Posing as Destitute Coolies, Defenders Filter Through Lines and Attack; 'Grand Campaign' Threatened

SHANGHAI, April 10 (Sunday)—Two thousand Chinese soldiers who posed as destitute coolies to filter through Japanese lines struck from behind today in a battle that threatened to wreck Japan's "grand campaign" in central China.

Inside walled Tsinghai province capital, the disguised battalion attacked Japanese defenders, who fought to stem Chinese columns storming its gates from the outside. Capture of Tsinghai, the base of Japanese operations in the unconquered portion of central China, would sever the link between Japanese forces to the south and the Japanese munition and manpower reservoir at Tsinghai.

Chinese who told of the rising of the disguised battalion, said its members hid, filtered into Tsinghai a few at a time for days. Each carried a revolver and several grenades.

When the zero hour came, they attacked near the east gate and occupied several strategic buildings. Outside crack Chinese fighting units were in position on three sides of the city.

Supply Lines Wiped Out With the rout of Japanese forces at Tsinghai on the Grand canal northeast of Suichow, Chinese said Japanese supply lines in the Lungchow corridor had been wiped out. Tsinghai is 75 miles north of Suichow on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad, along which the Japanese had driven north for weeks toward the vital east-west Lungchow railway.

Japanese reports did not mention fighting along the Tientsin-Pukow railway. It was said that 1,000 Japanese were killed in the fight from Tachshang besides 4,000 others whose bodies were said to have been found on the battlefield.

Attorney General Frank McWhorter appeared before Judge Miles S. Johnson to challenge legality of a...

Under what section of the statutes are you proceeding in this case?

"I guess you'll just have to guess," Judge Johnson commented to McWhorter.

"If I can't find the statute, I'll uphold the demurrer. This is a very important matter and if the defendant's contention is right, this matter cannot go back to the grand jury."

The judge took under advisement arguments on the demurrer which he is proceeding that questions whether the indictment is well founded on law.

He asked McWhorter to present a brief stating his position.

Martin asserted that the 1933 legislature eliminated the state auditor "from any duties in connection with the bureau of public accounts."

The grand jury charged in its indictment that McWhorter made false statements to State Auditor Harry O. Parsons when the latter assembly was examining him last September 24 in connection with state highway bureau purchases.

The alleged acquisition of a $125,000 contract in connection with a purchase order that specified construction equipment formed the basis for the grand jury indictment.

"The present state auditor," Martin declared, "apparently refused to recognize his elimination from the bureau of public accounts by the act of the legislature and insisted on attempting to continue the performance of duties of the bureau of public accounts."

The indictment charged that John Hamilton, president of a Boise company, submitted a voucher to the state auditor McWhorter had purchased a jack, a hammer and a screwdriver, instead of the codes.

The bandit escaped. Greenwood was not seriously injured.

NAZIS RALLIED FOR UNION VOTE

Hitler in Vienna Declares Seizure of Austria 'Will of God'

VIENNA, April 9 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler tonight justified his wholesale annexation of Austria by declaring it was "the will of God."

Hitler addressed 30,000 wildly cheering followers in the northwest railway station in the final speech of his publicistic campaign. The Austrian-born Hitler exclaimed:

"I am here to tell you that the will of God is to send this little boy to Germany to make him bring Austria back to Germany."

Warns Enemies He warned his enemies never to attempt to seize power here because 78,000,000 Germans would rise against them.

"Now I am in power and I shall not give it up."

In another breath "the swift man" will "create my future as the son of this great country."

Millions of Germans throughout Austria are listening to his words with interest in a broadcast of the radio.

Each day is tomorrow when they will vote on Austria-German union effected after German troops had marched into Austria March 12, and they are waiting for the results.

Nothing in the 1,600 years of Austrian history had ever known equal to the demonstrations with which the Nazis made their last bid for world respect here.

Golden Eagles looked down from 120-foot high pylons at intervals along the main avenue. Miles of flags fluttered. Every store—even in the Jewish districts—was displaying Adolf Hitler's portrait, red-white-and-black Nazi banners and slogans.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels proclaimed today "the day of the Greater German Reich."

He ordered a two-minute salute to memorialize Nazi day.

Moreover, there was a widespread opinion that chances of 1938 action on the wage-hour bill, a key item on the Roosevelt program, had virtually vanished.

Senator Hatch (D-NM), who has been a vocal opponent of the effects of its defeat had been "greatly mollified" but said that much of the Roosevelt program would be slipped up.

Speaker Bankhead reiterated the Roosevelt program would be able to wind up its tasks and go home by May 15.

SLIDE THREATENS IDAHO HIGHWAY

Strata of Hardpan Worries Engineer of Pocatello District

POCATELLO, April 9 (AP)—An underlying strata of hardpan—or clay—is causing the state highway department worry these days on the Oregon Trail highway between Tinkon and McAdams.

To the average motorist a lot of earth and rock covering a highway should be merely a matter of a power shovel and some trucks.

But J. C. Kelly, highway engineer of the Pocatello district, says hardpan layer is a threat as long as southern Idaho gets the excess rain it has experienced the past month.

Kelly, explaining the slide that more than a week ago rained a hill southeast of here, emphasized this is not as many people believe the same "moving mountains" that caused his department to delay paving an 800-foot strip for two years.

"The present trouble lies in the same section, although the slide mentioned are about a mile apart," Kelly said.

Weight Causes Slide

"The one now causing trouble is a hill formation, with a hardpan layer under the base. The earth above has been pretty well soaked with moisture recently and the excess weight has caused the slide onto the highway."

"The new road, cut into a hillside to a height of 40 feet for a degree angle, was constructed two years ago.

Kelly said a small power shovel and crew of men with trucks are attacking the 5,000 cubic yards of earth and rock that slid onto the road, while a large shovel is being going speedy repair so it can be put into operation.

Workers manage to keep the road open, but additional slides will occur on the 100-yard stretch until the hillside reaches the logging angle necessary, the engineer declared.

Costs Around $2,000

This job will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000 Kelly estimated.

A year ago, the department was confronted with the same condition at the "moving mountains" slide, this was from an entirely different cause, Kelly said.

"A wet spot underground caused that hill to slide towards the newly constructed highway, whereas the present trouble is from above."

"It was necessary to excavate into the side of the hill, then backfill with stone to make that section porous. Any water present then seeped through the rock and passed down the side of the hill."

"Much excavation was necessary. Paving of the 800-foot strip at the "moving mountains" slide has been undertaken when the bureau is convinced there will be no more upheavals in the road.

Highway Safety Grange's Topic

House, state traffic officer, told the Grange Thursday evening that 718 deaths had occurred from auto accidents in the state of Idaho in the year of 1937, while 32 deaths have occurred in the first three months of 1938. He expressed appreciation to the Grange and other organizations for their part played in the safety campaign.

Another number on the lecture here was the showing of the motion picture, "Highway Safety," by R. T. Nyblad. "What the Grange Could Do to Aid in Highway Safety" was discussed by J. R. ARMY RELIES ON HORSES, MULES

Nation's Big Supply of Animals Plays Part in Defense

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The power for the army is not a fancy word to measure the power of a machine—its officers figure the nation counts on these fifteen million horse and mule power of the four-legged kind against any invading enemy.

"That is an essential part of the supply the United States has a hardy supply, while war minded European nations have on farms and highways, the horse and mule which has taken shape within the last few years to provide animal breeding. There was some fear that in the shift from to machines on farms and highways, the horse and mule would be forgotten.

Now, the arms and ranches of the United States are credited with being able to supply 11,162,000 horses and 4,477,000 mules for national use should a foreign army land on American soil.

That would be in addition to some 22,000 regular cavalry and artillery animals now in service; and the peace-time skeleton mounted services of four national guard cavalry divisions.

Staff officers in Washington believe the American army will utilize the lessons on striking power taught in the Civil war by Sheridan, Wilson, Sheridan and Sherman is militarily sane in retaining its faith in horse and mule.

"American cavalry is a powerful combat arm."

MOTORS SHELVE WAGE PROPOSAL

Leading Producers Doubt Practicality of Annual Minimum

DETROIT, April 9 (AP)—Under pressure of adverse economic conditions, the recently made discussed suggestion for an annual wage in the motorcar industry appears to have been definitely laid aside.

Many complications were encountered in the study given the proposal, and most if not all the leading producers doubt a practical plan for a minimum annual wage can be worked out. The suggestion was seriously considered just as is every other problem involving the industry and its wage earners.

Checked to Ford

Currently, the matter of profitable operations on a low level of production volume is giving the automobile manufacturers no little concern, and probably has definitely ended for the time being any further thought about annual wage proposals.

Government Frank Murphy of Michigan, who took a leading part in the settlement of labor troubles in the automobile industry last year suggested a few weeks ago that Henry Ford give thought to the annual wage idea. Ford is known to have considered it months before Governor Ford's statement was given out. While Ford has declined to discuss the subject, his attitude, sources close to him indicated that objection to the proposal were found to be vitally insurmountable.

Producers' Start

Long before the question of annual compensation levels was first introduced into the labor problem of the motorcar industry, the producers had considered the end sought from a different angle. They tried to work out programs that would eliminate the high and low levels of production activity that developed in the industry almost with the beginning of volume output. By stabilizing assembly activity at a certain level they hoped to be able to avoid the periodical lay-offs that were necessary at different seasons.

Nuts, owing to the "vegetable" oil they contain, have a high food value. Hazel and Brazil nuts rank first in food value, followed by chestnut, almond, walnut and peanut. In the order named.

POWER PROGRAM VIEWS DIVIDED

Senator Borah, Congressman Clark Object to Bonneville Use

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Proposals that Bonneville dam be used to develop Idaho's hydroelectric resources lack the general approval of the state's congressional delegation.

Some of its members feel that Idaho power should be used—should be developed along with the phosphates which may some day supply the nation with cheap fertilizer. War materials and chemicals.

Reports reaching Washington indicate this feeling is more or less general throughout southern Idaho.

Senator Borah is strongly opposed to bringing Bonneville power into the state, asserting that Idaho's water resources should be developed to their limit.

"We've got an abundance of potential power," he said. "I am not in favor of sending money outside the state to pay for power when we are letting power go to waste in the state."

He added that development of power in the state would be "unfavorable to our industry, more jobs."

Rep. Clark, associate of federal development of the phosphate deposits, said he was not prepared to speak on the power question, adding that he was working on a "comprehensive plan for the development of the phosphates" which naturally would include the question of power, which is needed in breaking down the phosphate rock.

Representative Clark viewed Bonneville power importation as a threat to the future development of Idaho power resources and its exploitation.

He said there were "ample power" resources close to the phosphate deposits which could be developed in relation to reclamation. He mentioned construction of a dam on the south fork of the Snake river as a means of providing supplemental irrigation water and power for phosphate plants.

If Utah and Idaho want to "share" in the forthcoming naval building program its chambers of commerce and other civic organizations better get busy.

Petitions and letters from congressmen, officials say, often guide the secretary of the navy in determining names for new naval vessels.

Competition in Names

With two new battleships and two new cruisers on the way and three other battleships and nine cruisers authorized in the new navy bill, officials expect considerable competition in names.

Battleships are named for states; cruisers for cities. It is doubtful that any of the new battleships would be named for Utah or Idaho as there are ships so named afloat at present.

The old Idaho commissioned in 1918 still is on active duty with the Pacific fleet. The old Utah, commissioned in 1911, has been equipped with radio controls and is used as a "target ship."

Officials say the Utah is "getting some pretty rough treatment."

The navy has named cruisers for Salt Lake City and Boise. The Salt Lake City, commissioned in 1927, is a "heavy" cruiser of 10,000 tons, carrying eight inch guns. The Boise, not yet commissioned, is "light" cruiser of the same tonnage with six inch guns.

Names for Idaho

Two previous naval vessels have been named for Idaho. In 1884 a screw steamer was named for the state. The government sold the vessel in 1874. It was said to have been converted into a sailing vessel. The second Idaho commissioned in 1908 was a battleship. In 1914 Greece built the vessel, and naval officials say that so far as they can determine it still is in use.

If A. Henning, vice president of the Amalgamated Sugar company of Ogden, appealed to Representative Robinson (D-Utah) to do everything in his power to speed benefit payments to domestic sugar beet growers as a means of stemming "the ebbing tide of unemployment."

Henning told the congressman it was "time for the government to change the policy governing administration of the sugar act; that it was working a hardship on producers."

The 1937 sugar act was signed by the president on September 1, 1937. Henning said in his letter, which Robinson transmitted to congress.

"Processors immediately began paying the sugar act, contributing to funds from which growers are to receive conditional payments."

"This act requires that growers be paid the payments on sugar beet growers on the 1937 crop under the terms of the best-prochorage contracts. Congress has authorized the payments and appropriated the necessary funds. Seven months have passed since the act was passed and not one cent of money has been received by the grower who has received a cent of this so-called subsidy."

"I am a representative of growers who are planting a reduced acreage this year."

"In order to stem the ebbing tide of unemployment in the sugar producing areas the money already paid into the United States treasury should be distributed in accordance with provisions of the sugar act," Henning added.

2,000 BRIDGES CALLED UNSAFE

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Heavy trucks and trailers have presented the California state highway department with the problem of what to do with some 2,000 bridges built in the earlier days of auto touring.

E. W. Bendorff, bridge engineer, has studied several cases in which bridges have been damaged by trucks striking the supporting trusses or by sheer weight of the vehicles. He warns that the unsafe bridges have been replaced, truck drivers will have to exercise extreme caution.

In Training for Passive Resistance

FROM MAHATMA GANDHI, exalted leader of Nationalists in India, Nand Kavi (above), a mystic in Philadelphia, learned lessons of self-denial which reduced him to this thin state. During his three week fast, Nand Kavi deplored American materialism, said he seeks "the balance of mind."

Fasting Mystic Prepares to Fight for Independent India

PHILADELPHIA, April 9 (AP)—Nand Kavi, 43-year-old mystic who recently concluded a 21-day fast to achieve "balance of mind," said today the world is speedily moving toward "communism, in the garb of civilization."

"A cannibal is not only a man who kills and eats another man. It is a nation that grips another nation and sucks the blood of its subdued people," he said. "The ultimate purpose of communism is to destroy civilization."

The Indian dropped from 105 pounds to 65 during the three weeks he went without food. He is now eating fruits in his gradual return to physical strength.

Kavi said his most "beautiful experience" was a 21-day fast with Mahatma Gandhi in 1922.

He plans to leave soon for Paris on his way back to India to "fight for the independence with passive resistance."

VICTORY SIGHTED FOR REPUBLICANS

Franklin County Senator Foresees Success; Outlines Program

BY WALTER H. BOTTCHER

FRANKLIN, April 9 (AP)—Senator Thomas Heath, President's mentioned potential candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, foresees victory for his party in the 1938 general election.

"The Republican party will elect a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state auditor and attorney general and the majority may be heavy enough to carry the balance of the state ticket," he said in a press statement today.

"The Republican party will elect a congressman from the second district, and if Senator James P. Pope defeats Congressman D. Worth Clark in the Democratic primary, and I think he will, then the Republicans will elect their candidate to the United States senate in November."

—Answer—Possibilities

—Senator Heath, Lincolnshire, English-born manager of the Franklin County Sugar company, C. A. Brantley of Blackfoot, Republican state chairman, and Henry Doshak, Blackfoot-Idaho Falls newspaper publisher, are often mentioned in Republican political gossip as gubernatorial possibilities.

So far none of them has announced his intentions, but friends say Doshak probably will not be a candidate.

Heath said he advocates:

1. Relief for taxpayers; reduction of the second million apportionment by 1 cent a gallon; use of another cent of the gas tax to reimburse counties for lost revenue that would be sustained by lowering of the cost of automobile licenses to a flat yearly; reduction of state taxes presumed to include all state officers in the capitol and avoid rental; passage of the fish and game non-political commission bill; revision of the primary law; passage of an occupation law; operation of a department of labor as required by the constitution; enactment of a statute to bar legislators from appointment to state positions; passage of a non-partisan highway commission act; strengthening of pardon and parole laws; simplification of social security payroll reporting; repeal of continuing appropriation practice; drastic changes to improve auditing of state bureaus, departments and boards.

"In my opinion the present legislative state officers, with two exceptions of their own particular fitness for

"However, in 1932 they must depend upon the popularity of Senator Pope, and their own changing personalities. This I am sure will result in far, very far, fewer votes."

"What will cost the Democratic ticket thousands of votes are these things, declared Heath:

DOCTOR EMPLOYS BEES IN WORK

LOS ANGELES, April 9 (AP)—A physician may see the sting of bees in the treatment of disease, the city council has voted to amend an ordinance restricting the insect.

The physician is Dr. Raymond J. Caray, who says that although the sting of bees is known to be one of the most potent natural remedies for many modern practitioners who employ it in the United States.

Dr. Caray keeps some 10,000 bees in a hive in his office and uses 1,000 to 1,500 of them daily in treatment of patients from arthritis and rheumatism, on this theory that these diseases are due to lack of a normal supply of oxygen.

"The sting of the bee creates a venom which is hemorrhagic and paralytic," he explains. "The venom acts upon the sympathetic nervous system and tends to dilate the smallest blood vessels, thereby increasing oxygen to the tissues and joints."

Treatments usually begin with one to five stings, and are varied to the patient's reaction. Some patients are given as many as 100 stings at a treatment. One patient was stung 7,000 times before effective results were achieved, Dr. Caray said.

The bees are permitted access to the outdoors through a tunnel leading from the hive in the physician's office. As they are needed, they are removed from the hive with forceps through a small opening at the top.

DEATHS BLAMED ON STEEL MILLS

National Labor Relations Board Backs C.I.O. Strikers

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The labor relations board blamed the death of three "Little Steel" strikers last July 11 in a riot against the corporation's Massillon, Ohio mill.

Backing up the unsuccessful C.I.O. strikers for the second time this week, the board decided that the Republic had violated the Wagner labor dispute act on eight counts before and during the bitterly fought dispute.

On Wednesday, the board ordered the Inland Steel corporation, another of the four "independent" companies involved in the strike, to deal with the Steel Workers Organizing Committee (C.I.O.) as representative of its Chicago-production employees and to sign a contract based on any agreement reached.

Order Toned

After enumerating Republic's alleged Wagner act violations, including responsibility for the Massillon killings, the board ordered the corporation:

(1) To reinstate approximately 2,000 strikers, with back pay from April 2.

(2) To reinstate with back pay 27 employees the board said had been discharged because of union activity before the strike.

(3) To break up the employee representation plans at its five Ohio plants.

(4) To compensate Cauton and Macaulay employees for the time lost during a 15-day shut-down just before the strike.

(5) To stop all practices which would lead employers to think that

BIGGEST METEOR CRASH STUDIED BY SCIENTIST

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—The heaviest blow dealt the earth in historical times is being reconstructed by scientists.

This was the impact of a meteor near the Yenisei river in central Siberia on June 30, 1908. Thirty years later its site is being studied by L. A. Kulik, of the Russian Academy of Sciences, who has reported his progress in a paper published by the Astronomical Society of the Pacific.

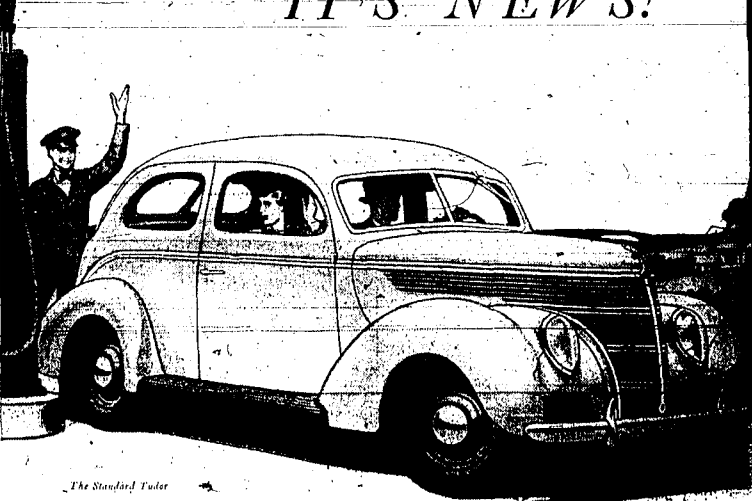

Kulik has established that in a circle 25 miles across, trees were knocked down and all exposed parts of trunks and limbs seared. The air never fell less than 250 miles away; 44-574-mile diameter meteors were thrown from rafts into a river and at a distance of 435 miles horses were knocked down.

The Russian scientist believes the meteor weighed several thousand tons, but that it broke into pieces in the air and was shattered even further as it entered the frozen tundra.

When you buy an "8" to save money IT'S NEWS!

FOR YEARS, only the biggest, most costly cars had 8-cylinder engines. When the Ford V-8 engine was first introduced, people welcomed the finer performance that 8 cylinders provided, but kept their fingers crossed on economy. It somehow seemed as if 8 cylinders had to use more gasoline.

But the news spread that Ford V-8 cars were giving just as good gas mileage as cars with fewer cylinders, not number of cylinders, determined economy.

By last year, more than four million people had stepped up to the 85-horsepower V-8 class.

Then the slightly smaller 60-horsepower Ford V-8 engine was introduced.

Reports soon rolled in from owners averaging 22 to 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline. More than any Ford car had ever given before! A new standard of economy—a low price—and the smoothness of 8 cylinders! That was real NEWS!

America bought 300,000 Ford V-8 '30s' the first year and is still buying. If you'd like to know why—if you'd like to save money all ways—see and drive the 1938 version of this thrifty, modern car. There's a Ford dealer in your neighborhood.

PUMP PRIMING GAINS SUPPORT

Securities Commission Chairman Gives Endorsement to Spending

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The pump-priming school of thought within the Roosevelt administration received powerful support today from William O. Douglas, chairman of the securities commission.

His aides said he was favoring new government spending on the ground it would revive purchasing power of the man in the street and thus encourage business to put to work idle capital funds.

This was the latest development in a behind-the-scenes struggle by "spenders" and "budget balancers" in the administration.

Spenders Gain
For the moment, at least, the spenders appear to be making headway. President Roosevelt already has acknowledged he is seriously considering a $1,500,000,000 public works program in addition to a relief outlay variously estimated at $1,200,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 for next fiscal year.

Continuing Concern
When business statistics and the stock market continued to fall, the conservatives turned up their last ace—expanded RFC loans to business.

At Sea Island, Ga., it became known in Washington that the president was considering a $1,500,000,000 public works program.

The contract isn't over yet, however. The president has his cards yet to show.

SHANGHAI DANCES AGAIN AMIDST RUINS OF WAR

By ELMER W. PETERSON
SHANGHAI (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Night life in Shanghai has come back into its own.

There is something feverish and drowsy about the city. The streets are filled with a whirlwind of cabaret and dance orchestras.

The scene is a Shanghai splashed with the burning of the double-roofed buildings. The streets are filled with a whirlwind of cabaret and dance orchestras.

DIRECTOR URGES MOVIE FREEDOM

Restrictions Handicap Film Work, William Wyler Declares

By HUBBARD REAVY
HOLLYWOOD, April 9.—Perhaps William Wyler was looking for an argument.

Wyler, whose recent pictures like "Jezebel" have put him among the first 10 directors in Hollywood, says he believes the motion picture is too fettered.

He says he thinks the movies can tell stories of what is going on in the world and still be entertaining.

There is a great conflict in Europe, there is material for a good story in Spain and there are happenings in the Orient that interest every man and woman," he told me.

We discuss these events in the newspapers and the magazines, we write books about them, paint pictures about them, give speeches on them.

In the second days, "Jezebel" a story of divorce and decay, became one of mother love for the United States.

"Only Yesterday," a history of the post-war period, became a love story.

"I Cover the Waterfront," a reporter's becoming-love (mostly) and adventure on the waterfront.

A "typical movie story" was written to fit the title, "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang."

"Gypsy Love" an operetta, was brought because of the music—and the title. The music was new and new songs written.

"Danter's Inferno" was changed to go on as an amusement piece.

The list of literary alterations that can be charged to Hollywood might be extended far into turkey time, but the federal trade commission's ruling this week will just a crimp in local styles.

Must be Accurate
The commission here, in citing Grand National for unfair competition, has made representation in distribution of the film, "His Steps."

Meanwhile, with electric signs blaring up everything they've ever learned, Shanghai was a slightly punch-drunk old lady.

ARLISS STARTS LONG VACATION

Veteran Player to Spend Two Years Away from Stage and Screen

NEW YORK, April 9.—George Arliss departed today to celebrate his 70th birthday Sunday in Charleston, S. C., and ready to depart spiritedly the cause that a man should have a two-year vacation after 51 years of a distinguished career.

His two-year vacation ends next October and not until then does he intend to come back to the theater, radio, television and whatever other entertainment mediums there may be in existence then.

Nevertheless, Arliss is eagerly looking forward to his future activities.

"Although it's my birthday," he said, "I haven't reached that point where a birthday is simply a signal to become reminiscent."

Arliss, spry and humorous, thinks that after 70 years of observation that people rather than things are most important.

Returning from his South Carolina holiday next week, Arliss will sail for England for a visit with his wife and children in California, but isn't sure about making another picture there immediately despite the fact that it has been reported he may play the title role in a biographical picture about the late John D. Rockefeller.

Arliss said that he had no plans about that yet, but that the fact "Mr. Rockefeller started looking like me" shows that he was not a rich man.

Few Bankruptcies Involve Farmers

WASHINGTON, April 9.—An agriculture department survey of bankruptcy proceedings in Utah and Idaho during the fiscal year 1937 disclosed only a small percentage involved farmers.

Of the total of 20 bankruptcies in the United States during the year only 12 were filed by farmers compared with the total for the year before when the total for all states was 100.

Bankruptcies in Utah numbered 61 in 1936, of which 10 were farmers, to 56 in 1937 when 21 rural farmers went to court for relief.

Buhl Captures Forensic Title

Championship Awarded When Technicalities Remove Two Debate Teams

CALDWELL, Idaho, April 9.—Technicalities removed first and second place debate teams in finals of the Western National Forensic League tournament here today and resulted in Buhl, high school, capturing the championship. Caldwell's sophomore squad finished first with a record of nine victories and three losses but waived placement, officials explained because the local squad's first team runner-up for Idaho state honors already had secured a place in the national tourney at Woodstock, Ohio.

Oregonians Portland. The two-man team from Beaverton, Ore., debating both sides of the question, "Is it justifiable to execute a criminal?" defeated Caldwell's squad. Caldwell's team had a record of eight wins and four losses but forfeited usual consideration because it did not have both negative and affirmative teams entered. As a result, judges awarded the title to Buhl, with seven wins and one defeat. Nampa, Burley and Butte, Mont., each with four victories and two losses, tied for second honors.

Individual event winners were: "Economics"—Ezraop, Carver, Nampa; "Literature"—Perry Johnson, Moscow; second, Virginia Brooks, Caldwell; "History"—Bob Kirkpatrick, Caldwell; first; Adelphi Snowberger, Nampa; second; Ane Hamada, Caldwell; third, Virginia Brooks, Caldwell; "Extemporaneous"—Gene Brown, Beaverton, Ore.; first; Catherine Caldwell, second; Tom Wilkinson, Butte, Mont., third.

WINNERS NAMED IN SPEECH FEST

Kimberly Declaratory Rates To Eligible for State Meet

Announcement of rating awards in the Kimberly district declaratory contest was made yesterday through Gerald Wallace, district president, following release of judging results by Dr. Wm. Mac Powell, Idaho Southern university, who made the selections. The contest concluded Friday night following the presentation of four one-act plays in which "Twin Falls High school dramatists emerged with a rating of 'excellent,' which fact will allow them to enter the state contest to be held here next weekend.

Divide Honors. All students rated excellent or superior in events other than the one-act play division, will be eligible to enter the state meet. An excellent rating is higher than superior. Ellis Boden of Burley with the oration, "Youth Speaks," and Robert Fulton, Jerome, both received superior ratings. In original oratory Maria Hahn, Jerome, was rated excellent and Keith Jones, Burley, superior. Hahn's oration was "The Tragedy of Hamlet" and Jones' "America's Back Yard."

Dramatic Reading. In dramatic reading, Dorothy Catmull, Rupert, drew a rating of excellent with "Madame Butterfly," Lucy Adole Dillingham, Filer, with "Sun Day" and Victoria MacMahon, Burley, with "As the Herons Fly," were rated superior. Paul Mills, Burley, the only boy entered in the humorous dramatic event, was given an excellent rating for his, "Our Guides in Genoa and Rome."

Anabel Dayley, Burley, with "Merry Wives of Windsor," and Elmore Jamerson, Filer, with "The New Star," were given superior ratings.

Champion Yanks Not In Shape for Start, Declares Alan Gould

Sports Editor Believes Cleveland Tribe May Be Sensation of American Circuit's Pennant Struggle

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—Stormy weather, which has upset the semi-final week of training for big league ball clubs and cancelled a score of exhibition games, may be the tip-off on the forthcoming pennant race.

The world champion Yankees and their victims for the first two years, the Giants, probably will be the expert choices to win again. Yet the latest signs all point toward a double-barrelled struggle for both New York clubs, and the possibility, for a change, that the American league will develop a more wide open race than the National.

Strafaci Defeats Dunlap in Finals

PINEBLUFF, N. C., April 9 (AP)—Frank Strafaci, a Brooklyn boy who once won the national pushing bike championship, defeated George T. Dunlap, Jr., of Pinebluff here today, as because the 1938 world and south amateur self-champion Strafaci turned in a 5 and 4 victory over the former national amateur champion in the 20-mile final round. Dunlap, a veteran of Pinebluff races, and five times winner of the tournament, was the favorite.
Dunlap was beaten in the morning round when a big wind blew over the championship course, making it difficult to hold the ball in line.

Athletic Association Conducts Experiment To Increase Interest

Three 'State' Meets, New Specifications And Larger Number of Participants Mark 1938 Competition

BOISE, April 9 (AP)—An estimated 2,000 high-school youths were training today for an experiment designed to increase interest in the spring track and field sport.

In an attempt to widen participation, high school athletic association officials this year:

1. Substituted three "state" meets—at Boise, Pocatello and Moscow—for the single event of previous years.
2. Changed specifications in some events to make them more applicable to high school youths.
3. Increased the number of participants who may qualify at elimination meets.

As a result, E. Grider, executive secretary of the association, predicted from 100 to 200 more youths would enter competitive meets than in past seasons.

He said the total probably would be about 2,000. The three "state" meets are scheduled for May 14 although the one at Moscow may be shifted to May 21 to avoid a conflict with a University of Idaho baseball game, Grider said.

Seven district meets will be conducted a week earlier with various sub-district events preceding them by a week.

Under this year's schedule there will be few, if any, elimination meets before April 30, Grider said.

In past seasons the weeding out process has been started as early as the middle of April, with the result that some youths would be out for practice only a comparatively few days.

"Any record made at any of the three state meets will be recognized as a state record if 15 letters any of the existing records."

No attempt will be made, he said, to determine a state championship team.

Medals will be presented winners of first four places in each individual event at the three "state" meets and to members of the winning relay teams.

Altered specifications will affect both hurdle races this season, Grider said. The obstacle in the 120-yard high-hurdle event have been lowered from 49 inches to 39 inches while the height of the low-hurdle race has been changed from 220 yards to 200 yards.

The changes were made, he explained, so that the races would move nearer "fit the physical abilities of high school youths and to increase present athletes from participating in more than five of the 15 events."

St. Louis Cardinals Big Problem of National Loop

AP Feature Service Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—A man with the "itty bitty" jitters offers you the Yankees and the Giants in the National pennant winners this season.

Hopping from one sport to another camp manager is not about the citrus belt a baseball writer looks over the veterans and the rookies and then backs the manager into a spare corner for some confidential inside stuff.

The never-failing, copyrighted opening line used by all the pilots is this: "Well, young fellow, I tell you, it's like this, if—"

"They never say 'yes' or 'no.' It's always 'maybe, if—"

And so a sore-footed, weary scribe gets a severe case of the itty bitty wipers as he tries to balance all those "ifs," emphasize some and minimize others, and finally arrive at a fairly sane estimate of each team's strength. You will note I said "fairly sane," no completely sane person would venture an opinion.

Unfortunates—no sports, active has the ability to pierce into the distance and see the sore arms that will sprout, the fractured fingers or legs, or the temperamental outbursts that may wreck chance.

So, take a jittery vote for the Yanks and Giants.

With Joe DiMaggio, the Yanks should win. Without Giuseppe, they could slip home first. Marne Joe McCarthy has good pitching and crack outfield, a snappy infield with Rookie Joe Gordon looking like a veteran at second base and the league's best catcher in Bill Dickers, Nuf sed.

Race For Runners

The real battle should be for second place, with Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago—outfing, each other about evenly. The Tigers will be a distinct threat if Schoolboy Rowe comes through. Greenberg, Gehring and York offer other about evenly.

The Indians' pitching is tops. Kellner is an infield "wind" at third base. Oscar Vitt's time job is to keep alive the spirit and the seat.

Low Fonseca and Assistant Holding Baseball Clinics

By EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO, April 9 (AP)—It's no secret that the American League has been doing a real job of "selling" baseball to the nation for the past few years, but the circuit's No. 1 salesman, Low Fonseca, says "You ain't seen nothing yet."

Fonseca, who led the American League in batting in 1929 as a Cleveland Indian, has been "bitting the ball" for more than four years as promotional director for the league in charge of the annual motion picture tour.

"Since the first sound picture came out in 1935, Fonseca has been lecturing almost countless numbers of youngsters on how to play the game. The current edition, 'Batter Up,' is booked solidly until Sept. 1. There are about 125 prints of the film in use throughout the country.

This year, for the first time, Fonseca and his assistant, Roger Peckinpah, are holding Saturday "clinics" at leading state colleges and universities, invited to them by high school and college coaches from throughout the state.

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The Story So Far: Heartbroken because the man she loves has left her Judith Goodie decides to marry Reuben Olier. This man, who has pulled himself up by his bootstraps, has one thing the ambitious Goodies need—money. Desperately in love with Judith, Reuben refuses to heed the warning of his partner, Clem Rogers that unless he leaves the Maryland valley and gets back into the fight he is due for a financial licking.

Chapter 16

"Man With Spunk"
In respectful silence Reuben's hands lightened on the wheel. After all the years—can years and fat—Clem was letting him down; he couldn't let him down. He turned back to the gates.

"Surely Clem understood that a man must select his own wife. Must choose his own path. And again like a song tolling faintly and far he heard Judith saying—'If I had, to leave this valley—'

And he had dreamed of marrying another Biblical Ruth! "Whither thou goest, I will go," Clem, making a ceremony of cleaning and putting away his pipe, glanced surreptitiously at the younger man, with rebellion and frustration in his eyes. What good was it to be the only thing in the whole wide world that Clem wants and I can't buy him or bribe him?"

"Clem thought in that thought, in spite of a rising anger. If he could buy or bribe Reuben, he wouldn't want him for Clay. Why let the young ass go ahead! Let him go the limit! Then when he came crawling back Clem and Reuben arrived at the gates of Goodie's Choice. Just as Judith, mounted on Winona, came out. The temperamental animal pretended to be afraid of the shining automobile.

"She staged a great act. She danced and pranced all over the road. She reared on her hind legs. She pawed with her front feet. She dilated her thin nostrils."

Judith let her go through all her stunts. She even encouraged her a little. She gave him a fine exhibition of horsemanship. Reuben watched fearfully. Clem with delighted fascination watched her in that thought.

"Whoops, whoops and a couple of whoops!" he exclaimed when Winona came to a halt. "Don't let the machine she had pretended to fear. That's the best act I've ever seen outside of a circus. Don't you know as I've ever seen a better in one. You're Reuben's girl, take it!"

"Judith will busy with Winona's little head, nodded her assent."

"Well, by croaky, if you're going to manage your husband like you manage your horse, you're going to need sympathy."

Judith laughed gaily. "Sh-sh-sh—'re usually confident. Let's keep him thinking he has all the luck."

"Maybe he has at that." "That's the Clem Rogers, Judith. Reuben made a belated introduction. "The man who gave me my start."

"But who won't be in at the finish," Clem thought dourly. He said: "Let's meet you, ma'am." Judith leaned from her saddle to take Clem's hand.

"You've been a good friend." Clem said to her own peculiarly friendly smile. "The very best friend Reuben ever had."

"Clem fell before her charm almost without a struggle. It was afraid Reuben was being hooked by a cold-blooded dame," he confessed sheepishly.

"You don't know the half of it, Mr. Rogers."

"Neither do you, ma'am." Clem chuckled.

"Quickly, not knowing what Clem would say next, 'that I'm poorer than I was yesterday.'"

"And I'm poorer tomorrow," Clem further enlightened Judith, watching her as a cat does a mouse, and poorer still the day after that."

"Deep in the role she had set herself to play, Judith said with just the right shade of concern: "Isn't it appalling the way money is made and lost?"

"You said it, ma'am. It's harder to make than to lose these days."

"I'm sure of it."

"No, I've been poor all my life. I'm afraid I wouldn't know how to act natural under any other circumstances." Her eyes were honest. Her confidence disarming.

"Come on in and meet Gran." She turned back to the gates.

"Gran, in her most gracious mood, talked with Clem about 'prospecting' in oil, and whatnot, while Reuben had a fragrant goodbye kiss from Judith."

"Don't worry, sweet."

Laughter ripped over Judith's red lips—"You don't know the Goodies if you think they're sweet!" Judith thought old Clem rarer a dear. He told her how Reuben had looked on the day he helped to rebuild the cabin, "cold as this as a starved rat, with freckles all over his face and no shoes on his feet."

"She glanced at Reuben, astorically perfect, talking with Jim, and for the moment she forgot the often felt when she looked at him. This old Clem knew they were all clearing Reuben—preying on him like buzzards."

"He's a fighter, ma'am," Clem begged. "He wasn't beat that day and I've never seen him beat since."

"I believe you."

"But I'm never gonna see him beat unless," Clem turned keen green eyes, not unlike his daughter's eyes, full upon her, "the man afraid of something he can't hit back at."

"Yes, but she did not quite see. She only knew that Clem's father was appraising her. That he was afraid she was the somebody that would rob Reuben of his power to fight. Of his power to win."

"You're getting a man with spunk, ma'am. I draw quite close to the machine she had pretended to fear. That's the best act I've ever seen outside of a circus. Don't you know as I've ever seen a better in one. You're Reuben's girl, take it!"

"Judith will busy with Winona's little head, nodded her assent."

"Well, by croaky, if you're going to manage your husband like you manage your horse, you're going to need sympathy."

Judith laughed gaily. "Sh-sh-sh—'re usually confident. Let's keep him thinking he has all the luck."

"Maybe he has at that." "That's the Clem Rogers, Judith. Reuben made a belated introduction. "The man who gave me my start."

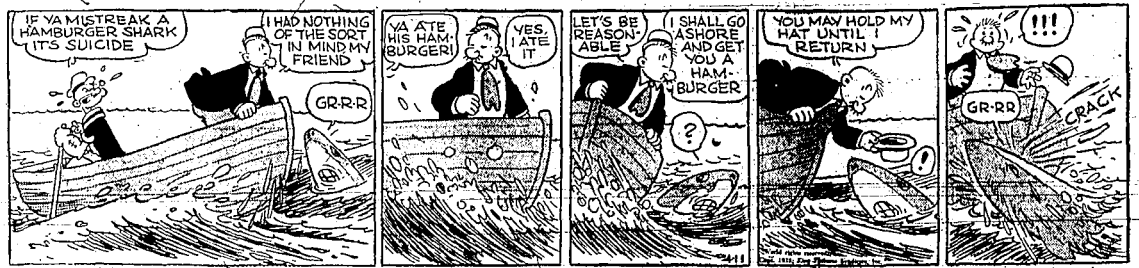

"But who won't be in at the finish," Clem thought dourly. He said: "Let's meet you, ma'am." Judith leaned from her saddle to take Clem's hand.

"You've been a good friend." Clem said to her own peculiarly friendly smile. "The very best friend Reuben ever had."

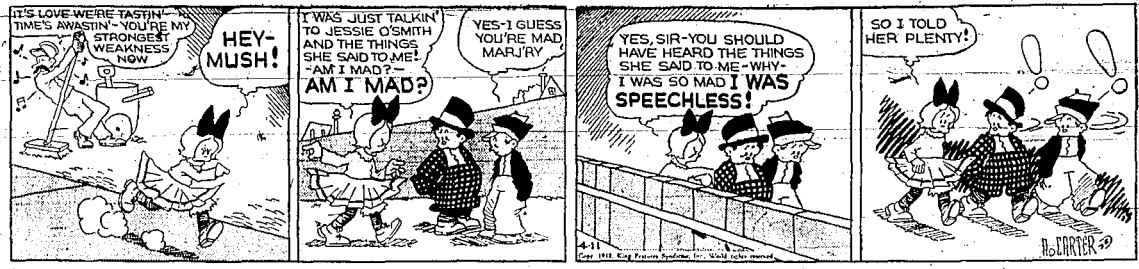

"Clem fell before her charm almost without a struggle. It was afraid Reuben was being hooked by a cold-blooded dame," he confessed sheepishly.

"You don't know the half of it, Mr. Rogers."

Pretty Wedding For Buhl Couple
BUHL, April 8 (AP)—A lovely wedding at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. George Watt last Sunday, Miss Bernice Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Warner, became the bride of Henry Hatfield, son of W. H. Hatfield. Daffodils and greenery were banded before the fireplace where waited the Rev. Leroy Walker, who performed the simple ring ceremony.

"Oh Promise Me" was sung by Miss Vivian Switzer, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John Burgen, and then to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding-march played by Carol Harper, cousin of the bride, the bride-party descended the stairs. Leading the way was Mrs. Winifred Owen, sister of the bride, as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of soft blue chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink and white flowers. Bridegroom Myra Hatfield, sister of the bridegroom, was gowned in pink satin, out on formal lines, and also carried sweet peas shading from pink to white. Mona Jean Warner and Nancy Jo West, dressed in blue tulle, accompanied the bride. The bride's dress was of white tulle, edged with pink and white, and carried along the path to the altar. On the arm of her father the bride approached the altar. Her floor length gown was of yellow chiffon, cut in flowing lines, and her veil was of fingertip length. She carried an arm bouquet of white sweet-peas.

Bill Hatfield, brother of the groom, was best man. Following the service the bride cut her three-tiered wedding cake which was topped by a flowered bower in which stood a miniature bride and groom. Assisting in serving the 50 guests present were Mrs. Will Hawkins, Betty Lou Owenby, Arthur Patterson, Verma Hyder and Eloise Watt.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from the Buhl high school. For the past several months the bride has been employed as stenographer for Harold Yeamans. The couple will make their home on the 100-acre farm northeast of Buhl. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Harpster and daughter Carol of Butte; C. L. Little of West Endwood, New Jersey; Mr. and Mrs. Barker and daughter of Gooding; Mrs. Alice Patterson and daughter of Ellet and Mrs. Will Forrest and daughter of Butte.

Punitive Sentence Urged for Whitney
NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—Declaring that Richard Whitney, former president of the New York stock exchange, had committed "various criminal acts" in the past six years, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey today recommended that "a substantial and punitive sentence" be imposed upon him.

Whitney, president of the brokerage firm of Richard Whitney and company, which failed March 8, is due to appear in general sessions court Monday for sentencing. He is pleaded guilty to two indictments for first degree grand larceny.

Dewey's recommendation was made in a 1,500-word memorandum to the court. "By reason of the positions held by the defendant his conduct has amounted to a betrayal of a public trust," Dewey wrote.

46 APPLICANTS GIVEN PARDONS

State Board Winds Up Consideration of 118 Petitions

BOISE, April 9.—The Idaho pardon board completed action today on the 118 emergency applications before it, then adjourned until the next quarterly session in July.

The board denied 57 applications; continued 12; granted 46 conditional or outright pardons, commuted one sentence and continued two revolvers.

Former Official Released

Reversing an earlier decision, the board voted to grant a conditional pardon to Hugh Watson, who was sentenced July 1, 1936, to serve three to 10 years for embezzlement while he was inheritance tax bureau director.

Watson was freed on condition that he report periodically for two years to state prison parole officer Ed Mattinson.

Gov. Barzila W. Clark and Secretary of State Ira H. Masters joined in voting for the release of Attorney General J. W. Foster who is absent.

The board earlier denied the application of Pete Arceuthing, 56-year-old Owyhee county, Basque sheepherder, who was sentenced to a 5-to-10 year penitentiary term November 20, 1937, for killing Mrs. Margaret Stevenson of Caldwell, slain with her son last summer.

Defends Pardons

At the conclusion of today's session, Masters issued a statement in which he said:

"The longer I sit on this pardon board, the more I am impressed with the fact that we should have a larger number of members on the board, and that it should be composed of men more or less specialized in criminology instead of just plain ordinary politicians."

He defended the practice of granting conditional pardons on the grounds the board was clothed with that authority by the state constitution.

Among prisoners pardoned today were three from Twin Falls county: Arthur Priest, burglar; Fred A. King, attempted burglary; W. Davis, forger.

Duck hunters in Alaska start shooting Sept. 1; Canada start months of shooting, and the United States is divided into three zones, the northern zone opening Oct. 10 and the southern zone closing Dec. 25.
