PYROMANIA IS HUNTED

Flames Sweep Apartment Hotel And Trap Victims; Twenty Are Injured

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8 (AP)—Police today held a WPA vocational worker on a charge pending investigation of an apartment hotel fire early yesterday in which seven persons were burned to death and 20 others injured.

The man held is Raymond Scriver, 27, a resident of the Dover apartments, where the blaze occurred. Scriver assisted in turning the first alarm, but Captain of Inspectors Charles Dulles said discrepancies in his story would be checked.

Hunt Pyromania Police broadcast a request that northern California police officers be on the lookout for a known pyromaniac believed to be near Stockton.

Only two of those who died in the fire have been identified positively. They are the Rev. F. C. Clark, 65, pastor of the First Methodist church, who died in the world congress of Seventh Day Adventists now in session in San Francisco, and Clara Roland, 60, who died from injuries suffered when she jumped from a second-story window.

Other victims of the flames were tentatively identified. They were "Jose Carmona," 31, and Fred Williams, 40, who were in the room where the fire started. The fire was of incendiary origin, it apparently started in the lobby of the apartment, where no flammable material was stored, and within a few minutes had run up the building, catching off escape of many occupants of the building.

There were two fire escapes, and all of them were used. (Continued on Page 2, Column 8)

Alf Landon, who was promptly answered by Publisher William Randolph Hearst, whom Ickes called the "kiss-over and principal backer of the Kansas governor.

Leave Tonight The President leaves tonight on what is regarded as the first tour of the 1936 presidential campaign. His itinerary will take him into Texas, Arkansas, Indiana and Kentucky and will include several speeches.

Mr. Roosevelt and White House attaches have insisted the trip is just a "friendly visit" to the southwest and that it has no political significance. It will be the occasion, however, for a rallying of Democrats.

Went "Right Flounder" White House attaches said the President did not wish to "take the banner" of the Republican national convention opening in Cleveland tomorrow. Radio companies were advised broadcast of his address was not to conflict with the convention in the air. Mr. Roosevelt wishes the latter to be given precedence.

Viewing for capital interest with the convention and Mr. Roosevelt's trip was the acid week-end exchange between Ickes and Hearst. Ickes was a Republican before he joined the New Deal and Hearst formerly was prominent in Democratic politics.

JAPANESE NAVY "GAMES" SECRET

Maneuvers Will Be Cloaked Under Censorship Similar To U. S. Plan

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese navy will conduct its summer maneuvers in complete secrecy just as did the United States in the recently completed war games in the Pacific off the Panama canal.

In announcing the maneuvers, the navy did not mention the location nor give the slightest indication as to the nature of the problem. The navy's announcement said:

"The special grand naval maneuvers will be held this autumn under the personal supervision of the emperor. An outline of the plan follows:

"The maneuvers will be held on seas in the neighborhood of Japan for about three months from the early part of August to the latter part of October participated in by the First and Second squadrons and the specially organized Fourth squadron, the Yokosuka, Kure, Sasebo naval divisions and the Mitsuru and Chinkai naval pilots. The total participating vessels will number about 100.

"Weapons to Be Tested
"Under conditions resembling actual war—these various naval forces will engage in simulated sea and test weapons on some vessels with the object of promoting the strength of the Imperial navy which stands as the first line of national defense.

"The special naval review will be held at Osaka and Kobe on Oct. 29 at the end of the maneuvers."

In line with greater secrecy in the military and naval establishment, the government has asked parliament to pass a "national general mobilization secrets bill."

In reviewing the bill which contains 12 articles, the newspaper Kokumin says:

"The bill provides heavier punishment for those disclosing military secrets. Heretofore punishments provided for this sort of crime have been regarded as too light. Another point worth consideration is the extension of the scope of military secrets."

"In modern war, all the power a country is capable of producing becomes an object of attention. It is longer than a situation prevail in which the fighting power of 100,000 troops at the front is the factor in the war. It is all the resources and equipment that helps the fighting that is a big factor in winning a war."

Power Resources Included
"Under such circumstances not only the direct military establishments and establishments in naval ports, military arsenals, arms, etc., but also all the existing power resources—factories and other peacetime establishments which are to be included among the military secrets under the coming law."

"The ban heretofore placed on photographing the prohibited areas would not be confined to the fortified zones but would be extended to hydro—electric power stations, water reservoir equipment, factories and also large buildings in cities which would become the objects of air raids in war."

"When the bill is enacted into law, contractors will be required to exercise caution in photographing even beautiful scenery."

"Virtually everything the empire possesses thus may be considered as war material in the time of conflict. Official buildings might be used as factories, temples as work shops or canneries. Power stations and transportation lines would be vital."

CAMP FIRE GIRL
Horseback riding and outdoor games were the featured diversions of the Tawasi Camp Fire group which met over the week-end at the home of Ann Parry yesterday afternoon and held in the country home of Shirley Greenblatt for a picnic lunch.

The annual picnic sale for the benefit of the Twin Falls public library was successful, according to Miss Edith Eggert, of the library staff. Proceeds from the sale, which was conducted by the Tawasi Camp Fire group, Saturday, totaled $23.30. The proceeds were contributed by a local florist. All the money will be used to purchase special equipment for the library except a percentage that will be given the Camp Fire group.

Vivid Drama Wins Applause at Roxy

A stirring, vivid drama has come out of Hollywood, yesterday at the Roxy theater, an audience said breathlessly while the powerful classic by Dostoevsky, "Crime and Punishment," came to life on the screen.

Several forces of superior quality are responsible. Edward Arnold, who sprang into prominence only a short time ago and proved himself a worthy star in "Diamond Jim"; Peter Lorre, the fine Continental star who was first discovered by American fans in "M"; a German production; Josef Von Sternberg, the director, who has often— and correctly—been called a genius; and Columbia, the company that produced "The Happiness Machine," "One Night of Love" and other sensationality popular films.

"The play has banded together to make "Crime and Punishment" a picture to be remembered.

The performances by Arnold, who plays the Inspector, and Lorre, who is seen as the murderer, Raskolnikov, can undoubtedly be set down as two of the finest the screen has yet seen.

SOVIET ACTS TO CURB DRUNKARDS

May Refuse Social Insurance's Benefits to Those Hurt While Inebriated

MOSCOW (AP)—Social insurance benefits will be denied to Soviet workers whose illness results from fighting while drunk, according to plans submitted by the council of trade unions for the council of people's commissars for approval.

"Those persons becoming ill because of heavy drinking will be refused relief for a short period of their illness, or until the hangover wears off, according to the union's proposal."

Truck Big Share
The program was revised when the trade unions found that "traumatism of daily life," or injuries sustained by an individual in the ordinary conduct of his affairs, swallowed between 17 and 18 per cent of social insurance relief funds, amounting in such cases to more than 200,000,000 roubles annually. A considerable part of this large sum was found to have been paid for injuries sustained as the result of drinking and convulsing conduct.

I. Velberg, secretary of the trade union council, reporting on the proposed changes, said:

"The revised system must help maintain better industry for workers, especially of Stakhanovites, and create maximum privileges for them. The system provides for the creation of more favorable conditions for motherhood. According to existing regulations the relief paid to expectant mothers is calculated on the basis of wages paid her two months before childbirth."

Other Factors Ignored
"Until now, when determining the amount of relief paid in case of temporary disability, only one fact has been taken into account, the number of years the worker has been employed. The nature of the illness, the length and severity of the illness, has been disregarded."

A new principle will be introduced, that of paying larger relief in case of a lengthy and serious illness. If, for instance, an illness lasts more than two weeks, the payments will be increased after the two-week period. If more than two months, the factory committee may increase it still more. If the worker has a large family or needs special care, the relief may surpass his average wages by from 15 to 25 per cent. Stakhanovites will receive additional privileges."

Veinberg then warned that a decisive campaign would be conducted against malingerers, idlers and drinkers.

Not since the days of Woodrow Wilson's presidency had lighted shoes been served in the White House until President Roosevelt resumed the practice.

SALMON SECTION FAVORED BY RAIN

Precipitation of 1.76 Inches Since May 30 Precludes Need for "Runs"

HOLLISTER, June 8 (Special)—Heavy rains which are continuing on the Salmon river tract south of here—the total being 1.76 inches—of precipitation since the first of the month—today had influenced the board of directors to cancel plans for a 10-day run of irrigation water starting June 30.

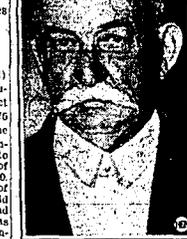

W. M. McManis, manager of the Salmon River Canal Co., said today that the water schedule had been postponed indefinitely as water runs at this time were considered unnecessary.

He pointed to the increase in the storage at the reservoir which totaled 46,400 acre feet this morning, compared with 40,857 acre feet when the gates were closed May 30.

Because of the particularly good run-off on account of the rains, it is considered unnecessary as yet to even set the date for the second run. The first, last month, continued for 20 days.

Tolbert led in his South Carolinian as the leading guard of the contending delegates. His group was unseated in the 1928 conclave.

TRILOBITES GIVE PROFITS TO MAN

Ohioan Makes Living by Sales of Ancient Fossils to Universities

TOLEDO, 475.—Trilobites, 60,000,000 years old, make a living for C. O. Miller of suburban Lyndhurst, O.

Miller collects, then sells them to geology departments of universities all over the world. For 12 years he has lived comfortably from his trade in trilobites.

A trilobite is a marine creature which lived in the Cambrian, Ordovician and Silurian periods. To the layman, the trilobite is a fossil which resembles an armored worm. Usually, there are three segments to the fossil, the head, the thorax and the abdomen. The trilobite it is assumed, could roll itself into a ball. Its entire body into a protective sphere, and scurry away.

Found in Quarries Miller, whose face is burned to a ruddy tan from his fossil collecting, gathers his trilobites from quarries near Sylvania. He was led to the spot by a stranger, 13 years his senior, who immediately recognized the fossils, for they had been his hobby ever since he saw one in a Chicago museum. He was a newspaper reporter then.

After he had sent some samples to Ohio State university, he was commissioned as a reporter-journalist for the university.

Now Miller's Ohio trilobites are to be found in every state university in the nation except Utah. He has sent them to Paris, London, Rome, Peking, Spain and Portugal.

Price Not Fixed Miller had a few of his fossils on display when the Ohio Academy of Science met at the University of Toledo. He said he didn't have a fixed price. As one by-stander put it: "Ask him what he'll take, and he'll argue with you."

Individuals, as well as universities, are prospective buyers. It seems a trilobite means something of a souvenir. But people who buy them gain nothing except the right to say, "I have a trilobite!" just as they might say, "I own a Roman coin."

A Roman coin, 2,000 years old, costs about $200. A trilobite is much older and costs much less.
