LAST RITES FOR IDAHO PIONEER

Funeral Services at Shoshone for Thomas H. Gooding

SHOSHONE, Idaho, June 25 (AP)—Funeral services for the last of a quiet family of Gooding brothers—all pioneers in Idaho pioneer history—will be conducted here tomorrow.

The rites will be for Thomas Henry Gooding, 84, who died at a Gooding hospital last night of a heart disease.

Gooding, Shoshone district sheepman for many years, was a brother of the late Frank R. Gooding, former Idaho governor and one-time United States senator.

The three other brothers, Fred W., William and Walker, and one sister, Jessie Gooding, preceded him in death.

The funeral rites will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. here at the Masonic hall, where the body will lie in state from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. Burial will be at the Shoshone cemetery.

Gooding, born in England, came to America when he was 15. He lived for a time with his parents at Pawpaw, Mich., coming to Idaho in 1853.

He had lived here since 1858 after residing earlier at Ketchikan and Gooding.

His first wife, Mrs. Grace Gooding, died in 1869. He married Mrs. Nancy Campbell in 1900.

Survivors, in addition to his wife, are one son, Thomas, Jr., of Shoshone; four daughters, Mrs. Don Drummond, Gooding; Mrs. Earl Campbell, Lakita, Kan.; Mrs. Lila Beckett, Albama, Calif.; and Mrs. Robert Ballard, Carpinteria, Calif., and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank T. Gooding of Gooding.

Character From Column By Ripley Visits Here

T. D. Rockwell, the "Anatomical Linguist."

Rockwell, who is the assistant manager of the Circle theater in Portland, Oregon, is on the return trip home from a vacation trip that has taken him more than 2,000 miles.

His idea has been copyrighted and registered in the United States patent office. Rockwell pointed out that if he ever develops amnesia and wanders away, is killed and the corpse defiled is found in any other manner loses his identity nor can recognize him by the following marks and, further more, learn his name and address.

Tattooed on him are the following marks: his social security number, 200-08-0652; five-pointed star, five-pointed star, five-pointed star, five-pointed star, five-pointed star; his name in Italian, raised enough so the blind can feel it and read; name in Morse and Continental code; Rockwell translated into the Angel's code from Spanish, Bulgarian, Sanskrit, Bengali (India), Esperanto, Polish, Lithuanian, Russian, Swedish, French and others.

The man who can't be lost turned up in Twin Falls yesterday.

And the public knew he couldn't be lost when they saw the handwriting on his legs.

John Hix in his newspaper feature, "Strange as it seems," called his the "anatomical linguist," Robert L. Ripley in "Believe It or Not" called him the "man who can't be lost."

It was none other than T. D. "Theodosius" Rockwell, the only man in the world who has his name translated into 68 languages and tattooed on his body.

Stranger yet is the motive behind the weird translations recorded for Rockwell. While in San Francisco during the summer of 1934 he found he could not get a check cashed without proper identification.

So with a vengeance against bankers who would not cash his check because they did not know him, he recorded his name in many languages.

At Twin Falls Playgrounds

Fleet-footed Arrel Green, a 14-year-old lad, uncovered the "treasure" at Harmon park Friday afternoon in the feature, event concluding the week's activities, according to Verne Richards, city recreation supervisor. After 200 children had heard the fifth note on the "treasure" hunt read by the finder, Arrel did a bit of quick flouting and fast footwork and uncovered a huge cache of pennies. They were later divided among the crowd.

Chief of Police Howard W. Gillette gave short talks on citizenship to children and adults at both parks Friday afternoon. His talks were part of a planned program carried out through citizenship week which ended Friday. A marionette show, "Breaking Through," which attracted the values of good citizenship were presented after the police chief's talks.

Winners of the stick relay at Drury park Friday were John Bernick, Nellie Miller, Ruth Eganer and Virginia Williams. Winners of the sack relay were Virginia Williams, Louise Reese, and Maxine Fisher. More than 65 children participated in the games.

George Jakway, age 6, and Patty King, age 7, have been named as honor students for outstanding work in Mrs. Polly Clark's first and second classes. There are 50 children ranging in age from 4 to 15 years enrolled in the class.

Mabel Brewer and Flora Campbell, both twelve years old, have done outstanding work in painting and have demonstrated skill in handling a coping saw in the handicraft classes. Registered in the class are 65 children from 8 to 15 years of age.

Taking the part of Major Doves behind a croquet match microphone, Eugene Breddford, director of Harmon park, started an amateur hour Thursday. Patty King responded with lap dance numbers. Bobby Taylor sang "Hi Ho" and Catherine Roache displayed jugglery ability.

A new game called battalions in which paddles and outdoors are used is being enjoyed by many adults at both parks during their recreational periods from 5 until 7:30 p. m. daily.

CLARK DEFENDS SPENDING POLICY

Idaho Governor Argues for Speeding Circulation of Money

BOISE, June 25 (AP)—Continuance of rapid governmental spending "will prove," Governor Barzilla W. Clark said in a statement released here today, "in spite of opposition, that the usefulness of money depends on its circulation."

"There is just as much money in hand times as in good times," he asserted.

"It is the circulation of that money which makes it beneficial," Governor Clark described the "pay-as-you-go" program which he said was in effect at Idaho Falls, the eastern Idaho community he served as mayor 10 years before becoming governor, and added:

"That city has very literally spent itself out of debt—this year that growing community has no city tax levy at all, but is maintained by its revolving fund from electrical earnings."

"Our state is operating a municipal power plant.

"I am sure," the governor continued, "that useful spending on a pay-as-you-go basis would have equally beneficial results in any public unit."

"Our state is spending about $11,000,000 a year on its public assistance program, but this is inadequate to prevent the Idaho grand ledge will be Grand Master J. A. Lippincott of Idaho and Grand Secretary Presley P. Horne of Caldwell.

Lost Progress: Civilization has to be re-learned by every generation. It says Will Durant, philosopher. It has to be re-learned, too, and from present indications, the need is going to have plenty to learn.

Other Points of View: The industrial leader of this country has lost one of its biggest opportunities for by default in not keeping its employees, stockholders and the public at large informed as to its activities.

AN UNGUARDED RULER: Hendrick, King of Sweden, author and artist, was in Stockholm for the recent celebration of King Gustaf's 80th birthday anniversary.

NOT ON A FEMINE PAIL: It does seem as if the ladies, Old Dixie, who are attracted as the fair sex, are bent on commencing their business. We refer to sun glasses.

BILIONS FOR VACATIONS: The statistics figure out that it will be a big vacation summer, especially on the gasoline trail. There will be 42,000,000 people taking to the open road, they say, with $1,800,000,000 to spend on their outing.

BEEN ON THE ROAD: It may be that been is the greatest summer peril on the road. If they do not produce most of the crashes in the open country, they score an immense number of motorists out of their wits and shake their driving nerve.

Breakfast Food: A child young and fit was applying for a job as janitor clerk in a city. He had to do an examination before the chief clerk would give him the job.

One of the latest examples in an accident: The city of Twin Falls will be a generous host to the "Glorious Fourth" when the citizens are invited to liberal in providing funds to insure the success of the celebration.

reported from Salt Lake City. Two girls, one of them driving, grew instantly oblivious to everything else in the world when a bee flew into the car. The insect was doubtless as badly scared as the girls, but acting as though it were a fly, it started crawling at it wildly, and the car jumped a curb and sheared off a power-line pole. One of the girls suffered head lacerations and the other had a nervous shock. The bee, recovering his aplomb, calmly flew away.

MEN AND CARS: The latest comment on our automotive civilization comes from a Navajo Indian and is worth a moment's thought. An official in the Indian Bureau at Washington had the idea that the Indian schools should give the young men courses in auto repairing, so they could earn a living in the neighborhood while men's town. The Indian Bureau teachers mostly approved, but a venerable Navajo chief refused to let the boys of his tribe take the course.

They are going, indeed, at an appalling rate. Thus far we seem able to hold our own multiplying both cars and people in spite of road accidents, but you never can tell. It might be the motor car that gives America back to the Indians.

Another Job for Industry: The industrial leader of this country has lost one of its biggest opportunities for by default in not keeping its employees, stockholders and the public at large informed as to its activities.

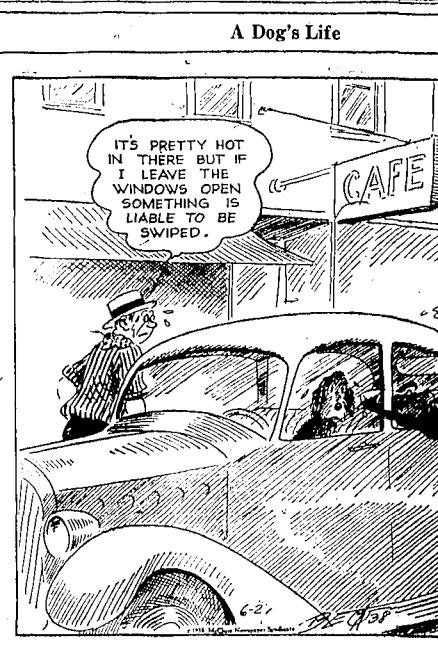

Fire is always dangerous. It's doubly dangerous in summer. We are close to that menacing "fire season" which is now being out. When this drying weather reaches a certain stage, trees will literally explode when attacked by fire, and start conflagrations that will sweep other trees and acres. Fires, running with hurricane speed and force along the tops of great trees, will extinguish all life along the tops of great trees, and will burn up the forest.

NOT ON A FEMINE PAIL: It does seem as if the ladies, Old Dixie, who are attracted as the fair sex, are bent on commencing their business. We refer to sun glasses.

FDR WELCOMES SWEDISH PRINCE

Nations Exchange Symbols of Good Will in Delaware

WILMINGTON, Del., June 25 (AP)—Months of grand planning neared a climax today in the international swap of a plate of bronze for a block of granite—shaped into symbols of good will between Sweden and the United States.

Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden, heading a distinguished delegation from Sweden and Finland, will land Monday at the rocks in the Christina river, where his countrymen landed three centuries ago to complete the trade.

President Roosevelt will welcome the delegation.

The settlement the Swedish and Finnish colonists leaved from the forest along the Christina river became Wilmington. The land they bartered from the Indians became Delaware and part of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The United States already has acknowledged the contribution of the pioneers with the presentation of a bronze plaque. It was taken to Stockholm, Sweden, which colonists sailed by a party headed by Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania, last December.

Sweden's block of granite, topped with a replica of the colonists' ship Kalmar Nyckel, will be unveiled shortly after the Swedish and Finnish delegation lands.

Sister in Idaho Tells About American Mother

The title of American Mother has come nothing to spell either Mrs. Grace Nell Crowell of Dallas, Tex., distinguished poet, or her husband and three sons, according to Mrs. C. E. Jacoby, chief of the poet, who returned this week after attending a family reunion in Estes Park, Colo.

Her claim to the post is not the only thing which distinguishes the family, incidentally. Of the 83 members, 60 are directly related, and the only death which has broken the group is that of a sister-in-law, a record which they believe is almost unique.

Mrs. Crowell is pleased with the honor, of course, but insists that she can't understand why she received it.

Norton Crowell, the youngest son, explains this modestly by saying, "I keep her down" by calling her an unqualified but affectionate phrase which refers to her weight.

This name son is the only member of the family who seems to inherit poetic abilities.

"He showed his mother a poem once," relates Mrs. Jacoby, "and I was so good she could hardly believe he wrote it."

The local resident believes that their mother was the original possessor of talent.

"She always wanted to write, but she never had a chance. She was too busy with her family, and besides in those days it was impossible for a woman to receive adequate training."

Mrs. Crowell was born in Iowa. She was only an average student in school. "She still has to use the dictionary to spell words," her sister smiles. She wrote her first poem when only a child, and one line in it, "I refer to the dark night and the next to the bright red sun. Naturally she was teased about it, and the verses to still a standing family joke, although the writer insists that a sunset scene was what she had in mind.

After that she stopped writing altogether until after her marriage. Then, during an illness, she started again, and about 20 years ago her first poem was published. She had trouble at first getting editors to appreciate her work, but all that has changed now.

Nine volumes of her verse have appeared in this country, and during the Editor Park routine she received a letter from a London firm seeking permission to publish them. Of all her poems, an early one, "Birth, Life, and Death," is the writer's favorite.

An inner love of beauty is given expression in the poems. Mrs. Jacoby believes. The religious note which predominates is also natural. "I always went to Sunday school and church as a child, but we had no other special religious training. And my sister is by no means a fanatical one."

As many as 1,000 letters from over the world have been written. Nearly all of them are answered by the poet after a single publication. Her husband, a former banker, who spends all his time assisting her.

The included are Mrs. Crowell's biggest worry. She doesn't mind the publicity she receives and, sometimes, objects to her pictures only when the pictures of her are bad. Most of her likenesses show a strong family resemblance to Mrs. Jacoby.

A resident of Iowa and Minnesota before moving to Dallas, Mrs. Crowell is entirely satisfied with the city, and will probably continue to make her home there. She spends most of her time writing, having never been a stranger to do much housework, although she still bakes her own bread.

Attending the reunion were Mrs. and Mrs. Jacoby, their daughters, Mrs. C. E. Merrill of Fairfield and Mrs. H. J. Layson of Jerome, and Mr. Layson. Also present were Mrs. J. A. Noble of Bull, sister of Mrs. Crowell and Mrs. Jacoby, Mr. Noble and Mrs. Jacoby, Mrs. B. E. Miller of Bull and Mrs. Barbara Troxel of Caldwell, and a granddaughter, Eleanor Matlock.

Another sister, Mrs. T. H. Bell of Walnut Grove, Minn., her husband, son, daughters, and daughter-in-law, and her brothers, H. B. Bell, J. D. Bell and their wives of Spencer, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Crowell, and their sons completed the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacoby also visited their former home in Nebraska before returning to Twin Falls.

IDAHO'S MILITARY MANEUVERS END

Camp Commander Declares Training Period 'Very Satisfactory'

BOISE, June 24 (AP)—Idaho's two-weeks peace-time military maneuvers, calling together 1,400 officers and men, were "very satisfactory," the commanding officer, Brigadier General M. G. McConnell, declared today.

Only a handful of men—the cleanup squad—remained at Camp Bonneville tonight.

Other troops of the 116th cavalry, 116th engineers and 148th field artillery returned to their homes by truck, train and private automobile.

"Operations of Camp Bonneville this year," said McConnell, Idaho Adjutant General, "has been very satisfactory."

"Training maneuvers have been very profitable and illness and accident have been at a minimum," General McConnell said that unless accidents occurred during the homeward movement the total expense for medical care would be "below normal."

One youth, Private Lyman V. Williamson, Jr., of Boise, died during the encampment from an attack of pneumonia, and two others, Charles Albane and Jack Knight, both of Gooding, were injured in an automobile accident while they were en route to the camp.

NAMPA OFFICIAL HITS INDICTMENT

Dr. Charles R. Lowe, Accused of Perjury, Questions Action

BOISE, June 25 (AP)—District Judge Charles F. Koebel took issue today a contention that the Ada county Grand Jury was composed of 15 men instead of the 12 required by statute, could not justly indict Dr. Charles R. Lowe, superintendent of the state reformatory and colony at Nampa.

Dr. Lowe was charged on May 17 with perjury in a suit brought by E. Paul Barnes and E. J. Frank. Both lawyers for Dr. Lowe, questioned legality of the indictment, and requested a motion to set it aside on the grounds that the indictment was not the result from the deliberations of 12 men.

Twelve of the 16 must concur to vote an indictment.

The attorneys pointed out that Ernest G. Day, Boise real estate broker and foreman of the Grand Jury, was excused from service May 17, the day before the indictment was voted against Lowe.

After that another juror, Robert Baker, a juror which tried W. Harry Abernethy, former state purchasing agent, on an embezzlement charge, Abernethy was acquitted.

The Grand Jury now is in recess, but its secretary, Edward G. Rosenbom of Boise, recently announced it would reconvene July 11 to resume its investigation of state government affairs or adjourn.

After indicting Dr. Lowe, the jury also indicted E. J. Dunfee, now of Phoenix, Ariz., and his former secretary, Miss Echo Dell Watson of Boise, for misuse of public funds. Both denied their guilt.

Attorneys said Judge Koebel's ruling on Dr. Lowe's motion would not alter the status of Dr. Dunfee's or Miss Watson's case because they did not raise the questions raised by Dr. Lowe's attorneys before they entered their pleadings.

Hampton Leaves For Conference

Robert Hampton, county supervisor of the department of public assistance, and a party of five others left Saturday morning for Seattle to attend the national conference of social work which begins Monday, June 27, and ends Sunday, July 3, officials at the local office said today.

Accompanying him were Miss Hampton and out, Jimmy M. Mansworth, Miss Rosa Pelt and Mrs. Warren Parker.

Social workers from the United States, Canada, Alaska, and the Hawaiian and Philippine Islands will attend the educational conference on social welfare and federal experts on social security will be featured speakers at the session.

Frank Rice will be in charge of the Twin Falls office of the department of public assistance during the absence of Mr. Hampton.

BURLEY TO VOTE ON SCHOOL BOND

Five-Year Building Program With WPA Assistance Calls for Poll

BURLEY, June 25 (AP)—Burley school district voters will vote at an election July 1 on a proposed $125,000 bond issue to carry out a five-year building program in cooperation with the work progress administration.

School district officials were quoted as saying the district has no position to finance the undertaking without resort to a bond issue, but that Idaho law requires a bond issue for the purpose.

Polls will be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. the day of the election.

Bids Asker for Road Materials

NOISE, June 25 (AP)—Bids, to be opened July 6, were asked by the state department of public works today for the furnishing of road surfacing material to be used on south-central Idaho highways.

The material is to be placed in quantities near Fairfield on the Idaho central highway and adjacent to the Gooding-Fairfield highway north of Gooding.

The department asked for bids on 6,000 cubic yards of crushed gravel containing 10 per cent of crushed rock surfacing.

OUR HOME TOWN
SIMPLICITY By Ella M. White

That Quality which most marks greatness is simplicity—legitimate offspring of sincerity.

The elaborate artifice through which many have extolled symphonic honors, but when a far greater musician than they, we were ADELSTE PIFLELES, he achieved far more of lasting musical greatness.

Could there be a simpler, purer, in theme or building, than Whitely's number?

And where will you find a simpler piece of writing than the simple, shrewd, outpouring of a great heart which blazes into the Gettysburg Address?

Thus, in all great achievements, simplicity is the key-note. And the same thing holds true of men's characters. The truly great characters are not those who constantly make the headlines with their involved activities. They are not the big talkers who are always confidently talking about their accomplishments.

They are the plain, ordinary folks who we all know, living simple, commonplace lives, none very busy, but dealing all with whom they come in contact with their sincere and simple goodness.

Next Sunday Mr. Whitely will comment on INDEPENDENCE DAY.

OLIVER GRAIN MASTER MODEL 10-8, 10-, 12-foot Combine with sure grain control and straight-in-line threshing

The Oliver Grain Master leaves nothing to chance in handling your grain. The movement of straw and grain is under complete control all the way through the Grain Master. That means no loss of grain of the Grain Master. See what the you get in the Oliver beyond what you get in any other combine.

The Oliver Hinge Float Feeder raises and lowers with the header, keeping feeding uniform regardless of the height of cut. It automatically feeds the crop uniformly "heads first" in the straight-in-line threshing cycle of the Oliver Combine. As the cylinder threshes the grain from the heads, another new Oliver feature comes into play. Long steel fingers and deflection keep the straw under complete control as it travels over the straw carrier and header, cuts, in the last long journey of separation.

You get real threshing action in the Oliver Grain Master Combine. It has the machinery needed to get the grain from the straw. It gets the grain, especially those lost kernels that make up the profit of your crop.

The Grain Master 10 is a 10-, 10- or 12-foot motor-driven machine operated by one man from the tractor seat. Come in and see us about it.

Helen Wills Moody Reaches Quarter-Finals in All-England Tourney

Washington Huskies, California's Bears Lead Regatta Field

Pacific Coast Crews Co-favorites at Odds of 7-5

By Drew Middleton
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 25 (AP) — Navy, Cornell and Syracuse will lead the onslaught against California and Washington Monday when the East makes one more desperate bid against Pacific Coast rowing supremacy.

The seven fleets in training ended a week of the hardest kind of work today with light paddles and practice on racing starts. Only light workouts tomorrow remain before the Intercollegiate Rowing Association's regatta.

As the crews, freshmen, junior varsity and varsity lifted their glinting shells off the hot, rough Hudson today, bettors in this slightly rowing-mad city established California and Washington as co-favorites at odds of 7 to 5.

There was nothing to dispute this in today's workouts either. The Golden Bears worked smoothly downsteam at a low level, and then returned to the boathouse, rowing at a high clip just before docking.

Washington seemed smoother than it was yesterday and Tom Bolles, the Harvard coach, remarked that the crew surprised him with its smoothness.

Behind the two co-favorites come navy at 3 to 1 with Cornell at 5 to 2, Syracuse, which has less work than any varsity crew in training, is held at 6 to 1, while Columbia and Wisconsin are the longest of long shots.

Junior varsity crews haven't attracted much attention from the local bettors. The coast crews are favored over the former while Syracuse and Cornell are granted a good chance to win the latter.

Utahns Advance To Final Round

Kingsley and Savage Play for Transmississippi Golf Crown

LINCOLN, Neb., June 25 (AP) — They eat together, room together, and travel together, so it is only natural that Ven Savage and Ed Kingsley of Salt Lake City should play together in the 36-hole finals of the trans-Mississippi golf tournament here tomorrow.

Kingsley, the medalist, eliminated the home town hope, Harry Kaufman of Lincoln today, 2 and 2, and Savage defeated the tenacious John Kraft of Denver, 2 up, to make the semifinals at Salt Lake City.

The 36-hole semi-finals today offered little excitement, though one kind of competition-tough Savage had to wait until the 30th hole before closing out his match, and Kingsley rode through the afternoon on a three-hole lead he registered in the morning round.

The surprising Kingsley matched the medalist shot for shot through the afternoon play.

Kingsley, not quite as steady as usual, piled up his first mistake as the nervous Kaufman was taking a 78, six over par. Kingsley had a 74.

Each was out in par 36. The Utahns came in with another par 36 as Kraft scored to a 40 on the 18th, and they went to lunch with Savage one up.

Kraft evaded the match on the 33rd and 29th hole by one-putting for his par four after both were short of the green with their second. He went on one up with a par five on the 33rd and 29th, but Savage took the 23rd with a hole to square the match again. The next eight holes were holed in a row.

Kraft's tee shot on the short 32nd hole missed the green was the turning point. Savage took a par, and went two up on the 33rd by sinking a 20-foot putt for a birdie. Savage missed a chance to close out the match on the 29th by missing a 100-foot putt, but he won the last hole as Kraft put his second out-of-bounds and his fourth in a trap. Savage had a 75 for his afternoon round, and Kraft a 77.

Kingsley's final mark the third tournament meeting of the Utah golfers. In the first, the Salt Lake City amateur, Savage won. Kingsley, then defeated his par in the Utah state amateur.

Baseball Meeting To Form League

John Robertson Announces Date for Gathering in Twin Falls

Organization meeting of the Utah-Idaho-Oregon-Montana baseball league at which representatives of eight cities from the proposed Class C league will be present will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in Twin Falls on Monday, July 25, according to John H. Robertson, Twin Falls, vice-president of the league.

Robertson, who is the president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, received a telegram from Loyd Harris, league president from Lewiston, that the postponed meeting of June 5 would be on July 25.

At that time delegates from Ogden, Salt Lake City, Pocatello, Lewiston, La Grande, Oregon; Butte, Montana; Idaho Falls and Twin Falls will draft plans for sponsoring an eight team league and seek franchises. Representatives from major league baseball clubs and the Pacific Coast league will also attend with aims to sponsor teams in the league.

The proposed league would feature a full schedule for eight teams playing nearly all night games to draw the cash customers. The teams would travel by bus to eliminate part of the huge ticket production costs that have wrecked similar efforts for a league.

John C. Dicks, sports editor of the Salt Lake Tribune and who holds an interest in the San Diego, California, Pacific Coast league baseball team, will attend the meeting.

Al Warden, sports editor of the Ogden Standard Examiner and league secretary, will attend with Harris, league president. Robertson is making final arrangements.

Swimming Coach Predicts Strong Twin Falls Team

Aquatic Candidates Show Possibilities of Developing Into Fine Aggregation, Folsom Reports

Candidates for the Twin Falls swimming team have been working out daily at the Harmon park municipal pool under Coach L. W. Folsom who said Saturday he had a "fine bunch of swimmers that showed definite possibilities of developing into a strong team."

Listed by Folsom as swimmers and divers of exceptional promise were nine girls and eight boys from both junior and senior divisions. An exhibition meet will be staged at the local pool within the next two weeks to show progress of the team and give many of the inexperienced swimmers a chance to participate in competition with teammates.

In commenting upon the female swimmers and divers, the coach said that "I have as fine a group of girls as I have ever had the pleasure to coach."

Pemaline members of the squad whose progress was noted by Folsom were Imogene Davis and Erva Palmer, divers; Madeline Mercer and Irma Goodrich, beachriders; light are working out at divers and Alice Gustafson, free style; Lois Hayden, Jeanne Jones and Janet Shroud, free style and relay. Miss Shroud has competed in meets before and is fast rounding into shape. Alice Gustafson showed stamina and speed in last week's trials.

Heading the men's division is Bill Folsom, Idaho breast stroke champion, and medley relay swimmer, who has vastly improved over a year ago. Guyverl Tate is listed by Folsom as another outstanding breast stroke man.

Dick Lawrence and Bob Good, light are working out at divers and Art Frantz is working on the back stroke and free style. Other free

Trailing 1-5, Tennis Queen Stages Rally; Budge Trims Shayes

American Star Wins With Hard Spinning Drives

By SCOTTY RESTON
WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 25 (AP)—Defeated and defenseless for thirty desperate minutes, Helen Wills Moody staged a valorous come-back on Wimbledon's center court today and marched triumphantly into the quarter-final round of the all-England tennis championships today.

Unable to hold her first three service games and trailing 1-5, Queen Helen, in her own calm, cold fashion, suddenly took command of play in her fourth round match with Mrs. Bobbie Helo Miller, blistered the South African star's backhand with hard spinning drives and won out at 8-6, 6-4.

This was the feature of an exciting day which saw these developments:

1—Intoxicated Roderich Menzel, gigantic third-seeded Czech, march off the court and default his match with Scottish Don MacPhail because of an ankle injury.

2—Gene Mako of Los Angeles, in faultless form, carry Henry Wills (Bunny) Austin deep into the fifth set before going down.

3—Klio Nin Kie, eighth seeded Chinese, outstruck and exhausted, suffer elimination at the hands of the Czech, Frantisek Cejnar.

Thus at the end of the first week of play, red-headed Don Budge, easy victor over Ronald Shayes of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, alone remained to carry the United States' colors against seven other survivors in men's singles.

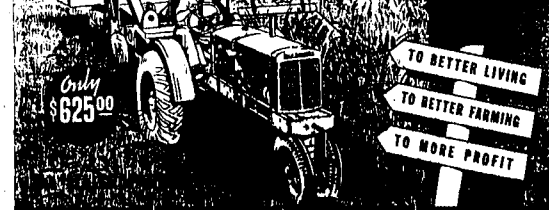

Mrs. Moody alone had reached the last eight. A round behind were Helen Jacobs, Alice Marble, Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fryban and Dorothy May Bundy.

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)— Clay Bryant, big right hander of the Chicago Cubs, set down the New York Giants with one score today and blanked them 5 to 0 before a crowd of 18,214 at the Polo Grounds.

The fireball flinger from Zanesville, Ohio, throttled the champions so effectively that only five batters reached first base and none got as far as second.

The victory was only the fourth for Bryant in 11 games this season with the National League champions, but it evened the current series at one-all and served to tighten the sizzling pennant race. Only one and one-half games now separate the top three clubs, including the second-place Cincinnati Reds, whose loss to Philadelphia today rendered the Cubs to within five percentage points of the runner-up spot.

BOSTON, June 25 (AP)— Marc Brown, nice relief pitcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates, received credit for his tenth victory today, although he pitched only two and two-thirds innings, as the Buccos continued their victorious tour of the east by clubbing the Boston Bees 8 to 7, in the series opener.

In the score tied in the sixth, pitcher Brown doubled to deep right center, driving in the two runs that proved the eventual margin of victory.

Phillies 7, Reds 6

PHILADELPHIA, June 25 (AP)— A home run by Virgil "Budd" Davis off Joe Caccarino into the left field bleachers gave the Phillies a triumph over Cincinnati in 12 innings here today.

Trailing by 6-5 in the ninth the Phillies won the game after two were out on an error by Buck Jordan and four successive hits.

Sande-Trained Pair Finishes One-Two in Brooklyn Handicap

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)— Donald Sande and the remaining part to finish and racing as if invincible, Maxwell Howard's The Chief today finished the Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct in his first clash with other horses.

Under the light weight of 105 pounds the three-year-old chestnut son of Pennant won by five lengths and checked through the low stretch. He broke off the mile and a eighth in 1:42.78, the same time he made in winning the Dwyer three lengths Saturday and only one-fifth of a second slower than Discovery's track record.

TO make it a monopoly for owner Howard and trainer Earl Sande, Sande, hero of the first and second handicap and derby at third in the Dwyer, easily ran away from the eight other starters to gain second money. He was three lengths in front of Parker Corning's track favorite, a 20 to 1 shot.

J. H. Longden's Pompey, which had won from 5 to 5 to 2 in the betting, was a big disappointment. The son of Pompey, seen in handicap action by the suburban Handicap at Belmont park, broke well but finished sixth, beaten by 12 lengths by The Chief.

The Howard entry was the favorite at even money. The Chief, purchased last November out of the G. V. Whitney sale for $14,000 won $18,480 to boost his earnings for the year to $31,195. Sande's second placed Howard another $4,000.

The win enabled the Yankees to better their hold on second-place in the American league to half-game over the Boston Red Sox, and raised them to within four games of the pace-setting Cleveland Indians, who were also idle.

OCTAGON HOUSE

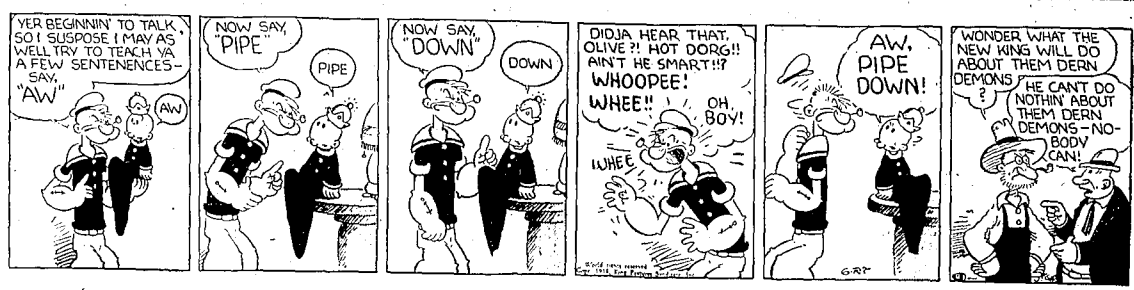

BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The Story So Far: Asy Maza, the God detective, is investigating the murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office murals has enraged Quannott. She was killed by a left handed blow from the knife of her husband, who was Milling around Octagon House and otherwise involved ate; agreeable Tim Carr, who was married to Marina; Jack Lorne, who thought he was her husband; Roddy Strutt, whose plane crashed the night of the murder; Peggy Boone, an artist; Jennings, a plumber; and persons unknown who smoke Turkish tobacco, burned down the barn, killed Asy, Tim, Pam's father and two troopers, and destroyed Jack's mural. She remains in a $5000 lump sum, belonging to Pam. Meanwhile, Tim seems to be thinking of Pam in connection with his future.

Chapter 35
The Sweet With the Bitter
"Pam!" Peg Boone called from the kitchen. "Pam, where are you?"
"She's not to go," Pam said hastily. "She wants to..."
"I do," Pam was replying to her husband's questions. "I do, do I. What nice buttons you have. I'm sick of painted claws. Look, what's this about ambergris? Is it the vegetables or a variation of an ambergris? In rare I might to know, it's probably something I should be bringing the youth of America, but my mind's a little. What are ambergris? And—uh—"
"Peg Boone walked over to them and eyed them both with a look of scorn. Pam let herself turning red again.
"Something's definitely wrong with the Spanish cream, Pam," she said. "I can't tell if it's too Spanish or too creamy, but it's not as it should be."
"I'll be right in," Pam said.
"Timothy watched Pam stride back to the house.
"What," he said, "does she do around here?"
"What do you mean, what does she do?"
"Tim shrugged. "Every time I manage to haul you off for a nice long chat, up she pops. She reminds me of Aaron's clocks. Just as you forget them, they strike."
"She's nice," Pam said. "She's a friend of ours."
"I suppose she is," Tim said with a sigh. "Well, I'll just have to take the bitter with the sweet. I suppose you won't like lots of our friends, either. We know a tea dealer who wears a coral bracelet around one ankle, and sandals with a thong next his big toe. I'll tell you what—we'll introduce him to Peg. Maybe they'll marry. You'll wonder how problems disappear. If you just put your mind to work? And," he added before Pam had time to speak, "where did Aaron get those clocks, anyway? With shaving soap?"
"Auntie," Pam said. "He got the first ones by accident, and then he got into his blood. He sinks around atlix, hunting them. Why don't you like—"
"Oran's that way about elephants," Tim said. "She buys—look do you really have to see about that Spanish cream? I thought it was one of those things you couldn't alter afterwards. I mean, either you hit it on the head, or you don't."
"The things I draw on phone packs," Tim said. "Asy, my natural and healthy as can be. Well, let's cope with the Spanish cream, but don't let her take the house to stay on indefinitely."
Pam stopped short. "Why ever not, Tim? What's the matter? Why don't you like her?"
"If I were a woman," Tim dropped his bantering tone. "I'd say it was just my intuition. I don't know why I don't like her. Do you warm up to her much, you-elf?"
Pam hesitated.
"Her Eyes Don't Smile!"
"But I do like her," Pam said. "She's been awfully decent to me. I'm not violent, enthusiastic about her. I've known her for ten years and too well, and besides, I don't like to get violent and enthusiastic about people. What is it you have against her?"
"Nothing," Tim took her arm. "Come on."
"You have," Pam said. "I want to know before we go on."
"But you asked for it. Well, I'll tell her. It's just that she's so damn pretty, but her eyes don't smile. I feel the same way about your father-in-law. God knows no one would ever accuse him of being pretty, but his eyes are such fishy things. Like coal on fire in the fish market window. And then every time I get myself up to the pitch of telling you about Marina, she appears on the scene. That's worse than her eyes."
"What about Marina?" Pam said. "I was married to her. Timothy said, 'Before Lorne, I'm pleased don't say anything now. Not till you've considered how much we have in common. It's just Marina that matters. It's what she did me, tell me about ambergris. Is it either vegetable or vegetable?'"
"Both," Pam said in a small voice. "Really," Tim said. "Tell me all about it."
He remembered as they went into the kitchen, all the questions Asy had put to the troopers about the barn and the candles. But he went on the day before, and he remembered that Peggy Boone had looked like grandmother repair the flower bed.
"All about it," he continued, still avoiding Pam's eye. "Ambergris One, an intricate couple."
While Timothy was being told about ambergris, Asy parked his car in front of the Foster hospital, and went to see Roddy's pilot.
"I was just going to call you," I came on duty said. "Hanna asked me, Brigham's doing really. He really shouldn't have any cables, though, so you won't get him excited, or stay too long, will you?"

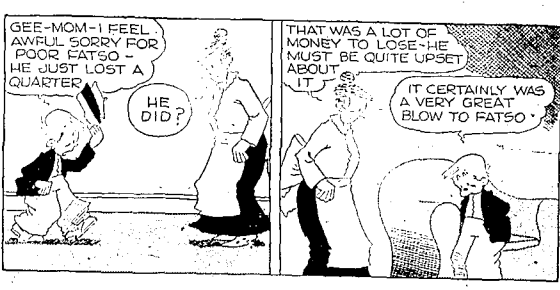

Dr. Carter sent you his regards, by the way, and says he's coming down the night before his vacation's over. I'll show you the room."
"How's Earl Jennings?" Asy asked and they talked down the corridor. "I hear he's been awfully good. So you heard about that episode, did you?" the nurse inquired. "Well, not really, he's going to stay. We're just about worn out with him. And he was so nice at the beginning, too! It's the mural that fretted him and got him so obstreperous. Here you are, Mr. Brigham, this is Asy Maza."
"I beg?" Asy said sincerely. "That all them bandages aren't any indication of how you feel. An' what's this contraption for, the bustle of leg?"
Brigham smiled behind his bandages. "Thanks to you and your doctor," he said. "I feel pretty good. And I'm glad to see you. I've got a lot I want to tell you, and a lot more I want to be told about."
"Fifteen minutes," the nurse said wistfully, and went out.
"What a bunch!"
"There," Asy said, "wet got to work fast. First off, how are you really? They didn't get any response from the wires they sent off last night to the folks whose names they found in your wallet. That made me wonder if Brigham wasn't a sort of pen name."
"It is, Tim Charles Barn."
"Asy whistled. "Horn!"
"The lad himself. And because we haven't a lot of time, I'll tell you that I was sacked from the L. and N. for drinking. So I'm Brigham for a while, till I can work up to being Horn again. And if it hasn't been a little bit tight the other night, Strutt wouldn't have got me into that plant. And if I wasn't one of the best pilots I know, I wouldn't be here now, nor would Strutt. All I ask is that you get out of here and give that mug a good kicking before somebody kills him for me."
"To save a lot of Haidlin' around, an' to save you from talking," Asy said, "let me guess, an' you tell me where I'm off to Friday. You spent the day takin' Strutt an' his pals one joy ride—"
"And honest if I'd known more about that outfit you couldn't have gone me there in Irons. What a bunch!"
"Uh-huh, Friday evening, you an' Roddy trailed a pal of his to Providence, an' then came back here—when—"
"Around right or so. And I sat down for the first time all day, and had a couple of drinks. I needed 'em, too," he said. "That night?"
"And Strutt went out, and then he came back," Asy said, "say around eleven, and told you that you had to go up again. That right?"
"Yes. I said he was crazy, and I was tired and the plane needed some greasing, and his lightning system was lousy. But nothing would do, after arguing and arguing, but we had to go up. Finally we got things organized so way I felt about him and his crowd then. I didn't care if I did smash up his plane and him and myself, too. And he went up, and he dared me to land in the town square. For the hell of it, I did. I wouldn't have cracked up if he hadn't got panicky and took onto me—say, what was going on? What was his idea? It must mean something, or you wouldn't be interested."
"Asy explained. "Alibi," he finished. "No one's asked him just what he was doing 'where he was, and why, during the time Marina Lorne was killed. You know about that?"
"The nurses don't talk about anything else," Brigham said, "except her, and that plumber that wants to know what anyone has written for you about him. They've been having a little with him. He started for a solid hour this morning. Big, was Strutt suited up in the mud?"
"That," Asy said, "is what I want to know. Can't you cut any light?"
"All I know is, he went off after we got back from traffic that night, high and happy. When he came back around eleven, he was frightened about something."

JUDGE OUTLINES ANTI-CRIME PLAN

Speaker Declares Boys Must Be Trained While in 'High Chair'
BEAULIE, June 25 (AP).—Crime prevention must begin in the high chair and not in the electric chair, Judge M. M. Brande told the Social Protection Association's 22nd conference in an address prepared for delivery tonight.
Judge Brande of the Chicago municipal court, told before "social protection" could be administered by inventing laws from bombarding "that," something must be done for them "long before they have had a taste of what they think to earn money."
"If we are going to help these boys we must help them now before they are tempted to make their first mistake, and crime prevention must begin in the high chair and not in the electric chair."
Judge Brande listed a number of contributing factors or "triggers" which lead to crime. He mentioned, in addition to improper home influence. Among these he listed low wages, improper structure, Began, certain types of movies, radio and comic strips, the automatic rifle, un-supervised and un-supervised "innocent" child and un-supervised

VIEWERS EXPLAINED IN HOSPITAL CASE

Judge Alfred Budge Elaborates His Position on Court's Ruling

HOISE, June 25 (AP)—Judge Alfred Budge's views on an Idaho Falls hospital case, explained by the newspaper court were elaborated upon today.

The court reversed on June 23 a district court judgment which awarded Mr. and Mrs. Grimes Wilson of Idaho Falls $27,500 for damages to their daughter, Donna Irene Wilson, 2, allegedly burned by electricity while under treatment of Frances Egan at a county hospital in Idaho Falls. The hospital and the nurse were joint defendants.

The Idaho Falls hospital and the nurse were joint defendants.

Justice William S. Morgan, in his majority opinion, wrote that "the weight of authority is decidedly against the theory that a hospital operated in part by donations and operated for charitable purposes, is liable for damages resulting to a paying patient by the negligence of its employees."

Judge Budge said:

"I concur in the foregoing very able and sound opinion prepared by Mr. Justice Morgan, except that portion of the opinion which holds that it is necessary to distinguish Henderson vs. Twin Falls county from the case at bar, but to that portion of the opinion I am unable to concur."

The Twin Falls case he cited referred to an action for damages brought against a county hospital. Justice Morgan distinguished between a county hospital, engaged in the practice of medicine as required by statute, and a hospital operated for charitable purposes.

"The Budge took exception today to the original news account which stated:

"Justice Budge concurred as to the conclusion, but dissented also on questions of liability of the hospital."

Japanese Slaps Officer's Wife

Incident at Tsingtao Involves Wife of Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie

SHANGHAI, June 25 (AP)—Displeasure reacting here today said that United States Consul Louis H. Gourley at Tsingtao had reported to the state department that a Japanese sailor had slapped the wife of a United States naval officer.

The naval officer, Thomas H. Massie, was attached to the United States gunboat Tulsa.

The report from Tsingtao said Mrs. Massie was returning to Tsingtao, escorted by two sailors, after having her husband on board the Tulsa. She landed at the Japanese-controlled pier and went on to the city, where she was challenged in Japanese by the sentry.

When she failed to reply in Japanese, the report said, the sentry struck her across the face.

Screen Star Pleasant, Quiet

When Not Performing Before Cameras

BY DEVON FRANCIS

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—Mr. James Cagney in person, it may be said, is a pleasant, quiet, unassuming man. In the motion picture Mr. James Cagney—the master, the smart guy, the tough and dance man, the prizefighter.

"True, the resemblance in physique is necessarily somewhat the same, but the Hollywood picture actor, which naturally creep into his films, is the manner of fond, fast talking in personal conversation. When not before the camera with him, you leave with the impression: "Well, hard to believe but Cagney actually is a modest fellow."

More than that, he is a pleasant young Irishman who comes from the Hollywood picture industry, who has an often to be heard in his life and film but what causes that, linking feeling with the actor, is the fact that he seldom gets to be heard in melancholy mood, does not detest him from hoping that he will be something, and when he gets to know this week after he will be to 100 acres on Martin's Vineyard he is usually in vacation. In fact, he is usually in vacation. In fact, he is usually in vacation.

WOMAN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. S. D. Milligan Suffers Injuries When Car Strikes Tree

Mrs. S. D. Milligan of Kimberly was taken to the Twin Falls county hospital at 4:30 p. m. Saturday suffering from glass cuts and lacerations after smashing her automobile against a tree while passing another car on the road to Twin Falls earlier in the afternoon.

Her attending physician reported that facial cuts from glass fragments, a chest injury, minor bruises and shock would confine Mrs. Milligan in the hospital for several days.

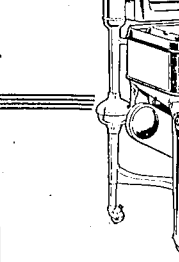

The accident was investigated by a number of the sheriff's office who reported that she had attempted to pass an automobile on the right side, lost control of the car and crashed against a large tree. She had been following a car which swerved to avoid hitting a dog. Thinking that the automobile was about to turn off, Mrs. Milligan drove on the right side of the vehicle, hit the side of the car and lost control of her automobile.

The automobile was badly damaged, the windshield being broken, the steering wheel crushed and the front caved in, the officer said.

IT'S A PRIVILEGE TO LIVE IN IDAHO

OUR MOUNTAIN SCENERY IS SECOND TO NONE

and... Our ELECTRICITY IS 33% CHEAPER than the National Average

The nation—and the world—is coming to realize that Idaho has some of the most gorgeous mountain scenery anywhere. Sun Valley, the Primitive Area, many other scenic spots—are taking their rightful places in the world of scenic beauty.

Cheap electricity is another reason why life is worth while. For instance, the farm domestic and residential customers we serve, pay, on the average, ONE-THIRD LESS for electric service than the average rate for the entire U. S. And the people we serve, alert to a good bargain, use nearly twice as much electricity as the national average. It's a privilege to live in Idaho, where ELECTRICITY IS CHEAP.
