LABOR OBSERVES MAY DAY WITH PARADES IN U. S.

Police in Major Cities Wait

250,000 MARCH IN GOTHAM

Spain Chief European Trouble
Spot as Radicals Plan
Demonstrations

By United Press

Labor organizations in virtually all large cities of the country celebrated the 80th anniversary of May day with parades and speeches today. Socialist and Communist labor charge of the ceremonies in some communities but police nowhere expected a disturbance.

The traditional holiday of the organized workers of Europe, the day was celebrated all over the continent with police on guard. In Nazi Germany and Communist Russia were official. Spain was celebrating the day as a day of mourning for the victims of the civil war. In Poland authorities took extraordinary precautions.

A United Labor May day committee, in which American Federation of labor unions and Socialist and Communist of all hues cooperated, expected 200,000 marchers to participate in a seven-hour parade in New York's Union Square.

A plan to have Tom Mooney, the well-known labor leader, speak at the parade was rejected by Gov. Merriam of California. He refused to release him from San Quentin prison under $100,000 bond.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine ordered all of the city's 10,000 policemen on duty last night until noon Saturday and ordered "snack troops" assigned to guard the parade.

'Bad Boy' of House Gets
More Fines

By United Press

ALEXANDRIA, Va., May 1 (U.P.)—Marion (Who Me?) Zlonchek, homecoming "bad boy" of congress, was fined $50 and costs today for "indecent exposure" on the Mt. Vernon highway and $10 and costs for "indecent language" to the arresting officer.

The Washington Democrat did not appear in police court but was represented by Justice Rosenberg, state representative to the Virginia assembly. Rosenberg immediately filed an appeal from the conviction and the fines were not paid. Costs of $3 apiece on the two counts were assessed but were not paid, either.

Boat Forfeited
Police Judge James H. Dunn ordered Zlonchek's $200 boat forfeited for $100.30. The boat was seized after Zlonchek was arrested. It might be reinstated later.

The appeal will take the case into corporation court at a term beginning some time this month. The exact date was not set.

The Seattle congressman, in his latest brush with the law, was charged with a series of misdemeanors, was charged with speeding 62 miles an hour through Alexandria and with cursing an officer. Recently he paid a $75 fine for driving 70 miles an hour on a Washington highway.

Whereabouts of Zlonchek and his bride of three days was a mystery today.

After spending two hours looking for Zlonchek, police headquarters in Alexandria released him on bond yesterday.

Zlonchek and police's version of what happened in Alexandria was that the congressman said he was cruising along with the 10,000 policemen on duty last night until noon Saturday and ordered "snack troops" assigned to guard the parade.

Recognized Him?
"I guess he must have recognized me," Zlonchek said. "He followed me. I couldn't keep my eyes on the speedometer, my wife and the cop, too. I just kept on going with the traffic. I said to myself: Here's another case of indecent exposure. When I thought I was outside the limits of the city I gave the cop a look. I was going 60 all right. I guess he recognized me. I guess he must have recognized me."

Opponents Lash Tax Bill As 'Penalty' and 'Gamble'

WASHINGTON, May 1 (U.P.)—The tax bill gathered strength before the senate finance committee today when the measure was assailed as a "penalty" on corporations and a "gamble" in which $132,000,000 of assured revenue was staked on the chance of getting $200,000,000 more.

After treasury experts defended the bill, the committee heard testimony from Sen. Edmunds, Philadelphian tax expert.

Edmunds branded a "sham" the bill, and became stung by a political argument with Sen. Alben Barkley, the designated key note for the Democratic national convention.

Can't Understand It
This bill ought to be called a "sham," Edmunds said. "It is a political argument with Sen. Alben Barkley, the designated key note for the Democratic national convention."

Edmunds said that he would favor the measure as "hindering re-employment" and "increasing the tax burden." "I've read it," he said, "but I can't understand it."

What does it mean to you by the way? Edmunds asked. "I don't know," he replied. "I don't know what it means to you by the way."

Chairman Pat Harrison, D., Miss., replied, recalling he had ordered Edmunds to get up and simplify the tables in the bill.

"That's all I have," Sen. William H. King, D., Utah, added. "That's all I have."

Idaho's Supreme Court Ends State Sales Tax

ONE PROVISION BANNED

Powers for Commissioner; Measure
Subject to Referendum

BOISE, May 1 (U.P.)—Provisions of the Idaho two per cent retail sales tax which the supreme court today ruled today by the state supreme court. The court ruled that the disputed tax law would be subject to referendum vote but would not become inoperative because of the filing of referendum petitions.

The decision upheld the major contentions of District Judge C. F. Koelsch with the exception of the referendum opinion. Judge Koelsch had ruled that the tax was not subject to approval vote at the next election because it had been passed with an "emergency" clause.

"Constitutionality of the tax was preserved shortly after its passage by the Idaho legislature in March, 1935. Original suit was filed in court on the question of collection of the tax."

Another suit was later placed in court after the filing of referendum petitions in which the plaintiffs pleaded the tax immediately became inoperative.

The tax will now be subject to voters at the general election in November. If the tax is not approved, it will not automatically become inoperative.

In however, the voters approve the tax, it will not be subject to referendum until March 1937 when it automatically expires as provided by the act.

The opinion was written by Justice W. M. Morgan and read in court by Justice C. F. Koelsch.

Opposing attorneys filed briefs with the board of tax appeals.

The government, Robert H. Jackson, its counsel, stated, has established that Mellon owes the tax.

The former secretary of the treasury, he averred, "after changed" the collector of internal revenue.

BALLET STAGING U. S. COMEBACK

Rates Million Dollar Class
As Result of Amazing
Road Tour.

NEW YORK (U.P.)—The ballet steps into the million dollar industry class as Col. W. de Basil's Ballet Russe prepares to leave for Europe after eight months of the most amazing tour since the "death" of the roadshow was proclaimed more than five years ago. In three American seasons the de Basil ballet has amassed well over $2,000,000—a figure made all the more remarkable by the fact that the last great ballet to swing about the nation, the Daugherty ballet, ended with a net loss of $200,000.

Sudden Popularity

The sudden popularity of the ballet in the United States is the latest phenomenon of the entertainment world. In its wake has arisen a cult of balletomanes—those who seek to attend every performance, argue with the management concerning the capabilities of dancers and advance their own interpretations of dances.

Groups of "friends of the ballet" have been formed in several cities with other cities making efforts to get ballet troupes to play there.

The renaissance of the ballet here has been credited to Col. de Basil, a White Russian Cossack commander who turned to art after the revolution, and S. Hurok, his manager. After a European season the Ballet Russe will return next October for another nationwide tour.

LANSING, Mich. (U.P.)—A system of psychiatric examinations for Michigan prison inmates about to receive paroles is being considered by the state prison commission.

Parole Commissioner Joseph C. Armstrong, advocate of the plan, believes that many inmates eligible for parole have records that

TREND OF MUSIC LAID TO CLIMATE

Arizona Dean Thinks National Weather Conditions Play Decisive Role

TUCSON, Ariz. (U.P.)—It's not the middle valve that makes the music go 'round and 'round—it's the climate. That, at least, is the opinion of Dr. Arthur Q. Anderson, dean of the University of Arizona college of fine arts. Dr. Anderson, nationally-known for his researches into the history of music, declares climate directly determined the type of folk-music found in any particular section. For that reason, he says, Irish folk-songs either are lilting or sad.

"The gaiety," Dr. Anderson says "is the natural and normal psychological reaction to the grayness of the climate, which, in turn, is the result of latitudinal and constitutional factors. When the sun shines in Ireland, it is a relief to the inhabitants and the lifting of the spirit brings forth an exuberance which is expressed in their musical effusions. Then, too, the grayness is productive of their laments."

Scottish music, because of the rocky, mountainous land which is "bathed in fog, rains and snows and whipped by the winds of the North Sea, is rugged, yet evidences a deep feeling of love for the homeland with a subtle tenderness," Dr. Anderson discovered. The wild whirling of the bagpipes well might be the result of the bleak, winds-chilling, generations of boots, he says.

England, with a warmer and milder climate reflects in its music "a more stable and serene outlook on life," according to Dr. Anderson.

Dog Catcher Quits; Collie Chased Him

THUNDER RIVERS, Mich. (U.P.)—When Spitzer Watts, the city's dog catcher, turned in his resignation, he gave as his reason the following: "I was around this town for many years and I was very happy. The job took too much of my time away from his regular duty of hunting tails."

That, to cap the climax, a collie dog chased him two blocks the day before he resigned.

HOMELESS COAL

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Smuggling coal for domestic furnaces has been produced in a superheated (U.P.) furnace by a U. S. Bureau of Mines. It is under (U.P.) further tests by him and by B. Clark Jacobson and George W. Carter, in the mechanical engineering laboratory of the University of Utah.

CHILD'S DISEASE GUIDE IS ISSUED

Chart for Swift Discovery of Illness Intended As Aid to Parents

(Editor's Note: Parents are advised to clip the following story and keep it for ready reference.)

WASHINGTON, T.P.—A chart for the discovery of communicable diseases has been compiled by Dr. James F. Rogers, consultant in hygiene for the office of education of the interior department, to aid parents and teachers of the nation in safeguarding the health of children.

The discovery of these diseases in early stages by parents or teachers may prevent local damage, or save life," Dr. Rogers said. Specific symptoms of common diseases, which develop during school life have been set forth by Dr. Rogers as follows:

MEASLES: Cold in the head, with sneezing, running nose, acid and watery eyes, cough, fever. The eruption does not appear until the third day.

SCHICKEL FEVER: Swollen tonsils, fever, itchy throat, rash, appears within 24 hours of the neck, chest, arms and, to some extent, on the face.

DIPHTHERIA: General signs of illness. There may be vomiting or a child, or only prostration. The throat may be red, and a patch of grayish-white membrane, sometimes may be complained of. Fever is present, although it is usually not high. A watery nasal discharge which irritates the upper lip should in time of epidemic make one suspicious of nasal diphtheria.

SCARLET FEVER: The throat; there may be a chill or chilly sensations, and usually high fever. There is much prostration. The throat is very much inflamed. Yellowish spots may be present on the tonsils.

SMALLPOX: Chill, fever, backache, nausea, and vomiting are usually present. The eruption appears on the second or third day. The symptoms may be mild, and the disease difficult to distinguish from chickenpox.

CHICKENPOX: An eruption of discrete, red, raised spots appears usually first on the forehead. There may be fever, but other symptoms are slight.

GERMAN MEASLES: The symptoms are similar to those of measles, but are mild. In about 50 per cent of cases there is no fever, and the first sign of the disease is the eruption which appears first on the face, and consists of discrete spots of a deep pink color. Dr. Rogers is the author of a new publication of the office of education, "What Every Teacher Should Know About the Physical Condition of Her Pupils."

Your Baby's Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Before the baby comes, the mother should assemble the materials that will be required at child's birth. If she is going to a hospital, she will need at least two really filled with ideas and nightgowns, a bathrobe, two pairs of stockings, a pair of slippers, a few handkerchiefs, a tooth brush, a comb and a brush.

For the new high yoke, the straight-line comb and a brush. In most hospitals, the baby's clothes are provided until the baby is ready to leave. The day before the mother expects to leave the hospital, she should have a few pillow slips to match dresses and should bring her a shirt, a band, a bonnet or other baby fashion. These are the things that the grandchildren of Queen Mary.

Lace-Trimmed
Practically everything the baby will wear is lace-trimmed or hand-embroidered. White still is first choice. Christening ensembles are luxurious enough for any little princess.

For instance, the christening robe shown here (upper right in sketch at top) is fashioned from gossamer net with inserts of real silk and silk. In cold weather, wool, or silk and wool.

Three-banded—If not at hospital, a silk and wool shirt with 2 1/2 inch bands of soft-cotton with puff sleeves and val lace trimmings. The tiny model rests on a carriage pillow of lawn with shadow applique tulips.

"Fram" Set
At the lower left is the new British pattern set in wide wale plaid. It includes bonnet, jacket, pillow slip and carriage cover—each one neatly tailored and finished with scalloped edges.

The other outfit (upper left) consists of soft silk crepe coat with turn-over collar and a detachable inner lining. The bonnet matches.

The other group of costumes (bottom sketch) are for outdoor-minimal tots who will romp on the beach and dig in the sand all summer.

At left is a natural linen sun-suit with applied butterfly in green and yellow. It is backless, of course. In the center are slacks and a double-breasted coat for a little boy. The slacks are made of heavy blue, ribbed woolen. The jacket is white with blue, anchor-trimmed buttons. The bathing suit (right) is white crepe woolen with belt and neckline pipings of red, white and blue.

NAVY BILL FINDS STORM IN HOUSE

Energetic Battle Centered On "If" Clause for Two Battleships

Tuesday from Admiral William H. Standley, acting secretary of navy, and that he presumed the idea originated "in the White House."

Rep. Vito Marcantonio, R., N. Y., said he would offer an amendment to strike out the battleship provisions. Rep. Ernest Lundeen, R., Minn., contended the battleships are a waste of taxpayers' money.

Admits Scrap Brewing

Acting Chairman William H. Umstead, D., N. C., of the appropriations sub-committee, was confident the bill would not be amended materially despite the threatened barrage of amendments. He admitted there might be "some thing of a scrap" on some of them.

Ditter asserted that he would propose an amendment to compel the navy to sell an obsolescent plant at South Charleston, W. V., built during the World war to make armor plate but not used.

May Boost Appropriations

Another amendment may be offered to increase the number of appointments to Annapolis from four to five each year by each congressman and senator.

Ditter said he also would offer an amendment to prevent the navy selection board from forcing retirement on naval officers. He claimed that annual retirement appropriations for this had risen from $16,034 in 1921 to $371,660 in 1936.

"This will be a colossal expenditure if we do not stop it," he said.

The Newest Books

A strange restlessness "seizes many of our best citizens about this time of year. They get to day-dreaming, they bubble incoherently about sparkling streams and money banks, and they don't get over it until they take root and reel in hand and go out to haul a few brook trout out of the water.

For such citizens there is available a timely and interesting book—"The Modern Angler," by John Alden Knight (Scraper's: $2.75). Jimmy Donahue, an expert fisherman from "way back, discusses the book as follows:

"Knight has done a good job of making clear to fly fishermen just what to use in the way of common sense in working stream or lake.

Nymph Fishing

"There's a paragraph on nymph fishing in which he reiterates the necessity of using a long, fine leader in this type of angling; there's a section on bass in which he states emphatically that the fly and angler will take two bass to the bait (fisherman's) one, and there's some good on taking large trout in the average fly fisherman's book.

GOOD GAMBLERS

"The heart of Provence" (Appleton-Century), by Amy Cahley. Delightfully written, pleasantly illustrated narrative of travel in Southern France.

"There's Only" (Farrar & Rinehart), by Sophie Kerr. Romance of a child and foster-mother love.

"Propaganda and Dictatorship" (Princeton and University Press), edited by Harwood L. Childs.

"The Portrait of a Lady" (Modern Library), by Henry James.

Representative novel by one of the master writers.

"The Foot Hith" (Doubleday Doran), by Beverly Nichols.

Argument for Christianity addressed to both skeptic and believer.

"Fiasco in Ethiopia" (Harpers), by Wynant Hubbard. Reporter's story on the Ethiopian war.

"Fly Away Blackbird" (Morrow), by Jerry Thayer. Pleasing love story with a continental flavor.

"Chanty of the Keys" (Cantoni), by Lydia L. Bechever.

Narrative of the spongefishers of the Florida Keys; good sectional color.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

Fisheries are Alaska's most important industry, to say nothing of the minerals hidden there. Coal deposits alone are estimated at about 10 billion tons. Gold is plentiful, but only the fields near the coast can be worked profitably. Besides these industries, about three million dollars worth of furs are taken in Alaska every year.
