S. Marines because he could not get his mother's consent.

"I was determined to go to sea and try to do my part," he said. "It's a funny thing, I had just come off watch and was asleep and dreaming we were being shelled. I woke up and found we were under fire."

Saw Torpedo
William Arthur Greene, second mate of New London, Conn., was the only member of the crew that said he saw the torpedo.

"I was on the bridge when the shelling began," he said. "I did not see the submarine. I did see the wake of the torpedo shortly before it struck. There were other ships astern and they put out their lights when the shelling started."

The combined loss of life aboard the four tankers attacked within the last week now stands at least 30 and possibly more. Two more are missing from the Norcross; the missing from the Columbia has not been revealed; 23 of the crew of the Allan Jackson were drowned or burned to death.

The four members of the Malay crew that are missing and feared dead are: Clifford E. Ashby, fireman, Port Arthur, Tex.; Manuel de Rosa, chief cook, Jersey City, N. J.; William L. Miller, messboy, address unknown; and Andrew Anderson, oiler, address unknown.

BOOM PREDICTED IN IDAHO MINES
BOISE, Jan. 20 (U.P.)—Idaho Mining men forecast a boom in mining activities as a result of a higher ceiling on lead prices and the government bonus offer for increasing production over 1941 levels.

To stimulate mining operations, the office of price administration boosted the ceiling price on lead to 65 cents per pound from 5.85 cents per pound. The increase amounted to 65 cents per hundred pounds.

At the same time, a bonus premium was offered to all mines which raise lead, zinc and copper production over 1941 levels.

The bonus premium was 5% cents per pound on all lead produced over the 1941 mark. 11 cents for zinc and 17 cents for copper.

The bonus premium was expected to bring into operation scores of marginal mines throughout the state. These mines were unable to operate under former prevailing prices and produced little ore last year.

The bonus premiums were also expected to bring larger mines of the Copur d'Alene district into operation on a seven-day week basis.

The exciting, different dessert—
sizzling fruit

Here's a new way to "dress up" canned fruit—and make it look and taste like a very "special" dessert. Serve it tonight—it's as easy as a-b-c to prepare.

SIZZLING FRUIT
1 (No. 2½) can pear halves
¼ teaspoon each of ground ginger, cloves, and cinnamon (whole spices may be used also)
½ cup KARO (red label)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 (No. 2½) can peach halves, drained
1 (No. 2½) can ling cherries, drained
Pour syrup from canned pears into saucepan. Add spices, KARO and lemon juice. Cook about 5 minutes. Add whole pieces of fruit; heat again, but do not boil. Remove from heat, and serve hot or chilled. Makes 8 large servings.

KARO adds extra food value as well as extra flavor. It's rich in Dextrose, food-energy sugar.

Thump

One of our operatives (who rides a horse) reports that it was the prettiest sight of the month.

Tom Alward, we mean, departing from his horse in the coyote hunt out south of town Sunday.

It appears Tom and the other coyote "runners" were galloping full speed ahead, chasing a coyote across the snowy fields.

Tom's steel came to a ditch treacherously hidden by snow.

Into the ditch went the steel.

And over the horse's head, kerplunk into the snow, sailed Tom.

(Our operative also reports one other spill, Everett Prescott, age nine).

1942—No cars.

THE NEW BOGEY-MEN:
Dear Potto:
Suppose you've heard the latest U. S. marine anecdote?
Seems there was a masquerade party in Tokyo last week. One daring Jap walked in dressed as a United States marine and six cabinet ministers were crushed as the crowd fled for the doors.

TUSH, REMEMBER THE JAPS!
Dear Third Row:
After considerable study of that table of income taxes for each income group as per form 1040-A, I hereby make an offer to the government—let me keep the tax and I'll give the government the income.

THIS WILL MAKE THE ARMY GRIN:
Dear Pot Shots:
Now I wouldn't be the one to say anything about it but I understand—just understand, mind you—that C. A. Edmonson, my navy recruit in these here parts, needs a hot water bottle.
Friends say that the necessity for something warm (like a hot water bottle) up in these here parts of the right winter some dates back to when Edmonson used to occupy one of those hammocks aboard ship. In them he could really wrap up, but he can't seem to do it in a civilian bed.
Asked how come Edmonson started a recruiting tour down Burley way so early the other morning, his wife admitted that it was because the hot water bottle got cold and he had to get up.
—S-25-40

HEY, STOP! YOU'VE GOT US CONFUSED NOW!
Dear Pot Shots:
Some of the boys are a little confused these days. Or are they confused, fussed or muddled? You guess, I pass.
For instance, there is our good friend, C. Ben Ross. Ben always was more or less enigmatical, especially when broadcasting. Being interviewed the other day, after a long vacation following six years as governor, Ben disapproved of Idaho's four-man delegation in congress by declaring Idaho people "need a man in Washington. I don't know who it ought to be, but they sure as hell need one."
Interpretation of that expression might prove a bit vague, and the only inkling as to the status of the "man" in question could easily be dug out of a previous declaration—obscure as the other—that he had quit politics, modifying it later thus: "Oh, I'm not saying I might not get into politics in the future, but I have no plans."
If that is not certainly uncertain then it is uncertainly certain, or thereabouts.
And was it not Barzilla Clark, some time governor, who said: "Ross is the worst governor Idaho ever had." Or did Ben say it, or not, what? Who is on the high road and who on the low road, since Ben served as governor longer than the other two combined, or as long, or as short? And Chase was commonly charged with being the governor all the time.
The question is somewhat flubbed, and is not a problem for any right-tailed alley crystal-gazer, but a job for a psycho-analyst. You take the bones now.
But, why worry over ambiguities when we all know what water will do to the salt of the earth? Passing the buck is still a pot outdoor pastime.

SERIAL STORY
TAMBAY GOLD
BY SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS
COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.
THE STORY: Mom Hammer sets up "Federal" lunch wagon run-down Tambay Plantation, forms tourist camp partnership with his aristocratic, impoverished owner, Jane Ann Judson, last of the Maures and squired on the world. Mom tells Juddy she has a daughter, Cornelia Juddy tells Mom of a lonely childhood. Other characters: Loren Oliver, Welliver, Sheriff Hollister Mowry, distant "left-handed" cousin of the Maures, snoops around Tambay, thinking "Doc" Oliver is after gold, returns looking for Negro suspected of murder. Mom fears trouble at Hanging Tree of Tambay.
furious child. "This is my place," she said, her voice high and shaky. "If you're afraid to go out there, don't try to stop me."
"Sorry," Doc said. "But you're not going into that mob."
She slipped past him to the corner and grabbed up her 12-gauge. "You're not going to prevent me," she said.
His face was white and tired, almost as tired as his voice.
"Oh, be sensible," he said, which was good advice, but not the way he said it.
SHE was trying to raise the gun. For a minute I was sick and dizzy. You can't tell what hysteria will drive a woman to do. Doc said in the tone of a casual suggestion:
"I'd put that gun down, if I were you."
Juddy went over and sat on the stairs and buried her face in her arms. A red glow showed through the window and spread and lighted up the sky.
"You might as well be going," I told Doc.
"I'll wait outside," he said. The crowd melted away. I got Juddy to bed. She wouldn't speak to me. Her hands and feet were icy and every now and then she'd stiffen all over. I got her fixed up with a hot water bag and went outside.
"I want a doctor, Doc," I said. "This thing has got her."
"There's old Starrow at Brandon," he said. "We can send a car."
We went out and signaled one. A man lurched forward from the rear seat. It was Maure Sears. He was drunk. Had to get that way, I reckon, to nerve himself up to that business. He turned his face away. I'm not sure he knew me. The lad at the wheel was sober. He said he'd be glad to fetch the doctor.
The old boy was there in half an hour. He went at Juddy like he knew his business, shot her full of dope and told me to keep her out of commission for a few days.
"Old Swoby did what no dorky would have dared to do; cut the body down and buried it in a corner of the bluff above Tambay Stream."
There was some beefing and threatening when the white trash of the country and the young toughs of the towns found out about it. They're always the lot that raises the trouble. Who was this Old Swoby? You never could tell about these greaseliars. He'd better watch his step.
It worried Doc. He fixed up a place for the little man to sleep, inside the stockade. The trouble

"ROPE JUSTICE"
CHAPTER XIII
THE quiet woke me up with a jump. The gale had gone dead. I began to shiver, with a sound in my ears that I hadn't heard since the old days in the west. There's something about the howls of a lone horse, going full gallop across country in the dead of night.
After a while I dozed off, and this time I came up slower out of sleep. A line of motor cars was going past. Their lights made a pattern on the lawn as they eased around the curve. Then there was one single, high, crazy voice, shrieking short and quick, as unhuman as a mechanical whistle, yet enough to turn you sick with the terror and despair in it.
My door opened. Juddy came in. She was quicker than I. I was still fixing my sweater when she came back.
"Somebody's on the veranda," she said.
She put her head out the window and called. Doc's voice answered her:
"It's Loren Oliver. Let me in."
I ran down, with Juddy close after me. The two Gullah girls were huddled under the stairs, crying. Doc came in and barred the door after him.
"What are you going to do?" Juddy asked him, quick and fierce.
"I tried to telephone the troopers," he said. "The wires are down."
She tried to push past him. "Let me out," she said. "I'm going to the tree."
"Don't be a fool, Juddy," I said. I doubt if she even heard me. "Are you going to let me pass?" she said to Doc.
"No," he said. "It's no place for a woman."
She stamped on the floor like a

CLEARING UP Federal Income Tax

NO. 14
PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS AND CREDIT FOR DEPENDENTS
Domestic relations enter into our making of an income tax return. This shows itself in the matter of personal exemptions. Too many taxpayers do not understand who is legally head of a family, or what is a dependent. As a consequence, they overpay the Government by not claiming their proper exemptions and credits. Of course, the audit of their returns discloses most of these errors, but not all of them, that are due to negligence or lack of understanding of the income-tax law and regulations.
Care is taken in drafting the instructions for filling out the forms to make them simple and easily understood. The taxpayer should study these instructions before making out his or her return.
The head of a family, as defined by the income-tax regulations, is an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected to him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation. As such, he or she is entitled to a personal exemption of $1,500.
A credit of $400 is allowed for each dependent. A dependent is one under 18 years of age, or one who is physically or mentally defective and incapable of self-support. He need not live with, nor be related to, the taxpayer.
If husband and wife contribute to the support of a dependent, the $400 credit may be taken by the one contributing the chief support, and it may not be divided between them. Likewise, if two members of a family contribute to the support of a dependent, the one who contributes more than one-half of the support may claim credit.
Both the personal exemption and the credit for dependents must be prorated when the status of the taxpayer changed during the year, except where the taxpayer is single and elects to determine his tax at the optional rate with the use of the simplified form 1040A.
If a taxpayer occupies the status of the head of a family solely by reason of the existence of one or more dependents for whom he would otherwise be entitled to the credit of $400, the credit of $400 in respect of one of such dependents is not allowable. For example a widower who occupies the status of a head of a family solely by reason of the fact that he is maintaining a home for two dependent children under 18 years of age is entitled to the credit of $400 allowed for one such dependent, and the credit for the other dependent is not allowable.
Aluminum equivalent to the amount needed to build 1,000 fighting helmets was collected in that pot-and-pans campaign.

RED CROSS GETS JEROME'S QUOTA

She also stated that home hygiene and care of the sick classes had been started in the county at Eden, Hazelton and Jerome.
Mrs. Gilbert White, Jerome, has offered her recreation room in her home to be used by the Red Cross for a cutting room.

Commencing last Friday passenger fares on the Twin Falls branch were reduced to three cents per mile. When this rate went into effect no more round trip tickets for points on the branch were sold. The reduction of the fare will work to the advantage of passengers buying a one-way ticket but will amount to about the same as the round trip tickets did before the order went into effect. The fare has also been reduced on the St. Anthony and other branches.
The Odd Fellows of the Twin Falls tract will meet in Buhi to hold their regular district meeting. The lodges of Kimberly, Twin Falls, Piler and Buhi are to be represented by large delegations.

With Kelly at Washington

Howitzers, machine guns, anti-aircraft, anti-tank guns are scattered at strategic points from one end of the area to the other, all cleverly camouflaged and so concealed that neither citizen nor fifth columnist is aware of their existence. But they are there, ready for business.
Supply trucks whiz along the highways and back roads and then disappear. Tons of food and other tons of munitions are distributed. The quartermaster department knows no hours and has had to establish depots from the Bitterroots to the Pacific coast. Only a few of the defense activities are apparent, such as guards at landing fields (even though there are no hangars) for 24 hours a day; guards at bridges with bayonets fixed. It is no military secret that the troops have arrived, and are arriving, but their number is not known.
The lumber business, which has been crimped by placing a $5,000 ceiling on residence buildings (anything above that being "luxury") can expect a more drastic order later. There is now being considered a policy to stop all private dwelling construction until after the war, regardless of the gelling. Only exception, under the plans being considered, are houses built at government expense to shelter industrial workers in war plants. A still further husbanding of metal used in house construction will be given as the reason. Apparently all the lumber industry can look forward to is the reconstruction period following the war—if it can hold out that long.
There is a battle in progress in the national capital between labor and industrialists which, if the former gains its point, will have an effect on the sawmills, newspapers, power companies and industries generally in Idaho. It is the insistence by CIO leaders that they be given equal voice in the management of the automobile industry. They have been supported by many bright young men in government (mostly from Harvard and Columbia colleges) who do not believe in the profit system and wish to socialize all industry.
One of the CIO leaders in this campaign is a chap who went to college in Moscow and his letters on the Russian method of worker-control have appeared in the Congressional Record. It is also interesting to discover that these CIO leaders were the ones who introduced the sit-down and slow-down strikes and the secondary boycott. One high official says that if the CIO are successful with the auto industry the program will spread throughout the country, reaching all sections.

WELLS LITERARY CLUB
WELLS, Nev., Jan. 20 (Special)—Wells Literary club held the first meeting of the season last week at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Murphy. Following a no-hostess luncheon the group discussed plans for the study of literature and for club participation in Red Cross work.
It was decided to hold one meeting each month for the purpose of studying and giving reports on the current issue of "The Readers Digest." One meeting a month will be devoted to book reports.
The other two meetings of the month the entire membership of the club will spend working at the Red Cross center.
Members attending the luncheon were Mrs. Myrtle Murphy, Mrs. A. G. Omsied, Mrs. W. J. Pyper, Mrs. Mabel McGrath, Mrs. Howard J. Thurston, Mrs. P. A. Smith, Mrs. Harry Carter, Mrs. Frank Whithell, Mrs. Norman Rice, Mrs. T. L. Davis and Mrs. Waldo T. Jones.

Back Civilian Defense!
Nothing is more futile than calculating the chances of air raids against any American city. Is it 10 to 1 against? A hundred to one? A thousand?
Such calculations are out of order. We are at war. As long as there is one chance in a million of such a raid, we should be prepared for it. The sickening confusion, the unnecessary suffering and death that would follow a raid for which no preparation had been made, is so terrible a possibility as to wipe out mere juggling talk of percentage possibilities.
Two high officials of the civilian defense administration have warned that axis planes may very well bomb American cities soon. It can be done, and aside from the terror it might cause, it might serve to hold planes close to American cities for defense which are needed abroad. So there is an objective. We have been warned again and again. Don't sneer; cooperate when the civilian defense organizers approach you.

Slogan for Nanyo
The 3,000 islands of the south Pacific, which the Japanese have been busily stealing for the past 40 years, have been named by their new bosses Nanyo.
All the island archipelagoes over which Japan was granted mandates by the League of Nations after World war I have been fortified in direct defiance of treaty, and Japanese have been filtered into them until in some cases they outnumber the natives. The whole has been loosely linked into an "economic empire" that was primarily a mere chain of military bases for the Pacific war. So one of the tasks before us may well be stated in a slogan, "Tie a can-yo to Nanyo!"

Now York models have banded together to entertain soldiers and sailors. That may help to explain the increased traffic around recruiting stations.

Parents' Physical and Mental Health 1st Essential of Home

One of the most essential necessities in the beginning of homemaking is that both parents be blessed with good mental and physical health. A. W. Morgan, superintendent of Twin Falls schools, emphasized when he addressed the Home and Garden Department of the Twentieth Century club this afternoon at the American Legion Memorial hall.

"The nervous, high-strung, over-tired parent makes many difficult situations for the young child," he commented.

"It is necessary that parents maintain health in the establishment, early, of good health habits."

His topic was "The Child in the Home."

Responsibility Discussed

Continuing his discussion, he pointed out that it is paramount for parents, from the beginning, to accept the responsibilities that accompany parenthood, and recommended that "the child should by all means be given certain responsibilities in the home."

Twin Falls high school girls' sextet made the first appearance for the second semester. The group sang "Lullaby," by Renato Brogi, arrangement by Alexander Aslanoff, and "Two Little Shoes," by Mana-Lucca. Under the direction of Miss Mar-

Origin of Band Locally Told at Meeting of DUP

Twin Falls' first band was organized in April, 1906, by the late C. D. Thomas, who came here that year as state land agent from Nez Perce, and T. J. Bainbridge, who was later band and orchestra director of the Twin Falls high school.

This interesting local historical data was called to the attention of members of Camp Mary Lois, Daughters of the Utah Pioneers, this week at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Watson.

Pioneer Days

The lesson, given by Mrs. Mary Wright, was on "Early Pioneer Days," featuring ships and boats of the pioneers, and also the bands and orchestras of the early days.

The first band of any prominence in Utah was organized in Santa Clara, a Swiss colony, by John R. Titen, who fell heir to some money from Switzerland, and with it purchased 10 second-hand wind instruments in 1864 for the sum of $80.

The band was organized the day that the colony was made into a town. Its first bandmaster was George Spakell.

Equally interesting is the origin of band music locally, according to information compiled by Mr. Bainbridge for Camp Mary Lois.

Played July Fourth

A Mr. Camp, at one time a band leader from Iowa, was chosen as the leader and money for the instruments for Twin Falls' band was raised by popular subscription, and the first appearance of the musical organization was the Fourth of July, 1906.

Mrs. Mary Richards took charge of the meeting, and Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Edna Stokes and Mrs. Iris Orchard served refreshments. Two guests, Mrs. May Price and Mrs. Jane Bell, both members of Camp Em-Ar-El, were present.

B. P. W. Aids China in Federation's Project

Chinese New Year customs, as observed by Mrs. E. L. Kenberry during her many years' residence in northern China, were related to members and guests of the Business and Professional Women's club last evening at the Baptist bungalow.

The program was in keeping with this year's international relations project of the National Federation of B. P. W. clubs. Last year, the B. P. W. purchased 12 mobile kitchens for the women of Great Britain. This year the federation is collecting funds to purchase medical supplies and other necessities for China—another United States ally.

In Native Costume

Mrs. Kenberry, wearing a black broadcloth costume, typical of the dress of Chinese women, displayed many trinkets from China, including a collection of dolls; silver chopsticks, hand-made slippers, mittens and embroidery, and other items.

Mrs. Emma Clouche, in charge of the collection of the local club fund for Chinese relief, wore a pair of gold brocade pajamas and jade earrings.

Chop suey, rice, tea and wafers were served by the committee on arrangements, Mrs. Cora Stevens, chairman, of the finance committee; Mrs. Flora Anderson and Miss Jean Dinkler, assisted by Mrs. Frankie K. Alworth, Miss M. Izetta McCoy, and Mrs. Bonnie Moon, a guest.

Special guests were members of the Beta Gamma club and members of the Tawanna Camp Fire Girls, sponsored by the club. Mrs. Lyle Frazier is guardian and Miss Celestine Salmon is assistant guardian.

Feast of Lanterns

Chinese New Year, a lunar celebration, lasts for 15 days, culminating with the Feast of Lanterns, and each city has its own traditions. Mrs. Kenberry told the group houses are cleaned in preparation for the observance, and bills are paid and collected during that period.

A transparent, 75-foot dragon, requiring 50 men to carry, illuminated from within by candles, transparent lanterns shaped like Buddhas, and huge fish decorations, lighted from within by candles and placed on bicycles which the boys ride through the streets, figure prominently in the Feast of Lanterns. Mrs. Kenberry remarked.

The Camp Fire Girls sang two songs to open the program. Mrs. Genevieve Dwight announced that Red Cross first aid classes for B. P. W. members would start Wednesday, Jan. 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Vanaunder, 130 Addison avenue west, at 7:30 p. m. Miss Jessie Fraser asked for support of the Victory Book Campaign.

Present in addition to the hosts and the honoree were Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Dutch) Dillon, Jimmie and "Shorty" Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. Tur-was continuous. I used several kinds of liniments trying to get relief. I had a severe case of indigestion, the gas and bloating at times caused my heart to palpitate. At night the gas caused a pressure against my heart until I could not sleep. I had to take soda to get relief. I was subject to dizzy spells and spots would dance before my eyes. I also had bad headaches.

Since taking Hoyt's Compound, I do not have a sign of pain in any part of my body. There is not a trace of the indigestion, gas and bloating, and I now sleep soundly at night. I have not had a dizzy spell or headache or have I noticed spots before my eyes since taking Hoyt's Compound. I do not hesitate to endorse Hoyt's Compound for the good it has done me."

Government Designed 'Field Slacks'

Make This Your Next Sewing Project

Mrs. Roosevelt recently reviewed this new "Field Slack Suit"—and half a dozen other amazing practical garments—designed for the women of this country by the bureau of home economics of the department of agriculture. They were presented in a fashion show at the White House.

Thus America studies the job of total defense—and out of the effort to find the garments which will "give a maximum of service at a minimum of cost" comes such well-planned, thoroughly practical outfits as this two-piece "work suit."

Since it is to be worn in the fields it includes a hat—a hat which is held in shape by pin-shaped pieces of cardboard which may be slipped out—in a jiffy when the hat needs to go into the wash tub. The jacket has sleeves which may be snapped on—to prevent sunburn or scratches—and snapped off when wanted.

The jacket also has big, useful pockets. The slacks taper at the ankle and are to be slipped tight—so there are no loose ends to catch on objects and trail in the dirt.

Make pattern No. 5013 in denim, ticking or heavy cotton. Sizes 12 to 20. Size 14 requires 9 1/2 yards 35 or 39-inch material. Hat, 1/2 yard; lining, 1/2 yard.

For this new pattern, send 15 cents in coin, your name, address, pattern number and also to Idaho Evening Times, Today's Pattern Service, 100 Seventh avenue, New York City.

'Woman of Year' Bulletin Display

"In Unity There Is Strength" was the caption of a bulletin board display in the main halls of Twin Falls high school today. Illustrations were built around the central picture and story of 1942's "Woman of the year," acclaimed in a recent Evening Times article by Ruth Millett to be "Everywoman."

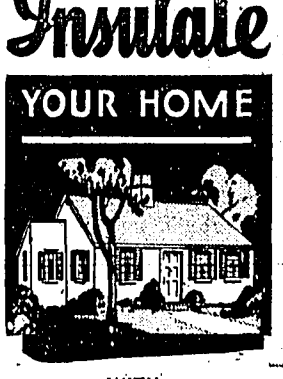

A portrait of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, acclaimed to be America's ideal mother, was featured in the arrangement, as were pictures of Edna St. Vincent Millay, foremost woman poet; Katherine Cornell, said to "bring greatness to the stage and the theater to the people;" Amelia Earhart, who spanned an ocean and "won a world;" and Helen Hayes, queen of radio, stage and motion pictures.

ROGERS HORNSBY VOTED INTO HALL OF FAME

SPORTS

Record Entry List Prepares for Magic Valley Bowling Tournament

Former National Loop Star First Ballot Member Since 1939; 27th to Enter Shrine

Ex-Big League Ace Won Bat Title 7 Times

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (U.P.)—Rogers Hornsby, generally regarded as the greatest right-handed hitter in baseball annals, has been elected to the baseball hall of fame by the Baseball Writers' Association of America, Bill Brandt, head of the National league service bureau, announced today.

Of 233 ballots cast by the baseball writers, Hornsby received 182, seven more than the 75 per cent required for election. A plaque with Hornsby's head in bas-relief will be installed in the baseball hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., with the 28 other members previously elected.

Only Winner
No other players received the necessary three-fourths vote although there were ballots cast for 71 players ranging all the way from Iron Man McGinnity to Babe Herman. Frank Chance, peerless leader of the old Chicago Cubs, received 134 votes—39 short of election and Rube Waddell, eccentric strikeout maestro of the Philadelphia Athletics of the same period, polled 126—39 under election requirements.

Then came Ed Walsh, spitball marvel of the early century Chicago White Sox, with 113 votes, Miller Huggins, the mighty mite who managed the New York Yankees to their first pennant in the '20's, with 111 votes; and Ed Delahanty, batting star at the turn of the century and only man ever to lead both major leagues in hitting, with 104 votes.

Hornsby is the first player to be elected by ballot since George Sisler, Eddie Collins and Wee Willie Keeler were voted into the hall of fame in the January, 1939, elections. Since then Lou Gehrig was elected unanimously without a ballot being taken.

No Argument
None can doubt Hornsby's right to a place in the hall of fame. "The Rajah" served as player and manager in both major leagues for 22 years—1915 through 1937—and led the National league in batting seven times, six of them in succession, starting in 1920, he led the St. Louis Cardinals to the first pennant and world's championships in 1926 with a victory over the Yankees—last time the Yanks have been licked in the world's series—and later managed the Boston Braves, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Browns.

Hornsby played in 2,256 major league games and compiled a lifetime major league batting average of .358. In 1924 he set the modern National league batting record with a percentage of .424, and in 1922 also created the National league consecutive game hitting record by hitting safely in 33 straight games. He was named the league's most valuable player in 1929 and 1929 and was listed on five National league all-star teams by the writers in 1925-26-27-28 and 1929.

Spoke Own Mind
Despite Hornsby's great baseball talent, he was misunderstood by many and frequently was in hot water with his superiors because of his penchant for saying exactly what he thought in clear, concise terms. He lost his last major league job, pilot of the Browns, because of a rather sharp answer to President Donald L. Barnes' question about whether he bet on the horses.

"Yes, Mr. Barnes," Hornsby said, looking his boss straight in the eye, "what about it?"

Before that the Cubs released him as manager because of a disagreement with President Bill Veech over the use of a rookie as a pinch-hitter. The Giants disposed of him after a bitter argument between Hornsby and Secretary Jim Tierney in which "The Rajah" defended Travis Jackson for making an error. After the Giants practically gave Hornsby away to Boston in January, 1929, the Braves kept him one season and sold him to the Cubs for $200,000 and five ball players.

Presently Hornsby is trying a comeback with the Fort Worth Texas league club as field manager and business manager. Born at Winters, Tex., he started his baseball career at Denison in the old Texas-Oklahoma league in 1914, not far from where he now is employed.

Voted Into 'Hall of Fame'

ROGERS HORNSBY
Approved by sports writers for niche in Cooperstown, N. Y., Hall of Fame. He's No. 27.

Hornsby Talks About War, Baseball—Not Himself

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 20 (U.P.)—Baseball's mighty rajah—candid, friendly Rogers Hornsby—pushed aside the glory of his election to Cooperstown's hall of fame today to "talk about more important business."

He was the only player to be nominated for a spot in baseball's shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y., in the annual election of the Baseball Writers' association of America.

"It's quite a distinction," Hornsby said in his hotel room here where he was shaping activities of the Fort Worth Stars, Texas league club of which he is field and business manager.

Thanks Writers
"I certainly thank the baseball writers for voting me that distinction and I appreciate it more than I can express, but right now there's a couple of things more important: 'First, winning the war."

"Second, baseball."

The sport is Hornsby's life. "It's the only business I know," he said, "and I've been in it since I was 10."

So he's planning Texas league innovations to draw the fans and thinking up methods by which his club can cooperate with President Roosevelt's request that baseball be kept alive for the duration as a morale builder. But he wants to get back to the major leagues.

"That's where we all want to be," he said. "I'd like to get another crack as manager in the big time or some day have a club of my own."

He won his greatest glory as a hitter and careered like a left-handed moundsman.

"I always hit at the ball—not at the pitcher's motion. I'd wait until I saw the ball and that's honestly all that counted. I didn't care if the pitcher threw with his foot, as long as it came in the strike zone," Hornsby said. "Maybe that's how come I could hit."

Having a plaque in baseball's hall of fame "gives a fellow a thrill," but the Rajah's greatest thrill came in the 1926 world series.

That was when, as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, he sent Grover Cleveland Alexander to the mound to fan Tony Lazzeri and win the series from the New York Yankees.

"And that team was the best the Yanks ever had," he said.

BURLEY, Jan. 20 (Special)—Gooding Lions, recent winners of the King Hill outlaw tournament, found the Southern Idaho Outlaw league competition another thing they last night and dropped a 56-43 decision to the Burley Elks.

The victory kept the Burley quintet right on the heels of the American Falls Damsters, loop leaders. American Falls has won nine and lost no games. Burley has chalked up seven wins, while losing a lone tilt—to American Falls.

Last night's encounter saw the two quintets play on even terms for the first half, with the locals holding a narrow 27-26 edge at the intermission. However, the visitors faded in the last half and the Elks took a commanding lead.

Food for Game Reported in Good Shape
BOISE, Jan. 10 (U.P.)—A telegraphic check-up with conservation officers in southern Idaho today revealed that upland game birds, migratory waterfowl and big game are wintering satisfactorily and so far it has not been necessary for state fish and game department to do any feeding, director James O. Beck announced.

The only exception, he said, was the occasional feeding in nearby areas of mountain and valley quail. Conservation officers during the past week have been distributing wheat and corn in the area from Horseshoe Bend to the Black canyon district in Gem county and in the lower Boise valley as far west as Oreana.

Several persons have reported seeing hungry birds but investigation by conservation officers indicated they were quite active with ample food available, Beck said. None have been found dead from lack of food.

Seeds Plays on Argonaut Cage Team Winners
UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Jan. 20 (Special)—The University of Idaho Argonaut basketball team maintained its undefeated record over a period of three years Saturday afternoon when the newspapermen whipped the Washington State Evergreen staff 30-31.

It was the third consecutive year that members of the Argonaut, Idaho student newspaper, have beaten their Palouse rival Journalists. Argonaut hoopers are now eyeing the possibility of meeting the staff of the University of Washington Daily in Seattle. The Evergreen has already beaten the Daily staff.

In a game that closely resembled a cross between football, ice hockey, bowling and ping pong, the Argonaut piled up an early lead of 30-4 at the half; then substituted those who were more proficient at the typewriter than the basketball court.

Harold Seeds, former Burley high school hoop star and a member of the Argonaut sports staff, played for the Idahoans.

Ulrich Denies Rift With Seattle Club
SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 20 (U.P.)—Owner Bill Ulrich of the Spokane Indians of the Western International baseball league today described reports the Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific coast league would terminate a working agreement between the two clubs as "just a lot of newspaper talk."

Ulrich said Seattle had first call on the five players Spokane sold to Portland and San Diego of the Coast league, and turned them all down.

"It was only after Seattle had indicated they were not interested that deals were made with Portland and San Diego," he said.

"If anything does happen it will be only after I have talked to Emil Slick in Seattle, and I haven't seen him all winter."

Ulrich refused to discuss reports he sold the players for a consideration of $15,000.

Meanwhile, observers pointed out that if a squabble between the two clubs should develop, Wenatchee probably would benefit and get first call on surplus Seattle talent with Spokane taking the leftovers.

West Texas State Cagers Make Gotham Look Small
By JACK GUENTHER
NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (U.P.)—When you read a few days hence that Al Smith has ordered 25 more stories added to the Empire State building and that Mrs. Fiorella LaGuardia is soliciting funds to buy vitamin pills for the statue of liberty, remember the name of Algeron Baggett.

Mr. B., who identifies himself as coach of the tallest team in the world, breezed into town from the west Texas panhandle a few hours ago and after listening to him deliver his opinions at some length the city of New York has thrown in the towel for the duration.

"Most crowded phone booth I've ever seen," boomed brother Baggett in a voice like an air raid siren as he stepped off a train and glanced over Grand Central station. "Say, bub, if you haven't anything bigger than this around these parts I don't know where my boys will bunk."

With that as a starter, Mr. B. plunged at once into the history of West Texas State college, nationally obscure institution in Canyon, Tex., which he claims boasts a collection of the biggest boys to be found anywhere outside Ringling brothers tent. Quite naturally, they play basketball.

"But not just plain, ordinary basketball," shouted the Lone Star scout from his height of six feet, four inches. "We play the biggest basketball in the world, we use no defense and we can field a team which averages six feet, six inches in height. And that is, six inches unusual."

Mr. Baggett has coached West Texas basketball teams since 1933 and he has traveled 40 boys and 4500 into a $100,000 dormitory and half a dozen regional championships. That he said, was no trick at all because when your boys get over six feet six, you just toss 'em a ball and keep order.

The system has worked wonderfully well because this year the "uffaloes, as they are known, have won 16 games of 17, scored 1,100 points and will have traveled 12,000 miles when they meet Long

Nelson Ready For Shot at Frisco Money

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20 (U.P.)—A week ago Byron Nelson said he would be satisfied if he could win just one California winter golf tournament after 10 years of trying.

The husky, Toledo, O., pro had his wish Sunday when his sub-par 274 won him first place and a check for $1,000 in the Oakland open.

But now he isn't satisfied. Having tasted the sweets of victory, he wants more.

He starts competition Thursday in the $5,000 San Francisco open, next stop on the winter trail of golf gold and glory.

First Winner
"I've been playing the winter circuit through California for 10 years now and this is the first tournament I've won," he said as he crossed San Francisco bay from the scene of his Oakland triumph. "I was overdue. Hope it won't be the last I win."

"I hope I'm still lucky in the San Francisco open this week. I'm afraid I'll be trying to win that one too."

Nelson, former P.G.A. and national open champion, will meet stiff competition in the San Francisco tournament from such men as Ben Hogan, goldfom's biggest money winner for the last two years; Lawson Little and Chandler Harper, who tied for third place at Oakland, and other golfing stalwarts on the winter circuit.

Medal Play
The San Francisco tournament will be medal play for the first time this year. In former years it was match play, but the Junior Chamber of Commerce, promoter of the event, changed the regulations after a poll of writers and golfers.

Scene of the tourney this year is the California golf club at Baden on the San Francisco peninsula. It favors a golfer hitting a long ball. Nelson's play at Oakland indicated he may be able to make it two in a row, now that his winter link has been broken.

The tournament will last four days with a final 18-hole round Sunday.

Island U. next week. They always travel at least that much, even when playing home teams like Rice, Baylor, Texas, Christian, Southern Methodist and Texas.

"Charley Halbert is our real big boy," Mr. B. continued. "He is a six, ten center. Price Brookfield is six four and the best shot. The others are skyscrapers, too. They are so tall they play over the opposition's head and they all are fast. The only time they got mad they scored 111 points and they led the only game they lost, 21-8, before they lost interest."

But all is not beer and skittles. For instance, Baggett had to buy a special bus with extra leg room for the boys, must have pullman partitions knocked out so limbs can overlap in trains, has a particularly difficult time finding beds in hotels and forks out plenty of cash every four hours for food. His hardest blow, however, was the loss of a six, eight guard who weighed 275 pounds and was plenty fast. This had got himself married.

"After what happened to that Texas football team," brother Baggett yelled a trifle nostalgically, "I'm taking no chances on marriage and having a team broken up because wives fight over publicly. Six feet, eight inches; 275 pounds and all that speed was hard to lose, but out he went."

Ace Keglers to Open Play for Prizes on Friday at Bowladrome

Entries were still being received at the Bowladrome today for the biggest handicap kegler tournament every staged in the Magic Valley.

The meet is the second annual Magic Valley Handicap tournament and is drawing entries from all over southern Idaho—from Boise to Pocatello and Elko, Nev.

Cash prizes are being offered in the five-man team, singles and doubles, with an entry fee of $2 per man per event—which includes the bowling.

Lists Rules
Harold Hoover, manager of the Bowladrome, is handling the event and announces the following rules and regulations:

Handicaps will be figured from an average of 160, with 75 per cent of the difference of your average and 200—200 being scratch.

Players with an average under 160 must take 160 for an average. A five-man team with combined average under 800 must take 800 for team average, getting 75 per cent of difference between 800 and 1,000.

Five-man teams and singles can be bowled only one time. Doubles may be bowled as often as a player may desire, provided said player is not, in first, second or third place.

Player bowling doubles more than once must change partners each time he enters and pay another entry fee.

Three Prizes Per Event
Each event will carry three prizes—50 per cent for first place, 30 for second and 20 for third. Prize money in each event will be determined by the number of entries.

The tournament is scheduled to get underway on Friday, Jan. 23 and will be concluded by Sunday evening, Jan. 25.

Hoover reported last night that entries had been received from Gooding, Buhl, Burley and several other Magic Valley cities. From Boise will come at least eight teams in search of the money. Elko is sending two clubs and Pocatello will have some entries—how many is not yet known.

Total entry list is expected to be double that of last year, the tournament manager states.

Gehring Signs As Coach With Detroit Tigers
DETROIT, Jan. 20 (U.P.)—Charley Gehring, old dependable of the Detroit Tigers' infield, stepped into the coaching box today after 16 years as a regular in big time baseball.

The 38-year-old second baseman whose effortless fielding brought him the reputation of "mechanical man" put his brilliant playing career behind him by signing a one-year contract as non-playing coach under Manager Del Baker.

"We're glad to have Charley with us as coach," said Jack Zeller, the Tigers' general manager. "We feel he can do our young infielders a lot of good. He knows his position and he knows the strength and weakness of every player in the league."

CITY WILL HAVE 'RAID' ORDINANCE

An air raid ordinance, patterned after that which has been adopted by Boise and several other communities in that section, will be considered next Monday night by members of the Twin Falls city council.

Councilmen, at the regular session here last night, instructed George Paulson, city attorney, to draw up the ordinance and have it ready for presentation at next week's session. Paulson is familiar with the Boise law.

Among other things, the new law will carry with it a "stiff" penalty for violations. It is in effect during practice as well as real blackouts.

Councilmen last night also discussed several other matters. Among them was the matter of the zoning ordinance which Mayor Joe Koehler termed "a leftover from the horse and buggy era." No concrete action was taken.

Mayor Koehler also announced possibility of more WPA employees being available for work in Twin Falls. He said Dean Miller, WPA head for Idaho with headquarters at Boise, told him over long distance telephone that approximately 800 will be added to the rolls in the near future.

Leads Sessions

E. I. VREDEBURGH, assistant national director of health and safety, Boy Scouts of America, who will lead defense emergency training sessions in Burley and Twin Falls this week.

SCOUTS SLATE 2 DEFENSE MEETS

Scouters and senior Scouts of the Minidoka, Cassia, Raft river, Burley and Twin Falls districts this week will receive training in organization of emergency service corps units designed to "give our older Scouts a program of service that will be of value to themselves and their communities," Gordon A. Day, executive of the Snake river area council, said this afternoon.

Two special sessions have been arranged, one to be held at Burley on Thursday and the other in Twin Falls on Friday. Both will be night meetings with the Burley meeting starting at 7:30 p. m. and the Twin Falls session at 8 p. m.

Day said that the Burley session would be held at the L.D.S. tabernacle and the Twin Falls meeting at the high school auditorium. Senior Scouts are those 15 years of age or older while Scouters are adult leaders.

Directing the two sessions will be E. I. Vredenburg, assistant national director of health and safety, Boy Scouts of America.

Senior Scouts and Scouters from the Minidoka, Cassia, Raft river and Burley districts will attend the Burley meeting while those in the Twin Falls, Gooding, Buhl, Kimberly, Hansen, Murtaugh, Jerome, and other districts in this area will come to Twin Falls.

"Older Scouts have been looking forward to the opportunity to serve their country and this is a opportunity," Day said this afternoon. "Every Senior Scout and Scouter should attend one of the sessions without fail."

WAGER

IDAHO FALLS, Ida, Jan. 20 (UP)—Arctic explorer Sir Hubert Wilkins today offered a $10,000 wager to two eastern Idaho men who expressed doubt concerning one of Wilkins' weather defying feats.

Last week Sir Hubert spoke at a local banquet and told how he once was forced to undress in 40 degree below zero weather and dry his clothes by rubbing them in snow after falling under the Arctic ocean ice.

Arthur Holden, local attorney, and J. H. Kunz, a Teton county official, challenged the explorer to repeat his feat by diving into the icy Teton river and duplicating the clothes drying action.

In a reply, Wilkins said: "If Holden and Kunz will wager ten thousand dollars I will gladly arrange airplane passage to Alaska (if possible next April) and duplicate before them as nearly as possible the incident referred to."

Holden and Kunz were still considering it over.

SCHOOLGIRL HURT AS AUTOS CRASH

JEROME, Jan. 20 (Special)—Miss Mary Troendly, Jerome high school senior, sustained a bruised and cut face Saturday afternoon when she was involved in an automobile accident here near Jerome.

Miss Troendly was an occupant in an automobile operated by Burton C. Newbury, Jerome county school teacher. The accident occurred when the Newbury machine and a car driven by Jacob Schoessler, Burley, sideswiped.

According to a report made by Deputy Sheriff Paul M. Jensen, investigating officer, the accident was caused by the narrow roadway.

Considerable damage resulted to the two machines, the officer said.

Castleford Classes Buy-Defense Stamps

CASTLEFORD, Jan. 20 (Special)—Members of the seventh and eighth grades and their teachers, Earl Hudson and Mrs. Bertha Nutting, marched in a group to the post office last Monday to buy defense stamps. They purchased $41.70 worth that day.

The crowd marched down the street to the drumming of Gloria Dean Thomas. After a short stop in front of the post office "Taps" was sounded by Bob Jones, Rene Burkhalter, and Stigman.

The salute to the flag, the students and their teachers, and patriotic songs were sung by the students and their teachers.

The junior high school students plan to do this each week during defense stamps.

The other classes are purchasing defense stamps.

Russian Gains Offset Japan Advances Against Singapore

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
Of the United Press War Desk

Disquieting news of the progress of the battle for Singapore is partly offset by word of continued Russian progress on the long front from Moscow southward to the Crimea.

Viewing the war as an indivisible whole, the anti-axis forces are losing ground slowly in one salient, the Malay peninsula, but are gaining steadily in two others, Russia and Libya.

The striking thing about Russia's counter-offensive, which began six weeks ago, is its continuity. Its pace is slow but steady and methodical. There was a tendency among foreign observers for a time to believe that it would reach a peak and then slacken, while the Germans dug in for the winter.

The Germans themselves expected this, and established a winter line which the Russians, according to Moscow claims are now piercing at key points.

May Not Happen

The expected did not happen and from the way the battle has been going, there is ground for belief that it may not happen. The most significant development is the Russian advance into Moshalsk, 60 miles west of Moscow, which was the farthest north of the German drive into Russia. Its capture by the Russians would straighten out the bulge in the German line which threatened the capital less than two months ago.

Moshalsk apparently stood so long because the Russians delayed a frontal attack while encircling armies were driven through from the north and south. Now apparently the Russians are able to make the direct attack and their strategy probably will be to close in from the rear and cut off the German forces from their next base, Smolensk. The Russian wings already are reported within 60 miles of Smolensk.

Over-optimism about the Russian prospects would be unwise. Nearly all the news comes from Soviet sources and the Germans are tactful almost to the point of madness. However, the Russians obviously hope to drive the Germans back beyond the Dnieper river, which in the winter is some 300 miles from Moscow. If this drive can be continued through the winter, the Russians are in a fair way to regain much of the more valuable part of their territory overrun by the invaders.

It is fairly obvious that the Russians intend to take utmost advantage of the winter, which now holds full sway over the frozen battlefields. Conditions will not be favorable for the Germans again for at least three months.

Valuable Aid

During these coming months, Russia will not only be fighting for her homeland but rendering invaluable service to the common cause of the anti-axis powers. With Hitler enmeshed in such a vast offensive, his ability to strike elsewhere, as he has been expected to do at any time, is considerably weakened. Forces which he might use in the Mediterranean, Africa or against England are tied up in Russia. When and if he makes his advertised "spring offensive" he will be in a less favorable position than if he had a comparatively calm winter to prepare for it.

Russia also is indirectly aiding in the war against Japan. Although some of the far eastern army may have been withdrawn to the west, it was certainly not dangerously weakened. Thus forces which Japan could use in the southeastern Pacific are immobilized on the northern border and will have to be kept there. Japan realizes that if the German menace of the west is removed, Russia will be able to turn attention to her old foe on the east. That may eventuate this summer if Hitler is unable to launch a great counter-offensive.

MISS REBER PUT ON DISASTER CALL

Health unit officials today were notified that Miss Mary Ann Reber, supervisor of nurses for the unit, has been placed on the reserve list for Red Cross disaster supervising nurses and will be subject to a call for duty anywhere in the Pacific area in case of emergency.

Announcement of the appointment of Miss Reber to serve as a member of this important group was made in a communication received from Gladys L. Badger, director of nursing service, Pacific branch, American Red Cross.

Miss Reber has been informed that a special meeting of members of the disaster supervising nurses unit will be held in the immediate future, probably at San Francisco. Date will be announced later.

Under the arrangement made, Miss Reber would be "loaned" to the Red Cross in case of a Pacific coast disaster. Both the district health unit and the state department of public health cooperated in the arrangements whereby Miss Reber would be available.

Glenns Ferry's Trial Blackout Called Success

GLENN'S FERRY, Jan. 20 (Special)—Glenns Ferry's second trial blackout Sunday night went off according to schedule and was much nearer 100 per cent than the one three weeks ago. The alert signal was given at 9:15 p. m. and the blackout at 9:30 p. m. with the all-clear sounding 30 minutes later.

Air Raid Warden Keith Westover stated he was well pleased with the cooperation of the public, stating there were four or five homes where the occupants had to be advised of the blackout. A few were slow in putting out the lights, while one or two places had lights on that had been left and forgotten.

Highway patrolmen stopped all cars nearing town from either direction and outlying sections reporting everything dark. King Hill and Hammel reported full cooperation. The railroad blacked out all lights, including engines and shops.

Although it was generally known there was to be a blackout sometime Sunday night, the exact time was not known except where deemed necessary. The alert was not sounded until 9:15 p. m. instead of 9 p. m. as was the case three weeks ago when the definite time was given.
