Probe Continues As State Drafts Murder Charges

Drafts Charges Prosecuting Attorney Prepares to File Complaint Charging Johnston and Lavonde with Olson Slying

Edward Babcock, Twin Falls county prosecuting attorney, announced last evening he will file a complaint Monday charging Mayor Johnston and William LaVonde, one-time police desk sergeant, with murder of the slain man.

Police investigation of the gruesome slaying of the Salt Lake City jewelry salesman, George L. Olson, continued without interruption after Edward Babcock, Twin Falls county prosecuting attorney, announced early yesterday he will file sometime Monday a formal complaint charging Duncan McD. Johnston, 38, former Twin Falls mayor, and William LaVonde, 58, one-time police desk sergeant, with murder of the salesman.

Johnston and LaVonde were arrested by Twin Falls police officers last Thursday — three days after Olson's bullet-pierced body was found stuffed between seats of his car that stood with all doors locked at the east entrance to the park hotel in Twin Falls.

Twin Falls Police Chief Howard Gillette said last evening he had spent several hours yesterday afternoon tramping through sagebrush and rocks at the rim of Snake River canyon near Shoshone falls when several days ago a blood-stained handkerchief and a pool of blood had been discovered. Tests will be made, he said, to determine whether it was human blood.

Police investigation previously had eliminated the theory that Olson had been slain in the basement of Johnston's jewelry store where the former mayor was arrested as he started toward a cache of "several thousand dollars worth of jewelry."

Early investigation, the police chief recalled, indicated Olson had been shot in the back of the head with a .25 caliber pistol while he sat in the front seat of the car and that his body had been pulled backward and stuffed between the seats.

Another suspect? The police chief said in reply to a question it was possible that another person and perhaps a woman, might be involved in the case.

Both officials said the Salt Lake City men were contacted in a position to be made of the Johnston jewelry stock.

With J. R. Howell of Johnston's counsel and a police officer they visited the store last night. It has not been opened since the arrest of the proprietor and his brother, LaVonde, last Thursday, and a police officer has been on guard there constantly since that time.

Prosecutor's attorney announced definite action toward prosecution of the suspected slayer and his business partner, Attorney Attorney Babcock said yesterday.

"We plan to file a complaint next Monday charging Johnston and LaVonde jointly with murder," the prosecuting attorney said in a statement.

"The complaint," he said, would cover the four degrees of murder, first degree, second degree, voluntary and involuntary manslaughter." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Lavonde Asks About 'Patsy'

"Patsy" four-year old English setter came first in the mind of William LaVonde, Twin Falls jewelry salesman, held for questioning in connection with the George L. Olson slaying.

"The first question LaVonde asked his attorney, William Dunn, when the lawyer called on him Saturday was: 'Have you seen Patsy?'"

"Yesterday LaVonde asked Dunn to place the dog in care of a veterinarian."

"Most people don't know how to feed her," LaVonde said. "I wondered whether Bill Dunn was employing me to represent him or the dog."

Tourist Park Couple Reports Olson Visit

Slain Man With Beautiful Boise Girl, Proprietors and Chef Assert

Proprietors of a tourist park and a Boise-Italian chef revealed last night they saw a 22-year-old Boise girl and a French-Italian chef.

The park operators were Mr. and Mrs. Howard McKay and the chef was Ross Crotole, who came to Twin Falls from Boise a few months ago.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay said they had seen Olson a week before Olson's decomposed body was found in an automobile parked beside the Park hotel here May 24.

Mr. Olson was registered in cabins at our park May 13, 14 and 15," Mrs. McKay said.

"I know it was him because that was the name he used, he was registered from Salt Lake City, was a jewelry salesman and the picture of the slain man in the papers was an exact likeness of him."

"In drove up to the service station," Mr. and Mrs. McKay said, "with Miss Julia in the sedan in which his body later was found. Crotole, the chef, frequently came to his place to eat."

"Olson ran up a bill of $16, and I gave it to him."

Wyoming Sheriff's Force Searches in Vain For Fleeing Outlaws

(By The Associated Press) EVANSTON, Wyo., June 4—Sheriff Frank L. Narramore's searchers admitted complete bafflement tonight in their hunt for three desperadoes who led peace officers a merry chase, they capped their careers by smashing their way out of a flimsy section of the Uinta county jail in the dead of night.

Free again from the long arm of the law were Arthur Brown, 31, who had escaped jail twice in Evanston; Bill Drown, 29, and Jim Condy, 23.

"We have no idea what road they took from there," said Narramore. "Almost my entire force searched all day without result. Ranchers throughout the area, and peace officers in southwestern Wyoming and northern Utah, have kept a sharp lookout for these men, but so far no trace of them has been found."

Freud in Flight From Nazi Rule

Founder of Psychoanalysis Quits Home From Childhood in Vienna

LONDON, June 4 (AP)—Sigmund Freud, world-famed founder of psychoanalysis, is coming to London from Nazi-occupied Vienna, determined at the age of 62 to complete his personality of the bible.

Friends said he was virtually penniless and "had a great shock" with Germany's abolition of Austria. Ever since the Anschluss of March 12, he said, he has remained in the isolation of his Vienna home, and said he would like to go back because he is a Jew.

In a rented house in London's district of Chelsea Freud intended to live with his daughter Anna and work on his partly completed biographical analysis. This, it was said, explains "the sub-conscious waves and fears of the people of biblical times. Chapters of Moses already are in proof form."

GOVERNMENT'S SCHOOL GROWS

Department of Agriculture Institution Gives No Diplomas

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—No one will graduate this June from the agriculture school of the department of agriculture, no one ever will.

But the lack of sheepskin causes no severity of students. It is one of the largest graduate schools in the world, having 3,015 students.

And it is one of the fastest growing. Last year it enrolled 3,000; the year before only 2,141. When its director, Dr. A. C. Woods, resigned the presidency of the University of Maryland to come to the department of agriculture in 1926, its enrollment was only 111.

Founded by First Wallace

It was founded by the first secretary Wallace, father of the present secretary, in 1921 to provide the training for young scientific workers of the department. Its establishment was authorized under two acts of congress which provided that the libraries and technical facilities of government agencies be made available to scientists at universities, in and near Washington.

The faculty of the school is composed of prominent scientists, its employ and of teachers in local universities. A special effort has been made to cooperate with other Washington educational institutions. It is to prevent friction with these that the school has a diploma in the department of agriculture at most of the leading universities.

Classes are held in the agriculture department, in the interior department, in the Smithsonian institutions. Classes meet from 8 to 9 in the morning, from 10 to 12 in the evening and on Saturday afternoons.

Making Money

It is one of the few universities of government agencies which are making a little money. It has an accumulated reserve of $30,000—part of the proceeds from tuition fees, which average $6 per credit hour, about two-thirds the fee at most universities. The government's only contributions toward the school are the director and the classroom.

Only about half the seventy courses offered are in scientific subjects. The liberal arts work is a by-product. Of the scientific courses only a minority are of an agricultural nature.

From a small stems from a study group which formed at the bureau of standards in 1908. A few workers there organized classes in advanced physics, mathematics, and chemistry, taught by experts at the bureau, from the Johns Hopkins University, and other leading government agencies and private institutions.

In 1920 the department of agriculture undertook to start a similar program. The executive labor turned in the government service had been analyzed by the reclassification commission, and it had recommended that training work be instituted for federal employees, which their careers more attractive and to help them to take advantage of the opportunities in Washington for intellectual improvement.

Such programs of "in-service training" are being developed in many government agencies. In some cases employers are required to take the courses offered by these agencies, at no expense to students, as in the bureau of internal revenue. These the work is open only to current employees, and no academic credit is given. In other cases, as in the bureau of the census and in the farm credit administration, the work is offered at a cost covering overhead and open only to employees of these agencies.

Growers Urged to Look for Beetles

BOISE, June 4 (AP)—Agricultural Commissioner Guy Graham urged Idaho potato growers today to look for controlling an outbreak of Colorado potato beetles.

"If you have anything that looks like the beetle," Graham said, "call on either the department of agriculture or your county agent for suggestions as to control measures."

Graham said many farmers having only small patches of potatoes did not suspect presence of the beetle. Commercial growers, he said, usually look proper control measures.

The commissioner said the situation at present "is not alarming, but if the farmers don't look out and take proper control measures it can easily become serious."

RECESS SIGHTED FOR GRAND JURY

Fraud and Liquor Nuisance Charged in Two New Indictments

BOISE, June 4 (AP)—Reports were current here today that the Ada county grand jury—which for 18 weeks has been engaged in an intensive investigation of Idaho state government—would soon recess.

The recess would be taken, observers said, subject to call of the third district court which first assembled the judicial grand jury last June 21.

Judge Charles F. Kriebel, who joined with the third district as justice, Judge C. E. Winstead, in issuing the call for the grand jury, said he had recommended to the grand jury that such a course be pursued.

Originally the jury was composed of 16 members. The first foreman, Judge G. Day of Boise, was excused several weeks ago and John F. Tate, Boise dairyman, was elected foreman to succeed him.

Several days ago a second grand juror, Robert W. Baker, Boise police employee, was excused from further duty.

More than a dozen present or former state officials have been indicted by the jurors.

Two have been convicted, Ira J. Taylor, former prison warden, and Tony C. Pheasant, former penitentiary chief clerk. Taylor was fined $1,000 for failing to turn over to the state treasury public funds and Pheasant was given a 2-to-10-year prison sentence for embezzlement.

Two men—not public officials—were indicted by the grand jury appeared in court today.

A. H. Matthews, proprietor of a Boise electric appliance store, pleaded innocence to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Date for his trial was not set.

L. M. Nelson of Boise was accused in a revised indictment of conducting and maintaining a business in violation of Idaho liquor laws. June 8 was fixed as time for his arraignment.

License Director Asks More Cash

BOISE, June 4 (AP)—Donald Crutcher, director of the state bureau of occupational licenses, asserted today his office was not properly financed.

He said the bureau operated during the past biennium on $250,000 less than was appropriated for it in 1937 and 1938, yet handled from 65 to 80 per cent more applications. "We haven't sufficient money," he added, "to keep a field inspector who can check applicants."

Crutcher said the bureau's project was acclaimed by Catholics in other cities as a model agency for solving the most difficult problems of juvenile delinquency.

FORD V-8

One important measure of a modern motor car is the number of its cylinders. Two cylinders were enough in the early days. Later on, most people were satisfied with four cylinders. But today, America's best cars have 8 cylinders or more.

8 or more cylinders mean a smoother flow of power, and more alert performance. They usually mean more money too. Only Ford has been able to build a fine 8-cylinder car at a low price—with low operating costs.

The extra value of its 8-cylinder engine is reflected all through the Ford V-8. In riding comfort and driving ease. In handy instruments and handsome interiors. In gentle, positive brakes that win warm praise from owners. In clean, honest design from radiator to rear deck. In dozens of other details that you discover as you live with the car.

You'll like the Ford V-8—whether you choose the De Luxe for its added bigness and beauty—or the Standard '60' for its greater gasoline mileage. Both are priced low. And both are built on the same chassis—with 8-cylinder quality all the way through!

Member of Associated Press. The Associated Press is a voluntary association of the press of the United States and Canada. It is not a corporation and has no stock. It is not a union and has no dues. It is not a political party and has no political affiliations.

IF AMERICA WERE EUROPE. We Americans are hopelessly behind the times. We just can't keep up with Europe at all. But we can imagine ourselves keeping in political style.

Citizens of Swedish descent in Wisconsin and Minnesota, after a series of patriotic rallies, organize a party of Occidental Swedes, choose a leader and send him to Washington.

Citizens of German descent in Pennsylvania call for the peaceful separation of that state from the Union, and its transformation into a Nazi province, with a Fuehrer in harmony with Berlin.

Citizens of British descent in New England, in a series of town meetings addressed by a member of the British cabinet, express a desire to become a British crown colony.

Groups of French-Americans, Polish-Americans, Slovak-Americans, Italian-Americans, Spanish-Americans, and so on, do likewise, each with its own flag and slogan and speakers and ballots and propagandist machine.

Wouldn't it be a lovely mess? There must be some wonderful solvent here, something they lack in Europe, that makes all this sort of nonsense unnecessary.

BOLD LITTLE NATIONS. The smaller countries grow more outspoken in their relations with the great powers. A recent example is the bold statement of President Aronson of Panama.

Courts or diplomatic negotiations will have to settle the dispute, but the fact remains that Panama has said just what it thought in this regard, without mincing words.

Little Ireland has talked big to England in the last year or two, and has won the concessions it boldly demanded.

Perhaps the small and weak powers will yet force the strong powers to free themselves from the tangle of old-fashioned diplomacy and talk "man-to-man" in order to work out mutual interests and problems.

THE HARDIER SEX. Word comes from Cody, Wyo., center of the great American dude ranch industry, that girls are finally to be taken into outdoor recreation, just as they do in the city.

They have become the real outdoors, ad- dicts, say the representatives of the great open spaces. They can rough it better than the boys, in the mountains and on the beaches and in summer sports generally.

It didn't turn out that way. Not that the men are getting exactly offhand. Young fellows nowadays can probably do everything that their male forebears used to do.

THE MISTAKE. A Vermont war vet called out a postmaster's office and asked for the lady who lived in it. He was told it was "Mrs. Jones."

HEIRS DOWNTOWN. The staff of a museum of natural history had a thrill the other day. Bowed in, they found the bodies of two young men.

cases and storage drawers are many bird-skins for use in lectures, or to show to visitors. Outside, near the museum, the only live creatures commonly seen are dogs and squirrels, starlings and English sparrows. The recent thrill came when some one observed a whippoorwill hanging outside the museum. The bird was inside, but recovered from that surprise, a kingfisher flew down. At that point all stuffy indoor work was halted for the rest of the day, while the staff fixed its collective eye on the lawn outside. They saw 40 different species of birds, including a number of warblers. In the course of any season they have observed 90 different species, but never so many in one day as on this occasion. It isn't always necessary, apparently, to travel to far places to see the pageant of Nature. Many of her best actors come right to your own door—or office window—and may be seen and admired there by the observant.

Other Points of View

IDAHO'S LOSS—MAINE'S GAIN. There is historically significance in a report received from the United States department of agriculture which shows the early outlook of fruits and vegetables in the west, and the coming of products to the States. It shows that the far-famed Idaho potato, advertised only by word of mouth and an occasional newspaper notice, is doing a back-breaking business while Maine's trees, the virtues of which were more aggressively lauded by an intensive advertising campaign, are missing in on territory which was once famous for the great apple orchards.

The bitter truth is this: While the consumption of Idaho potatoes gained three cars and sold 523 in these figures in 1937, the Maine apples, which in 1937 sold 631, a pretty fair net profit for the New Englanders and a lot of money out of the purses of Idaho's farmers, Maine's entire loss of 631 cars came in Philadelphia in 1937, so the Maine crop had dropped to 2,388 last year. In the same city, consumption of Idaho potatoes dropped from 228 cars in 1937 to 193 in 1937, so Idaho did not gain what Maine lost. The only logical explanation is that a lot of Philadelphians were told by their physicians to "lay off starching."

Idaho almost had a law that would permit an advertising campaign for potatoes, apples and pears. Southern Idaho growers themselves threw this law, but the greater advertising campaign, which is now languishing. In the meantime, Maine is gobbling up Idaho's markets at a rate that will make them all weep. The greater advertising campaign, which is now languishing. In the meantime, Maine is gobbling up Idaho's markets at a rate that will make them all weep.

Idaho gained two cars at Indianapolis and one at Youngstown, O., for its total gain of three cars. It lost customers at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Detroit, O.; Louisville, Ky.; Lexington, Va.; Detroit, Grand Rapids, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Evansville, Ind.; Peoria, Ill.; Nashville, Tenn.; and Memphis, Tenn. Maine's aggressive advertising campaign increased Cleveland's consumption of potatoes from that date from 410 cars in 1936 to 1,218 cars last year, a gain of 808 cars.

ONE OF THE JUDGES IS WRONG. An interesting point in Idaho law will be argued at the June term of the state supreme court at Lewiston. The question of a county's right to require that all beer sold in that county be bottled within the corporate limits of a city within the county. The case comes up on appeal of a Moscow beer parlor operator from a city within the county. Judge Miles S. Johnson, of Lewiston, sitting for Judge E. C. Hodge, at Moscow, held that the city of Moscow has no right to require that all beer sold in that city be bottled within the corporate limits of a city within the county. The case comes up on appeal of a Moscow beer parlor operator from a city within the county.

THE WOULD-BE. The assistant warden at Alamosa, Colo., has been ordered to prepare a report on the possibility of a "would-be" murderer. The case comes up on appeal of a Moscow beer parlor operator from a city within the county. Judge Miles S. Johnson, of Lewiston, sitting for Judge E. C. Hodge, at Moscow, held that the city of Moscow has no right to require that all beer sold in that city be bottled within the corporate limits of a city within the county.

THE MISTAKE. A Vermont war vet called out a postmaster's office and asked for the lady who lived in it. He was told it was "Mrs. Jones." Democrat Split. For double distilled, concentrated triple extract of pandemonium, the Democratic state convention which opened here today, has exceeded all similar gatherings in the degree that the Salmon trail opening recalled all evils. The strength of these forces between the Dubois and anti-Dubois factions, the contestants fought for mastery, regardless of Roberts' protest or any other organized authority upon the conduct of public gatherings.

Salmon Opening. Not since Frances opened the historic valley of the Nile to retirement under the power irrigation project has there been such a notable land opening as that which occurred in Twin Falls on the 4th of June. The opening of the Salmon river tract were placed within the reach of those who wished to secure farms upon which they could support themselves and their families with a minimum effort and secure knowledge that crops would be raised in proper appreciation of water.

SPAN BUILDER'S WORK DEFENDED

Washington Engineer Testifies for Defense in Idaho Case

BOISE, June 4 (AP)—Bobby Trempere, materials engineer for the Washington highway bureau, testified at the trial of Idaho highway engineer T. P. Edwards today that he would not feel justified in recommending a bridge constructed as part of a north Idaho road project.

Edwards, resident of Orellana, was accused by Trempere of obtaining money under false pretenses in connection with construction of the road, a 6,166-mile link between Pierce and Weippe, and the bridge.

Trempere said he believed the repairs were necessitated by insufficient specifications regarding protection that should have been given the bridge against cold weather and snow.

Other witnesses had testified that a patch was applied to the parapet walls several months after the structure was completed and Trempere said he believed repairs were necessary because of frost action on the concrete.

Defense attorneys indicated they would not conclude presentation of testimony before the middle of next week.

ROOSEVELT WEDS IN OLD CHURCH

President's Son and Bride Must Journey Up Side Aisles

NAHAUT, Mass., June 4 (AP)—John Roosevelt and his bride-to-be, Anne Lincoln Clark, today had religious services in a historic old church.

GIANT HIMALAYAN PLANT GROWS IN LOCAL GARDEN

The shrub of rainbow plants from foreign countries is probably its greatest when the garden grows for tall, an extraordinary flower, with a stem about 12 feet tall and a mass of blossoms more than a yard long.

The young probably never heard of the Himalayan plant, as it is botanically known, because the species of it in the entire northwest could probably be counted on your fingers.

It is a native of the Himalayan mountains, the flowers in this climate it is protected from the long winters. It is a member of the big family, and a tropical high-altitude mark its appearance.

CINCINNATI, June 4 (AP)—Even King Carl Hubbell, the old major league pitcher, couldn't stop the Reds' losing side today, and the New Yorkers had their National League lead reduced to a slim half-game by dropping an 11 to 2 decision to the Reds. Bill McClellan's rube Reds landed on King Carl Hubbell's first four runs in the first inning and then continued to pile on runs until they had a 3-1 lead in the second. In the third, Hubbell's 1 1/2 m Weaver's classy five-hit performance was enough to stretch the Reds' lead to five runs. With the help of Ival Goodman's 12th homer and Ernie Lombardi's fifth, Weaver had enough edge to knock up in the late frames and give the Giants both their runs.

Goodman set the Reds' batting pace. His homer in the third came with two aboard, leading a four-run rally. In addition, he had a pair of singles and drove in a total of five runs. Lombardi had a double and single in addition to his four-run homer.

Hubbell pitched the first nine innings and gave up three runs, two earned, and a walk. He was the Reds' second defeat of the year against six wins and only Weaver's second victory. Switch Hitters Rare in Majors

By DILLON GRHAM
 AP Feature Writer
 NEW YORK—Switch hitters are rare in the major leagues. There are only a dozen or so: Herbie Ridenour, Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder, is passing the other switchers down who hit right-handed against left-handed pitchers and left-handed against right-handed pitchers. His average is considerably over .300.

Bill Howell of Detroit is the only turnabout hitter among the American League infielders. Ted Lyons, Chicago White Sox tosser, is another who switches.

The Phillies have more turnabout hitters than any other team—Martin, Emmett Mueller and Del Young.

Other switchers are Jim Collins and Augie Galan of the Chicago Cubs, Linc Fry of Cincinnati and Jim Brown of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Players bat from both sides of the plate because they feel they can hit a southpaw better from the right side and a right-handed more readily from the left.

Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals ranks about tops among switch hitters. His 12-year major league average is .316.

Mr. David Gault of Memphis hit a qualifying record perhaps unequalled in golf... She qualified second.

Trosky, Cleveland's Big First Baseman, Still Leading League

Outfielder Earl Averill Ranks Second to Teammate; Rookie Ken Keltner Returns to 'High Ten'

CHICAGO, June 4 (AP)—The "hustle" program inaugurated by Professor Oscar Vitt when he took over guidance of the Cleveland Indians this year not only has the Tribe setting the American league pace as a team but this week showed an increase among his pupils seeking individual honors.

Hal Trosky, the big first baseman, has been up on his daily work in the batting department from the start and scintillating averages which include games of Friday showed him still heading the league's sluggers with a mark of .338.

Outfielder Earl Averill has been advancing at a rapid rate in the last few weeks and ranked second to his teammate in batting with .370. He also was the pace setter in runs scored with 37 and was tied with the third of your select class, rookie Ken Keltner, in hitting trips. Each had five. Keltner also returned to the "high ten" this week with a .335 average.

Between the three of them they had batted in 107 of Cleveland's 228 runs and had scored 98 themselves; 11 on home runs.

In addition to Cleveland's two pace setters, the hitting leaders included Frank Hayes, Philadelphia, .333; Cecil Travis, Washington, .332; Hank Steubacher, Chicago, .322; Joe Conlin, Boston, .347; Jimmy Fox, 235; Keltner, 235; Charles Geringer, Detroit, .325; Red Rolfe, and Joe DiMaggio, New York, and Buddy Meyer, Washington, all .333.

Black-thatched Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee, playing in the dusk, batted to score a sparkling 68 and tie Cooper.

Demaree saved himself on several occasions by sinking long puts to finish with 34-35-69.

Herb Smith, Chicago, posted 25-25-70 for three under par. Tony Penna, Dayton, Ohio, matched that score.

The Indians remained the team batting leader at 221. Washington led in fielding at 278. The St. Louis double play combination increased its first place total to 48.

Contenders for U. S. Open Prize Fight to Catch Up With Par

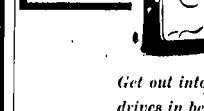

DENVER, June 4 (AP)—Just one week from today that big dilly dilly will be handed to the 1938 annual open champion. He'll be smiling and relaxed, as he deserves to be.

But from now until then, it appears there will be very little smiling relating among the pre-championship brigade on Cherry Hills' desolate stretches, battlegrounds for the first open in the west.

Already a dozen or more contenders for golf's most glittering prize have made test runs against Cherry Hills' par 71. From defending champion Ralph Guldahl of Madison, N. J., to the darker of the darkness, it has been shaking out heads.

Cooper and Revolta Tied at 68 in Kansas City Open Tournament

KANSAS CITY, June 4 (AP)—The nation's top flight golfers showed nerves of steel today as they took par 18 apart on the Hillcrest course where two spectators were killed by lightning yesterday at the outset of the Kansas City $5,000 open golf tournament.

Startling rain today after the nervous-shattering experience, such players as "Lightning" Harry Cooper, of Chicago, and young Jimmy Demaree, Houston, Tex., set a brilliant pace on the first 18 holes of the event, reduced to a 54-hole affair by yesterday's tragedy.

Cooper, finished with a 24-34-68, five under par.

Black-thatched Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee, playing in the dusk, batted to score a sparkling 68 and tie Cooper.

Demaree saved himself on several occasions by sinking long puts to finish with 34-35-69.

Schmeling Plans to Write New Chapter in History of Ring

Alan Gould Figures German and Louis to Enter New York Arena With About Equal Chances of Victory

Editor's note: Alan Gould, general sports editor of The Associated Press and one of leading sports authorities of the country, in the following story discusses the strong and weak points of Joe Louis, the world's heavyweight champion, and Max Schmeling, former champion who holds a knockout victory over the Negro.

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Maximilian Otto Siegfried Schmeling, the German with a pugilistic purpose, not only is well-informed on the history of the prize ring but plans to add a brand new chapter to it on the evening of June 22 when he faces the dusky champion, Joe Louis, in the most widely-discussed match for the world heavyweight title since Gene Tunney retired ten years ago.

Schmeling plans to become the first fighter to regain the heavyweight crown, which he originally won by official New York edict, on a foul, in a 1935 match with Jack Sharkey to decide Tunney's successor and to add to the same antagonist in 1932, to the same antagonist.

The German, as everyone knows, knocked out Louis in twelve rounds last year, but two years ago and on the spot chosen for their final, knockout match. The Negro was not the champion then.

Now, at long last, Schmeling is within sight of the objective for which he had methodically and patiently prepared himself.

Schmeling will be the fifth ex-champion to take a shot at the ultimate come-back target.

Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Jeffries and Jack Dempsey, a quartet of the all-time greatest—made the attempt and failed.

A Flirt "Natural" is unlikely anything that happens between now and June 22 in the rival training camps will affect the "natural" elements of rivalry between Schmeling and Louis. Their match requires an artificial "build up."

If the fight is to draw gate receipts of $1,000,000 it will chiefly be due to the high tariff ($200 ring-side) and the fact that times are tough for the cash customer.

There's also the threat of an anti-Nazi boycott. Schmeling's name was soundly booed by the cheering crowd that waited to see Henry Armstrong take Barney Ross apart the other night in the Madison Square Garden hotel. It may or may not have been significant.

Anyway the advance sale, now in excess of $200,000, has offset some of the worries of Promoter Michael Strans Jacob.

Assuming that both gladiators will step into the ring in first-class condition, there is no sound logic for figuring about equal chances of victory, without hedging.

Let's examine the case for Schmeling first.

The German was generally rated a has-been when matched with Louis two years ago. He had been stopped by Max Baer after losing the heavyweight title. He had been beaten, too, by Steve Harris.

But he fought himself back into condition and clinched his return to form by marvellous execution of Louis, who was unprepared for that memorable occasion and considered unbeatable by most experts.

A Ready Fight
Schmeling's fists equipped still feature a deadly accurate right jab. It paralyzed Louis once and may do so again, notwithstanding all defensive precautions taken by the Negro and his handlers.

He seldom stands with it until he feels reasonably certain of hitting the target. He is cautious, shrewd; a wary, methodical ringman who takes few chances and prefers to wait.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, June 4 (AP)—An ancient St. Andrews legend has carried America's Walker cup into the historic front row of the Perunkent Golf club tonight and set it up triumphantly over the portrait of Tom Morris, almost legendary figure in British golf annals.

For sixteen years Great Britain had tried to win the trophy. Three times it had visited this old clubhouse and gone home again. But today Britain won it, 1 matches to 4.

The Brits led at the end of Scotch foursome play yesterday by 2 to 1, having halved the other match.

(Bud) Ward of Olympia, Wash., squared it today by playing 25 holes in five under par last. Fred Penland, 11, Scotland's Hector Thomson trumped Johnny Goodman, 6 and 4, for the second Charles and Alex Kyle's 5 and 4 victory over Jim and Hans J., ended the struggle.

Carl Lovin triumphed one-up over Ray Billow, which brought the final count to 7 to 4 in favor of the Brits.

The presentation ceremony was made in front of the clubhouse before a great gallery of 10,000.

Track Records Fall As Trojans Triumph

New Marks Set Despite Downpour During Intercollegiate A.A.A.A. Contests

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Rain and records, a rare track and field combination, fell in large quantities today as Southern California's invincible Trojans spread-eagled the field in the 62nd intercollegiate A. A. A. championship meet at Randall's Island stadium.

Three meet marks were shattered, among them the classic one mile record that has stood for 25 years, and two others were equaled in a dazzling battle for individual titles that after equalling the meet record of 47 seconds in capturing the 440-yard race.

Woodruff's timber-topping double was marked by a record-equalling performance. The rangy Michigan State senior upset Southern California's favorite Jim Humphreys, to feature the 100-yard high hurdles in 14.4 seconds. This equaled the meet record set by Earl Thompson of Dartmouth in 1920.

Woodruff came from behind to win by a criss.

The remaining two record-shatters were Delos Tibbler, Southern California's Olympic high-jumper, and Joe Meeker, who added to Meek's laurels by a whirlwind dash to victory in the two-mile run.

Thunder's 6 feet, 6 1/2 inches to wipe out the former meet mark of 6 feet, 6 1/2 inches, set by George Spitz of New York university, in 1932.

Meeker came from behind with an unbeatable race to lead two Michigan State rivals Kenneth White and Richard Frey, to the finish of the distance race. His time of 9:22 erased the former record of 9:22, set in 1929 by James Reid of Harvard.

Adrian Taylor of Southern California won over Wilbur Carter of Michigan State in the 100-yard race. Pittsburgh's Edgar Mason, 119-pounder in 1936, was picked over Taylor in the 220 yard final.

State to Hatch 25,000,000 Fish

By EARL L. JESTER
BOISE, June 4 (AP)—You didn't catch any fish—that is, any more than you did in the past—because of the drought. But now the state department, there are a lot of fish in the state's lakes and streams just waiting to be caught.

Last year, said Game Warden W. R. McIntyre, 21,000,000 fish were put in the state's lakes and streams. Most of them were placed in streams and lakes in 1937 and 1938, so they should be legal length by now.

To Hatch 25,000,000
This year, McIntyre said, the state expects to hatch 25,000,000 fish, that's 50 for every man, woman and child in Idaho—and of course a lot of fish for the state's fishermen.

"What we want to do," McIntyre said, "is to have hatcheries located on all potential waterways of the state, that making fish distribution easy."

McIntyre says the state's rearing ponds now numbered 140 with 17 hatcheries in operation.

"Originally all building and remodeling during the past several years has been the result of the setting up of a statewide works progress administration project to aid in financing construction work, McIntyre said.

"In our estimation," he said, "we have been able to advance more than 10 years faster than we would have with the state fish and game department's revenue under normal conditions."

Aided by WPA
"Such construction program would have been entirely out of the question without the aid of the WPA because whatever done by this department has to be divided geographically over the state and it would have been impossible for us to have secured enough revenue to do more than operate and take care of the maintenance with the money which was available.

McIntyre said the game department aimed particularly at stocking easily-accessible streams and lakes.

"Most fishermen," said McIntyre, "lose business when they are caught more than a year ago 'want to fish."

"They don't want to drive all day, then spend an hour or so walking up a steep mountain trail to reach good fishing."

"For that reason, we're placing as many fish as we can in streams that are easy to get to."

OUR HOME TOWN

BI-FOURS
By Ella M. White

Let's all start looking through the lower part of our glasses. We have been viewing the world through the long-distance part of the lens for quite a time now, paying more than rightful attention to the schemes of the dictators and the troubles of the dictated-to on the other side of the world.

And all the while, right here at home, our good, plain, neighbors are fighting battles—bitter battles—and are making sacrifices, the sacrifices of their own desires to someone's else need.

There are feet to be shod and socks to be knitted and houses to be built and cars to be fixed—here! There are joys to be experienced and griefs to be shared—here!

And in these battles

Student-Waiters Develop Own Jargon for Calling Orders

AMES, Ia., June 5 (AP)—"One-Eyed chicken," "Let it be," "This is one very getting confused," "Is the way the boys order a hamburger in the campus cafes at Iowa State college." "An 'Eline' is the student-waiter, serving four years of education seemingly just cannot resist developing their own jargon for calling orders from the dining room to the kitchen for instance."

"'Chick one'—chicken dinner." "Chase one through the fence"—chicken sandwich.

"'Make it roan'—leaner chicken sandwich." "Chocolate church"—chocolate sandwich.

"'Scorch a binder'—grilled cheese sandwich."

"'Deep sea diver'—viewer and bread."

"'Blood and thunder'—a rate ticket."

"'A customer rattles a glass impatiently, the waiter calls to the bartender 'one man on fire.' 'Nothing for the house' is a college boy's way of ordering a five-cent soft drink."

"'And what do the cooks think about all that?'"

"They are finding it hard to keep up with the changing trend. One remark:—"

"'Here it all the time double talk and screwball chatter.'"

Movie Makers Show Old Films

Not Many Pictures Can Take It After Passage of Few Years

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, June 4 (AP)—Old motion pictures ought to be burned for their own good, says one of the "movie makers."

"There's nothing like an out-dated movie (unless it's one of the same) to shock one's illusions."

Not many pictures can take it after the passage of a few years, though most of the pictures of five years ago still look pretty good. A slowness of tempo, characteristically every one, but a few are as fun as ever in other respects. "It Happened One Night," has lost none of its humor or punch. "A Farewell Arms" is still a thrilling love story, even after adjustment.

"Farewell" is being shown because Paramount learned Helen Hayes, the star, crossed a pillbox dollars out of her contract.

"The new popularity of Betty Davis (plus the usual interest in Paul Muni) is responsible for the re-release of "Goodbye Girl." Its earlier scene has been toned down somewhat. The love scene between Kay Francis and William Powell was shortened for the reworking of "One Way Passage."

M. G. M. mine is said to be considering the discontinuance of re-releases, but it now lists four of its better films ready. These are "David Copperfield," "Pleasure Plunder," "Viva Villa" and "Muthy on the Bounty." Spencer Tracy's growing popularity is why Columbia dusted off and re-released "A Man Called Peter."

Shortage of new pictures is the reason universal is re-releasing a number of old-timers. Included are "Frankenstein" and "Prairie." For the same reason, United Artists is getting out "The Count of Monte Cristo" and "I Cover the Water-front."

"The trouble is that if the public welcomes these good films of quite recent years, Hollywood, in a few years, will have to come up with extra albums, you go back too far into the vaults."

"If you want to know how much the movies have changed in 17 years, call it 'The Bible.' You find when looking at 1921's 'Big Time' drama, how it could have been a well-acclaimed piece. Some theaters are showing it, hoping it would come to us better stuff, but they do not follow objects which are 16 to 25 inches away from their eyes."

You Can't Fool a Cow! Beet pulp... the by-product of the sugar beet... has contributed to practically every record set for milk production in years. One more reason why the beet sugar industry deserves your support all the time. Even more important to America as a whole, however, is the fact that the sugar beet industry produces more labor-hours per acre, and more cash return per acre to the farmer than any other major farm crop in the United States. Moreover, the sugar beet industry in one-third of the states of the Union provides thirty million Americans with their supply of pure granulated sugar. Such an industry is entitled to the support and encouragement of everyone... housewife, cannery, candy maker, baker, and distiller.
