PRaise FOR FAIR GIVEN BY EDITOR OF IDAHO FARMER

Horace Addis Adds Compliments to Annual Exposition of This County in September

With nothing but praise for the Twin Falls county fair, held at Piller early in the month, Horace Addis, editor of the Idaho Farmer, reviews the event in these words:

"The most successful fair, financially, ever held in Twin Falls county, where they are used to the fair being a financial success, closed its doors, after four days of exhibition, the night of September 9. Three of its days had attendance records and the opening and closing business windows closed in the afternoon. Governor Baldrige was present, racing was of a high order and every possible inducement for a city of 20,000 was given."

The result was a record-breaking crowd. "But the next day was granage day. Nine of the granages in the county had exhibits and three of them were on the board of directors. So the granage members showed their loyalty to the board and management by their presence in the morning on Thursday was the big day of the fair in attendance and in general interest."

"All records for attendance were broken. It proved that agriculture still dominates in Twin Falls county. It seems to prove that agricultural exhibits and the fraternal spirit which animates community exhibits are the only exhibits of which one can be so proud as to exhibit them to the public."

"The wonderful productivity of Twin Falls county was reflected in the splendid specimens of fruits, vegetables and cereals shown in the exhibits. The crops were of such a high quality that they were sold at a profit on the spot."

GROWING LIST OF FARM CUSTOMERS

General Manager of Power Company Supplies Figures on Rural Electric Users

A statement from W. R. Putman, vice president and general manager of the Idaho Power company at Boise, cites figures that reveal the increasing number of farms in its territory using electric service.

It adds the information that the company expects to construct in the neighborhood of 150 miles of additional rural lines this winter and add approximately one thousand new farm customers.

In 1910 the concern had 1068 farm customers, while in 1926 it had 3161. The number for each year, together with the percent of increase over the previous year, is stated by Mr. Putman to be:

Year, 1917, 1922, per cent increase 22; 1918, 1640, per cent 20; 1919, 1777, 15 per cent; 1920, 2133, per cent 19; 1921, 2516, 9 per cent; 1922, 2949, 17 per cent; 1923, 3200, 1 per cent; 1924, 3576, 9 per cent; 1925, 3702, 6 per cent; 1926, 3151, 17 per cent.

Ogden Wholesalers Visit This Section

A delegation of 50 Ogden, Utah, business men visited this section by auto Tuesday and Wednesday, bent on a good Will tour. They arrived from Burley during the afternoon, went to Piler and Buhl and were banqueted at the Rogerson cafe in the evening by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

The party left here Wednesday morning by the new bridge for north side towns, Rupert and American Falls, where they took part in the day celebration at the latter city.

Speakers for the Ogden delegation of wholesalers at the banquet here included James D. Vane, president of the Ogden Wholesale company, and E. R. Altom, head of the tour committee. Sherman Coffin of the Idaho Retail association spoke and George Buhl, formerly of Ogden but now manager of the Twin Falls store of W. H. Wright and Sons, gave the welcome address.

WILL BE OPENED

It is announced that bids have been called for the resurfacing of five miles of the state highway extending east from Buhl. Bids will be opened September 30.

BRIDGE OPENING NEXT SATURDAY

Free Tolls Will Be Feature of Joint Celebration October 1

Free tolls across the new rimington bridge north of here will be one of the features of the dedication day events, to take place Saturday with Twin Falls and Jerome communities cooperating.

Although the bridge has been opened for traffic for the past two weeks, Saturday will mark its final completion. The program of the day is scheduled to commence at noon, with an address by Governor H. C. Baldrige and at 2 o'clock a barbecue celebration will be held at Jerome, with football games in both towns simultaneously at 6 p. m.

The opening program here will commence at 7 o'clock, fire works being one of the celebration features, according to Secretary Wright of the Chamber of Commerce, which is in charge of arrangements here. The public is invited to take part in all the events of the day and large crowds are expected.

Rain This Week Delays Harvesting

Rain during the early morning hours of Wednesday visited most sections of the tract and resulted in a wet-back to harvest of various crops, although temporarily, it is expected to clear.

The rain, which was quite heavy in some quarters found many fields of beans still in the shock, and ranchers generally disappointed for it. However, Wednesday was windy and the sun shone in the afternoon, drying up wet crops. Showers descended again Thursday and fell generally over the valley.

Idaho Falls Has Baseball Difficulties

Idaho Falls is having financial difficulties with its league baseball, according to the Times-Register of that place, which believes that Idaho Falls is the only team in the league which has failed to pay its players in full and meet all obligations. Says the report:

"The outcome of the results shows the Spuds, the league champions and two-time pennant winners, about $3,000 short.

"There is a possibility of reducing the amount by about $1000 by delayed gate receipt returns, league guarantees and some unpaid pledges, but at best there will exist a shortage of at least $2000 or more.

"The future of the league was discussed and the decision reached that before Idaho Falls attempts to play professional baseball again a guarantee of at least $10,000 must be had.

Reduce Twin Falls Tax Levy for 1927

Twin Falls city tax levy for the year 1927 was reduced five mills over that of last year, when the usual rate of 15.50 was levied. The levy last year totaled $3.00 on each $100 valuation, while for this year it will be but $3.10.

The Livestock Situation

LOS ANGELES, September 29.—There continues to be a marked decline in the per capita consumption of meat foods, and even so often it seems worthwhile to stand off and look at ourselves, so to speak, to find the reason why.

In 1907 there were 245 food animals for each person in the United States, while in 1927 there is only 12 1/2 for each person. However, due largely to more efficient methods in production and distribution, and through education work entailed on a larger actual tonnage of meat is now being produced from a smaller number of animals. Also, the female animal population represents much larger percentage of the total animal population resulting in a substantially increased birth rate per thousand of livestock population.

Despite the fact that our meat food consumption is constantly on the up climb, with around 8 billion pounds of beef being consumed annually as compared with around 5 billion pounds ten years ago, still our per capita consumption continues to dwindle. The increased figures in volume do not depict a tendency toward greater per capita consumption, but is only the natural result of increased population.

The weak spot in merchandising meat food animals and their products is the lack of concerted action toward keeping the desirability of such food stuffs in the public eye. The substitution of other food stuffs

Gooding Man Gets Fish 8 Feet Long

The current issue of Pathfinder, national weekly, carries a photograph and short article on the sturgeon caught in Snake river. It is from E. D. Hughes, Gooding, and says:

Fishing in Idaho is an exciting sport. A picture of a fish (sturgeon) caught in Snake river, Gooding county, Idaho, on April 26. It measured eight feet and one inch in length. These fish get to be 12 feet long, and they don't come from the ocean, as there are power dams built in the river below where they are caught. The salmon can't get over these dams and I am satisfied that these fish cannot die, as they are not as active as salmon. We had no way of weighing this specimen, but we estimate it at 216 pounds.

The New G-M-R Cylinder Head

Everyone who drives the Oakland All-American Six marvels at the smooth and whispering roar of power produced by the new G-M-R Cylinder Head.

Specifically, the G-M-R (General Motors Research) Head accomplishes three results:

1. It reduces "detonation" or spark knock to a negligible factor while using only ordinary gasoline.
2. It completely eliminates roughness or "thump" in an entirely different engine stroke.
3. It provides greater power and economy because it allows the spark to be advanced to the point of maximum efficiency. (Once set, the Oakland spark remains in proper position since it is automatically controlled.)

The G-M-R Head is truly one of the engineering advancements which have created such widespread favor for the All-American Six. Consult for a demonstration of the principles involved.

ATTENTION! POTATO GROWERS

What are your potatoes worth today? When you receive an offer for them, how do you know if it is their true market value?

The United States Department of Agriculture has a Market News Service designed to put every grower and shipper of potatoes on an even footing by giving all alike accurate and timely information on the nationwide movement of potatoes, the actual prices received for them in the consuming markets day by day, and the prices being paid for them in competitive producing sections.

This daily service is free for all interested parties and will be secured by application to its office at Idaho Falls.

GOOD MARKET FOR APPLES

Growers and shippers of the standard fall and winter varieties express considerable encouragement over the market prospects. With certain classes, which seem to prefer the bushel package, should be a good outlet for fruit packed in that manner. Future sales may be ranging above the price of a year ago and in the Northwest the average advance over early 1926 has been around 75 cents per bushel. According to the recent extra fancy boxed apples were being looked at $2 to $3 depending largely on variety. Idaho apples, combination grades, and the sizes from 2 1/2 inches up, were quoted generally at $1.60 to $2.15 per bushel basket. In most quarters it is believed that export shipments will be somewhat below last season's high record. British and European markets, however, should furnish a good outlet for any available surplus. The Canadian apple crop is estimated considerably heavier than last year's production, and overseas fruit crops are expected to exceed the light record of 1926 but may still be below normal.

Economic conditions in Great Britain are much improved over last season. Increased purchasing power in continental Europe, particularly in Germany, makes that potential market an attractive one, though greater competition will be met this season by American apples. Trade reports indicate that Germany is in the market for such by-products as apple waste, as well as for the fresh fruit.

Exports directly to Germany more than doubled in 1926 and were equivalent to nearly 400,000 barrels, compared with 1,600 barrels in 1921. Germany's total imports of United States apples (both direct and indirect shipments) during the 1926-27 season, ended in June, were nearly 3,000,000 bushels, compared with 816,000 bushels during the 1925-26 season. Total exports of apples from the United States to all countries during the year 1926 reached 1,400 high equivalent of 5,000,000 barrels.

New Bulletin For Poultrymen Is Published

A third edition of the popular bulletin, "Housing Poultry," first published by the university extension service in 1921, has just been issued, and is again available for distribution upon request.

The bulletin, one of the most widely used publications of the extension service has published, appears in redesigned form, which has been entirely revised by the authors, R. T. Parkhurst, poultry husbandman for the experiment station; Frank Meyer, extension specialist; and Mr. R. Lewis, professor of agricultural engineering. The first revised edition was published in 1923.

Twenty-nine diagrams are included in the rewritten bulletin, which has 38 pages in all. The essentials of poultry housing are explained, the construction of houses and equipment is described in detail, and bills of materials for all the houses are given. Plans and descriptions are set down for the building of hand labor-saving equipment such as dropping boards, droppers, traps, traps and trap nests, feed hoppers, milk and water pans, catching coop and other similar conveniences.

The bulletin will be sent free upon request. It may be secured either at the college of agriculture at Moscow or at the offices of the extension division in Boise.

Experiment Stations Studies Tractors

The horse and the tractor have been subjects of investigations carried on at the University of Idaho experiment station this summer. Many inquiries are received at the experiment station regarding the relative economy of tractors and horses as motive power in combine harvesting. This fall the university department of agricultural engineering will be able to answer such questions with exact figures.

Elmer N. Humphreys of the department, has been carrying on studies during the season to determine the most effective and economical practices in combine harvesting under northern Idaho conditions, and he devoted a great deal of time to the problem of horse versus tractor. Preliminary results will be assembled and announced soon.

The department of agricultural engineering believes that some combination of horse and tractor power may be worked out which will effect greater year-round economy than either one by itself. The experiment will be continued next year.

GOOD BREEDING IN BUSINESS

A recent newspaper article comments upon the "agreeable politeness" of telephone operators, and wonders that the thousands of religious and social organizations in this country do not try to improve people's manners generally.

Probably the editor did not take into account that many religious and social organizations are in a position where they have their own axes to grind, and politeness is not one of them. Their position is secure; they feel safe even from adverse comment. And so, they do not bother to improve either their own or "the people's" manners.

The telephone company, being farsighted, sees the virtue of politeness in promoting good will and improving service. Their girls speak millions of times a day to their customers, and soothe them by modulated musical voices. Telephoning is a pleasure under the American system.

Contrast the telephone operator's voice with the brusque, unpolished utterance one must often endure after a telephone connection has been made. The comparison is odious and obvious.

The newspaper struck nothing new in its comment. But it again called attention to the general competence and good breeding of the present day efficient business corporations and their employees from office boy to president. The result is good service and valued public esteem.

ANNUAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Fire Prevention Week is to be held this year from October 9 to 15. Throughout the country various organizations will again attempt to train the public in effecting the greatest menace in the United States today. Our people will do well to learn, and profit by example.

The tragedy of fire is that it is almost entirely preventable. There are, of course, natural causes for conflagrations that cannot be helped, but these are a very small percentage of the total. The greatest damage is caused by carelessness and ignorance. Billions of dollars are wasted and destroyed each year by a few people's carelessness. It would not be so reprehensible if the loss were borne by them alone. But it must be shared, directly or indirectly, by every citizen and taxpayer.

It is the duty of every citizen to cooperate in the observation of Fire Prevention Week. And it should be his pleasure. Fire loss can be stopped. And in a single week, if everyone will observe and learn, a great deal can be accomplished in the way of reducing it.

SELLING JOB

"If Lincoln had a dozen books and Garfield learned to read while riding a 'low-path' mule, what can the child to-day do with present school equipment—if he really wants to?"

Publisher J. P. O'Furey of the Cedar County News, and member of the school board at Hartington, Neb., puts the above question in clinching his argument for greater vision in the handling of our educational system. He contends that we complain of high taxes but go gerrily about the job of building up propaganda which leaves the child with the impression that "school" is a monster destroying its liberties.

Current emphasis on the opening of school, which almost in every instance put the wrong emphasis on what school really means to the child, brought forth this most interesting comment from Mr. O'Furey.

"While we are complaining of high taxes I wonder how much useless expense is caused by impressing upon the minds of children that school is destroying their liberties?"

"And what does the mental opposition cost the country? How much more worry does it cause school authorities, while the kiddies are young, and to civic authorities as they grow older?"

Isn't it about time we all start "selling" the school idea to our children?

100 YEARS, THEN AND NOW

On a 1,000 acre tract near Baltimore, there will soon be shown the history of American railroading, from the beginning, with locomotives and cars from various epochs—all in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The Baltimore & Ohio, "first in the United States" to handle for the public passengers and freight," reminds you that this country is gradually becoming "respectably ancient." Two big stores in New York City, Hearns' and Arnold Constable's, have just reached the respectable age of one hundred. And the age is less important than the marvelous improvements of one hundred years.

The next step will be the flying machine, with rearrangement of man's living habits, rearing of population centers and land values. Buy the right hill and mountain tops within two hundred miles of big industrial centres now, and your grandchildren will bless you.

Tight fans were pleased to learn that there was to be no extra session of Congress. With the Vero-Smith seating debate coming up they were afraid Tex Rickard would learn that he was a piper on the price for seats no charged at Chicago.

Possibly that Western fruit grower who has installed a radio set in his orchard to keep the birds away smiles when "Bye, Bye Blackbird" comes in, but just what does he think of "When the Red, Red Robin Comes Bob, Bob, Bobbin' Along?"

Nothing can now be done in Mexico that isn't put to Mor-

KEEP The Home Fires Burning Buy at Home

When it comes to values, you can bet on your home town first, to give you more for your money, whether the article costs 60 cents or several hundred dollars. We do not ask you to buy because you are proud of your community. We ask you to buy on the basis of value alone, and claim and actually do give you more for your dollar, in Quality, in Service, and in Style.

It's human nature, of course, to think that the grass is always greener on the other side of the road, but 99 times out of a hundred it turns out to be an optical illusion. It's the same way with going outside of your town to buy. After all your time and effort you find you could have done better at home.

Nobody gives anything away. You get just what you pay for. Dividends are not declared because merchandise is given away. If you doubt our word, bring in your catalogues to this store. WHAT CHILDREN SHOULD KNOW

The great American game of baseball originated with the Knickerbocker club, organized in New York City in 1845. Abner Doubleday was the first person to prepare a diagram of the baseball diamond.

Umbrellas were first used in tropical countries to shield against the terrific sunshine. It was considered fashionable for a man to carry an umbrella in ancient Greece and Rome and they were used only by women. The first collapsible umbrella was made in England in the eighteenth century.

Umbrella styles have changed in recent years and beautifully grooved handles are made of golden amber pyralis, a new material that is as stout as steel, and which may be sawed off to any size and brought out in the short and long lengths that make umbrellas "fancy" to look at.

Woodrow Wilson was a master of English, and yet he remarked as he pushed an electric button that flooded the Panama Canal on October 10, 1913: "Well, that's all there is to it. Gamboon is bustled." Gamboon was the dice that held the waters back.

EVIDENTLY FROM BOSTON In a little town called Indio, in Imperial Valley, California, this sign was recently discovered by a visiting tourist, painted on the wall of a shoe-shining parlor:

Brilliantly Illuminated and Artistically Lubricated for the Infinitesimal Compensation of 15c per Operation.

FOX FILMS STRANGE MYSTERY DRAMA A SENSATION

It's coming—and with it one of the most amazing mystery stories ever to be filmed, "The Monkey Talks". This picture will be the feature attraction at the Orpheum theatre today which should thrill every young heart in the world.

Not only is the circus one of the big features of the production but the narrative by Ben Panchols is most interesting. As a stage play, "The Monkey Talks" enjoyed world-wide success having successful runs in London, Paris and New York.

When Fox Films bought the screen rights to the play the stipulation was included to engage the noted French stage star Jacques Lerner to interpret the role of Jacko, the talking monkey. Lerner is most famous for his remarkable impersonations of animals and enacted the monkey role for each auspicious stage presentation of the play.

JEROME

FAST AUTO TRIP

A quick trip from California to Jerome was made when E. B. White Jr., of Taft, his mother, Mrs. E. B. White, Sr., of Knights Landing and Alice Walker of Long Beach, California, made up a party for a visit to Jerome. Mr. White drove a Buick car and left Knights Landing at 7:29 Tuesday morning and arrived in Jerome Wednesday morning in time for an early breakfast with C. W. Gill and family, parents of Mrs. White, Jr., who has been visiting there here the past two months. The party came by Winnimucca and through Wells, Nevada, making the 600 miles in 23 hours.

A caravan of about 50 cars from Goding, boosting their rodeo passed through Jerome streets on their way to other towns and cities Wednesday with the business men of Goding, a band and several other ways of making a noise they attracted the attention of a goodly number of Jerome people. They were all dressed in rodeo cow-boy style.

Head editor of the Idaho Farmer, was in Jerome the first of the week writing up the Jerome county fair.

An extra large Grange meeting was held at the Pleasant Plains school house Friday night when Appleton Grange returned the visit. Pleasant Plains members made them last March. The members from Appleton were about 75 strong and carried the program for the lecture hour which consisted of songs and the fashions of 100 years given by eight girls dressed in the various styles of the present times. A short drama, was given by the young people of Appleton Grange. Besides the Appleton Grange six others were represented, namely, Capital Grange, Canyon Side Grange, Grange and Jerome Grange. The entertaining Grange bought 50 new trays and three new lamps. Refreshments were served of sandwiches, cake, ice cream and coffee.

How Much Does The Farmer Spend For His Clothes?

The old idea that farm families spend much less for clothing than their city cousins, has just been exploded by the Bureau of Home Economics at Washington. An intensive market study indicates that the clothing allowances are practically the same for both groups, except in cases of families having incomes well above the average. To be exact the average city family spends $238 a year on clothing, the farm family $225.

Good roads and the automobile have, of course, played a large part in bringing this about, as there is today, little difference in the diversions and social life of the two groups. Some of the credit, however, should be given to better merchandising methods.

We like to feel that the 885 stores of the J. C. Penney Company, scattered throughout 46 states, have played no small part in providing the farmer and his family with Big City comforts and style at a price that is even lower than he formerly paid for inferior merchandise. We feel a responsibility for every cent of that $225.

"THE HIGHEST BRIDGE IN THE WORLD"

New Bridge Across Canyon North of Twin Falls

Again as in days of old, uniting the north and south as a commonwealth, although on a much smaller scale than the treaty that bridged the gap between the north and south in 1865 this giant structure levels the walls of the mighty Snake river, comparable to the leveling of high prices through the combined buying power of the J. C. Penney Company's 885 Busy Stores. This super-structure also exemplifies the foundation that was laid by our founder Mr. Penney one-quarter of a century ago, succeeding in building a chain of 885 Department Stores scattered throughout 46 states and which is now the largest department store organization of its kind in the world. How fortunate we are to have dreamers, dreamers with enough vision, foresight and ambition to carry to completion the gigantic task of building this bridge. Likewise, how fortunate are the millions of satisfied customers who are made happy yearly by being afforded many luxuries they could not afford, were it not for the Vision, Foresight and Ambition of Mr. Penney in pioneering and building this great organization of 885 Busy Department Stores that are nationwide in their service to the public. Let us bridge the gap between your income and your outgo.
