STATES' RIGHTS TAKE SHAPE AS ELECTION ISSUE

Dispute Over Authority Rises
As Battle Field in 1938
Campaign

QUOTE THROUGH HEARS FOR

So Many Jam Franklin Field
That Parade Would Have Caused Fatalities

BY LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, June 29 (UP)—

Republicans and Democrats are taking shape as the battle field of the 1938 presidential campaign in a dispute over division of authority between states and federal government. Their respective candidates sought relaxation in preparation for the fray.

President Roosevelt, re-nominated Saturday by the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia, hurried on to Hyde Park, N. Y., after notification ceremonies before 110,000 hysterically enthusiastic persons in Franklin field.

Gov. Alf M. Landon spent his time looking trout and reading detective stories in Essex Park, Colo., a mile high playground where he has leased a ranch house for himself and family.

Mr. Roosevelt's campaign formally opened Saturday night at Franklin field in the blue-white glare of klieg lights before so many persons that a mass movement for a parade demonstration probably would have caused deaths and countless injuries. He will carry on the week visiting Virginia for two speeches and may in late summer invade Georgia with a speech on farm relief. But the political spotlight temporarily has swung from the New Deal to the Republican party and its candidate.

Notification July 28
Landon will be notified of his nomination July 28 in Tokyo and the wars will be on until early November when voters determine who shall occupy the masters' suite in the big house at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue.

The states' rights issue outlasted the Republican and Democratic platforms.

To Swing Into Campaign
Outlined Saturday

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 29 (UP)—President Roosevelt began a series of conferences in his Hyde Park home today with leading laymen to put into immediate effect the campaign he outlined Saturday night in Philadelphia.

The chief executive had engagements today with Gov. Henry Horne of Illinois and Gov. Charles McNary of Oregon, both high commissioners to the Philippine Islands, who are being talked into potentially big gubernatorial terms.

Mr. Roosevelt left his temporary quarters in New York today for the White House, where he will be met by the president-elect and his family.

RAPS SPENDING

WASHINGTON, June 29 (UP)—An attack on spending activities of New Deal agencies today was launched by Senator Charles McNary, Republican of Oregon, who said that the federal government was spending too much money.

Mr. McNary's attack was part of a series of speeches by Republican leaders in the Senate, who are attacking the New Deal's spending program.

Mr. McNary said that the federal government was spending too much money on public works, on social security, and on other New Deal programs.

Part of the huge throng of paraders who staged a demonstration lasting an hour and nine minutes, setting a record for all political conventions, is shown here as they marched through the vast Philadelphia municipal auditorium after the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt was thundered forth by his nominator, Judge John E. Mack. With banners waving, bands playing, and cheers rocking the mammoth hall, they swung back and forth through the aisles in an unrelenting burst of enthusiasm that ended only when all the paraders were utterly weary.

Farm Loss Mounts to Hundred Million in Area Lying
Eighteen States

Farmers reported there had not been enough of it left to "hide a jack rabbit." Places where wheat or alfalfa is raised have been hit at this time of year are heavy.

Stockmen shipped their cattle outside the stricken area at especially reduced rates to provide feed. Farmers in other sections had to "rough" for livestock when pasture and barned feed.

Grasshoppers in Iowa
The major grasshopper invasion centered in Iowa. Migratory hoppers flew hundreds of miles from Kansas to Iowa western Iowa counties where the destroyed most of the small grain, alfalfa and corn.

Farmers in several states appealed for federal aid to buy insect poison. In other sections they bought their own arsenic. In the path of invading insects, armies from airplanes and weapons were also used. In Iowa, the state alone has spent $75,000 for the purpose. About 100,000 bushels of alfalfa and corn are sufficient to feed 1,000,000 grasshoppers.

The grasshoppers strip one field and fly to another. They eat their own weight every hour. In some places, they will consume a ton of alfalfa in a day. They even eat clothing and chew chunks from pitchfork handles.

Hard to Kill
Grasshoppers are harder to kill than any other pest. Only the heaviest rains will drown them. When the heat becomes too intense, they rise into the air to cool off.

A state-by-state survey of the stricken sections:
Missouri—Grasshoppers have invaded 110 counties.
Iowa—Grasshoppers have destroyed alfalfa and corn in 60 counties.

Dakota—Wheat crop burned out in all southern counties. Only the North Dakota critically burned except in north central section. Ranchers in the state are shipping livestock to other sections or sold at a loss.

Ohio Crops Periled
Ohio Crops are in danger. Only the heaviest rains can save them. Early crops may not even be harvested. Early potatoes and berries and fruit crops are in danger. 50 per cent. of the state's alfalfa crop is "extremely serious."

Illinois
Illinois—Grasshoppers are attacking alfalfa and corn. Surface moisture needed.

Tennessee and northern Mississippi—Grasshoppers are attacking crops. Corn suffering immensely from drought.

Arkansas—Blister beetle and meadow locust have made serious inroads on melons, potatoes and corn.

Indiana Sections
Indiana—Grasshoppers caused thousands of dollars damage in eight counties. Drought extensive for 30 days without sufficient rainfall.

Most crops but corn still suffering. Chinch bug damage heavy in central section.

Minnesota—Wheat and northwestern section dry.

Nebraska—Dangerous grasshopper invasion feared.

Wisconsin—Grasshoppers unusually large and numerous as result of dry weather.

Colorado, Wyoming—Wheat and livestock seriously damaged by drought and grasshoppers.

Idaho, Utah—6,000 WPA workers and C.C.C. enrollees battling erosion, invasion with brush, insect and fence and airplane.

Kentucky—Crops badly need rain.

TOURISTS ANGRY AT LIQUOR MOVE

Promise Court Test for Order
Abrogating $100 Tax-Free
Import Rule

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—Tourists here proclaimed that the San Francisco move to abrogate the $100 tax-free import rule without giving notice, promised today to test the government's action in court.

Many of the 100 southern cruise passengers who returned yesterday on the liners Peter and Carthage valued their right to customs in return for the change in regulations while they were on the high seas.

Reduction Offer
The new ruling reduced the customs duty from $5 a gallon to $2.50 a gallon, plus refund of $2.50 a gallon. However, the advantage of the reduced duty was more than offset by repeal of the privilege of bringing in $100 worth of liquor tax free. Passengers had to pay a total of $4.50 a gallon for all liquor brought in. The new exemption quota of one wine gallon a person.

Many of the returning vacationists spent the last of their ready cash to bring in the full quota of $100 of liquor. Some tried to pay the duty by check, but customs inspectors refused to accept anything but cash and much of the liquor was confiscated.

The Hyde, a fresh-water polo, can cruise normally with a crew of inside out and is capable of averaging an actual 50 times its own size.

trial strife, threatens such interruption. The steel industry will use its resources to the best of its ability to protect its employees and their families from intimidation, coercion and violence and to all men in maintaining collective bargaining free from interference from any source.

The Iron and Steel Institute called attention to a statement by a speaker at the Communist National convention, just ended, that "a serious steel strike will be an almost inevitable result of the efforts to organize the industry by the committee for industrial organization."

May Spread Fear
Although Lewis refused to comment upon the employers' duty to protect their employees from intimidation, yesterday at Washington from Philadelphia today, and the steel companies reacted upon their former statement, lead on both sides felt the threatened war might spread fear beyond the workers of any industry would be members of "one big union."

President William Green of the A. F. of M., opposed the movement. He adheres to the belief of the steel workers that the steel industry is a labor movement.

10 Unions in Drive
Behold Lewis and his 400,000 mine workers are 10 unions, comprising the committee for industrial organization. They include steel and tin workers, printers, clothing workers, smelter workers, and gas field laborers.

Corporations enlisted on the other side of the steel industry. The Bethlehem Steel corporation, Republic Steel, Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Inland Steel and National Steel. They represent 85 per cent of the industry.

Explaining their position, the companies cited figures of the National Industrial conference board showing that the average hourly wage rate in the steel industry is eight per cent above that for industry in general.

STEEL INDUSTRY BATTLES UNIONS

trial strife, threatens such interruption. The steel industry will use its resources to the best of its ability to protect its employees and their families from intimidation, coercion and violence and to all men in maintaining collective bargaining free from interference from any source.

The Iron and Steel Institute called attention to a statement by a speaker at the Communist National convention, just ended, that "a serious steel strike will be an almost inevitable result of the efforts to organize the industry by the committee for industrial organization."

May Spread Fear
Although Lewis refused to comment upon the employers' duty to protect their employees from intimidation, yesterday at Washington from Philadelphia today, and the steel companies reacted upon their former statement, lead on both sides felt the threatened war might spread fear beyond the workers of any industry would be members of "one big union."

President William Green of the A. F. of M., opposed the movement. He adheres to the belief of the steel workers that the steel industry is a labor movement.

10 Unions in Drive
Behold Lewis and his 400,000 mine workers are 10 unions, comprising the committee for industrial organization. They include steel and tin workers, printers, clothing workers, smelter workers, and gas field laborers.

Corporations enlisted on the other side of the steel industry. The Bethlehem Steel corporation, Republic Steel, Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Inland Steel and National Steel. They represent 85 per cent of the industry.

Explaining their position, the companies cited figures of the National Industrial conference board showing that the average hourly wage rate in the steel industry is eight per cent above that for industry in general.

COMMUNISTS HIT AT BOTH PARTIES

Pick Nominees and Open War on Republicans; Attack Roosevelt Actions

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—More than 700 delegates to the ninth national Communist convention began a campaign in every state of the union today to defeat reaction and Republicanism in the presidential election.

At the closing session of the five-day convention—yesterday in Madison Square Garden—the delegates nominated by acclamation Earl Browder, former Kansas bookkeeper, and James W. Ford, Alabama-born Negro leader, as the party's candidates for President and vice president and unanimously approved an eight-point platform demanding "decent" social and economic standards for the working class.

25,000 Jam Garden
The vast throng which jammed the Garden auditorium to its uppermost balcony cheered the entrance speeches of their candidates. The delegates staged two half-hour speeches when Browder and Ford were placed in nomination.

In accepting the nomination, Browder, a black mountaineer, denounced the party's keynote with a declaration that the chief enemy of the American people is the Republican party and its reactionary allies, William Randolph Hearst, the Liberty League and Wall Street.

Attack Roosevelt
They warned the convention that the Democratic party cannot be depended upon to defeat the Republicans and charged President Roosevelt with "retreating before the attack of reaction, surrendering position after position."

The self-styled Union party of Lenkie and Coughlin, Browder said, "is the product of a Hearst-Liberty League intrigue, with Lemke clearly the stooge for Landon."

Browder was the party's unanimous choice since William Z. Foster, chairman of the Communist party and three-time presidential candidate, is in poor health. The party's eight point platform was nearly entirely devoted to a declaration of support for economic and social changes for the worker and farmer.

DEATH OF INDIAN GIRL ACCIDENTAL

BLACKFOOT, June 29 (AP)—Sudden articles of clothing recovered from a canal on the Fort Hall Indian reservation today provided authorities with indications that Cordelia Sandy, 22-year-old Indian girl, drowned while washing clothes in the stream.

The girl was missing 24 hours before her body was recovered by searchers.

Officers were convinced the girl drowned accidentally and announced no further investigation would be conducted.

The highest volcanic peak in the world is Shisham, in Bolivia. It is 21,000 feet high.

At the Theaters

ANOTHER HIT

After securing a remarkable hit upon his return to the screen in "Pellican Fever," with Norma Lee, Robert Montgomery is fortunate again to have another story of equal merit for his second venture. The picture is "The Sign of the Cross," which is another charming story as his co-star, Rosalind Russell, "Frenzies For Two" will open a three day engagement at the Orpheum-Madison.

Montgomery has another charming story as his co-star, Rosalind Russell, "Frenzies For Two" will open a three day engagement at the Orpheum-Madison. A gala holiday program is arranged for this Saturday, July 4, another outstanding play show, Merry Melba, with eight headlining vaudeville acts. On the screen will be shown "Woman's Cargo."

Story of "Rhodes" On Idaho's Screen

Now playing at the Idaho theater is Walter Huston as "Rhodes." It is the story of a man who was given six months to live, and who went to Africa to create and bring to life a new world which he had held dear in his imagination during his short life. The program is completed with a subject on "Lemke and Coughlin," Browder said, "is the product of a Hearst-Liberty League intrigue, with Lemke clearly the stooge for Landon."

L. D. S. PRESSES SABBATH DRIVE

Young Men of Church Pledge Effort to Combat Many Violations

SALT LAKE CITY, June 29 (AP)—Youthful Idaho and Utah members of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) church pressed a campaign today for strict observance of the Sabbath.

Four thousand young men of the church pledged themselves to the drive during a meeting at the Mormon tabernacle here yesterday. Subversive influences and commercialized entertainments, they said, are enticing youth from a true observance of Sunday.

They listed baseball, motion pictures, excursions, dancing, fishing and swimming as violations of the Sabbath.

"Sunday should be given to spiritual uplift and rest, not to diversions or work," David O. Mackay, a high church official, said.

SLAYER CALMLY AWAITS VERDICT

Green Outwardly Indifferent Despite Petitions Seeking To Avert Execution

SALT LAKE CITY, June 29 (AP)—Delbert Green, condemned Utah triple slayer, awaited with outward indifference today the decision which may mark defeat of his final hope of escaping a firing squad execution.

Green's plea for commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment, backed by petitions signed by 208 fellow prisoners at Utah state prison, will be adjudicated Wednesday by the state parole board.

The prisoners' appeal was smuggled from the prison by a departing convict, then submitted to the parole board Saturday by Attorney Edward M. Morrissey. It argued that Green's mental state, that of a 10-year-old child and concluded, "We beg of you to save our friend."

Miss Ma Alexander, the condemned man's mother, also submitted a petition signed by 300 residents of Salt Lake City, Ogden and vicinity.

Green was scheduled to die July 10.

FARMER KILLED

OREANA, Idaho, June 29 (AP)—Homer Allen, 55-year-old farmer, was instantly killed here late yesterday when he was thrown from a hay rack. His neck was broken. He was pitched from the empty wagon when the wheels rolled into a small ditch.

Allen had farmed here for the past 20 years. He is survived by his widow, a sister and three brothers, all of Oreana. His body was taken to Nampa where it will be buried.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
WINS GAME AGAINST ODDS

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY
Sec., American Bridge League
Players are so accustomed to measuring their hands by the high cards they hold that perhaps unconsciously they feel a little resentful when they have a handful of aces, kings and queens, to find that the opposing players just will not stop bidding.

Today's hand is an illustration taken from a recent duplicate game in New York, where a great variety of results was obtained. Every South player bid four spades and every West player either doubled that contract or decided to push on to five hearts, which could be made.

The bidding here is what happens sometimes when a player with a two-suiter doubles for a bid and finds that partner of the opening bidder has shut out his partner by a jump raise. When

North is playing the contract, it looks as if he will have to lose one diamond. Can you develop the squeeze play that will eliminate the loser?

Today's Contract Problem
North is playing the contract. It looks as if he will have to lose one diamond. Can you develop the squeeze play that will eliminate the loser?

West has a chance to show his heart suit, he has a choice between bidding five hearts and doubling four spades. However, with North's long spades and the vulnerability situation, it is unlikely in any event that West could hope to play the contract for less than

The spade contract was defeated at every table except one, and, after the opening lead, the hand could easily be made. One player, Mrs. Maud Zontlein, found how to do it.

After winning with the king of diamonds, West led the ace of hearts, and continued with the king of hearts. South ruffed and led the queen of diamonds. West covered with the ace and the trick was ruffed in dummy.

A trump was found from dummy and then the second round of trumps was won, dealer's hand.

Next, the two high diamonds were cashed and, when East followed suit the second time, the contract was safe.

East's last trump was picked up, the king in dummy winning the trick. The ten of clubs was returned.

West could do nothing but win, and, whatever he returned, he could not take another trick. The elimination of the diamonds before playing the clubs made the contract safe.

JAPAN STUDYING EXPORT PROBLEM

Seeks Way to Reduce Effects Of American, Australian Tariff Increases

TOKYO (U.P.)—To reduce to a minimum the effects of American and Australian tariff increases on Japanese cotton textiles, is the prime object of joint industrial and governmental conferences now under way.

The first effects of the shock have worn away and Japanese newspapers have exhausted their supply of invectives and predictions of retaliation are not so much in evidence.

Textile industrialists at first demanded immediate application of the trade protection law as it was applied when Canada increased tariffs that affected Japanese goods.

Complex Problem The problem, however, became so complex that it seemed no longer possible to solve it.

Refusal to buy Australian wool not only would complicate the situation further and compel many re-adjustments in trade, but it would deprive Japanese ship owners of the lucrative business of hauling the wool to Japan and Manchukuo. Switching the wheat purchases to Canada where prices are admittedly more attractive, also would cause losses to the Japan-Australia steamship line.

Problem as to Quality Buying raw cotton outside of America might result in the purchase of large quantities of fiber unsuitable for the textile Japan now sells abroad. Sales might decline with the change in fibers.

As the problems increased the industrialists laid aside all proposals that were based on resentment and retaliation. While the resentment no doubt continues and the actions of the United States and Australia are still considered "outrageous" both the government and the industrialists are practical.

Although Japanese do not admit that in any instance their foreign trade methods were unethical or went beyond their full rights to sell in foreign countries, they are considering the advisability of certain re-adjustments that will keep the factories going at the present capacity.

SUCCESS SEEN IN PARASITE BATTLE

Expert Says Result of Long Biological Studies May Bring Goal

RIVERSIDE, Calif., (U.P.)—America's intensive study of biology and zoology for the past 20 years at last may be utilized in bringing harmful parasites under biological control, according to Dr. S. E. Flanders, entomologist of the University of California's citrus experiment station.

To date, virtually the only defense of citrus growers against parasites has been the spraying with chemicals at a cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. Under the new system of biological control, where the parasite may become extinct through the simple means of non-propagation, Dr. Flanders hopes to solve the problem without further expense either to the state or to the citrus growers.

Dr. Flanders' first intimation that such a control might be attained came when it developed that many colonies of various parasites brought to the station for study failed to thrive there. Most of these parasites were of a beneficial nature which, if they could be introduced into American orchards, nurseries and plant life generally, would have been of great value.

As a consequence, Dr. Flanders began at once an intensive study of the life traits of certain of these colonies of parasites which, while thriving in other parts of the world, could not reproduce in California. He found that the difficulty came about by the failure of the newly introduced colonies to propagate. The study then was limited to an observation of the mating and propagation habits of the tiny parasites.

Secret Believed Found In the end the secret was found, he is convinced.

Briefly, he found that in these parasites male eggs are produced only by unmated females and female eggs only by mated females. As a consequence, he explains, if only unmated females are colonized in groves, the progeny will all be males and the colony likewise will become extinct.

With this discovery as a basis, Dr. Flanders is working out a program whereby he hopes to be able to maintain a complete biological control not only of the citrus pests menacing but to other parasites injurious to orchards and vegetable gardens.

CHICAGO CUBS OUST CARDINALS FROM FIRST PLACE

BLACK GIANTS IN DOUBBLE PROGRAM

Champions Blaze Into Lead by Shutting Out New York
By 3-0 and 6-0

BY LESLIE AVERY
NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—Chicago's championship Cubs were pitched into the National League today after demolishing the St. Louis Cardinals by setting the most furious and complete pace the baseball world has seen in years.

After holding the league lead three short days before surrendering to the Cubs, St. Louis' Cardinals machine was suddenly disintegrated and dropped to fifth place by losing 11 out of 16 games. The franchise club manager appealed to Commissioner Lehigh for a pitcher to bolster his hurling corps. And he got just what he wanted in Cardinals' ace, Dizzy Dean.

The rule of the Cubs which has been at the expense of the Cardinals' machine was that when they started a game, they were to be "in the game" in their last 20 innings. In their last 20 innings of the season, five of them were twirled by Mr. Dizzy Dean.

The Cubs blazed into the league lead yesterday by liberally applying the whitewash brush to the New York Giants, beating them twice—3 to 0, and 6 to 0. French was the master of Carl Hubbell in the opener, and Lee subdued the Giants in the nightcap.

The Cardinals fell to second place when the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers scored Dizzy Dean and pounded out a 5 to 2 decision.

The Pittsburgh Pirates recaptured third place from the Giants by dividing a double hit with the Boston Braves. The Braves' 11 to 2 victory in the opener was paced by Forest Jensen. Ben Cantwell pitched the Braves to a 4-4 decision in the finale.

In the American league, the Yankees split a pair with the St. Louis Browns, coming back to take the second game 7 to 4, after losing the first 3 to 2 in the curtain raiser.

The Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians were in a third place doubleheader. The Indians whipped the Sox 11 to 4 to George Bielecki. The Indians' ace, a homey Jay Denny Fox, hit 22nd this year. The Tigers won their fifth straight game, beating the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 1.

Washington's Senators fell to 15th place by permitting a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox. A three run burst in the 10th gave the Senators a 12 to 6 victory in the opener, but Sugar Cain pitched the Sox to a 4 to 1 win in the nightcap.

The Seattle Indians again captured first place in the Pacific Coast league today by routing the San Francisco Seals 10 to 2 and 7 to 3.

The Oakland Athletics captured top position after a week's division, doubling the Boston Braves 10 to 3, but dropped the second by a score of 3 to 4.

Waco White Sox again won the individual honor of the Oakland Athletics. The Oakland pitcher pitched the White Sox to a 10 to 3 victory in the first game. Your Baby's Health

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER
 Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

There is a common belief that a nursing mother should stuff herself with milk, cocoa, or even beer, because it is felt that these substances will aid her in producing great quantities of good milk.

The mother who follows this practice is likely to become unpleasantly fat, disgusted with the bulky business of eating and nursing, and inclined to give up suckling the baby before she should.

If her diet contains three or four glasses of good milk every day, and if she drinks her usual supply of water, she will get just about as much milk for the baby as she will get by drinking great amounts of milk, cocoa or beer.

At the same time, the nursing mother should not encourage the loss of water from her body by taking substance which will stimulate the flow of fluids, such as those of laxative salts or substances which stimulate kidney action. These should not be taken in any event, unless the doctor directs.

Actually the opportunity of influencing the quality or quantity of the mother's milk by manipulating the flow of fluids, such as illustrating this is a fact I have mentioned before. During the siege of Paris, during the blockade of Germany and Austria in the World War, babies of those regions who were nursing got just as much from their mother's milk as babies elsewhere in the world were getting from mothers who were better fed.

There is the superstition that a nursing mother should or did eat cabbage and raw fruit. This also is without foundation.

The substances mentioned are rich in vitamins and minerals and there is no evidence to indicate that in any way they can harm the milk supply of the mother.

If, however, the mother is sensitive to any particular food, and reacts to it with skin eruptions or digestive disturbances, she ought to avoid that food.

For ordinary work, the average woman requires from 1,500 to 2,000 calories a day. A nursing mother should supply 600 calories to the baby.

She should, therefore, estimate the calories in the food she eats and be sure to get a minimum of 2,500 calories daily. On that type of diet, she should be able to nurse her baby satisfactorily, yet not gain weight unnecessarily.

One of the most important things for a mother to remember is the well-established fact that the best flow of milk results from regular nursing of the baby, and that milk flow will be regular and quiet if she remains calm and quiet.

The diet of the nursing mother should contain milk, butter, eggs, two green vegetables, and fresh fruit, including particularly tomatoes and oranges, which provide Vitamin C.

Butter helps to provide vitamins A and D, and at least one ounce of good butter should be taken daily.

To provide a full supply of vitamins A and D, she may also take cod liver oil, or halibut liver oil, as her physician directs.

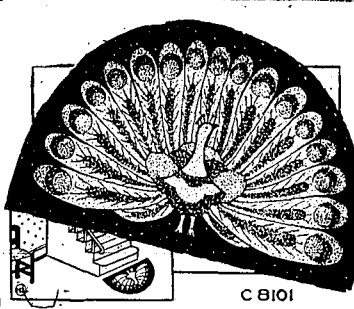

The milk which she takes daily need not be in the form of liquid, if she does not like to drink milk, but may be used as cocoa, ice cream, or custard. A pound of evaporated milk contains a quart of bottled milk.

In general, a mother may eat the food that she usually eats, including meat, potatoes, bread, cereals, and any other foods that she knows will not upset her digestion.

Mothers sometimes worry about taking medicine, for fear that it will appear in the breast milk. Few drugs taken by mouth appear in the milk in amounts sufficient to affect the baby.

She will always do well, however, to ask her doctor before taking drugs of any kind.
