
BOOKLETS SENT ON FOREST FISH

Sawtooth Supervisor Releases Information Pamphlet Giving Piscatorial Pointers

Visitors to the Sawtooth National forest who took the trouble to register in the books provided by the forest service last week, find themselves rewarded with the receipt of a booklet, entitled, "Fish and Fishing on the Sawtooth National Forest," and a card picture of Redfish lake from Supervisor M. S. Benedict.

The booklet is an interesting and instructive treatise on the kinds of fish found in Sawtooth waters, and in what lakes or streams they are found. It touches slightly on the extensive fish planting program that has been carried out by the forest service since its establishment in the Sawtooth during the past. The publication also contains pertinent information concerning the habits and peculiarities of many fish taken in the Sawtooth region, with directions for identification of different species. Those who are going into central Idaho for the first time will find the booklet helpful; and those who have been into the Sawtooths before will find numerous familiar landmarks in it, as well as things of interest which they have probably overlooked.

Five Register Books
For the convenience of the visitors the forest service placed five registration booklets on the forest, one at the lowest point, on the road above Featherhead at an approximate elevation of 1000 feet, another at a highland point, on Mount-Hyndman, the top of Idaho, elevation 12,078 feet, and three more at appropriate locations.

Last year 2000 visitors registered, which is estimated to represent about one-fifth of the total number that visited the forest. They came from all states, Alaska and Washington, D. C.

"We want people to register," says Supervisor Benedict, "it is a help to find them in case of emergency at home; registration books are designated to get over fire rules, and also the list of registrants gives us a chance to get in touch with our visitors as we are doing now."

In his communication to last year's visitors the supervisor says: "The timber, forest, fish and game of the Sawtooths are renewable resources, and if handled properly will increase in value for evermore. But they are not—this campfire of yours, that cigar or cigarette are simply firebrands of destruction if you don't absolutely annihilate them to the very last spark."

"Speaking of fish, the forest service and state department of fish and game are putting on a real fish-planting job in the Sawtooths. Records are pleasing, and we hope before long, if some careless 'rucker' does not burn it up, to make this forest an ever favorably known for its fishing as for its scenery."

Commercial Bodies Now on Pontiacs

For the benefit of merchants and business men who do not have a sufficient large volume to warrant a special delivery vehicle, and traveling salesman who must carry a large stock of samples, the Oakland Motor Company now introduces two cars especially adapted to fit such needs. The Pontiac Six Coupe and Roadster suitable for mounting two types of "all-clip" commercial bodies. The cars are ideal for combination business and personal use.

The open express body or the closed panel body may be slipped on either the roadster or coupe in a very short time; in the case of the roadster by simply removing the removable rear deck cover, and in case of the coupe by removing the rear deck cover. Both these cars in the Pontiac Six line are adaptable to this purpose because the rear decks extend to the floor. Each type can be used interchangeably with or without the "all-clip" bodies.

The inside dimensions of the open express body on the Pontiac Six Roadster, are: width, 37 inches; height, 68 inches; length of panel, 109 inches. The Roadster is a durable Duo and has a folding top which is completely removable.

Small lots of goods and packages, requiring protection from wet weather, can be conveniently carried in the closed panel body on the Pontiac Six. Although this body may also be used as a roadster cover.

By removing the rear deck cover of the Coupe, the "all-clip" body is quickly mounted. This type of body is particularly useful for salesmen who carry an especially large line of samples; for specialty salesmen; small deliveries; for tools and other types of business. The inside dimensions of the closed panel body "all-clip" on the Pontiac Six are as follows: width, 37 inches; length, 46 inches; height of rear opening, 24 inches.

Superb Acting in Blue Eagle

"The Blue Eagle," a photoplay of unusual character, had its first showing at the Orpheum theatre.

Here is a picture that is of such general appeal because of its story material, the admirability of its direction and the adequacy of its artistic aid, that it is a foregone conclusion that it will be one of the outstanding successes of the present season.

AMERICAN FARMERS ARE LEISURE CLASS

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo.—Despite the reputed high salaries paid to brick layers and plumbers, the farmer still holds a reputation for being a high travel record for the year 1927 says a report of Yellowstone park.

Such is the report of "Seagruber" travel compilations, which now include the occupation of each and every citizen who enters the park.

BLACKFOOT SUGAR FACTORY WILL REMAIN CLOSED

BLACKFOOT—The design has been reached by the management of the sugar factories that the Blackfoot factory will not operate this year.

Mechanics who have been reserved here will not be transferred to other places. Only about 3000 acres of beets have been planted and definite arrangements are being taken of them.

COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION WILL BE ORGANIZED

SALMON—The Farmers' Co-operative Producers' association is a proposed by by-laws and filed incorporation articles, and is now an organization of vast importance in the counties of Lemhi and Custer. The first official act of the board of directors of paramount interest was the purchase of a site and machinery.

The present building and equipment of the Salmon cannery was bought in turn sold to A. B. Allen, proprietor of the Cash garage, was purchased as a permanent site for the Co-operative Cannery.

'APPLESAUCE' TO BE GIVEN

Broadway Success Adds Word to American Language.

"Applesauce," the stage-hit, the fame of which has become a by-word in American talk, will be the last light offering at this year's Chautauque.

The play has become the most popular form of entertainment in the United States. A few years ago Chautauques began presenting some of the more notable successes and nothing in the history of the Chautauque movement has proved as popular as the plays which have been given.

The securing of "Applesauce" is one of the outstanding achievements of the Elliker-Wills management. It is being given this year on the last night of Chautauque with a professional cast headed by Earl Scott and Marion O'Leary.

"Applesauce" is a story of a father and mother whose only daughter is undecided which of two suitors to marry. One of them will make up the Bonneville county association.

A number of years ago the dairymen of Bonneville county had a testing-association, but about three years ago the association broke up.

Due to the large size of some of the herds in this county it will be necessary for the tester to work more than one day on some of the herds. Mr. Morrell said, and the number of herds in the association. At least 12 of the large dairymen will sign up for the association.

Academic Dispute
A dispute last night among scientists as to whether a lightning bolt is spiral or jagged. For the man who tries to find it in, the question is purely academic.

Topperwein Rifle Feats World-Famous

Ad Topperwein, World-famous rifle shot, coming to Diamond Hardware Store here July 15, to give exhibition of marksmanship.

By W. R. A.

Ad Topperwein, the world famous rifle shot who is to give his great shooting exhibition here on July 15 holds one unique and remarkable shooting record which shows his skill and steadiness and his wonderful endurance in remarkable manner. It is a record that probably will never be equalled.

It was down in San Antonio, Texas, in July, 1907, that this record was made. Topperwein had started out to shoot 6000 little wooden blocks, 2 1/2 inches in all dimensions, each day for ten consecutive days. On the opening day he was shooting along serenely, hitting back after block with monotonous regularity. His score forgot to tell him when he had finished 5000 blocks as the shooter kept on going until the scorer suddenly awoke to the fact that he had allowed Toppy to shoot at 7000 targets already. Topperwein then decided to increase the limit to 7600 a day.

This he kept up day after day until his ammunition supply ran out. The score then found that he had shot at a total of 72,500 blocks and that of all these he had missed only

NOW—not six, eight or nine months from now—the Government's resources and man-power should be fighting Mississippi floods in the future. What assurance has any one responsible for protection of citizens, that there will be no flood next spring—even more destructive than that which has just passed?

If we wait for flood relief in the regular session of Congress which does not convene until December—when will actual effective work begin—and can it be completed in time to assure absolute protection?

Politics or what?—We think a serious mistake has been made in not calling Congress into immediate session—with flood relief the lone job on the calendar.

This very week Congress should be hearing Mississippi valley interests, engineers, farmers, bankers and experts of all kinds—demanding legislation for immediate relief. Has such action been taken—there would have now been available large funds to reconstruct buildings, roads and schools; funds to replace lost animals and farm equipment—and to plant short crops yet this year.

Even yet—if politics can be forgotten for a few moments—the government can find no work so important—or to which it is more obligated—than getting busy on Mississippi relief.

If an invading army devastated 600,000 American homes—and MIGHT return again next spring—do you think the people would let the government sleep? That's what the Mississippi flood water was doing less than a month ago.

YOU AND YOUR BANKER

The recent convention of the Idaho State Bankers' association at Coeur d'Alene serves again to call attention of the public at large to the fact that we have a lot of banks in Idaho that they are on a sound basis and that they have been and are performing a very substantial service for the state through the safe energizing of all lines of business. It may not, however, have served to thoroughly convert the average citizen to the important relationship of the banker and himself if he will only take advantage of his opportunities.

The bank is not merely a place where speculators sit enthralled and bark sharp negatives at people. Neither is it a place where only the wealthy can secure accommodations. The reputable laborer, the salaried man, is as welcome in negotiations for a loan as he is at the receiver's window or in the savings department.

Arthur Reynolds, in a magazine article, relates the experience of a salesman who had accumulated some staple securities which he did not wish to sell. Indeed, if sold the total might not supply him sufficient cash to build the home he had planned. He was one of those who was afraid of the banker, who believed the bank to be a stiff-necked, red-taped, formidable institution that could be successfully countered only by those of means. But he decided to take a chance. He phoned. He was put in touch instantly with the official he desired, who was very cordial in his invitation to come in. He did so and was given a regular handshake. There was no embarrassing "He was placed once at ease. The securities did not represent quite enough value to justify a loan on a cold basis, but the banker took into consideration the moral risk, the ambitions of this industrious and thrifty young man, and in five minutes after he entered the bank he was credited with the desired loan.

We often seek the advice of more or less unreliable promoters and speculators when we should go to our banker, who always has time to listen and to give counsel. If more people went to the banker with their financial problems and their investment plans there would be fewer disappointments. He is always ready to give sound advice; the average man, the clerk, the laborer, needs it more than those engaged in heavy operations. Those classes should be the first to seek the banker's views instead of permitting themselves to be preyed upon by sharks.

No man with a reputation such as would entitle him to credit, need be apprehensive about seeking a bank loan. A good moral risk is a strong supplement to any securities that might be tendered. No man, however lean his account may be, need hesitate to go to his banker for information and advice on any undertaking, however small, he may have in mind. If he desires to safeguard his interests and protect his family, he will seek the always helpful and always cheerfully given counsel of his banker.

JUSTICE IN MASSACHUSETTS

Believers in justice are pleased that the governor of Massachusetts has seen fit to order a stay of execution to Silvio and Vanzetti, the unfortunate radicals who have been convicted of murder.

The belief is widespread that these men are the victims of circumstances and that their conviction on a charge made seven years ago, was secured more because they were radical followers, than because of guilt of the specific crime.

Had not the governor acted, their execution would have taken place this coming week.

No one holds any brief for this notorious duo if they are guilty of murder, but if they are innocent, no American state can be guilty of the great crime of executing the innocent—especially when there is apparently ample opportunity to investigate and conduct a retrial, if necessary.

The young Oklahoma bachelor with a $6,000,000 a year income tells how he became wealthy. "Well, I gotta job coaching a high school football team. I worked hard and then oil was discovered on 't' old home place."

Do you remember how enthused the people were back in May, 1927, when a flyer by the name of Lindbergh made an airplane flight from N. Y. to Paris? Huh, the gang was right about it. It is a moment when we hopped down to Africa for a little elephant hunting before breakfast.

HIGH AND LOW TEST MILK

(Idaho Daily Statesman)
Milk has been milk long enough. If, H. Burman, a county agricultural agent at Cassopolis, Mich., suggests that the time has come to create a grade of milk which shall be standard all over the country.

Just as, at the filling station, the car driver can call for ordinary gasoline, for high test gas or for "baby" gas, so, at the dairy depot, Burman would have them call for low test milk or high test milk or for 4 per cent milk, specifying the amount of butterfat required.

Already individual dairies have pioneered in this field. They will supply standard milk, or "special" milk at "baby" milk, each in properly labeled bottles, each at its own price. But the practice is not nationwide and the tendency of those who regulate the milk industry and guard the purity of this "perfect food" is to force all milk into one uninspiring class.

In many states it is today a misdemeanor to vary from the accepted standard of milk. This puts a hardship on those who can use a thinner commodity at a cheaper price as well as upon those who produce a superior product and yet must sell it at the same market as ordinary standard grade milk.

Says Burman:
If, as an instance, a distributor's customers call for 3 per cent butterfat in milk and other customers demand 4 per cent, the distributor should have the right to sell one or more grades of butterfat and to charge accordingly. Under the present system, producers of low test milk are often excluded from markets, while producers of high test milk cannot obtain the higher prices they deserve.

We have no doubt the guardians of the public health can find a lot of practical objections to letting down the bars to milk manipulation. They will fear the results. Poor milk may be used in misleading bottles and the public may be defrauded. Still, think of the work involved in checking up to make sure people get exactly what they pay for!

Nevertheless the county agent has opened a legitimate discussion. It is a fact that milk must be accepted that is not just milk but as variable as bread or potatoes or eggs in its composition, its variety and its condition.

REAL FRIEND OF FARMERS

(Nampa, Leader-Tribune)

Running politicians, or would-be politicians, who have for the past few years, been going to bring prosperity to the farmer by legislation, have about had their day for the present. Honest, competent men who have a real desire to see prosperity come to the farmer for his good and the good of society are coming to the front as leaders, while the men who had nothing in mind but votes for themselves are falling into disrepute. One of the big men among new leaders is Louis Taber, master of the National Grange. He is at the head of an organization that numbers some 300,000 farmers. He tells them plainly no magic wand of legislation can bring prosperity to them. On the contrary, it is the farmer's own good hands that must be used. He says no means ignore this fact that legislation has a bearing and is important and vigorous in demanding that laws shall bear equally upon all classes of citizens, including those bearing upon taxation. At present he believes that tangible property, home, farms and business blocks bear an undue proportion of the tax burden and demands that every citizen help support his government, whether he has tangible property or not. His talks over the country will not be pleasing to those who want to make the farmers prosperous by ranting about Wall street, but he shows a clear thinking, trained mind and his arguments will appeal to farmers and all other citizens who want to see agricultural problems met and settled upon sound economic principles that will bring lasting prosperity.

Do You Need A Binder?

Every Customer a satisfied one. Read what a few of your well pleased neighbors say about the wonderful

MASSEY HARRIS

THIS NEIGHBOR CUT WILLOWS 10 FEET TALL

When I found last year that I could buy a MASSEY HARRIS Binder from Reynolds Bros. Co. I was very glad and lost no time in dealing for one. I had lived in Canada for several years and while all other makes of binders are offered there for sale, the MASSEY HARRIS was the acknowledged leader for that big wheat country. I want to say that my experience with the MASSEY HARRIS on this Twin Falls tract and after perhaps as severe a test as a binder was ever given, I think more of it than ever and if I was buying a dozen new binders they would all be MASSEY HARRIS. Last year I cut close to 260 acres of grain and had extremely hard cutting all the time. I cut and bound sweet clover six feet tall, I cut willows along the edges of my fields around laterals, 10 feet high and all through this extremely tough cutting, the MASSEY HARRIS worked staunch, faithful and true, and caused no trouble whatever. I want to say that if every machine a farmer purchased caused no more grief or expense than a MASSEY HARRIS Binder, we farmers could begin to prosper.

Signed: C. W. WIDDEL.

1 mile east and half mile north, Buhl, Idaho.

THIS NEIGHBOR HAD GOOD WHEAT AND A GOOD BINDER

I farmed the big T. C. Bacon Ranch out of Jerome last year and purchased a Massey Harris Binder from Reynolds Bros. Co. of Twin Falls and I want to say that I wish every piece of machinery I use was as satisfactory as The Massey Harris Binder. My wheat averaged 70 bushels to the acre. Some of it was down and lodged, but the Massey Harris didn't miss a bundle and it is in as good shape today as when I first pulled it in the field. It is a light running dependable binder and anyone in need of a binder won't make a mistake in buying a Massey Harris.

Signed: W. C. WAYMENT.

4 miles west, 1 mile south of Wendell, Idaho.

THIS NEIGHBOR PLAYED SAFE

Last year I had 186 acres of wheat to cut and had to have a Binder. I saw the Massey Harris that Reynolds Bros. Co. of Buhl, were introducing and while it impressed me as an extremely well built, durable and simple binder, at the same time I wanted to make sure of what I was buying and Reynolds Bros. agreed that after cutting forty acres of grain if I was at all dissatisfied with the Binder, they would allow me to return it. I cut the forty acres of grain and liked it so well that I had no hesitancy in paying them for it in full. It is a splendid piece of machinery and I am glad to recommend the Massey Harris to anyone in need of a good machine.

Signed: ROY HALEY.

5 miles south of Buhl, Idaho.

THIS NEIGHBOR HAD A ROCKY ROAD

Last year I needed a binder and hid my mind set on a certain one, but when I saw the MASSEY HARRIS at Reynolds Bros. I decided that it had all the features that a Twin Falls Tract Binder should have so I bought it, and am not a bit sorry. I cut my own wheat which was a good test for any good binder, itself, but also I did outside jobs and among them was a certain 126 acre field of grain that would have been a test for any binder, I am not exaggerating when I say that I believe this was the worst field that any binder ever went into. There was sweet clover so high that you could not see the horses' heads and yet the MASSEY HARRIS bound it in a neat bundle, and there were rocks hidden from sight so big, I remember, that we had to unhook the team and pull the binder away rearward. But in spite of all these things, we got the wheat, collected our hire ($1.50 per acre) and made money and today so far as I can see, the MASSEY HARRIS Binder is just as good as when we got it a year ago and doesn't need a thing in the way of repairs.

Signed: ANTONE HERSINGER.

2 and a half miles south, Buhl, Idaho.

USED IT WITH HIS TRACTOR

I've run every make of Binder that's made, I think, but the MASSEY HARRIS has them all beat. I fully intended to buy another make of Binder last year but when I saw the MASSEY HARRIS at Reynolds Bros. Co. I made up my mind that it was the binder for me for it appeared so much more rugged and stronger and simpler than any binder I knew of and it looked to be just the machine for this country of corrugations and ditches. I had a Fordson Tractor and hooked it up to it and I not only did my own cutting but I cut for many of my neighbors and I did the entire job without mechanical troubles of any kind. I think so much of this binder that although I can sell it to a neighbor of mine here at Gooding and at a price near like new, I am not going to do it, but instead will take it to my ranch at Gooding, fifty miles from where it now is, where, so far as I know, it will have 300 acres to cut.

Signed: J. S. THOMPSON.

4 miles east, Gooding, Idaho.

THIS NEIGHBOR SHOWED GOOD JUDGMENT

I made no mistake when I purchased a MASSEY HARRIS Binder from Reynolds Bros. Co. last year. It was a new make to me, but as soon as I saw it on their platform, I could see where it had all the wherewithal skinned and I've run about all of them. It is not only strong and heavy but there's no complicated mechanism about it at all. I cut my own wheat and several of my neighbors were up against it and I helped them out and in all I cut around 225 acres and in all of the cutting there wasn't a single cuss word, for the binder gave me no trouble whatever, in fact it came through the cutting in apparently as good shape as when it began.

Signed: J. M. STOVER.

2 and 3-4 miles west of Wendell, Idaho.

FOURTH OF JULY EVENTS PLEASE THOUSANDS HERE

Cool Weather Does Not Dampen Ardor of Twin Falls Celebrants Monday — Parade Is Feature of Day

The one hundred and fifty-first anniversary of the Declaration of Independence was observed in Twin Falls Monday by a crowd estimated as high as 15,000 who celebrated "safe and sane" Fourth of July as the guests of chamber of commerce and the city generally.

Cooling winds and rain in the afternoon, threatened to interfere seriously with the program of events, but on the other hand kept the crowd from sweltering. The wind did, however, prevent the scheduled balloon ascension in the forenoon and in the evening a combination of circumstances again interfered with the program.

Through the cooperation of many organizations, business houses, the citizens of Twin Falls and various groups, the forenoon parade, which was the outstanding event of the day, was declared most successful and pleasing.

Smith Speaks
Events centered about the city park, where Congressman Addison T. Smith delivered an address in the afternoon, and near which planing bouts were held, and celebrants in large numbers partook of their basket lunches.

A basketball game in the forenoon and another in the afternoon at Athletic park, resulted favorably for Idaho Falls, which team was matched with the Twin Falls Bruins. At Lincoln field in the early evening a bucking contest was conducted which attracted and pleased a large throng.

Night fireworks capped the events of the day, which was outstanding because of the fact that it was free from accidents, arrests and untoward incidents.

Parade Awards

Prizes awarded for floats in the parade were as follows:
Historical section "A", first prize, Royal Neighbors "Landings of the Pilgrims"; second and "Tata-Po-Clon" sampler girls "Pocahontas and John Smith"; third, Methodist church float, "Signing of the Declaration of Independence."

Section "B", historical section, "Bull's Landing", entered by the Bull Rotary club was awarded first; Presbyterian church sang "Old Stage Coach" second; and "Fairy Crickets" entered by boy scouts was third.

Industrial section: Cattle raising, Charles Fluorvader, first prize; bean growing, Bean Growers' association, second.
Commercial section: Home Plumbing and Heating company, first prize; Rex Motor company, third.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE

Application was filed in district court Wednesday by Elizabeth Durfee asking for annulment of her marriage to Henry Durfee, to whom she was married in Gooding last June 15. She asks for restitution of her former name, Elizabeth Devine and attorney's fees. The case was filed by Turner K. Hackman, attorney. She charges that her husband has failed to support her and her two children by a former marriage, as he agreed to do and that he has refused to work.

PAY BAND MEMBERS

The city council in session Tuesday night ordered payment of the first warrant of the year to the municipal band, in the amount of $575. This money is provided through a special tax levy which was voted early in this spring, it is explained by G. M. Higl, city clerk.

A great deal of rather foolish advertising is being published in some of our so-called "high class" magazines to the effect that women of refinement use only perfumes at $24 an ounce, or wear only the finest of expensive silks near their skins.

Nonsense! The styles in perfumes and silks arrive, pass and are forgotten, but the standard of true refinement defy the passing of the years. A race, a nation or an individual's standards of culture are, judged now, as always, by their consideration for the rights of others. This is the bedrock upon which all social forms are built.

ARTIST WOULD FOUND COLONY

George Schroeder, Twin Falls Painter, Plans Art School on Baker Creek

George Schroeder, Twin Falls artist, will have an art colony on Baker creek in the Sawtooth mountains if present plans materialize. The scene is a wonder of the region to the north of here, framed in their natural background of enchanting vistas and painted in all their marvelous colors, will find their way to hundreds of canvases and subsequently to the four corners of the nation.

Says an account in the Idaho Statesman of Mr. Schroeder's plans: In response to demand for a summer art school, Mr. Schroeder has established an art colony on Baker creek, above Ketchum, and this summer expects more than 100 artists from as far east as the Chicago Art Academy and, Columbus, Ohio, and west to Berkeley, Calif., to arrive for instruction in painting nature on canvas. Many of the prospective students, said Mr. Schroeder, are Idaho and Utah high school art instructors who wish to improve their technique.

The Baker creek location is described by Mr. Schroeder as ideal for an art school, presenting many and varied examples of nature at its best. Opportunities for the delectable tinting and color schemes that are essential to outdoor paintings are unlimited, he declared.

Under Mr. Schroeder's present plans the art colony will be an annual institution, conducted each summer and catering only to professionals and those well advanced in painting. The work will consist of painting mountain and forest scenery and when the canvases are completed they are at the painter's disposal.

When the students arrive the colony will take on the aspect of a great camp ground. The students will bring their own camp equipment, and tables and ovens will be supplied for preparing their meals. Instruction will be given in the open, while the student is engaged in actual painting.

Priceless Oil Painting

The student oil painting is a valuable thing, says the artist, for it is believed to be one of the most important and child marked with the date DOCLXXXIV, which is a date in the year 1924.

The painting was ordered part of the art treasure of a Florence palace and was purchased by a collector from a broker in the street for a few lire.

Bannocks and Shoshones Hold Annual Sun Dance at Tyhee

The annual sun dance of the Bannock and Shoshone Indians was held near Tyhee north of Pocatello, commencing Wednesday night of last week and lasted four days and nights.

An account of the affair reported by the American Falls Press follows: Bannock and Shoshone Indians began assembling early in the week for the annual sun dance, the most important tribal ceremony of the year. This year the dance is being held at a point about two miles northwest of Tyhee and continues four days and four nights.

According to George Metz, chief of police on the Fort Hall Indian reservation, this year's dance promised to be one of the most pretentious the Indians have ever staged. Preparations for it were begun more than a week in advance, and an unusually large number of Indians of both tribes are in attendance.

It is conceded that the sun dance is one of the most interesting of Indian ceremonies, and practically the only important function which has been kept alive by the Indians from the early history of the race. To stage the dance a large inclosure of willows is constructed. In the center of the inclosure, one end of which is left open, is erected a large forked tree, on which are placed the buffalo horns and a sheaf of grain.

Among the Indians great medicinal powers are attributed to the sun dance, and the participants show remarkable endurance. It is said that, during the four days that the dance is in progress, no food is consumed by the participants, but at its close a big feast is held.

No clothing is worn by the dancers, except at night. Their bodies are painted and their long hair is braided and adorned with eagle feathers. During the dance the squaws furnish the music by beating a monotonous cadence on a drum, while the dancers blow shrill whistles. The dancers use a peculiar dancing step, keeping their feet together and proceeding from the outside of the circle to the pole in the center and return.

The Fort Hall Indians abandoned their plans to hold a Fourth of July celebration at the Tyhee bridge site, instead a great many of the dancers remained at the scene of the sun dance, and at 10 o'clock on the morning of the Fourth held a big parade. This was a "full dress" affair, the braves donning their war paint and feathers for the occasion.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

100 Ninth Avenue, S.W.

"Sacrament" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, July 10, 1927.

Gospel text: Matthew 10:24. "Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me."

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And these signs shall follow them that believe—in my name: shall they cast out devils, they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover." Mark 16:17, 18.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures." By Mary Baker Eddy. "While respecting all that is good in the church or out of it; one's consecration to Christ is more on the ground of demonstration than profession." Page 28.

Sunday services are held at 11 a. m. Sunday school for pupils under 20 years of age is 10 a. m. The Wednesday evening meeting, at which testimonies of Christian Science healing are given, is at 8 o'clock.

A reading room at 134 S. Main Avenue North is open daily from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.

All are welcome to attend the services and to visit the reading room.

Low Reduction Gears On Fordson Tractors

In its campaign to place a Fordson tractor on every farm possible in the Twinland empire, the Union Motor company of this city is meeting with much encouragement, states the proprietor, George R. Jones and his crew of salesmen.

"The thing that is meeting with great favor," states Bert Sawie of the sales force, "is the low reducing gear giving greatly increased power on the draw bar, and the high compression cylinder head, all at no extra cost."

The concern is anxious to have the opportunity of demonstrating these principles and is convinced that the merit of the product will appeal favorably to all farmers wanting increased efficiency and profit from farm work at low cost.

JULY 30th 1906

Only the most reliable and standard Blankets made in the United States such as Nashua, Pendleton, American Woolen Mill Products, etc., are handled at the I.D.

ANNOUNCES ITS ANNUAL BLANKET WEEK STARTING FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 8th, AND CLOSING SATURDAY NIGHT, JULY 16th.

"WE PAY YOU TO CARRY THE STOCK"

At no time in the past five years has our annual blanket week been more timely than the present. Its inception five years ago was in recognition of the fact that blankets are usually considered a one season and a one-turn item, namely in the winter months. Attempting to remedy this we found that by making special inducements a complete blanket stock could be sold in the summer and a new one purchased for fall, thus eliminating a long carry and a big gamble by the merchant. It just happens that this year cotton has gone up about one-third due to the Mississippi floods. Every blanket offered on this page was purchased direct from the mills cutting out all middle men charges and they were bought during that short period when the blanket market was the lowest it has been in years. This means that you, by buying your Winter bedding needs NOW will make the biggest saving in blankets you have effected for a good long time.
