Lowly Peanut and Hot Dog Come Back Into Their Own as Nation Turns Eyes to Inaugural Tilts

NEW YORK, April 14 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt made his first campaign speech last night, there was an election today in Illinois and Nebraska, and the League of Nations may decide for peace or war in Europe Thursday, but true Americans had no eyes for such goings-on today.

For today the umpire yells "play ball!" the lowly peanut and the hot dog come back into their own; bands play and pennants whip in cold breezes, and the major league baseball clubs begin the 1936 season.

Some minor leagues, including the American association and the Pacific Coast league have begun their seasons, but the first day of play in the American and National leagues is today.

TODAY...the President of the United States throws out the first ball...and the 1936 season is on

Baseball...it's America's outstanding gift to the world of sport

SENATORS, representatives, statesmen, judges, doctors, lawyers, business men and Jimmy the office boy... they're all out for the opening game. Thrills never to be forgotten... perhaps a home run... or an electrifying no-hit game... perhaps some callow recruit, unheard of in the big time, smashing his way into the hearts of the fans.

Baseball brings pleasure to the millions who watch it, and rewards the stars who play it.

Baseball...it's America's outstanding gift to the world of sport

At every game and wherever you go you will find people enjoying Chesterfields. Why...because Chesterfields are outstanding for the pleasure they give...outstanding for mildness...outstanding for better taste. More and more smokers are now becoming more and more appreciative of the pleasant taste and aroma...such popularity must be deserved.

Film Writers Stage Latest Fistic Affray

(Copyright 1936, United Press)

HOLLYWOOD, April 14 (U.P.)—Following film industry precedent, principals in the latest Hollywood fistic encounter today charged they still were friends and hoped the incident would not result in a fight.

Harry Ruskin, film writer, yesterday said he sent his victorious opponent, Robert Riskin, a telegram expressing his regret for any remarks he might have made which precipitated the battle.

Ruskin, who turned out the script for several leading productions as well as the Academy prize winner, indicated he was willing to accept Riskin's statement of regret and drop the matter.

Laid Out Cold The two clashed Easter Sunday morning at a night club. Ruskin suspected Riskin of making some slighting remarks and swung a haymaker which put his opponent out for several minutes.

A new version of the prominent fight was circulated today by friends of Frank B. Woods, estranged husband of Helen Twelvetrees. The actress had charged that two men held her apart, Ed Forest, San Francisco businessman, while Woods looked on.

Woods' wife stated that he was alone at the time of the reported fight.

SCHMELING EMBARKS BERLIN, April 14 (U.P.)—Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight champion, sailed tomorrow for Hamburg aboard the Bremen for his June bout in New York with Joe Louis.

Field Use Given Softball League Permission to use Lincoln field for the Twin Falls softball league had been granted today by the school board.

The board stipulated that the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor, is to pay the regular rental charge to compensate for the rental usually received by the school system for summer usage.

The softball diamond will be set up at the end of the field opposite to that utilized last year chamber committee said. Lloyd Young, chairman, asserted that lights for night play are scheduled to be installed.

Start of play is tentatively set for about May 25.

SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED

Success of the Easter sunrise service at Shoshone falls Sunday indicates that the project can be continued with confidence that there will be public response and appreciation.

Favored by ideal weather and the cooperation of numerous organizations and individuals the initial service at the site of the famous cataract marked the establishment of what should be an annual institution for this section, participated in by the residents of all south central Idaho. The Inter-Church Youth Affiliation is to be complimented for its originality.

Many other communities in the United States have found such exercises appealing to the public at large, offering opportunity for all to attend outdoor worship. No better place could be found than the wonderful setting nature has provided near this city, as proved on this Easter, to the credit of the persons who assumed the responsibility for inaugurating the idea.

ENGLAND'S EXAMPLE

While three leading American railroads protest the reduced fare order of the Interstate Commerce Commission, it is interesting to observe what the British did with this same problem.

In England, according to the London "Economist," railroads reduced fares in 1932, and in the three following years enjoyed a total increase of $2,000,000 passengers.

Now it must be explained that the British reduced only their third-class fares by 33 1/3 per cent, while the I. C. C. ruling orders a 44 per cent reduction of fares affecting a far greater class of passengers. Nevertheless, it is obvious by this time that American railroads must resort to something along this line if they are ever to regain their business volume.

The experiment is decidedly worth trying.

AN EDUCATOR KICKS BACK

At a time when democracy faces grave crises in many countries, there is a vital note for us in the recent warning of Dr. James Rowland Angell, president of Yale University, says Dr. Angell:

"No thoughtful observer can fail to remark today the sinister trends whose ultimate implications are utterly destructive of our American universities. These influences are manifest in part by attacks upon freedom of thought and speech for members of the faculty, and in part by assaults upon financial stability."

"The Yale president would have our universities intensify their interest in public affairs and social problems. If anything, he would have them increase their leadership in public thought. And one must agree that his proposal is inherently sound."

After all, the democracy we enjoy today is actually the heritage of these institutions. We cannot afford to lose one iota of it.

TIP TO INDUSTRIALISTS

England still is very much agog over the news that King Edward answered the royal telephone the other day.

It seems that a Britisher called the palace to ascertain the right procedure to follow in contacting the king, and to his great amazement, found himself talking to the young monarch. "Oh, yes," said Edward, "I answer the telephone every chance I get."

All of which reminds us that a little of this kindly democracy might be used with great success in America.

What executive of importance do you suppose there is today who can be reached on his own telephone? Instead, the round of secretaries, appointment, and bookkeeping encountered to reach one of these "big shots" is enough to discourage the most redoubtable.

What this country needs, perhaps, is the King Edward telephone system—and the sooner, the better.

LENIENCY TO FINLAND

The Finnish government has asked our State Department to reconsider its decision in connection with a $1,000,000 claim lodged against the United States by various Finnish shipowners.

These shippers say that their vessels were unjustly detained in United States ports during the World War, causing heavy financial loss. They seek permission to sue for damages in the United States courts. A year ago the State Department denied this permission. Now the same comes up again.

No one, probably, but an expert in admiralty law could say whether the claim is justified; but, offhand, it is permissible to express the hope that the State Department will give these Finnish claimants the benefit of every doubt.

For Finland, you remember, is the one and only European nation which is paying its war debt to Uncle Sam. Can't our State Department see its way clear to give the country a break?

To famed jungle monkeys such as the Ethiopian Lion of Lions, and the British variety, must now be added those which March and April came in like.

LOVE LYRIC BY GOODING COLLIVICH ROMEO

Dear Sir:

The poem that I'm submitting is entitled "Love Lyric." It was written by one of our Gooding College boys, living in Tennyson hall (boy's dormitory) about a year ago. It is a very good poem, and I think it is too good to be lost. I am sure it will be of great value to you.

LOVE'S LAMENT

My love, she lives in College hall

And I live over here

My thoughts, they pierce me

And I am with my tears

I sometimes wish that I could

My mind upon my books

I sometimes wish that I could

Forgetting how she looks

She is lovelier far than any star

And almost as remote

She is "so near and yet so far"

That what gets my goat is

I wish I had her hand in mine

I'd hold it there forever

I'd smile and talk and cease to pine

When we need never sever

—A Student

JASPER GETS FOOLED

Pot Shots:

I told you I'd get into the contest

no here I and bright and early

—And then the ladies came to play

trick—Jasper's mother-in-law came with the candy to the living room, found her little angel in the kitchen, where he'd thought he'd heard the screams of agony as the ladies ate the vinegar fudge

—So Jasper's mother, figuring he'd been stealing some of the candy,

marched him out to where the ladies

DEMOCRATS HEAR PARTY'S PRAISES

Record Banquet Crowd Listens to Praises for F. D. R., Administration

(Continued from Page One) Local and state Democratic administrations, pointing to the saving of 6,000 Idaho farm and 5,000 city jobs through credit assistance. She urged a concerted campaign for this fall.

Outlines Club Work Calvin E. Wright, Idaho, district coordinator for the Young Democratic club, outlined the work of these units and revealed that there were 25 clubs in Idaho with five more in prospect of formation. He promised assistance of the organization in the approaching campaign. Wright is Co. commander, auditor, recorder and clerk of the district club.

Mrs. M. W. Wilson, Twin Falls, gave an account of a visit last year to the home of Thomas Jefferson at Monticello. Mayor Johnston delivered a brief address of welcome, in which he said that, due to the improved conditions made possible by the New Deal, this city now had cash on hand amounting to $125,000, in contrast to $25,000 in 1931. In addition, he declared, the municipality had been able to save $500,000 in federal improvements through relief funds.

Entertainment numbers included tap dancing by pupils of Mrs. Marie Dunn Helm, with Master Joe Lanning, master of ceremonies, other participants being Maxine McKelmer, Nae Dene, Carlene, June Hoops and Evelyn King. Betty June Tarr, Joan Lebolt, Mary Lou Gibb, Hilma Sweet, and Ole Olson, R. K. Dillingham, pianist, provided a half hour of hand performance. Mrs. W. O. Wells gave two pianologues, and Mrs. H. Masters, pianist, accompanied by Mrs. D. E. Hogan, Twin Falls, sang.

Attacker G. O. P. Launching into verbal attacks on the Republican administration from 1921 to 1933, Attorney General Prosser declared that the strongest indictment of the G. O. P. came from Idaho Senator William E. Borah, whose candidacy for the presidency is a challenge to the reactionary forces which now control the Republican party.

"He said he believed Borah's efforts would prove unavailing and he will find himself a disappointed, disheartened and disillusioned man, but I pray that after he finds the hopelessness of his task he will lend his large influence towards the reaction as President of that great progressive Democrat, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

The speaker paid tribute to Senator Prosser and to the administration of Governor Ross and then presented the story of Jefferson, his ideals of human rights over property rights, and the influence of the third President on the destinies of this nation.

Jefferson's creed of American democracy must always continue to be the supreme objective of the American people, or else the American republic will perish from the earth," he declared.

"The speaker lauded Woodrow Wilson, under whom, he said, more good legislation was enacted than in half a century of Republican rule."

Hits Past Presidents He blamed the depression on violation of Jeffersonian principles by Woodrow Wilson, Coolidge and Hoover, and said the latter was "only a cog in the old reactionary Republican machine. On their damnable records of failure and corruption the political leaders of the Republican party still stand accredited and condemned before an outraged and long-suffering people," Prosser asserted.

"Turning to Roosevelt, he said, 'The only solution, in my belief, of the American people, with which all citizens are familiar, speak for themselves.' Bemoaning those who try to cripple the President by cries of fascism, bolshevism and communism," he said, "had the President wanted the country to have these, he would have done nothing. The friends of bolshevism had in America were the Republican crew in charge from March 4, 1933 to March 4, 1933."

Must Finish Task But we must finish under Jefferson—the building of a system in America in which every man shall have a fair chance to achieve those things which make for comfort and happiness," he concluded.

Introduced for brief remarks

Members of the program committee were Mr. Lloyd, Mrs. M. O. Wilson, H. J. Powers, Kimberly, and Mrs. W. F. Alworth, Kimberly, of the club who served the past year and at last evening's affair.

Bar Group Will Reconvene Again

Last evening's general meeting of members of the Eleventh district bar at dinner at the Park hotel was adjourned shortly thereafter made available by the New Deal, this city now had cash on hand amounting to $125,000, in contrast to $25,000 in 1931.
