Forbidden Blasts Kill 50 Workmen

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP)—Forty-five men died in the Grundy, Va., mine explosion, and came to Idaho, one used a dynamiting method against which the bureau of mines had warned, the bureau said today.

In a preliminary report on the explosion in the Keen mountain mine of the Red Jacket coal company on April 22, the bureau said this cause was agreed upon by federal and state experts.

The firing of "bulldozing shots"—those in which no hole is drilled but the explosive laid on the material to be blasted—is hazardous in the extreme and violates the conditions under which the bureau gives its approval for the use of "permissible explosives," officials said.

They added, however, that no action could be taken in the matter. READ THE NEWS WANT ADS.

U. S. FACES NEW TRADE BARRIERS

Political Developments in Europe Hit American Agriculture

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—Foreign trade experts in the agriculture department see new trade barriers to American farm exports arising from recent political developments abroad.

The union of Austria with Germany, Japan's military activities in China, expansion of Latin cotton textile industry, new agricultural policies in Mexico, Newfoundland and Latvia are described as discouraging factors by these officials who are trained to look for new markets for American farm products.

The products most likely to suffer from these developments, they said, were cotton, tobacco, dried fruits, lard, and the bread grains. In all probability, they said, the Austro-German union will immediately begin to affect American exports to Austria through the extension of the German foreign exchange and import controls.

"Our greatest losses can be expected in the export of wheat," Austria has maintained her general imports to the present time," said Louis V. Steers, the agriculture department here. He also predicted losses in exports of dried-pulses, raisins, apples, Austrian purchases of which have been of considerable importance.

OUR CHILDREN By Angelo Partier

"That's it! I'm going to ride the horse." "You are not. It's my horse. Go and play with it." "Mother, come out of breath with hurrying, to prevent battle with stubborn intent. 'Now, now, let me have the horse. Let me ride the horse.' 'Heads,' yelled Jackie. 'I said it leads.' 'Heads!' shrieked Elster. 'I said it leads, too.'

"That makes it a nickel," said Jackie. "It's worth a nickel to let her ride first, if I have to." "Now," said mother, "driven to the wall at last, 'I will use the lucky coin to get the granma's hacket. Nobody shall cry.' 'Heads,' yelled Jackie. 'I said it leads.' 'Heads!' shrieked Elster. 'I said it leads, too.'

VALUE OF NICKEL NOW 3 1-2 CENTS

Economists Explain Decline in Buying Power Since Old Buffalo Coin

BY JOHN LEAR
 NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—I went out today to learn why Thomas Jefferson isn't smiling when his face appears on Uncle Sam's new nickel. The answer, economists told me, may be that although his coin is a nickel he feels that way he is right, the economists said, for 3½ cents the nickel is worth compared with the value of the old buffalo nickel when it first came out 25 years ago.
 A girl with an adding machine computed it in terms of purchasing power from index figures compiled by the national industrial conference board. The indices were based on the cost of food, housing, clothing, fuel, light and sundry necessities in the daily lives of residents of all sections of the United States.

In July of 1913, when the national industrial conference board said was the most stable available index for the period when the buffalo nickel was minted a quarter century ago the cost of living index was 61.3. In March of 1938 it was up to 88.
 Since the cost of living is higher now, the buying power of the nickel would be worth, comparatively, as long as you kept it in your pocket and thought regrettably how much you could buy with that buffalo in the old days. But when you took it out of your pocket and spent it for something, its value would vary again comparatively with what you bought.
 Food Best Value
 It could buy more in food, where its comparative value would be 41 cents. The next best bargain would be clothes, where it would be worth 38 cents.
 For fuel and light, it would buy 34 cents worth. The comparative value would be 34 cents.
 Its comparative value would be lowest for sundries, a flat 3 cents, a composite which includes these items: 2½ cents.
 Tobacco, where the nickel would be worth 44 cents.
 Drugs, 3½ cents.
 Groceries, 3½ cents.
 Cattle, 3 cents.

BROADWAY STAGE SHOWS IMPROVE

Doubtful Productions Weeded Out; Fewer Musical Comedies
NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—Broadway producers, before they were hurled by falling pictures, radio and similar competitive entertainments, flaunted a program which has developed in this straggled era of today.

Few dull plays
True: there still happen occasional ineffectual productions and performances, as witness "The Green Goddess" and "The Wild Duck," but rarely is the Rioito now afflicted with dull, mediocre plays—the ones managed to linger on week after week.

Audiences seem more aware than they did a decade ago of what is going on in the theatres, and now it is sudden death for the show that isn't either literary or entertaining.

For Sophisticated Crowd
Delectable Decca Winans presents a smart musical show now and then, but she aims strictly for the sophisticated, society audience and ignores the well-to-do, but not so alert, merely for a dimpled knee. Too, she is equally successful as a producer of serious drama and her better example could be given than his heart-warming production of "On Your Feet!"

Belasco is dead, Hopkins only produces occasionally now, mostly straight. Miller is still producing and successfully so, although his center of activity lately has been in London.

Began with "Front Page" and "Cordelia," suddenly went into this section a few years ago, but this season he came back to Broadway and excelled as with his "Sanctified" and "Sharon Wilder's 'Our Town' and his revival of "A Doll's House" with Ruth Gordon.

With the waning of the old formula and the passing of the roccoco type of productions, Broadway is beginning to find its feet.

Theater Offerings ROBINSON CRUSOE SCENES PAINTED

Deanna Durbin who has sung her way into the hearts of all the world, sings "Mad About Music" to her string of hits. The picture opens today at the Orpheum.

Island Visitor Must Have Been Lazy, Natives Tell Artist
NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—Robinson Crusoe was just a lazy bum to his own island Friday. That surprising piece of news was brought back from Crusoe's island, Juan Fernandez, today by a Gilbert painter who might be classified as Crusoe's second—Camilo Mori. Mori went out to Juan Fernandez to be the first man to put on Crusoe the enchanting scenes that Crusoe saw, and had some adventures of his own. While he was there he learned the poor native opinion of Crusoe.

Once on the island the artist followed the trail of the castaway Crusoe step by step. With his tripod canvas and brush, Mori scaled the hill "Mirador" where Crusoe lit a daily fire and has looked out the hope of attracting the attention of a passing ship. There, Mori captured a harmony of undertones and shades seldom seen in a canvas.

After indulging in a beachwalk of sun and vivid reds and greens on the hills of the island, Mori descended to the lowlands, where the colors are softer and where the cave Crusoe hid has been found. The scene had darker shadows. He made 24 paintings in all. Each, in perspective and detail, corresponds to more than thirty chapters of the popular book Daniel Defoe wrote about Alexander Selkirk in 1719. They have been chosen with such fidelity that one can almost see Robinson and his man Friday.

The artist, Fernandez, who constitutes but one phase in Mori's works, will go on exhibition at the Delico studio in New York on May 2.

Green, Gold Ball Event at Jerome
JEROME, April 30.—One of the outstanding dances of the season was presented Friday evening in the Jerome I. O. O. F. hall when the Mutual Improvement association of the Idaho state presented their guests at their Green and Gold ball, an annual event.

Music was furnished by the Froelich band of Twin Falls and dancing was enjoyed by the participants of the floor show and Jerome socialites during the forepart of the evening.

After the presentations of the quorums from the wards of Dietrich, Jerome, Gooding, Wendell, Highland and Carey, an elaborate in costume program was presented in costume representing various countries showing that the M. I. A. is a world wide institution. They were: Miss Mildred King, Jerome, attired in a gown representing Switzerland; Miss Nella Johnson, Blissfield, representing Holland; Miss Mauder Hale, representing Spain; Miss E. Marie King, Gooding, dressed in Egyptian; Miss Ruth Lawson, Idaho, dressed in a Swedish costume; and Miss Helen, Patterson of Carey, dressed in a gown to represent Ireland.

Exhibitions were given of the Grand Central White, danced by seven couples of the Wendell M. I. A. ward, an original waltz by the Gooding ward, and an original fox trot danced by seven couples from the Jerome ward.

The band dance was the presentation of the Aloha Co., an impressive dance which will be presented at the June conference this season.

Lucille Ball and Jiggs Travis appear in support of the comedian. A merry musical mix-up involving a bank clerk and a runaway helmsman, and the clerk's wife and the helmsman's fiance leads to uproarious complications.

CURB ON IDAHO'S RIVERS SIGHTED

Federal Flood Control Program in Making for North Area

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—A comprehensive federal flood control program to curb the spring waters of the Cœur d'Alene, St. Joe and Spokane rivers of Idaho and western Washington is in the making.

Senator Pope, Idaho Democrat, hopes that some funds will be made available for start of the work before the end of the present session of congress.

Recurring floods caused Senator Pope and Representative White, Clackfork, Idaho Democrat, to ask a survey of the flood area by army engineers ten years ago.

A preliminary report on part of this work is under way in the hands of the war department, and the senator is attempting to obtain its early transmission to congress. When this report was placed before congress, Pope said he would "introduce appropriate legislation" with the help of "early action."

The senator said he expected the engineers to complete their field studies by the end of next year. Proposals for this work are contained in the war department civil function report and ordered Parsons to answer to the complaint.

SEARCH RANGES FOR STAR NAMES

Astronomers' Friends Get Place in Records of 'Heavenly Orbits'
PASADENA, Calif., April 30 (AP)—Astronomers are naming asteroids after sweethearts, wives, daughters and actresses.

Dr. Carl B. Nicholson, M. L. Wilson astronomer, and Dr. Harlow Shapley, of Harvard observatory, called on Monday, after the latter's daughter, another is named Shapley.

Madlene, astronomer here suspect, may have been named after Madlene Dietrich, who was a prominent young actress in Berlin when his particular asteroid was discovered.

Former President Herbert Hoover's return from Belgium brought the disclosure that a Belgian astronomer had christened two asteroids Iherbertha and Hovebertha.

At first astronomers chose names from Greek mythology, Ceres, Pallas, Juno, Venus, Astraea, and so on. But this list ran out and names began coming from everywhere.

The immediate hour wanted to keep the naming of asteroids on a dignified basis and were somewhat concerned when Mrs. Wolfe named two after Dashwoods, of which she was very fond and which had died.

The board did not find out that Mrs. Walter Dand, of St. Wilson wanted to call an asteroid by the name, Muschel, he used in addressing his wife, the board turned thumbs down. Dr. Baude refused to discuss it, but other astronomers here thought Muschel might "get in."

Several asteroids are listed in the catalog by numbers, still unnamed. Suggestion: How about one for Mickey Mouse or Grete Garbo?

Boise Woman Dies Of Injury in Fall

BOISE, April 30 (AP)—Miss Sarah Frances Wood, 78, a sister of former Judge Fremont Wood, who presided in the noted "Big Bill" Haywood trial in Boise 30 years ago, died here today of injuries received in a fall last January.

She has been employed as a deputy Ada county recorder 31 years. Miss Wood was born August 2, 1859, at Winthrop, Me., and came to Boise in 1919.

Her brother, and sister, Nellie T. Wood, both of Boise, survive. Funeral services will be conducted next Monday, with Dean Frank A. Riles of the Episcopal church officiating.

Jim had never seen an American league game. He was fresh up from Hazzell, Pa., lapped over his success in making the big jump from that minor league to the big show.

It's almost unheard of instance to start a rookie in an opening day game. Managers like to see their youngsters before they know they had no chance against him.

Idaho and Colorado Teams Dominate Junior College Events of Brigham Young Invitational Track Meet

PROVO, Utah, April 30.—Track athletes, ranging from skinny high school juniors to young men in tennis shoes and baggy shorts to firm, supple-muscle college freshmen, brought Brigham Young university's annual invitational track meet to a close today in a rain and hail two days.

Most-coveted trophy in the meet—the all-around high school championship—went to a south high schooler, Bill Lake, City trackman who runs like his name. MacSpedie, equally good in track and field events, won the trophy with 5,640 points.

From Five States The meet, offering competition in five divisions, drew contestants from five states. Events were held for high schools, class A and B; junior colleges; college freshmen and sophomores; and all-around championship. Brigham Young university, Utah State college and the University of Utah had the heaviest entries.

Relay races were held during the mid-afternoon because of a pouring hailstorm. 120-yard high hurdles—Carroll, Albion, second; Anderson, Albion, third. 440-yard high hurdles—Carroll, Albion, second; Anderson, Albion, third. 880-yard high hurdles—Carroll, Albion, second; Anderson, Albion, third.

Each has three round-trip walkups to his credit.

Lafford broke a 200-yard rushing record in the 1937 event, the two-mile run considered the Cougars' strongest sport. Woodrow Snyder, Dick Slick and Rex Franching ran home for Idaho, in that order, eliciting the meet and leaving Cougar acres sagging in the rear.

EIGHT RECORDS FALL IN DRAKE RELAY CARNIVAL

By CHARLES DUNKLEY DES MOINES, Ia., April 30.—

Fourteen thousand spectators sitting in the warmth of a bright sun, as night's meet recedes to tumbling into oblivion the excitement of the 29th Drake relay carnival today. The athletes, in bursts of dazzling speed, opened the meet with a 100-yard breaking performance and continued it until the gun barked for the closing event.

Sun-animated runners from Rice Institute, Houston, Tex., divided the lion's share of honors with Wisconsin, each winning four events, the two days of competition with the Texas youths setting records in three events and tying one.

Wisconsin captured the distance record, 1,600 yard run, pole vault record, 12 feet 6 inches. Rice established records in 120 high hurdles, 440 yard hurdles and the 440 yard relay. Rice also captured the 100 yard dash record for 1938.

Chuck Fenske, a member of the University of Kansas, set a new record for the 100 yard dash in 14.2 to blot out the previous mark set by the late George Galina. University of Oregon's John Cunningham set a record for the 100 yard dash in 14.2 to blot out the previous mark set by the late George Galina.

Other meet records were set in the mile university relay, which Van Reel led in 3:15.4, and in the two mile college relay and the 480 yard shuttle hurdle relay. The Kansas State Teachers college team, Pittsburg, Kan., set a new mark of 14:7.5 in winning the two mile university relay. While their rivals, the Kansas Teachers from Emporia won the hurdle relay with a record breaking performance of 1:03.1.

Fox' Gallops to 3-Length Victory In $20,000 Race

William Woodward's Derby Hopeful Heads Toward Churchill Downs After Outclassing Eight Rivals

NEW YORK, April 30.—Eighting Fox, latest in the line of famous horses from William Woodward's Belmont stud, headed toward Churchill Downs and the Kentucky derby tonight.

With a performance that surpassed that of its famous brother, Gallant Fox, the bay son of Sir Galahad 3rd today took the measure of eight other three-year-olds, four of them also eligible for the derby in the mile and 70 yards of the $20,000 Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

Closing in the stretch in a manner that recalled the feats of his brother, Fighting Fox crossed the finish line three lengths in front of the fast-closing Galt' Wall, Myron Selenick's derby hope.

Woodward, a non-derby owner, owned by Mrs. Amory Harkness. Woodland farm, lost runner-up honors in a photo finish but had the satisfaction of taking the measure of such highly regarded derby candidates as Hal Price Heedley's Bourbon King and W. S. Kilmer's Nereid.

Bourbon King was fourth, three lengths back of Opera Hat, while Nereid trailed by another two lengths in fifth place. Mrs. W. P. Stewart's Pasteurized, only other derby horse in the field, was sixth.

Other meet records were set in the mile university relay, which Van Reel led in 3:15.4, and in the two mile college relay and the 480 yard shuttle hurdle relay. The Kansas State Teachers college team, Pittsburg, Kan., set a new mark of 14:7.5 in winning the two mile university relay.

Sub-District Meets Produce Few Marks Near State Records

Idaho Athletes Turn In Only Average Performances

Idaho's field of high school track and field stars was whittled almost in half today as preliminary competition was completed in readiness for district meets next week end.

Sub-district meets in three southern Idaho regions were conducted yesterday and today while invitational meets called athletes in other sections.

Three state meets at Pocatello, Boise and Moscow will eliminate the season on May 14.

Sub-district winners: Southwest—Boise, Payette. South-central—Gooding, Twin Falls, Burley. Southeast—Pocatello, Montpelier, Lava Hot Springs.

Boise had little difficulty in winning the sub-district meet in the capital city, scoring 70 1-3 points, against nearly a dozen opposing schools, half of which didn't register in the scoring column.

Dean Harland, Caldwell dash man and broad jumper, won individual honors with 12 1/2 points. Vern McGowan, Boise, was second with 12 1/2 points and Bob Baldwin of Nampa failed 12.

High schools along Idaho's western fringe competing at Weiler with Payette eliminated a topside win with 8 1/2 points. Natus 6 1/2 and Homestead 3.

Don Johnson Leads Vandals to Victory

BOULDER, Colo., April 30.—Don Johnson, leader of the one-man track team, led his Vandals to victory in the one-man track team scores 19 points at Pullman.

PULLMAN, Wash., April 30.—Led by Don Johnson, their one-man track team, the University of Idaho led the one-man track team scores 19-3 victory on the Washington State college Cougars in the first collegiate meet here this season.

Johnson scored 10 points, three firsts and a first place tie. In the 100 yard dash, the two-mile run considered the Cougars' strongest sport. Woodrow Snyder, Dick Slick and Rex Franching ran home for Idaho, in that order, eliciting the meet and leaving Cougar acres sagging in the rear.

Carl Ledford, WSC sprinter, was the only performer, turning in near record achievement. Ledford broke a 200-yard rushing record in the 1937 event, the two-mile run considered the Cougars' strongest sport.

ILLNESS DELAYS DEATH DODGERS

Legion Sponsored Exhibition at Filer Postponed for Week

Postponement of the Death Dodgers' circus scheduled to be held today at the Filer fairgrounds, was announced yesterday by American Legion officials, sponsors of the event. The cause, they said, was the critical illness of Manager S. A. Skop's father, who is reported to be in a dying condition at Ely, Nevada. Doctors informed young Fordyce by telephone that his father is not expected to live more than a few hours.

The thrill circus will be shown at the fairgrounds a week from today—on Sunday, May 8, Legion officials said.

Although the ailing man, still conscious last night, sent a message to his son to carry on with the show, Legion officials preferred to release the younger Fordyce from today's engagement and allow him to race death to reach his father's bedside.

An appendicitis operation, followed by peritonitis and other complications, is the cause of the illness, the son was informed.

"The Death Dodgers' performance a week from today will consist of all the stunts scheduled for today, the Legion announced. In addition, it will probably also present the hit-born attraction that might have proved impossible today under latest weather forecasts.

Twin Falls Student Scores in Concert

Hubert Peck of Twin Falls, freshman at the University of California, Berkeley, was one of 50 members of the 200-piece campus band chosen to take part in the University Concert band's performance at the concert last Sunday. He also was one of a group of 13 student musicians chosen to play Mozart's Sonata in B Flat Major, one of the concert program numbers and played the solo part for the first alto clarinet in this number.

He also is a member of the University of California R. O. T. C. band.

New Trial Denied in Fatality Claim

BOISE, April 30 (AP)—Federal Judge C. C. Cavanaugh denied today a motion for a new trial in a $20,000 damage action against the Union Pacific railroad.

Mrs. Pearl Mary Glover of Pocatello brought the action against the railroad for the death of her husband, Leontis O. Glover, who was killed in a train accident a year ago.

A federal district court jury at Pocatello awarded her $20,000 damages but attorneys for the railroad's asked for a new trial.

Battles from every section of Idaho will be in competition, and Idaho winners will be announced from Boise about May 9, according to H. D. Hechtner, local chairman.

The state winner in the essay contest will receive a free airplane trip to Washington, D. C., and return, and second place winner will receive a suitable reward.

The essay theme is "Wings Across America," and the posters represent the spirit of aviation.

CITY FLUSH LINE CREW INCREASED

20 More WPA Workers Bring Total Employed in Project to 100

Addition of 20 WPA laborers to crews working on Twin Falls' modern $25,000 flush line project now under way, was announced yesterday at local WPA headquarters. The addition brings the total number of employed to approximately 100 men. It was announced the project, which has been going for the past two months is now approximately one-third completed. Plex D. Wilson, city engineer, said yesterday. Two separate crews are at work. One consisting of about 70 men is handling the excavation work while the remaining 30 are laying the 18-inch concrete pipe and covering.

A crew of 12 men has been working alternately on the project and at manufacture of the cement pipe at the downtown plant, it was learned.

The completion of the project, which is expected shortly after the middle of July, will find the city equipped with facilities to properly clean the city reservoir with little effort whenever the occasion demands.

RELIEF DEMANDS SLASHED IN HALF

Field Supervisor Reports Decline in District's Requirements

Joe Tyler, field supervisor for the department of public assistance, returned yesterday from a survey of conditions over the eight-county south central Idaho district. He announced that spring weather conditions, the opening of labor opportunities and the recovery of many of the district's ailing persons had seen the demand for direct relief slashed in half from a month ago. At the same time Tyler praised the new merit system recently established among the personnel of the department. He asserted that the innovation by Albert Lee, state director, had resulted in noticeable improvement of the work of the employees in almost every instance.

"The new merit system," he said, "gives the employees of the department of public assistance something to work for. Advancements are made on merit and consequently there is marked improvement in the quality of the work."

3,000 RED CROSS DELEGATES MEET

Protection from Suffering in War and Disaster Convention Keynote

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30 (AP)—Men and women who serve "the greatest mother in the world" began assembling today for a convention at the scene of her first official major undertaking in America.

On ground where their predecessors administered to the dying and rescued the injured from suffocating, disease and hunger in the wake of earthquake and the 32 years ago, 3,000 American Red Cross delegates converged to plan against emergencies of the future.

Keynote of the five-day convention opening Monday was announced as the aim of the Red Cross to protect Americans from suffering in war and disaster.

President to Speak

President Roosevelt was programmed to deliver a keynote address by radio from Washington, with Norman H. Davis, newly appointed director of the organization, presiding.

A great mobilization of uniformed nurses was arranged to emphasize the need for the prevention of accidents and disease.

Secretary of War H. H. Woodring will address the convention Tuesday night.

Organization representatives said convention reports will show an American membership of 13,000,000 persons, the largest among the 61 nations adhering to the international accord which created the Red Cross as an agent of mercy throughout the world.

The Red Cross had its beginnings in the minds of a few persons stirred by the thoughts of suffering on the battlefields of Europe.

A English woman, on the eve of a battle nearly 1,000 years ago, proposed to others of her household that they dress the wounds of the warriors, be they friend or foe.

Legend says the women pinned up their mantles and cared for the wounded imperially.

A young Swiss, Henri Dunant, after viewing 40,000 dead and wounded at the bloody battle of Solferino, Italy, June 24, 1864, wrote a brochure which precipitated the international Red Cross movement.

Representative of fourteen nations met at Geneva in 1864 and recommended a volunteer system of war relief which developed into the Red Cross. For a century the colors reversed—a red cross on a white field.

The United States, at war internally, did not participate officially until Clara Barton in 1865 and recommended a volunteer system of war relief which developed into the Red Cross. For a century the colors reversed—a red cross on a white field.

Miss Barton became the first president of the American Red Cross, which rendered its first service during the Spanish-American war in which more than 100,000 men died.

Her first major task, out of that original came its foundation for coping with suffering in disasters.

The next year San Francisco was virtually destroyed by earthquake and fire, and the official recognition of the Red Cross came in its first major task, out of that original came its foundation for coping with suffering in disasters.

SCHOOLS CHANGE UNDER NAZI RULE

Children Memorize Sentences About Hitler; Books Rewritten

VIENNA (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—An independent Nazi school has been opened in Austria, Austria, from kindergarten to university.

Every child goes home to ask their mothers if they are Jews and to buy a few sentences they have memorized about Adolf Hitler.

Prospective students of philosophy are changing their thesis subjects. In random name to the idealist Minister of Education first announced for the colleges; the moulding of national opinion, character building, and free speech.

Classes of study are being altered. Books are being rewritten or new ones introduced from Germany to avoid teaching the previous Republican ideal, especially in history.

New Party Termed Modified New Deal

DETROIT, April 30 (AP).—Dr. Chifun Frank, chairman of the Republican National party, formulating committee, said in an address that he believed the Progressive party, launched by Governor Phil Taft-Peltie of Wisconsin, was nothing more than a modified New Deal with the obviously futile aspects of the Roosevelt administration's program discarded.

Dr. Frank, who spoke before the Detroit club of the night, called La Follette's statement on the Progressive party "the familiar formula of more political power to executives."

"It is in our view," he said, "not modified by a quick getting out from under the more advanced aspects of the New Deal which has been daily more unpopular," he asserted.

GRAND JURY TO PROBE CHARGES

Democratic Leaders Involved in Pennsylvania Vote Investigation

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 30 (AP)—Campaign charges naming figures high in Pennsylvania's Democratic administration brought on today a special grand jury investigation to start May 11. The primary election is May 17.

Dauphin county court (Harrisburg) summoned the June grand jury to study evidence submitted by Democratic gubernatorial candidate Charles J. Margiotti. He was dismissed as attorney general Wednesday by Governor George H. Earle, who seeks the Democratic nomination to the U. S. senate.

The petition, presented by District Attorney Carl B. Shieley, directed the inquiry toward Governor Earle, Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence who also is secretary of the commonwealth; Matthew H. McCloskey, chairman of the party's finance committee and Philadelphia contractor, and Ralph M. Bashore, secretary of labor and industry and secretary of the Democratic state committee.

It charged that legislation was "bought" in the 1936 general assembly, that irregularities existed in purchasing supplies for the state, that highway equipment was used for political purposes, that there was an "improper relationship" between McCloskey and the state's $85,000,000 building program of which he holds nearly $10,000,000 in contracts. It mentioned a $25,500 loan Earle said he obtained from McCloskey.

CAPITOL GUIDES EXPLAIN WORDS

Washington Group Favors Ending of Grammatical Confusions

By EDWARD STUNTZ
WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—At least one group of men and women in Washington think the advantages should do something about such grammatical confusions as "capitol" and "capital."

They are the capitol guides.

Twenty-four of them escorted hundreds of spring visitors through the corridors and galleries of house and senate today.

"Tonight they rubbed or gargled raw throats and murmured 'so ma'am the president does not live here. He lives in the national capital but not at the capitol. He lives at the White House.'"

All with diplomatic but conclusive intonation. Gently but firmly. In the capitol at elsewhere the guest is always right. Especially on questions of grammar.

During spring and summer each guide makes about four trips through the capitol building. In winter the staff is halved and the trip average drops to three.

Under supervision of Captain Floyd Kirby they split the gate that admission from a 25 cent guide fee.

IT'S BOWMAN VS. THOMPSON IN POSTCARD CHESS
BROWNVILLE, TEXAS (AP)—George Bowman lies at Brownville and J. C. Thompson lives miles away at Dallas, but they enjoy weekly games of chess without traveling.

They play four games at the same time, then send postcards describing the moves they make.

Bowman won the lower valley district championship recently and is after the "scalp" of Thompson, who is Dallas champion.

BRITAIN, FRANCE JOIN FOR PEACE

Coordination of Land, Air and Sea Forces of Two Powers Pledged

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, April 30.—Great Britain and France confronted Adolf Hitler last night with a line-up of their combined might against possible war and pledged moral if not physical backing of Czechoslovakia.

The two powers in a two-day conference among Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax of Britain and Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France:

1. Agreed to coordinate their land, air and sea forces into one great military machine.
2. Agreed to use their power for defense of common interests and their mutual and international ideals—meaning democracy.
3. Strengthened front.
4. Strengthened the democratic front.
5. Reaffirmed Britain's deal with Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy for settlement of Mediterranean and Spanish issues.
6. Britain pressed France to make her peace with Italy quick.
7. Agreed on terms which could most usefully be undertaken with a view of assuring peaceful and just solution of problems in central Europe.
8. Examined world problems, including the situation in the Far East but did not disclose their conclusions.
9. The policy of non-interference in Spain was reaffirmed.
10. France failed to induce Britain to pledge military aid to Czechoslovakia in event of an invasion.
11. France is bound by a mutual assistance treaty to help the country if there is an attack.
12. The ministers nevertheless refused to regard the difficulties of the war-created republic as a family affair of the Germans desire.
13. It was understood they agreed any German invasion of the nation—whether approved or on a pretext of "restoring order"—almost certainly would bring Britain and France into a general war.
14. Continuous Contests.
15. In deciding to continue contacts between their general staffs, Britain and France inaugurated the scheme launched in March, 1936, to forestall possible German aggression after Hitler received the demilitarized Rhineland zone.
16. The two nations have a total of 1,222,247 troops, 5,778,000 trained reserves, more than 3,400 first line planes, and 1,669,421 tons of war materiel.
17. (In Paris, Finance Minister Paul Marchandeau announced the French government would issue 5,000,000,000 franc ($460,000,000) national government loan shortly for improvement of its armaments.)
18. Premier Daladier and Foreign Minister Bonnet arrived by airplane from the London conference and Daladier called a cabinet meet for Monday.

FEMINE STYLE TREND FORECAST

Fashion Director Declares Women 'Have Learned To Be Ladies'

ST. LOUIS, April 30 (AP)—American women of today "have learned to be ladies," fashion director Kate Chered today told at a nice feeling.

This "feminine fashion" is destined to remain—for a while," she forecast while here this work in connection with fall style selections.

She advised new gowns will see dazzling plaids and checks on their lady friends this fall, and warned the frankish note of spring and summer will continue in occasional fish and crab motifs.

"There will be less black for fall," Miss Goldstein announced. "Green may continue to assert itself, but green is a complete question mark. Navy and bronze greens are continuing back, though, to some extent."

"Rusts and coppers are expected to continue, but gray and plum are the colors to watch."

The fall silhouette will be simple to remain—for a while," she forecast.

CAREY DAM TO SOLVE PROBLEM

Floods and Lack of Finance Delay Construction of Important Project

CAREY, Idaho, April 30 (AP)—Hopes of residents of the Little Lost river valley for an adequate irrigation water supply were pinned today upon construction of the Carey dam now under construction north of here.

Work on the dam has been interrupted by lack of finance, winter and floods.

The 1935-foot long, earth-and-rock dam will impound waters of the Little Wood river for release during the summer.

As present farmers of the valley must rely almost entirely on the natural flow of the river—and that usually is exhausted long before the need for irrigation water is past.

To Cost $300,000

The dam, to be constructed at an estimated cost of approximately $300,000, is a works progress administration project.

Landowners authorized issuance of $100,000 worth of bonds. Other funds were provided by the WPA.

The valley was settled more than 60 years ago by members of the Latter-Day Saints church.

For many years the streams flowing into the valley have carried an excess of water during spring months, then have become more trickles during late summer.

As a result seldom a season goes by when water is adequate to mature the crops.

"Construction of an adequate drainage dam would be a wonderful thing for the valley," said the Reclamation Commissioner R. W. Paris at Boise.

Handicapped for Years

"Farmers have been handicapped there for many years because of lack of water and a supplementary supply certainly would mean a lot to them."

Construction of the dam began in 1936.

An outlet tunnel, which will divert river waters around the dam site during construction, and a rock-walled canal have been constructed.

Preliminary work of clearing the dam site and building various coffer dams have been built.

Spring floods this year damaged some of the dam site and interfered with work.

The dam will impound 11,708 acre feet of water.

R. O. Nelson is superintendent of the project.

Young Democrats

Boise, April 30 (AP)—Ralph J. Davis of Boise, president of the Young Democratic club of Idaho, said last night Sen. James P. Pope (D-Idaho) will be among the speakers at the nationwide 1938 convention of the Young Democratic clubs of America in Seattle July 14, 15 and 16.

James Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, has been invited, Davis said, to make the keynote address.

What modified under the "exaggerated" lines of spring and summer, Miss Goldstein predicted.

"There will be much draping, pleating, puffing and folding in the full silhouette, also," she declared. "There is also a trend to the informal."

January was named for the Roman god, Janus. He was god of the day and the beginning of the year, and was pictured with a head that looked two ways.

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERRISON

The story so far: Judith Goodrich, of a well-to-do family, marries self-made Reuben Oliver for his money—only to discover he is bankrupt. Twice she is born. Three months later she is in a lumber camp managed by Gary Brent—the man Judith loves. Judith is ready when she arrives and Gary provides her with a cabin. When Reuben discovers this, he blows up. Trying to live by Judith's code, he weakens Reuben. Now he will make his own laws. Hating Gary bitterly, Reuben insists on renting the cabin from him.

Chapter 34
A Wholly Strange Stranger
Judith made no move to take the key to the cabin. Reuben said: "If I offended you last night, Judith, I'm sorry."
If he offended her—it—she said in grand imitation of Gran: "We were both dead tired."
And so easily as that they put their quarrel behind them or rather they buried it between them in shallow grave. Neither expected it to stay buried.
"I'll stop the bags," Reuben told her. "You put the children in the car. Easier to get breakfast at the new place."
"What about these new coats?"
"Whoever takes over the plot will probably be glad to get them."
A few dollars more or less didn't matter now. He entered the tent to find his son busily trying to devour a piece of rope while his daughter did her utmost to swallow an aluminum frying pan.
He tossed his sobbing offspring as high as the tent's roof permitted. He found something very soul warming in their moist, sticky kisses and little curls of delight.
"Is Gary lending us the cabin?" Reuben's wife asked tactlessly.
"Do you think I'd accept such a loan?" "But it's not for rent."
"He's kidding. I'm paying $50 a month for it."
A wall of ice reared itself between them.
"Can you afford it?"
"I can!"
She knew by all the rules of the game she should say: "Then we'll stay here." But she didn't say it. She couldn't. The memory of the big living room, the easy chair, fireplace, white bath was too alluring. Whatever courage she once had, she had somewhere between a freezing winter and a burning summer in Fordney's Gulch. Righteousness was lost too—the conviction that some night, one's just debts must be paid—Olney would have to wait. Judith longed for Reuben now above all else.
"When winter comes we'll economize," she promised herself. "Go back to Casper Street."
Puppet in Authority
But she knew she would never go back to Casper Street. That part of her life was definitely behind her. Alf was already in possession of the cabin when they arrived. Cereal and coffee were in the making. A great bunch of bluebells—Paradise flowers to Judith—were in the yellow bowl on the living room table. Judith had come home!

respect in her glance. Iron was the color of a woman's face now—iron and what else?
Though she searched Judith couldn't find the answer. He went back to his work and Gary came to take her riding and almost immediately Reuben receded from her thought until he was only a shadow in the background of her life. Joyously she reached out for each new day. Just to feel the good horse between her knees. To hear the music of clattering hoofs, the rustle of early morning air, the effort to meet Gary's twinkling blue eyes—
"This is the life, Judy!"
"Old days, she echoed and knew he lied. These were not the old days of light winter and meaningless, little cares. These were new days of inarticulate tenderness. Well-galoned. Long silences too majestically sweet to be broken.
Strange! In the old days Judith had ached to hear words. Hated the waiting. Now she wanted to keep words from being uttered. Loved the waiting.
"It was herself she feared now, not Gary."

WOLF CHILDREN

WAR'S PRODUCT

Orphan Youngsters, Surviving Depredations, Prowl In Shanghai

Editor's note: The battle of war guns in front page news, but that is only one phase of conflict. The toll of the battle field spreads to the death of lives far and wide. Two experienced war correspondents of the Associated Press in the following story paint for you a striking picture of life in Shanghai today.

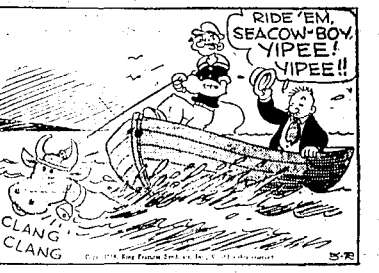

By JAMES A. MILLS AND ELMER W. PETERSON
SHANGHAI, (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—"Wolf children," an outgrowth of Japan's war on China, are the orphans in Shanghai now.
Singly, in pairs, and in packs of fifteen or twenty, they scavenge gutters, snatch and steal from small shop-keepers, ambush lone pedestrians and then clutch each other for a penny.
They are the orphans made by months of war in and around the city.
The depredations of adult armed robbers, foot-pads and kidnapers here have paled beside the daring, ingenious and ferocious attacks of these youngsters. Their bite in alleyways, in un-lit back and hallways, striking swiftly and then shifting to another part of the city.
Cunning Tactics
Their cunning tactics of melting into crowds, pretending to be the children of straggling laborers, hanging onto in crowds, deft police detection and make estimates of their prey are difficult to describe. Simultaneous reports from different parts of the city in one day, however, place the figure at well over 2,000.
Hardly a district is without these "wolf children." To make a block on Nanking road, Shanghai's busiest downtown thoroughfare, is to meet one every ten feet begging for copper. To ignore them is to have your clothes yanked and a black little foot try to trip you. They run beside rickshaws, cluster at motorcar doors, hating abuse and sometimes refuse, and then meet like mugs.
They crack show-cases and steal the contents before the merchant knows what has happened.
If food-stuffs are displayed on open counters across shop-fronts, then clerks are stationed on the sidewalks on guard.
Cautious little bodies, wined by fear in the desperate struggle to maintain their slender thread of life, most of these "wolf children" have come to be suspicious of any show of friendliness and kindness. They flock to the hospital attendants and health officers who try to take them to refugee camps and child hospitals.
Many of the smaller children were separated from their parents by the mad rush of millions to their burning, shell-battered homes during the early months of the war. Too young to fend for themselves in the merciless competition of a doorway-and-gutter existence, these children have died each day by the hundred. Each morning finds more of their blue little bodies waiting for the city's scavengers.
Refuge homes and hospitals working overtime in the interim of a real settlement, has gathered up scores of them for every one given a bed another old wail has appeared to take its place on the vacated cot.

ROYAL AIR FORCE SEEN TO OUTFORCE MIHARR
LONDON (AP)—The Royal Air Force, after the bulk of its aircraft, because of its numerous accidents, is taking steps to reduce the number of mishaps in the future.
There were 23 fatal accidents in 1937 involving the deaths of the pilots and greater control will be exercised over the pilots' leisure hours.

COMPARE THESE NEW LOW RATES WITH ANY IN THE UNITED STATES

For eleven years, rates for your electricity have been going steadily downward. This last reduction, in effect April 30, saves our customers approximately $100,000 in the next twelve months, and the same amount each year thereafter. Twenty-two such reductions since 1927 now save our customers a total of more than $600,000 annually. This is a rate reduction record that is outstanding in the United States. Our customers, too, are entitled to some of the credit, because their increased use of electricity has helped us to make lower rates possible. Today, with all minimum bills on residential combination rates reduced to 90c per month, with a top kilowatt hour rate of five cents, your electric rates are among the lowest in the nation.
