Live Wire Builds a Giant Business in a Lilliputian Territory

So-Called Miracle Merchant Has $300,000 Annual Turn-over in a Town of 1,300 Inhabitants

Written Specially for the Citizen By ROBERT FULLER Through Antagonist Service

COZAD, Neb.—They call Fred W. Anderson the "Miracle Merchant" in this town of Cozad, with 1,300 population. He has built up a business doing an annual volume of $300,000. Anderson, 35 years old, is an American guy about a week of mail a day, and about half of it is from merchants who ask this question, "Fred, it was 25 years ago, Mr. Anderson, you worked out as a hired man on Dawson county farms, sleeping in a shed, and you are now in the land of the living, and you are a millionaire. How did you do it?"

Anderson says he got the idea when he was a hired man on Dawson county farms, sleeping in a shed, and you are now in the land of the living, and you are a millionaire. How did you do it?"

Fred W. Anderson, who built the "Miracle" business in Cozad, Nebraska, built up a business doing an annual volume of $300,000.

Furnace Type Brooder House—Approved in Poultry Industry

The furnace-type brooder house is the latest development in poultry raising, and is approved in the poultry industry. It is a simple structure of very cheap construction, having no floor. On the high side is an opening about 18 feet high along the side of the building, and the space from center of the machine to the side is 14 feet wide, with a brooder house 18 feet long.

At the center of one end, outside the brooder house is the furnace, which consists of a hole in the side, having a cast iron pipe with cover and draft regulator. A flue, which may be made of every pipe or of brick, runs from this and horizontally the length of the brooder house and is carried up through the roof at the opposite end.

Howers made of one-inch boards covered with composition roofing, and supported with 1/2-inch joists, are placed over the warm part of the brooder house in the center of the side, and are carried up through the roof at the opposite end.

When he had $600 he went to Cozad, and found he could start a business on $100. He got a job in another man's store, and at 5 o'clock the store closed during the day, and remained open until 10 and 11 p. m. But he was learning the business. After a few years he bought a store for $2,000 at a local bank and in 1906 started a little store of his own. He has a department store with 27,000 square feet of floor space.

Here is a message from Mr. Anderson to other merchants:

"If I were to start business again today I would spend 95 per cent of my profits in advertising," says Mr. Anderson. "It pays."

"I have no sympathy with the man who sleeps between advertised blankets, on a bed of springs, that are nationally advertised, who sleeps in advertised pajamas, who puts on advertised underwear, shirts, hats and shoes, and when he gets an advertisement for cereal and food for breakfast, who rides to work in an advertised car, and who, when he gets a newspaper, refuses to advertise. He ought to go broke."

"I advertise some way every day. I cannot wait for the best weekly and semi-weekly papers alone. I keep something going every day. I use space in the papers every time."

"Advertising is a kind of long distance telephone with charges reduced."

"If I were not for the press, merchants would be fifty years behind the times."

Mr. Anderson uses full page advertisements in the local papers all the time. He has something to say. The public reads his advertising because they find the unusual there. They find much of the news of the town right in Mr. Anderson's advertising in the Church, social, church sales, ball games, football games, community moving picture shows and everything else is advertised in the full page space he takes. He believes in letting the people know their

Doubts Idea Embodied in Electric Plow

Recent attempts to interest farmers of northern Idaho in a "electric plow" have brought to general attention a new idea in cultivation of the soil. The idea is to kill weeds and insects and to loosen the soil by electricity. The machine is an ordinary plow with an electric generator two cross-arm aerials, and a suspended, device between the plow-chains which transmit the current into the earth. This device consists, essentially, of two plates, one charged negatively and the other positively, and that sparks will jump the gap between. In its ordinary form the plow must be drawn by a team, but the literature points out that horses may be substituted if a self-contained power unit is added to the equipment.

According to promotion literature for the electric plow the voltage frequency may be increased from 110 to 100,000 volts. It is claimed to be sufficient to destroy weeds, insect eggs, and insect eggs resident in the soil.

University specialists in agronomy, soils, and electrical engineering are uniformly skeptical about the value of the "electric plow," although several expressed interest in seeing them thoroughly tested. Doubts that it would be effective in killing weed seeds, and uniformly voiced by engineers. It was pointed out that sparks discharged into the soil would be only in occasional spots and that such treatment would not be as complete as the electric plow.

Another objection is that electricity will kill weeds and insects but will also destroy the beneficial bacteria in the soil.

A more obvious disadvantage is the requirement laid down by the inventor that the plow must be drawn only east and west, never north and south.

Yield increases which is said to result from this electric culture may be due, one specialist pointed out, to exposure of the soil to the air and to the method of tillage rather than to the use of electricity. The ground is plowed in ridges and then is gone over the other side to "beat the ridges" and pulverize the soil. This double tillage may be the beneficial factor.

Investigations of electric culture in general are now being carried on by the General Electric company, the Bruce-Thomas Institute and two members of the New York Agricultural experiment station, but no definite recommendations of the new system have as yet been forthcoming.

Pertinent Farm Facts for Twinland Empire Breeders

A recent report shows that the cattle population of Idaho has increased from 7,118,000 head in 1927 to 8,470,000 head in 1928. The value per head has increased from $22.80 in 1926 to $40.00 in 1927. This looks like a promising case of whether any section should raise the most cattle or make the most money raising cattle. However, conservative opinion is that the keynote in cattle production that in years gone by and it is unlikely that production will be allowed to continue to increase where it is well gauged to meet the chronic demands. Then, too, the practice being followed by the industry and gap which might have been along better economic toward a continued tendency toward better breeding, early maturity and the use of supplemental feeds, and the range production in the stockhous.

Sheep and lamb consumption last year was only 6.4 pounds per capita. Activities are being carried on in many quarters to increase the consumption and it is likely that the 1928 figures will show a substantial increase, and this is as it should be, as the industry is now producing a richly desirable food stuff and it is only a matter of education to the use of supplemental feeds, and a better appreciation of this fact.

A Middle Western editor commenting on the horsethieving and advising producers to stock in the face of the present heavy receipts and lowering price level, says that in connection with hog production, the best thing for the producer to do is to watch the crowd and then go in the opposite direction from the present heavy marketing are plentiful, there would be little doubt of a stranger market with curtailed supplies during the next fall and winter.

powerful truck, and made the trip careful and respected citizen on the track all the way from Idaho. Field through the tunnel to Times Square.

IDES OF MARCH

Spring will make its official entrance next week and all will welcome it. Prospects for this season in this section look particularly bright this year. There will be plenty of water for the lands under the American Falls dam, and reports from the Salmon tract are most encouraging. Rains the past week have aided in putting the ground in splendid condition for planting; there is much activity already on the farms and there promises to be big acreages of beans, wheat, potatoes and other typical Idaho crops. Welcome Spring.

DOWN WITH TAXES

The board of county commissioners have a real job on their hands in puring down the 1928 budget, but they will have the sympathetic cooperation of taxpayers generally. Sentiment is rampant for reduction of taxes. The unofficial committees that have been working on budget recommendations have the thanks of the county generally for their hours of sincere and conscientious effort. Down with taxes, say we!

GRAND SPRING, OPENING

Twin Falls stores and shops will be at their gayest this week in connection with the grand spring opening. All the world is invited to come and participate in the event. Merchandise stocks are large and assorted; the inducements are many. The event is planned for you and for your pleasure!

"DOES NOT CHOOSE" TO SPEAK

The scandal being exposed at Washington is becoming more shocking as each day dawns. But not a word comes from the White House or the administration. Just imagine what would be taking place right now if such a person as Theodore Roosevelt occupied the presidential chair! In place of silence there would be vigorous exhortation. As head of the government President Coolidge owes it to the American people to clear the atmosphere. A statement of his attitude is long overdue. Silence will soon cease to be a virtue.

FAME IN ONE YEAR

Last year, during this same month the United States government lost an air mail pilot by the name of Charles A. Lindbergh. Very few people in the country knew he was in existence. Today the world knows him by name and he is acclaimed as the murvet of the new-born flying age.

Rarely, if ever, has a man so completely captivated so large a portion of the public's attention and esteem. In almost every nation the name of Lindbergh is known. Since his resignation from the air service he has carried his blame into certain independent countries, three colonies of Great Britain, the West Indian Islands, forty-eight American states, the District of Columbia, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands and Porto Rico.

His last long flight from Havana to St. Louis marked the end of his tour of Central and South American states, in which he flew more than 8,000 miles. Altogether the Spirit of St. Louis has taken more than 467 flights, covering more than 40,000 miles and the original motor has never been replaced and has not yet received a major overhauling. No wonder Colonel Lindbergh is able to say: "With proper care and maintenance the modern plane and engine should have a minimum life of 150,000 miles."

Automobile owners who are inclined to doubt the everyday use of the plane will realize what this will mean, when planes drop in price, which they will do as soon as quantity production is reached. According to Colonel Lindbergh neither his plane nor his motor have had over 5 per cent of replacement and are yet in excellent condition, "capable of continuing in service for a much longer time than they have now been in use."

Maybe Russia will find it easier to get recognition for her government if so many of her leaders didn't wear beads.

One of these days people will stop talking about the Friends:--

We really do appreciate the support you have given us during the past two and one half years. You surely have been loyal in supporting our institution and we assure you that if you stay with us we will stay with you. Our policy from the start has been, "ONE price to every farmer." Our motto is, "We are satisfied when you are." We would rather lose a sale than a customer over differences in prices to our customers. The reason we trade is not because we love to load and unload used machinery, horses, hogs and cattle, but, we believe it is a real service to our farmers and good business for us. During the past winter we have sold in the neighborhood of one hundred head of horses, all prices, $10 to $175.00, ages from 2 to 16 years. Nevertheless, we sold them under this guarantee: That if the horses were not as were represented we would gladly refund your money. Only two horses were returned. Every day our business is getting better. New faces appear at our store most every day.

HAZELTON

March 9 - The regular meeting of the Hazelton Civic club was held at the lovely country home of Mrs. Donald Adams on Monday, March 6. A good representation of membership was present, and three guests. At the close of the business session an excellent program was given. Mrs. W. T. Coplin and Mrs. Norman Wallace presented several chapters in the Paris convention later. Mrs. Wallace gave a most delightful review of her trip, which was very instructive and healthily enjoyed. Mrs. E. E. Gundelfinger and Clifford Holten were assisting hostesses.

A deal was closed the past week whereby the stock of the H. Evers Hardware store, became the property of Mrs. W. T. Coplin. The involving has been completed and the new owners are now in possession, but Mr. Evers will remain with them about a month.

The Ladies Aid society met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. T. Coplin, with Mrs. W. T. Coplin assisting. Owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. E. E. Gundelfinger, Mrs. Gundelfinger presided as chairman. About 17 members were present. Miss Virginia McMillan has opened a new factory in C. D. Taylor's barber shop.

Friday evening the local Red Cross entertained a large number of friends at the Hazelton hotel. The L. D. S. hall. A large crowd of their friends attended and enjoyed a very enjoyable evening.

Mrs. George Willis was a guest at the Hazelton hotel on Friday, returning by way of Allison from the Hazelton school. Miss Cora Willis, a student at the normal school, who came for the week-end to see her mother and Mr. J. C. Weiland of the Greenwood section left Tuesday afternoon for Back Island, Ill., where they will make their home. They were among the first settlers of the First Settlement and their friends who wish them success and happiness. Mr. Weiland was presented with a handsome post master's pin by the members of Frontier Grange before his departure.

Miss Lorilla Brooks left Wednesday for Lewiston where she entered the normal school for the remainder of the term.

Higher Prices

(Continued from Page One) number of cars that have been available, the price advanced to $1,750 to $1,800, leading to the largest stock of about 80 per cent. No. 11.

With the sharp price advance, the shipments out of Idaho again went up to 200 per day mark, jumping from the low figure of 80 cars on Monday to 200 on Friday. The average loadings of the week of 100 cars per day, were slightly less than during preceding week, but still well up to upward a thousand cars, and brought the shipments to date up to 16,600 cars on March 12th. This is nearly 4,000 cars ahead of the shipments to this date last year, and 6,000 ahead of the movement of two years ago, when the final total amounted to 10,200 cars. Thus the shipments to date have already exceeded the highest total of any previous season.

During the past week the total United States potato shipments averaged slightly over 1,000 cars per day, of which Idaho landed nearly one sixth. According to the trade reports, it is now generally considered that there is a surplus of potatoes in the eastern and central western producing states, while the surplus of Idaho plus stocks that may be remaining in the West. As a result there has lately been considerable demand for stock to be placed in storage, which has helped to absorb the heavy shipments at advanced prices. The market for potatoes is drawing more heavily on the western supplies, and prices at western shipping points are getting higher by reason of the high prices paid in other producing sections. On the Chicago market, local Idaho Russets have advanced from 23c range of $2.00-2.50 on Monday a week ago to $2.70-3.00 on Monday morning of the present week. At this time, the round, white were bringing $2.20-2.40, giving the Russets a premium of 50-50c over the northern stock.

The total shipments out of Idaho last week were almost exactly equal to the total potato carload arrivals in the Chicago market. And of these Chicago arrivals, nearly one-half, or 200 cars, were from Idaho. The remainder of the Idaho shipments continue to receive their usual, wide distribution throughout the entire country. The Southern California markets continued rather inactive during much of last week, but by Monday the present week, Los Angeles quotations on Idaho Russets had advanced to $2.00-2.75, as compared with $2.00-2.10 a week earlier, and the shipments to the west were increasing.

A PROMISE FULFILLED

When we purchased the Barber Shoe Co. stock in November we made a promise to the people of this community that we would give Twin Falls a first-class Shoe Store, equal to any in the State.

Today that promise has been fulfilled. Our new store is now ready for inspection and we would be more than pleased to have you all with us this Thursday evening during the Spring Style Review when the store will remain open between the hours of Seven-thirty and Nine-thirty o'clock for the purpose of displaying goods and getting better acquainted only. No selling whatever will be done that evening.

A new feature to our store is the first-class hosiery department installed by Miss Elizabeth Burns, who is well known to the people of Twin Falls. Cadet Hosiery for Ladies and Children featured. Iron-Clad Hosiery for Men and Boys. Prices always attractive.

Another new Department which deserves attention, and one which we know will be highly appreciated by many is our Thrift Department. "Bargains for All" — located at the rear of the store proper. Here you will find shoes for the whole family at mighty low prices, placed out on neat tables with size and price marked plainly on the sale tag. This Department is meant for a Self-Service section where you can feel free to look around and under no obligations whatever to buy.

We aim to give the best shoe service possible to all. Men of ability with a thorough knowledge of fitting shoes correctly will be here to help you and feel confident that you will receive courteous treatment at all times.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

10 Ninth Avenue East

"Matter" is the subject of the lesson sermon in all churches of Christ Scientists Sunday, March 18. Golden text: Luke 10:13. No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible. Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. James 1:17.

The lesson sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. "I must learn perfect models in thought and look at them continually, or we shall never carve them out to grand and noble lives, of purity, justice, goodness, mercy, justice, health, holiness, love—the kingdom of heaven—reign within us, and sin, disease, and death will diminish and finally disappear. Page 281."

Sunday services are held at 11 a. m.

Sunday school for girls under 10 years of age is at 10 a. m. The Wednesday evening meeting at 7:30 is for the Christian Science healing class, given at 8 o'clock.

A reading room at 1214 1/2 Main street north is open daily from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. All are welcome to attend our services and to visit the reading room.
