NEXT SATURDAY POPPY DAY HERE

Legion Auxiliary to Distribute
Memorial Flowers in City
To Aid Veterans

Poppy day will be observed in Twin Falls this year on Saturday when memorial poppies to be worn in honor of the World War dead will be distributed throughout the city by Twin Falls and No. 7 of the American Legion Auxiliary. The Auxiliary women are making extensive preparations for the observance of the day under the leadership of Mrs. Evelyn Reynolds, poppy day chairman.

The poppies, made of crepe paper by disabled veterans, will be offered on the streets by volunteer workers from the Auxiliary unit and cooperating organizations. "Poppy girls" will distribute the flowers in the business district throughout the day, and will also work in the outlying shopping centers. Contributions for the welfare of the disabled veterans and needy families of war veterans will be added in exchange for the flowers.

"Wearing the poppy also gives the wearer a part of the war work carried out by the American Legion Auxiliary and for the war veterans," said Mrs. Reynolds.

The families of the war dead. Every penny contributed for a poppy goes to the support of the war, the bulk of the money being used here in Twin Falls in the welfare activities of the American Legion Auxiliary unit. Mrs. Reynolds says.

GENE HOPES IT WILL BE DAUGHTER

"I want a girl," is probably the theme song about Gene Tunney's household these days. According to rumor, the one-time world's heavyweight boxing champion and his wife, shown dining above, are expecting another little Tunney within the next several weeks, and Gene hopes it will be a girl. They already have two sons; Gene, 4, and James, 3.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

How long should a mother hold the hands of her children when crossing the streets of life's experiences? Will they be better off left to themselves, more independent, or under her perpetual protection?

This problem worries a friend of mine who is trying to make her boy and girl depend on themselves. She adds in her letter that a certain neighbor mother is so nervous because she calls out admonitions every few minutes to her very youngsters.

Either extreme is less satisfactory than a safe middle course, because the one who adopts the first method entirely may discover how venturesome children can be on sudden impulse. On the other hand, she who does her authority into play too persistently is building nothing for the future. Children not only get weary and inattentive but cease to think for themselves.

Wait But Don't Nag

This street scene is typical of the child's whole existence. If mother calls out to him to stop, he will stop for a few minutes or for a few days, but he will not stop for long. He will stop for a few minutes or for a few days, but he will not stop for long. He will stop for a few minutes or for a few days, but he will not stop for long.

On the other hand, she who does her authority into play too persistently is building nothing for the future. Children not only get weary and inattentive but cease to think for themselves.

If children have been conditioned to dangers and general behavior and know what they must do, a reminder when they are out alone is not a reminder when they are out alone. A reminder when they are out alone is not a reminder when they are out alone.

Acquire Judgment

Age has everything to do with it. We know that a child of two cannot understand very little about warnings. At five, he may understand certain things, but not others. At seven or eight, when he is able to see reasons he is far more likely to be careful because he adds judgment to obedience.

But all children are experienced at all ages. And of course, the older children know exactly what they will do next.

This is where the trouble lies. Her parents, having been warned from mere nervousness, urge her presence. She knows what a terrible crash experience can be. Yet the child won't learn self-defense thoroughly until a few bumps and bruises come along to show him. The caution that develops by words from his mother may be a pseudo affair unheeded to real life. This is not caution at all, but inhibition. And life goes pretty flat if he grows up in a little island so surrounded.

CHARACTER BUILDING

Mrs. John E. Hayes, national officer of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc., evening program, presented to the senior class at the banquet at Old Fellow hall, given by the Junior-Senior Parent-Teacher association, the keynote for building a desirable personality, living courage, courtesy, constancy, pep, pride and punctuality. Her talk emphasized certain qualities of character influencing a desirable personality.

Carrying out the class theme of the "Last Round-Up," the other members on the program, class singing of "The Last Round-Up" and "Home on the Range," accompanied by Miss Josephine Throckmorton, and "Fannie Moon" sung by Miss Clara Saunders, accompanied by Miss Throckmorton. Miss Helen Severin and Bob Miller played a piano duet. Sunny Evans responded to a toast with "Life as the Senators See It," and the senior farewell song was sung. Talks were given by Howard Larson, Ray Turner and Jack Penn, president of the class, who expressed the appreciation of the class for the courtesy of the Parent-Teacher organization.

Western Theme
Table decorations and room decorations carried out the western theme with the use of lupine, desert pink, and Indian paintbrush brought from Dry Creek, Nev. An illuminated sign, "The Last Round-Up," added to the atmosphere. Program songs were "The Last Round-Up," "Success" were especially designed by Harry Tager, local high school graduate, now studying art in California.

Special guests were Supl. and Mrs. W. B. Smith, Prin. and Mrs. H. H. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hayes, Mrs. J. H. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Evans, Miss Throckmorton, Miss Helen Miller, class sponsors, and Miss Saunders.

ANNIVERSARY BANQUET DINNER HELD

The first anniversary of the founding of the Twin Falls Flaxseed National Bank was joyously celebrated last evening at a banquet held at the Park hotel by directors, officers and employees of the local institution and the Flaxseed bank and their wives. Encouraged by the success of the dinner, it was decided to make the event an annual one.

Toasts at dinner were given by Perry and responses were given by Guy Shearer, Roy Painter, Judge W. A. Babcock, E. F. Stettin, Miss Helen Harg and Earl LaHue. Also on the program were a piano duet by Shearer and Mary Jean Shearer, motion picture shown by L. G. Stetson. Fifty day theme was observed in the decorations with miniature Maypoles in pastel shades for table trim. Covers were marked with clever placecards bearing snapshots of the guests and verses to correspond. Spring flowers decorated the banquet room.

In general character of the event was E. F. Stettin, chairman.

RUFFS LOSER FOR GAME

By WM. E. MCKENNEY
Sec'y, American Bridge League

Of course, we all realize the utility of attempting to prevent our opponents from making high trump tricks. When faced with a situation of this sort, however, as is the case with today's cards, the expert tries to make his small trump good by ruffing losing cards, and the distribution here favorable, winds up by conceding losing tricks to his opponent's high trump.

At least one club trick, which, together with the trick at hand, would result in defeat of his contract. However, he declined to try the method outlined above.

A low diamond was returned to South, and he played the king of spades and was allowed to win. A second round of spades was won by South's ace.

Declarer played the ace of trump and, when West showed out, it certainly looked as though he would have to lose two hearts.

South now cashed his king of hearts, and the two lost, leaving him with club tricks remaining in his hand to East's high trumps.

By this line of play, declarer was able to make his contract of four hearts, doubled, despite the adverse trump break.

CLOTHES ADOPT FLORAL TRENDS

Paris Places Flowers Aplenty On All Types of Apparel And Even Shoes

By MARY FENTRESS

PARIS (AP)—We are in for another floral season to judge by the means of flowers that are appearing on everything from hats to shoes, purses and even shoes. In fact, jewelry, hair bands and balls all have some sort of floral motif on them.

Materials are particularly interesting. The prints vary from set and conventional patterns to multi-colored all-over designs which picture futuristic petals and leaves of all sorts of known and unknown flowers. Sprays of white flowers make a background on the black background with large bunches of purple and white flowers, each conventional bouquet surrounded by green leaves, are printed on black crepe for a dinner gown.

The be-flowered costumes, naturally, are more appropriate for afternoon and evening occasions. There is one in navy blue and white printed crepe which is a long-sleeved, knee-length suit. The skirt is navy blue printed in enormous white daisies while the jacket, with long-sleeved sleeves and exaggerated revers, is navy blue printed with white daisies. The skirt is made with daisies and is printed with daisies.

South now cashed his king of hearts, and the two lost, leaving him with club tricks remaining in his hand to East's high trumps.

By this line of play, declarer was able to make his contract of four hearts, doubled, despite the adverse trump break.

STOCKS LOSE IN GRADUAL SLUMP

NEW YORK, May 19 (UPI)—Stock prices gradually declined today, with the market closing 1 1/2 points in a long list of representative issues.

Traders were disappointed of the showing the market made when the Cuffey coal act decision was announced. The market was unable to maintain a steady pace and before the close yesterday had been forced to lower its story. As a result considerable selling developed in the open today. From then on, dealings were moderate. Recoveries occurred from time to time but none sufficient to entice buying.

Among the day's highlights, 400 shares, against 990,000 yesterday, of Curb stock sales were 107, against 224,000 shares yesterday.

PROJECT BACKED BY BURLEY MEN

Junior Chamber of Commerce To Support Lava Hot Springs Resort

BURLEY, May 19 (Special)—Support of the development of Lava Hot Springs as a national health center and pledging of full cooperation toward that goal was the primary action taken by the board of directors of the state junior chamber of commerce in quarterly session here Sunday at the National hotel. Representatives assembled as the guests of the Burley junior chamber from Nampa, Caldwell, Boise, Twin Falls and Rupert.

C. B. Holmes, Nampa, chairman of a special committee to study and report on the Lava project, submitted the results of an exhaustive survey revealing the huge possibilities of future development of the springs as a cure for many diseases. The recent progress along this line since the establishment of a foundation by the legislature was highly commended, and the action taken at this meeting resulted in such project becoming "business" for the objective sought by the state organization.

To Hold Convention It was further decided the stage of the annual state convention of the group at Lava in July of this year. The projected winter sports resort promotion near Halley was also endorsed and communications with the sponsors authorized in advance of the meeting.

Twenty elephants are included in the gigantic double menageries this year and performance hours are given at 8 p. m. with doors open at 7 and 7 p. m. to give big-time patrons plenty of time to inspect the largest traveling zoo in America.

PAYMENT SLATED IN WEED BATTLE

Farmers of Southern Idaho to Get Cash for Removal of Parasites

By RALPH W. OLINSTEAD WASHINGTON (Special)—Under the new soil conservation act, farmers of southern Idaho will receive benefit payments for the removal of noxious weeds. A bulletin recently issued by the department of agriculture sets the rate at $10 per acre on seriously infested crop land on which noxious weeds are controlled by chemical treatment. Five dollars an acre is the benefit payment for controlling noxious weeds on seriously infested ground by means of periodic cultivation. The argument between opponents and proponents of the reciprocal tariff theory continues to rage. A more substantial school of thought which contends that the United States, as a creditor nation, can no longer tolerate high protective tariffs, is growing. Many others contend that reciprocal trade bargaining has hurt agriculture. Hull Gives Facts Secretary Cordell Hull of the state department has recently pointed out some interesting facts with respect to the operation of the reciprocal tariff system. United States imports for consumption increased by $100,000,000 between 1934 and 1935. During the same year, however, domestic exports increased $1,300,000,000. In a memorandum from the secretary of state referring to special commodities, we got the following report regarding butter imports: "Imports of 22,674,642 pounds in 1935 compared to 1,107,000 pounds in 1931 came in almost entirely during the first five months of the year, during the period in which prices rose high enough to attract some $100,000,000 pounds into the United States despite our tariff of 22.7 cents per pound which has not been changed. The secretary cites the drought as the cause of the butter price increase resulting in imports and says despite this fact the imports were only 1.4 per cent of the domestic production of creamy butter.

You remember what Mark Twain said ...

... he said there were only two times when he wasn't smoking ... one was when he was eating and one was when he was sleeping.

Yes ... there's a lot of satisfaction in smoking ... and it's true that tobacco has never been used in purer milder form than it is today in Chesterfield Cigarettes.

... and it's a corking good cigarette
