BRITAIN GOES ON RECORD IN SPAIN'S CRISIS

Empire Will Not Tolerate Violation of Territorial Integrity; Demands Free Access to Mediterranean

LONDON, July 3 (AP)—British leaders reminded a tense Europe today that Britain is ready to stand by her rights and interests and that violation of the territorial integrity of Spain or free access to the Mediterranean, included in those interests, would not be tolerated.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden spoke to garden party at home of their constituents, but their hearers believed they were addressing the leaders of Italy and Germany.

Demands Respect Chamberlain at Birmingham, declared one of his chief aims is to make Britain so strong that nobody dares treat her with anything but respect.

Eden at Coughlin in Warwickshire, gave warning to British air force to maintain territorial integrity of Spain and keep the Mediterranean open as a main aim.

Eden declared Britain has the support of both parties in Spain in her efforts to maintain the integrity of that country.

Declaring the civil war was the outcome of a prolonged period of weak government, he added, "in those troubled waters foreign elements of various kinds have their fair share of fishing."

Both Spanish sides were reported as leaving little doubt Britain would maintain a firm stand against any attempt to violate the territorial integrity of that country.

Some speakers said this determination to do so was based on the granting of belligerent rights would favor insurgent Generalissimo Franco.

The prime minister, who left Birmingham at 10:30 p. m., said he had his constituents in Birmingham, and announced the British government "is engaged in conference with the United States, which we hope eventually may develop into a mutually advantageous trade agreement."

List of Prospective Candidates Lengthens

Idaho Political Discussions Centering on Possibilities for Governor

BOISE, June 3 (AP)—Next primary election day is still 18 months away, but the Idaho political cauldron already is simmering.

Discussions are centering on prospective candidates for governor. Among them is the present civil engineer and executive, Harold Wilk, uncle of Congressman D. Worth Clark and brother of Mayor Chase Clark of Idaho Falls.

So far all the governor has said is: "If this administration keeps on making progress financially as well as otherwise, it will go down as a success and the matter of reelection may be a matter of consideration."

Others are other conspicuous names in gossip potential Democratic gubernatorial timber:

Idaho's Governor C. O. Goodlett of Nampa, big-scale farmer, former Canyon county representative and present officer of the 1937 state senate.

Attorney General J. W. Taylor, formerly prosecuting attorney for the state, is another name.

Robert H. Miller, an assistant attorney general, also is mentioned as being a strong contender.

Senator Robert Ebb of Lewiston, Idaho, also is mentioned.

U. S. Spends Dollar For Every $8 Earned

50 Per Cent Assessment On All Payrolls Would Wipe Out National Debt

By W. B. BARBER The Federal government collected in taxes last year just about one dollar out of every $12.11 earned in the United States.

It would take the government about one dollar out of every $12.11 earned in the United States to pay off the national debt.

One side of the picture is that the federal government would have to raise about one dollar out of every $12.11 earned in the United States to pay off the national debt.

Another way that if every earner in the country turned over to the federal government a little more than half of what he or she earned last year, the national debt could be wiped out in one day.

The United States is now in a financial straits, it does not get into the state and local phases at all. Actually, the federal share amount to just about 5-10ths of the total tax bill of the nation.

These were the figures which the nation would get for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937.

When the tax problem came before the senate, Idaho's two congressmen—Hiram and Taylor—will over an amendment to increase taxes on higher bracket incomes.

Several superlatives Several superlative degree adjectives came out of the treasury report for the end of the fiscal year. The deficit was the smallest in six years.

FARM RENTAL FINDS FAVOR IN NORTHWEST

Debate in Congress Brings Out Varied Views on Tenancy Problem; Intermountain Area Sees Grants

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—During recent debate on farm tenancy Oregon's Representative Walter M. Pierce asserted Pacific northwest and intermountain farmers in many cases prefer to rent lands "because they have not enough money and have full use of earnings, avoiding taxes and interest."

This, he said, contrasts with other sections of the country, where "tenancy seems to be a form of peonage."

Inspection of tables submitted to the House by Alabama's representative Bankhead disclosed the three Pacific northwest states and Utah are about average in tenancy rates.

Twenty-eight per cent, or $2,861, of Idaho's 49,113 farmers rent their lands—usually on the share crop basis of two-thirds to the tenant and one-third to the owner.

Twenty-one per cent, or 14,056, of Oregon's 64,834 farmers pay rent.

Restoration of the old system of 45 per cent grants for approved public works projects possibly will mean nearly seven million dollars to Utah, Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

Revocation of the FWA order which placed rents strictly on a cost labor plus 10 per cent basis applies to two classes of projects—hazardous schools and projects where bonds have been previously voted.

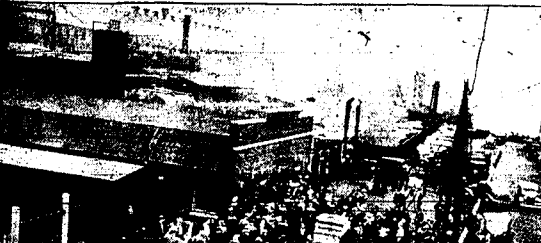

Idaho Projects In the four states there are 159 approved projects totaling $49,080,000. Grant applications total $8,983,000.

In Idaho PWA officials said there are 18 approved hazardous school projects calling for grants of $883,000 and 15 other developments for which bonds have been voted calling for grants of $265,000.

When the tax problem came before the senate, Idaho's two congressmen—Hiram and Taylor—will over an amendment to increase taxes on higher bracket incomes.

The proposal ultimately was defeated. Borah approved the plan, he said.

Dynamite Plot Charged On Steel Strike Front

State Police Redouble Guard About Cambria Plant Following Arrest of Alleged Explosive Hurler

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 3—State police threw a heavy guard around Bethlehem Steel's strike-seged Cambria works tonight after the arrest of a 21-year-old former steel worker for allegedly hurling dynamite at a freight train coming from the plant.

State Police Captain William A. Clark said the young Ernest Layton, of Johnstown, told him he threw lighted sticks of dynamite at the freight train but that it "somehow failed to explode."

Captain Clark immediately strengthened police guards around all water supplies, pipe lines and railroad property in the area.

Two other men were taken into custody for questioning. Captain Clark said Layton asserted he had been approached by two men who asked him to do this "favor," instructing him where to put the dynamite to throw at the train.

C. W. Jones, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, recently asked railroad officials to declare "unsafe" the area traveled by trains in the strike zone.

D. O. C. strike leaders, faced by back-to-work movements throughout the seven-state steel strike area, tonight called four "show strength" meetings for tomorrow.

The rallies were announced for Johnstown and at Youngstown, Warren and Canton, Ohio, where national guardmen have enforced peace during the last week.

James Mark, S.W.O.C. strike lieutenant, confessed to accept 40,000 miners from the coal field of western Pennsylvania, southern Ohio and Johnstown to hear an address by J. Murray, S.W.O.C. chairman.

State police said a check-up showed only one or two pickets on pickets on the seven-mile front of the Cambria works.

More than a dozen union members were treated for injuries after the fighting which flared during the distribution of handbills in their camp.

Although exact figures on the total number of men still on strike in the 24-day-old labor controversy remained a topic of dispute, a survey tonight showed that 22,200 men are still on strike and 100,000 are working.

Several thousand others have stayed away from mills reopening under troop protection. More than 100,000 men were hit at the peak of the walkout a week ago.

James M. Golden, S.W.O.C. national director said he had "reliable information indicating the recruiting and shipment of professional strike-breakers to Johnstown by the Burns detective agency of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh."

Golden also said he had reliable information that other agencies "were sending out strike-breaking squads from points in southern Ohio and West Virginia in violation of the Dyer act prohibiting the interstate shipment of strike-breakers."

Bethlehem officials declined comment on Golden's statement. American Railway Union committee with the long-drawn battle between John L. Lewis' C.I.O. and the four independent steel producers—Bethlehem, Republic, Inland and Youngstown Sheet and Tube—over the question of aligned labor contracts, was launched in Chicago.

CARRIER WITH 54 AIRPLANES JOINS SEARCH

Lone Squatter Scans 3,000 Square Miles Without Sighting Trace of Lost Fliers; Hopes Falter

SAN DIEGO, July 3 (AP)—Late tonight may be critical, announced destroyers Southard and Chandler would leave at 5 a. m. tomorrow to act as guard ships for mines searching for Amelia Earhart.

A short time later naval patrol officers received orders to "round up" the crews of the destroyers Worden and Ardayton. Both ships received instructions to stand by to sail at 6 a. m. to join the search.

HONOLULU, July 3—The Navy tonight reinforced the faltering hunt for Amelia Earhart with the powerful aircraft carrier Lexington and 34 fighting planes in the face of discouraging prospects.

The Lexington was ordered to fuel to capacity and leave San Diego tomorrow for 4,400 mile run to Howland Island and take up the quest.

During a day of slow slogging reports from the mines near Honolulu for a 1,500 mile dash to the scene but caught in a downy mist and lightning storm above the earth as it approached the equatorial region and was forced to turn back.

The coast guard cutter Itasca carried on the search alone in the Howland region where Miss Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan presumably came down yesterday, a few miles short of the tiny cove.

By mid-afternoon the Itasca reported it had scanned 3,000 square miles of ocean without having sighted the plane and with no word received from the missing plane.

Rescue reports of 808 call being heard from the Itasca were widely reported as the possibility of relatives and friends but some of the leaders in the search were increasing pessimism over the possibilities of success.

Confusion and overlapping reports of the plane were making it difficult to sift them down to definite information but authorities were openly skeptical about some of them.

One of those turned out to be radio signals from the Itasca which were later proved to be false.

Although the weather in the vicinity of Howland Island was just beginning to clear, a gust of the high altitude storm caused naval authorities here to dispatch four aircraft based up the route of the returning rescue plane to guide it to a safe landing, which was reported on Page 2, Col. 4.

George Putnam's Pictures Stranded Pair On Coral Island

OAKLAND, Calif., July 3 (AP)—Two left-behind mailmen on the Pacific passed part of the afternoon trying to persuade the other's ailing hopes as they brought to certain word from the flier's husband that he had been seen by a pilot.

George Putnam put down over the plane and said he was sure his home was still on the island. He said he had seen the plane and that it was going to be all right.

"I have a feeling that someone is coming," George Putnam said. "I am sure that Amelia is on the island and that she is waiting for me."

Colonel Jacob Schloek Dies at 59 After Prolonged Illness

NEW YORK, July 3 (AP) — Colonel Jacob Schloek, 59, died here today of cancer of the stomach. He was known to congress for forming a foreign corporation to reduce federal excise taxes on liquor by means of an electric razor he invented. Colonel Schloek, who became a Canadian citizen in 1936, had been ill six months. Death followed an operation for removal of a kidney stone in June. He returned to the hospital May 23. He entered the American army as a private in 1918, and was retired with a rank of lieutenant-colonel in 1919 for disability in line of duty. He invented charge-lighter razors. After his retirement, he invented a pencil sharpener, realizing several thousand dollars which he used to develop a magazine razor and later the electric dry shaver. Schloek was born in Otsewa, Iowa, left home at 16 and cultivated in the U. S. military art in England, Ore. His scientific and engineering ability steadily won him promotion. He served in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war, in San Francisco during the great fire and in Alaska. He returned to the United States in 1918, after operating as a mining engineer in Seattle, Wash., and in Canada.

Weather

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW: Partly cloudy, with some showers. Wind light, variable. Temperature 60 to 70. Humidity 70 to 80.

The weather will be high of 88 on the government weather observation. The temperature for today is 60 to 70. The wind is light, variable. Humidity is 70 to 80.

The third successive day of the Arizona summer heat wave spread northward over the great plains and southern plateau. The cloudless skies have afforded little protection against the heat of the sun. Temperatures above 90 degrees were general over the plains states but further east they were cooler. Only light, very few showers were reported from the central states and the south. Weather conditions were: Wichita, Kan., 88; Chicago, Ill., 84; St. Louis, Mo., 80; Indianapolis, Ind., 80; Denver, Colo., 80; Dallas, Tex., 80; Houston, Tex., 78; San Antonio, Tex., 78; Fort Worth, Tex., 78; Phoenix, Ariz., 84; Salt Lake City, Utah, 80; San Francisco, Calif., 70; Spokane, Wash., 78; Twin Falls, Idaho, 78; Washington, D. ## WHEAT INVESTMENT INTO BINS OF PLAINS STATES

KANSAS CITY, July 3 (AP) — Millions of bushels of wheat, representing about 50 percent of the wheat crop for July, are being stored in the bins of the wheat elevators in the face of dwindling supplies since 1923, due to four successive annual crops pouring into storage bins as the harvest moves northward across the plains states.

Day by day yawning bins are filling, supplementing 90,000,000 bushels of old wheat, the smallest carryover since 1919 and a sharp decline from the all-time carryover record of 370,000,000 bushels in 1923.

To this 90,000,000 it now appears some 650,000,000 bushels of winter wheat and 200,000,000 of spring wheat will be added this year.

Ordinarily wheat farmers are paid to get it in bins, but not this year. There is no rush to get wheat into the bins, but it is being stored in the bins at a rate of $1.10 a bushel.

The wheat and range of the farmer believe will get $1.25 and possibly $1.30. They want this year's crop to be sold at this price. Grain men expressed the opinion a heavy yield in the south central United States would have offset the lack of grain in the north.

A new tug for fresh farm legislation had itself manifested at the end of the world war. The new normal grain act of Secretary Wallace and strong-armed cooperatives had been written into law. A plan to send money to tenant farmers to help them buy land had been written into law. The new, but still needs enactment.

No Party for Celebration of Idaho Birthday

BOISE, July 3 (AP) — Idaho will observe its birthday today, but will not have a party.

Some thought, however, that the state's constitution was approved by the federal congress to admit Idaho to the union as the forty-first member state.

Among the 62 persons who signed the constitutional convention in 1890 were many who are alive today. They are: John Frank Brigham of St. Charles, Mo.; John J. Beckwith of Pocatello; J. W. Birney of Moscow, and August M. Elmon of Oregon City, Oregon.

COURT RULES IN HOLLISTER SUIT

School District's Claim to Preferential Right Overruled

BOISE, July 3 (AP)—The Tenth supreme court affirmed in part and reversed in part today a judgment obtained by the Twin Falls county independent school district No. 6 in an action brought against A. F. Craven, treasurer of the Bank of Hollister and others, to recover on a deposit of district funds.

In an opinion written by Justice Raymond L. Craven the court reversed that portion of the judgment giving the district a preferential right on its claim against the defunct bank for deposits.

The portion of the judgment awarding the district $4,451 against Craven was affirmed.

The portion awarding the district $1,000 against the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland, bonding company for Craven, in his capacity as treasurer of the school district, was affirmed.

The portion of the judgment awarding the commissioner of finance, then Ben DeFendorf, state bank liquidating agent, $5,000 on the cashier's bond was affirmed.

The commissioner's costs assessed against the district, the district's costs against the bonding company, and Craven.

Chief Justice William M. Morgan and Justice Edwin M. Hoagland concurred.

Justice Alfred Budge, dissenting, and Justice James P. Ainslie, Jr. dissented in part.

W. Orr Chapman represented Craven. John W. Graham and two attorneys were attorneys for the district.

REDMEN PREPARE FOR MYSTIC DANCE TO SUN

Braves of Bannock, Shoshone Tribes Enter Gruelling Three-Day Ritual

WORTH HALL, Idaho, July 3 (AP)—Mystic drums beat a prelude for the sun today as the Bannock and Shoshone braves of the Bannock and Shoshone tribes to prepare for the gruelling three-day mid-July ritual, their race has practiced since long before white men arrived on this continent.

From distant reservations— from Camp in Oklahoma, Nevada, Utah and Montana—brave leaders came, too, to cleanse themselves of evil and disease, to seek happiness and health in the aid of their obligatory rites.

Once a year this must be done, say the ethnologists, and Chief John J. Bellard, who speaks to English, has ordered the rites to begin this year as always at sundown.

Here's what happens. A hush falls on the sun nears the horizon. Painted half-naked braves face the west.

As the ball of fire, all-healing to the Indians, rolls down over the edge of the gray southeastern Idaho desert medicine men begin their "sing" choruses.

Tom-toms pick up the rhythm. Flutes, seated around the circular fire, play a low, steady, single note, monotonous, waa-ge-ye-ye.

Eagle-feather whistles pipe up shrilly, bright, and then down. The three-day dance is on.

In the center of the enclosure a large pole, topped by a purple skull. To this the dancers drill, all their motions, to and fro, as the pole they dart, zigzag intervals, and on the sound of a warbling snare, the citizens rally to their tents, trenches or any other place they may find the morning breeze. To remain on the street or in the open was suicide, as the machine-gun fire was so severe as to kill the small boys and girls.

One of the most horrible sights, was the slaughter of prisoners. Mr. Ursin said that hundreds of prisoners were shot and piled like cord-wood. He said that an American man, breaking in on a party, was compared with the terrible sight.

War Gear Lacking Lack of equipment was responsible for the fall of the city, according to Mr. Ursin. He said that the government troops went into the trenches around the city without enough guns for the men, and that many soldiers carried sharpened sticks as their only weapons.

Although he is greatly relieved to have gained the safety of the United States again, Mr. Ursin's worries are not over, as he left his daughter, who is being held to care for the wounded in Bilbao.

COURT PONDS VAN LACK CASE

District Judge Has Proposed Bill of Exceptions Under Consideration

District Judge T. Halsey Lee today had under consideration a proposed bill of exceptions to court procedure filed in Twin Falls district court by James P. Ainslie, Jr., attorney for Donald Van Lack, who pleaded guilty to kidnapping the bill of exceptions procedure here June 22.

The bill of exceptions proposed by Judge Lee at his home in Butley, yesterday.

Because of several apparent errors in the proposed exceptions, Judge Lee is not expected to sign the bill in its present form.

"Rippling Rhythm" Wins Snake Derby CARLSBAD, N. M., July 3 (AP)—Rippling Rhythm, a roan colt, won the Snake Derby, a race for two-year-olds, first in the second running of the rattlesnake derby here today, shattering the record by winning in 2:50.

Second place went to a heavily favored colt, Canyon, who finished a fang ahead of "The Terror of Doc Canyon."

It was a field day for the crowd as the race was held at the entrance of the Carey city as Rippling Rhythm, going up to his hocks, also across the finish line at the other side of the track in front by a button and three rattles, to bring Mrs. B. T. Burns of Carlsbad $25,000 of $150.

lished. If there are contests in baking this delectable midsummer favorite, they call for oranges, two-crust, pitless pies, crammed full of cherries. No fancy deep-dish stuff is wanted. The filling is browned slightly delicately. There is at least one little pool of juice that has seeped through and lies in a hollow, a thrilling contrast to the golden crust. Within there is the perfect blend of cherries and sugar.

It is difficult to be greatly concerned about anything in the Twin Falls area anywhere else while the cherry pie standard is so well maintained here.

BIG AND LITTLE CHILDREN
The postman who takes a walk and the busman who takes a ride on his holiday are no more amusing characters than the people who go to museums or expositions and get their biggest thrills from the crowd.

Thus a toy airplane is of more absorbing interest than a model of the industrial revolution. It is the change of a workman in a model factory attracts more attention than the working models of complicated industrial processes. Citizens who gaze at a huge model of the city do not consider the general lay-out and interesting features but only the cars on the street and are overjoyed to discover it.

Telescope That Looks Like Big Cannon Cracker Probes Celestial Spaces

When neighbors see the "gun" with the unaided eye, incidentally, "unaided" is the proper adjective on a high tripod that dark figure moving about in the dusk, they usually decide some one is about to set off an ammonia bomb in honor of the fourth anniversary of some excitement, they discover, it is Bob Hader's amateur astronomer, and his four and a half inch refracting telescope.

About five feet long and mounted on a tripod of more than equal diameter, it has an advantageous position in the yard of Mr. Hader's residence, 228 Walnut street, where there are no trees, buildings, or distracting lights there at the edge of town.

The most spectacular effects are to be seen in the "cracker" course, but there are always interesting sights to show important audiences. Even the stars without a telescope are more than adequate to clear the sky.

The program includes an address by Governor Barzell W. Clark, and public installation of officers of Twin Falls "Amateur" and Boise camps.

OLD-TIME MOVIE TRAIL
 BY MARIE DE NEVADA
 SYNOPSIS: When Kay Cran-born born, Joe Hastings who turns to buy the ranch and marry Kay's sister. She refuses, dis-but your sister Dabs and Aunt Kate go. Kay plans to rebuild, but Ted Ostrom, a puncher, hires Kay hired impulsively, aims the outfit to cut his own lumber and rebuild without pay. She is on her way to buy the only available lumber and she is met by Hastings, puncher, lassos her, leaves her roped on the mesa. Meanwhile Ted decides to get an option on the timber for Kay.

Chapter 14.
 At Old Man Warren's riding in to Red River over the same route that Kay and he had taken that morning. Ted's thoughts of Kay were so absorbing that the time passed almost as quickly as it had in her actual company.
 It seemed impossible that he had known her for a moment, and he because of that meeting, which might have had such a different ending had anyone of Kay had him at that act of desperation, his whole outlook on life was changed.
 The relief of Kay's safety and his mother and sister had a home to come to was enough to make a new man of him. Ted decided that he thought that he was to be near Kay, helping her and planning for her, open up untold victims of magic hopes.
 Eagerly finding Old Man Warren's shack, Ted knocked on the door.
 At the moment it was unopened, and he found himself facing the grizzled old prospector, who eyed him with suspicious surprise.
 "What do you want?" he demanded.

"I wanted to see you about buying some of that timber land you hold on the south ridge of the Bitter Root," Ted said, and he all he could do to keep from laughing aloud at the comical change that altered Old Man Warren's fierce expression.
 "What's that?" he asked, his face turned up and his eyes squinted.
 Ted repeated his words.
 "God, Halftime, Almighty!" The prospector opened the door wide, and pulled Ted in, hardly closing it behind him. "I sure never thought I'd live to hear that! You got any real money?" He blinked auspiciously.
 "I've $25 to say I'm in earnest," Ted answered. "I'm offering you $100 for 10 acres and an option on another 10 at the same price. And I'm ready to pay that $25 right now on the spot."
 "Say, young fella, what's yuh name?" Old Man Warren demanded, he been prospecting up there Ted laughed. "No. That's out of my line. I don't want it for myself."
 Ted repeated his words.
 "Old Man Warren's suspicious little eyes squinted up still more,
 "Why are you after that timber to have a fling with her insurance money?"
 Ted readily let his hat his own interpretation on Kay's purpose. The less he guessed, Kay's vital need for the property the better.

"Well, if she wants it that bad, strikes me she'll pay more, now, that'll be $100," Ted said, and he slung around, the old prospector announced with cunning. "You tell me she's willing for a while less than $20 an acre."
 Ted turned carefully toward the door. "No point in telling her that," he observed. "There's plenty of timber out to be bought at $10 an acre and even less. I'll just pick it up somewhere else without bothering you any more. Kay thought you'd like to sell and I'd like to buy from the first owner."
 He pulled open the door. "So long."
 "Hi, there! Wait a minute, Yuh don't need to be in such a hurry,
 I didn't say I wouldn't sell, did I?" Old Man Warren pulled him back. "Have it your own way," he exclaimed, adding, "credly, where's the 25 bucks?"
 "We'll get this down in black and white first," Ted said, and he the rough pine-board table and drew up a memorandum of the transaction, which Old Man Warren signed.
 "Good-bye, Halftime!"
 "Here you are," Ted handed him the money and put the precious memorandum in his pocket, smiling as he watched the old prospector count it over with loving care.
 "You're well rid of it," he observed,
 "it's turned to the door again. 'Bye, aren't any too plentiful these days."
 Old Man Warren nodded, impunitently, but made no resp. as he started to count his unexpected windfall again.
 With a "So long" that was accepted this time, Ted went out and mounted his horse, well satisfied with his afternoon's work.
 Going back at a more leisurely pace, he was about five miles west of Red River, when he noticed, far in the distance a dark object that looked like someone on foot. He reluctantly scanned the horizon to confirm his impression, but he could see nothing. "Telling himself it was an optical illusion, he continued his modest from his ride and pointed on to the Lazy Nine.
 The bunk house he found deserted, standing a moment on the steps, he turned over in his mind the question of waiting until some one came off the horse to deliver the document to him for Kay, or just leaving it with a note for Beth.
 He was a great temptation to wait until Kay came back and give it to her himself. He could just see her eyes sparkle and her nose quiver with movement, when she heard of Old Man Warren's attempt at bargaining.
 On the other hand, he ought to be starting for home as soon as possible. As it was, he had to ride all night before reaching Blackfoot creek.
 Suddenly he heard rattling hoof beats and the first muffled "click" came in slight, staccato. His reins were dragging and his own back as he headed on a dead run for the corral.

LARSON BOOMED FOR LIQUOR POST

Ada County Senator Willing to Fill Vacancy On Commission

BOISE, July 3.—State Senator Larson's career of Idaho was mentioned in statehouse political gossip tonight as a prospect for the vacancy on the state liquor commission created by the resignation of Robert Cutler, chairman, June 22.

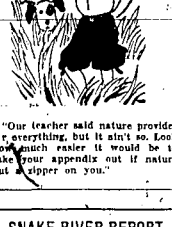

Asked if he would take the position if he were offered to him by Governor Barzilla W. Clark, Senator Larson said he would accept it. 'I would, because I think I could do a lot of good in such a capacity. I have been approached by the governor on the matter yet, but scores of my friends have said they are urging my appointment and I understand petitions bearing several thousand names will be presented to the governor recommending my appointment.'

Sen. Larson, an Ada county Democratic leader, is in charge of $42,500 capital "housekeeping" money. He was among the first officials engaged in setting up the Idaho liquor commission's store and dispensary when it began functioning in 1935.

IDAHO MINE AGAIN Offered for Sale BLACKFOOT, July 3.—Judge Guy Stevens received today an old receivership suit of Charles Morrison, et al versus Mackay Metals, Inc., et al which he announced would be received for the bid and sale property. J. Ray Weber was appointed receiver several years ago, but only one bid was received. On failure to make payment, the case was brought before Judge Stevens who rejected the bid and set the case aside.

Don Budge Scores Triple Victory On Wimbledon's Turf

JOHN KELLY LEWIS REVIVES ART OF BEATING OUT BUNTS FOR BASEHITS

King of Tennis' Adds Two More Titles to List

By AP Feature Service. WASHINGTON—John Kelly (Buddy) Lewis, 20-year-old Washington third baseman, is reviving the art of beating out bunts for basehits. Of his first 40 hits this season, 14 were drag bunts. He missed only two attempts to reach first with such infield-panicking tactics. Buddy learned the rudiments from Teammate Buddy Myer, an expert in his own right, and subsequently surpassed "teacher" in laying 'em down the foul lines. Now Lewis gives infielders more jitters per square yard of turf than any other major leaguer. Buddy doesn't know exactly how he does it—seems as instinctive as the law of self-preservation—but the camera's quick eye catches him in his favorite act:

BATTER UP—When the pitcher launches the ball whether you "drag," "meanwhile," you stand his chance of getting on base. Kelly, the ball, test you tip the infield as to your bunting intention.

DAI MEETS BALL—You can't see on the ball, you must drag your bat but hit it so that it goes out to the defense. The just too fast for the pitcher or catcher to handle—and too slow for infielders to make a throw-out at first.

Before starting Wimbledon, the "shamus" of the Washington, N. C. sandlots and Chattanooga tried to bunt only once—and missed the ball. He tried again when he saw Buddy Myer beating 'em out for Washington.

Gehrig Leading American Loop

CHICAGO, July 3 (AP)—The pitchers had a edge on a majority of the leading American league hitters during the past week. Official averages showed today.

Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees, according to statistics which included games of Friday, held the No. 1 spot with an average mark of .370. His figure is 22 points off its pace of the previous seven-day period. Gerald Walker of the Gehrigs and Fred Greenberg of Detroit all slumped, as did Roy D. St. Louis and Johnny Sisk of Washington.

Adds 25 Points

The biggest gain was made by Sam West, first St. Louis outfielder who ranked tenth. West added 25 points to his average for a .368 mark which placed him 315 points off the pace of Gehrig.

Walker, Greenberg, and Fred Greenberg of Detroit all slumped, as did Roy D. St. Louis and Johnny Sisk of Washington.

Remember This Figure When Planning Your Advertising...

$1,105.<sup>04</sup>

Consider This Important Fact Established By A Complete Analysis Of Retail Sales Throughout Idaho...

In Idaho annual retail sales average $314.95 per person. But in Twin Falls every person buys at an average annual rate of $1,105.04. This BIG difference means something.

What Does This Mean To You?

It means that the people living in this fast progressing area are receiving a very substantial annual income. It means these same people are SPENDING that money for the things they really need.

The point is whether you, as a merchant located in this thriving area, are receiving your share of the business being conducted in this section.

Families MUST buy food, clothing, furniture, fuel and many, many other household necessities. They must choose the stores from which to purchase these necessities and luxuries. They want to buy with confidence and the assurance that they are receiving the full value of each dollar they spend.

The question you should be most interested in is: "If I am not getting my share of this money, just how can I go about getting it?"

Let's use just plain, ordinary commonsense in considering the answer to this question of how you can obtain your share of this great volume of spending money.

Shoppers today are SMART. They look for bargains. They look for shopping convenience. They look for quick satisfactory service. Does your store give today's shoppers these things? If it does then you are ready for the next question.

"How can I reach these shoppers, who are spending so much money in this area, and tell them what I have to offer?"

Nearly every family reads the newspaper each day.

Think of presenting the name and location of your store and the merchandise you can offer to this great host of buyers as often as you like and in their own homes where they have time to read and decide upon the value, to them, of your merchandising offerings. THAT is the REAL way to get your share of the business in one of the most thriving sections of this entire country, and the TWIN FALLS NEWS will do it most economically.

Meet Every Buyer in Twin Falls and the Entire Trading Area Through Newspaper Advertising

Increase your business with careful merchandising and sound advertising. Half-sized advertisements are often as inadequate as a half-stocked store.

Larger space builds bigger sales. Consistent advertising produces steadier profits. Remember, you're selling $1,105.04 (not $314.95) customers in The Twin Falls News.

The Twin Falls News wants to help you to build your business... It CAN be done through a consistent advertising campaign. It has been done for many, many other stores.

If you are a small merchant and are of the belief that newspaper advertising is expensive, permit us the opportunity of proving to you that such is really not the true picture.

The Twin Falls News wants to work hand in hand with you to increase your volume of business.
