TIME TO ALL PULL TOGETHER

It is a wonderful thing for neighbors or communities to face big problems and threaten them out with keen business insight and in a harmonious spirit.

The development, stability and prosperity of a community depends as much if not more upon team work than upon natural resources.

The birth pains of a newly settled country incident to sectional and factional rivalry are often very distressing. Fortunately for us the high intelligence and spirit of fair play existing in the Twinland Empire has come to the rescue in many a crisis in the past, and is our safe defense for the future.

A country cannot prosper when cut up into "east ends," "west ends" and a dozen other factional scuffling divisions.

Our problems and interests are mutual. It is in the interest of all to develop every possible acre of productive land possible to share the county tax burden.

Just now construction engineers seem to think it may be possible to pump water by electrical energy to irrigate about 40,000 acres of rich land in the Murtaugh district.

The opinion seems to also prevail that the power which could be generated at the low line drop is the logical solution. Every effort is being made to find the right answer to the question.

The stockholders of the canal company should bear one thing in mind in this connection, namely, that in addition to the financial benefits to be derived from leasing the power site, each stockholder will have a perpetual annual benefit incident to adding about 20 percent to the taxable land values of the county.

The fact appears to be that the future holds but scant promise of any profitable market for the use of the low line drop power except for irrigation pumping.

The Murtaugh district might find it much easier to secure another source of power than the canal company could find another buyer for its restricted power site.

IDAHO—STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN!

Who of us has not during the past year been stirred with profound gratitude because of our escape from floods, storms, disasters, and pestilence?

We would not insult divine providence by gloating over our good fortune while thousands of our fellow beings have been ravished with misfortune, poverty, starvation and death.

It would be gross blasphemy to complacently shrug our shoulders and accept our supreme blessings with the smirk of ingrates.

The scourge of infantile paralysis threatened our fair land with suffering and death but so far has been confined to comparatively small areas. God grant us immunity from its merciless ravages.

Protected by two great mountain ranges Idaho escapes the extremes of heat, cold and storms. Few spots on the American continent are so favorably situated.

The few whiners and complainers in our midst will always find some flimsy excuse for their waiting.

Isolation from markets has presented a real problem that could not be laughed off. But that very isolation has prodded us into action until we are rapidly becoming producers of highly specialized and profitable agricultural products.

We are becoming commercial agriculturists, manufacturing our bulky farm products into finished products such as butter, cheese, condensed milk, ensilage, powdered milk, eggs, sugar and meat. As time goes on we will increase our production of seed crops for which our soil, altitude and irrigation system are so ideal.

Our very isolation proved to be one of our greatest blessings. "Marketing Idaho alfalfa hay with a milk-stool" proved to be a more profitable industry than the "wise cracker" who coined it ever dreamed of. It re-created the financial stability of Idaho agriculture when we were going on the rocks.

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

A new year is born and an old year dies. It's time to hang up a new calendar, make good resolutions and be at peace with the world. But, after all, a new year begins every day, even though the calendar may disagree. Every day affords just as great an opportunity to make good resolutions and to keep them as does January 1. If the maker of good resolutions remembers this, it may be easier for him to keep them.

At any rate, we wish to those who pinions and keep them, to those who make and break them and to those who make all an exceedingly Happy New Year's Day filled with days each happier than the

—AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Resolved, that during 1928 we will develop more power.
Let us discuss that proposition briefly to determine whether we should adopt or reject it. What kind of power? Not water power. Let the electrical companies take care of that. They have the facilities. HUT, MAN POWER!

The thought comes from a valiant agricultural man power in the Twin Falls district which may be too idealistic in spots but carrying the same state of mind to the other side in the development of man power.

There seems to be a general concern over the amount of power that goes to Twin in our streams; but, we have it pointed out, there is no condition here that can be compared to Idaho's "gigantic reservoir of untapped man power." There is no complaint as to the amount of power that has been recorded Idaho achievements up to date, but we are woefully short on the quantity.

Outstanding among the varieties that should be harnessed is given agricultural man power. Instead of energy there the editor finds sleeping sickness. There is no well organized program of protection against this disease, but we are woefully short on the quantity. Outstanding among the varieties that should be harnessed is given agricultural man power. Instead of energy there the editor finds sleeping sickness. There is no well organized program of protection against this disease, but we are woefully short on the quantity.

We need not confine the subject to agriculture. Is there a deficiency in other lines? Do we not find general business lacking in this prerequisite, somewhat irrespective to the amount of public needs, weak of punch? And the individual, has not he, in too many cases, slipped back, lost his grip in a way, become indifferent, lazy, half dead?—and a lazy man is as worthless as a dead man and takes up more room. Why not look at ourselves squarely and determine whether we are hitting the ball?

The world war demonstrated what can be done with man power in time of strife and turmoil. In time of peace and tranquility why could it not be assembled and properly directed, become THE force of civilization, THE factor in making the present more prosperous and the future more secure?

While it is true that man power is a compound of time and patience, it is also true that time is fleeting and patience is soon exhausted. We have only a few years at best, and those we hope to interest—those other home seekers, those additional investors—may feel strongly the call of sections where man power has been developed to a greater degree and is manifesting itself in the prosecution of virile and worthy programs.

To what shall this power be applied, if developed? Any answer, perhaps, should first premise a warning against confusion of "power."

We have believed at times that we were tremendously and enduringly energized for meritorious objectives only to find we were mere storage batteries for canning promoters, operating mostly in agricultural sections, exhibiting the farmer to the support of non-essentials so far as his real problems were concerned and leaving him "run down" somewhat physically and deeply depressed.
