TRAIN BREAKS IN MAUNTON TOWN WITH FOOD CRUEL

Snowbound Iowans Saved from Starvation and Freezing
By Timely Aid

COLD WAVE HAIT SEEN

Middle West Hopes for Rise
in Temperatures; Total
Deaths Pass 400

By United Press
Two hundred snowbound residents of Maunton, Ia., were rescued by coal fires for the first time in days, as down to-breakfasts of bacon and eggs, and a hot soup, were served to the hungry. The rescue train broke through deep drifts.

Shuttles had faced starvation with only a few cans of beans and other limited goods remaining in the town. They had been planning to starve to death, but a snowdrift fire to warm one room of their homes.

Housewives today baked bread and fried chops and potatoes for their hungry husbands and children.

The train which brought food and fuel last night was the first to reach the town in 11 days.

Break Forecast
Throughout the frozen middle west, weather observers forecast a break in the unprecedented cold wave which has caused more than 400 deaths and intense suffering during the past several days.

Temperatures edged slightly in the sub-zero area today after dropping to as low as 40 below yesterday.

Forecasters were optimistic for Thursday.

The road news was relayed down from the head of the cold wave in the frozen Mackinac valley of Canada. The barometer was falling and masses of arctic air were breaking up.

Rescue Flights Continue
Several airplanes and snowshoes continued battles to reach residents of small communities facing starvation in Iowa and South Dakota.

Reuben Jones, dressed a wet suit, accompanied by his wife, went to his wife without medical attention. The child died in the snowbound house.

Mrs. John Atkinson rushed by boat over drifted roads from a (Continued on Page 2, Column 8)

Court's Verdict Boosts Vast Power Empire

The TVA project, for power supply, flood control, and navigation, is graphically shown on map prepared by Tennessee Valley Authority engineers, on which are given locations of the mighty dams, the cities to which power will flow, the fringing lines, and the valuable mineral deposits. Generators now are turning at one dam—Wilson, on the Tennessee river—sending power to Tennessee and Mississippi cities. Great transmission lines are under construction from Norris Dam, reaching completion in the Clinch river, 400 miles upstream from Wilson. Fifty miles above Wilson Dam, work is being rushed on Wheeler Dam, and three other great barriers are included in the TVA project—at Aurora near Chattanooga's mouth, at Pickwick Landing, and on the Hiwassee, which flows into the Tennessee above Chattanooga.

Worker, Trapped 60 Feet in Air, Laughs as Surgeon Cuts Off Arm

LOWELL, Mass., Feb. 19 (UP)—A 47-year-old crane operator, trapped in his cab 60 feet in the air, laughed and chatted today as a surgeon, working left-handed, amputated his right arm at the shoulder.

The crane man, John McCoy, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital after the impromptu surgical operation where he was given a 20-minute chance to survive the ordeal which occurred in sub-zero temperatures.

McCoy had reported for work at midnight. His job at the Lowell Light and Power company plant was to carry coal to the boiler.

A half hour later Michael Leach, another employee, heard a crash. The crane's cab, with McCoy inside, had fallen about 20 feet and was pierced by a steel girder.

Muffled sounds from the cab told Leach McCoy had been injured. Leach and Foreman Herbert Lawson summoned police and firemen.

Firemen rushed to the scene, raised a 60-foot extension ladder and one of them climbed to cut McCoy off from the hoist.

COUNTING THE COST

The cash outlay of approximately $7,000 expended by Twin Falls county in the apprehension, trial and conviction of Douglas Van Vlack in the last of all costs of the deplorable criminal episode perpetrated by the gunman upon his sensational visitation here last November.

Large though the sum is, it is not as great as had been expected or as large as it might well have been.

The cost of Douglas Van Vlack to this county is not to be measured in dollars and cents. His cost three innocent lives, made widows, fatherless children and deprived an elderly couple of their youthful daughter.

He left a trail of heartaches, sorrow and fear.

It is easy to count the cost in money. But it will never be known what he has cost in ruined careers, spoiled lives and the endless tragedy which follows in the wake of brutal criminality.

The inherent danger in hooky-hubbing is seen in the tragic death of Oradino of the daughter of R. E. Thomas, former state game warden, victim of an accident while riding on a sled on the highway. Local police have sought in every way possible to discourage the practice here. The penalties sometimes exacted are too great to justify taking the chances such amusement involve.

BURIED TREASURE

A world explorer and archeologist in a recent book makes the striking point that only a handful of the world's lost treasure has been recovered.

The history of man's efforts down through the centuries to recover pilfered loot has been shadowed with tragedy and failure. Only a few men have recovered precious jewels from ocean depths or pieces of eight from their hiding places on lonely southern islands.

In those instances where the treasure might have been made available by man-devised means, Nature invariably stepped in, covering the loot with great handiwork or corroding the valuables with lime stone to prevent their identification.

The pun is significant. The scheme of things on this old planet seems eternally stacked against getting something for nothing. And if you'll look a bit closer to our own times, you'll see the warning repeated in the last great treasure hunt of 1929—the madman race of millions to get rich overnight on stock manipulations.

To sum it up, in the words of Mr. Donkey—“When somebody gives you something you haven't got comin', call the police!”

ON TOP OF HIS JOB

Word comes from Dr. Ross McIntyre, who guards the health of the President, that Mr. Roosevelt is in better physical condition now than when he entered the White House.

The crushing burdens of the presidential office have not been reflected in the health of the chief executive. His hair is a bit thinner and the lines in his face etched a trifle deeper, but beyond that the Roosevelt equilibrium is undisturbed.

The President maintains a regular working day, never misses his exercises, and invariably munges to sandwich a bit of fun somewhere in the 24 hours.

The ordinary, hard-worked business man might well profit by this example. The lesson is that a fellow really can leave his cares down at the office overnight regardless of how big the job.

ONWARD, SCOUTS!

It is encouraging to note that the membership of the Boy Scouts of America increased more than 6 per cent in the last year, bringing the number of Scouts over the 1,000,000 mark.

Here is a normal outlet for the energies of boys, providing them with the twin benefits of recreation and education at the same time. Were it not for the Scouts, hundreds of thousands of boys would miss some of the finest experiences of their early years.

Training in scouting, plenty of brisk exercise outdoors, association with other youths, these are but a few of the signal opportunities offered by this organization.

Scouting begins where the home leaves off. That is the gap ordinarily difficult to fill. The country can well afford to have many times 1,000,000 Boy Scouts.

AI, WILDERNESS!

One is inclined to agree with Secretary Tamm that the primitive attractions in our state and national parks should be guarded jealously. The secretary feels that too many highways free our parks today, with the result that the rugged, natural beauty of these spots has been diminished.

Roads, of course, are important for their value in bringing the parks to lovers of the great outdoors. But the road building should cease once the beauty centers of the parks have been made available.

Certainly the commercialization of these areas with attendant building stands and filling stations is no asset to national outdoor splendor. We should retain inviolate some portions of our parks that are literally wilderness with all their lure. The walking ought and to face a real tourist.

APROPOS THE GROUND HOG

Many screwy superstitions.

Have survived the passing years.

But the one about the ground hog

Would give a guy to tears.

If he doesn't see his shadow,

We will have an early spring.

The sun will shine, the snow

Will melt.

The birds will even sing!

Well—he did not see his shadow.

But the winter keeps right on.

The cold winds blow, with heaps of snow.

Red undies we still don.

Talk about your foolish fancies,

There are plenty, it is true.

But the one about the ground hog

Tops all I ever knew.

ARGUMENTATIVE—BUT WE

LIKE ARGUMENT.

Howya, Pot Shots:

I wonder if a chubby official scorekeeper over at the Gooding

outlaw tournament had night married to the lady gamekeeper?

Don you see being Argumentative,

but his final decision—rendered evidently in stubborn defense of his own longevity—let's a hatch to waste with the Rupter and many other games. Tvas a dampened enthusiasm to one of the best final games of the Gooding tournaments.

From what I can gather, the thing seemed to center around the scoring of Westy. Rupert guard.

The scorekeeper credited him with three field goals and a foul throw.

The Rupter scored had him chellived with four field goals. And I recall if Westy did make four field goals—two push shots from the left-side and two long shots.

He didn't even have a foul at tempt.

For the good of future Gooding outlaw tourneys, Hon. Pot Shots, there's a lesson in all this abanigan. Along with good officials on the floor, it's important to have a decent score and time keeper.

MRS. MOODY PLANS ENTRANCE IN TWO MAJOR NET TOURNEYS

SCOTTS' HINT
OF RETIREMENT

Hones-to-Beeh-Championships
At Wimbledon Meet and Forest Hills

By HENRY SUPER
NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Mrs. Hones, who has won the Wimbledon and Forest Hills titles, today hinted that she might retire from tennis after the Wimbledon tournament.

The woman who won each of these championships in the past has no intention of retiring from active competition and has mapped out a preliminary schedule which she hopes will be climaxed by a big time campaign in England and the United States.

Outlines Plans
Mrs. Moody, en route today to her home in San Francisco after a three weeks' visit here, outlined her plans to the United Press before boarding a train last night.

It was said that she might retire after considerable consideration recently because of her arduous schedule of practice at a local court. When she first arrived from the coast, Mrs. Moody practiced daily. When she stopped practicing, she was told that she was appearing to be playing in the last form of her career.

Weather Chances
Mrs. Moody said she had practiced eight times when I first arrived and I felt quite fit. Then I contracted a slight cold, which developed into a cough. And since it was right in the middle of New York's unusually cold spell, I decided not to risk further practice.

Preliminary Meets
I intend entering two or three preliminary tournaments in California, she said. "Other tournaments may follow and then I am most hopeful of playing at Wimbledon and Forest Hills. I will not know definitely about that until after the preliminary contests."

She said, however, that she expected no abrupt announcement such as featured her decision last year to go to Wimbledon. "I remember last year," she explained, "I announced that I would go to Wimbledon in May, one afternoon, and that night I took the train east."

Was Run Down
Mrs. Moody said she had not competed in the nationals at Forest Hills after returning from Wimbledon. Mrs. Moody's company took three from the tournament—caused considerable unfavorable comment, I understood. She was disappointed that it was a waste of time to meet her, she said. "I was again, after narrowly beating Jacobs at Wimbledon, I did not feel the minor league match. I felt run down and my physical condition was not good."

Discovery Runs
Mrs. Moody said she had been discovered by the back of the net, which forced her to retreat in the 1933 nationals against Helen Jacobs.

Santa Anita Handicap Favorite
Makes Clockers Blink by Dash in Mud

ALBUQUERQUE, Calif., Feb. 10.—A. G. Vandenberg, trainer, today quickly touched upon his still well-known attempt to produce a winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap next Saturday. "I'm not sure," he said, "but I think I have a chance."

The son of Display yesterday demonstrated that he was prepared to run the race of his life after working out over the half-mile distance of a mile and a quarter in 2:08.

Display covered the distance in the heavy mud so easily that clockers blinked and checked the time with a clock that they thought was broken.

Only on Display in the future. Work at present are 1 1/2 and they were expected to drop even lower by the day of the race. The price was estimated at 2 to 1 last Saturday when Cavalier and Host were scratched.

McDougal Leads Teammates to Three-Game Win; M. & M. Trims Brookfield

Bullard's Crafty Cafe pin team announced today that it will compete in the nationals at Forest Hills after returning from Wimbledon. Mrs. Moody's company took three from the tournament—caused considerable unfavorable comment, I understood. She was disappointed that it was a waste of time to meet her, she said. "I was again, after narrowly beating Jacobs at Wimbledon, I did not feel the minor league match. I felt run down and my physical condition was not good."

AMERICAN LOOP
Nicknames Had Fewer Changes

Editor's Note: Following is the second of two articles on the American League clubs and their nicknames.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Nicknames of American league clubs have changed less frequently than those in the National League.

From 1903 to 1914 New Yorkers were called the Highlanders or Hilltoppers, but when the club moved to the Polo grounds (the label was changed to Yankees, which immediately caught on).

Until 1916 Cleveland players were called the Naps in honor of their great second baseman, Napoleon Lajoie. When James C. Duggan purchased the club a contest among the fans elected the name Indians.

Washington's official name is the Senators, but more frequently called the Senators. Clark Griffith changed the name to the Senators in 1914 because of the confusion in receiving mail. The ball club manager, Clark Griffith, changed the name to the Senators in 1914 because of the confusion in receiving mail.

Detroit was first known as the Red Sox in 1901 after Joseph L. Taylor, a member of the family which owns the Boston Globe, became president of the club. The team's uniforms had been trimmed in red since 1891 so Taylor thought it was only logical to change the name to the Red Sox.

After the old Chicago National League club was disbanded, the name White Sox was given to the new team. The name was chosen because of the team's uniforms, which they had popularized during the 1900s.

The Philadelphia Athletics were called the Athletics in 1901 when they moved to Philadelphia. The name was chosen because of the team's uniforms, which they had popularized during the 1900s.

The St. Louis Browns were called the Browns in 1902 when they moved to St. Louis. The name was chosen because of the team's uniforms, which they had popularized during the 1900s.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

IF THE GIANT METEORITE THAT STRUCK A SPARSELY SETTLED AREA OF SIBERIA, IN 1908, HAD FALLEN BUT SIX HOURS LATER, MANY LIVES WOULD HAVE BEEN LOST BY THAT TIME. THE EARTH WOULD HAVE TURNED SO THAT THE FALL WOULD HAVE TAKEN PLACE IN A THICKLY POPULATED SECTION OF SWEDEN.

THE ANCIENTS WORE EARRINGS BEARING MYSTERIOUS DESIGNS, IN THE BELIEF THAT THEY WOULD PREVENT EVIL SOUNDS FROM ENTERING THE EAR.

MORE THAN ONE-FOURTH OF THE BEARING LEMON TREES OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ARE IN LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CALIFORNIA.

The Siberian meteorite struck on June 30, 1908, and, so far as is known, not a single human life was lost. So great was the rush of air that forests were laid flat. A herd of 1500 reindeer was completely wiped out, and a farmer 50 miles away was knocked down by the force of the blast.
