COST OF STEPPING ON THE GAS

The Electrical publishes an interesting table showing the cost of using an automobile to get over the hilly country and demonstrates that actual cost averages ten and a quarter cents a mile. The figures are somewhat of a revelation to some of us who figure we can go to Portland and back for about six dollars. According to this magazine, the experts of Iowa state college have an answer. These gentlemen took eleven cars that range in price from $100 to $1800. They studied and observed their operation and they checked carefully the cost of every item that went to make up a total expense. After which they struck an average and found out that it cost:

- 1.61 cents a mile for gasoline.
- 31 cents a mile for oil.
- 28 cents a mile for tires.
- 1.24 cents a mile for service.
- 3.16 cents a mile for depreciation.
- 1.23 cents a mile for interest.
- 21 cents a mile for insurance.
- 21 cents a mile for license fees.
- 38 cents a mile for garage costs.

This gives a total cost of 10.27 cents per mile, and varies, of course, with the kind of car used, the figures being an average of all cars.

THE INDEPENDENT FARMER

Back in the old days, before the advent of Jazz, the boys could be heard whooping it up with a lilting lyric, entitled "The Independent Farmer" and glorifying the same. Today, as yesterday, the isolation of the farmer while at his labor and the isolation of the farmer in his life at home make him an independent individual; but, he differs from other laborers in his seclusion. Other crafts and trades are in many instances bound together in cooperative organizations. Other craftsmen and tradesmen express dissatisfaction by striking, or threatening to strike.

Has anyone ever heard of a farmer's strike?
 Walter W. Head writes in the Review of Reviews: "If all the farmers of the United States were members of one great union, if that union were directed and controlled by one man, if, in 1928, that individual should order a general strike of all farmers in the United States, then every man, woman and child in America would find that the 'agricultural problem' was not merely a problem; but that it had become THE problem of every American."
 Mr. Head points out that the farmer, as a class, differs with other industrial classes in that he cannot control either the amount or the quality of the product to be offered for sale at a single time.

Mr. Head suggests supervision by the government of the machinery of marketing, and capital advances or a capital loan by government, as in the Federal Land Banks, to protect the farmer by private resources, from the effect of price fluctuations.
 The farm bloc in Congress goes further—it will not be satisfied with less than some scheme of price-fixing which will do for the farmer what the tariff does for the manufacturer at the cost of the consumer.
 Mr. Head also says in his article that we must somehow reduce the disastrous effects of the major uncertainties peculiarly inherent in agriculture.

That's a very good idea!
 Everybody knows why it's called cold oil.
 For some people the week-end seems to have seven days.
 And now it seems the "statute of limitations" is to substitute for a plea of insanity.

There are some writers that even a press agent can't write into fame and fortune.

Business hasn't been pressing in New York for a week or so, all the tailors and dry-cleaners being on a strike.
 The cost of living may be coming down but there are several places in the mountains that it hasn't reached yet.

It appears that some women get married only as a preliminary to acquiring the fascination which is supposed to attach to a "dashing young widow."
 When opera singers throw things around it is attributed to the Artistic Temperament. We may be thankful that bricklayers seldom get that way.

A man is quoted in the newspapers as saying that American-born operators give him a pain, and some of them could probably start a hospital if such franchises were universal.

WE SEE BY THE PAPERS

By J. H. S.

Newspapers soon come to personality the men at their helm. A notable instance is revealed by the Idaho Daily and Sunday Statesman, since Milo M. Thompson fell for greener pastures. One notices the splendid poetry of man and his long-winded editorials, but the brief ones by the new man are very satisfying and the new line being expounded into the "Mirror of Idaho" via of a world of human interest, stories are doubtfully being read with interest.

The South Central Idaho district made last year's reorganization—and that is an editorial association, made up of newspaper men of this particular area.

Twin Falls Newspapermen welcomes the newest member of the fraternity, J. H. S.—Brown, new advertising manager of the Daily Times.

Needless to say, that very popular feature of the Idaho Citizen, Amy Heather, died with the department. A substitute may be created; but it never can be successfully imitated.

THIS REALLY HAPPENED

A lawyer was addressing the Justice of the peace court for his client whose cow was killed by the train. He said, in part, "Your honor, if the train had been running on the right side of the tracks, if the bell had been rung as it should have been rung, or if the whistle had been blown as it should have been blown, both of which it had neither, the cow would not have been injured when she was killed."

The Arco Advertiser, published by C. A. Bottolphen at the county seat of Butte county in this state, was the only paper coming to our notice that appeared on green ink during the week of St. Patrick's day. "Boo" comes in many ways from being an Irishman, as is indicated by his moniker, but he is not the only one who is booed. All the July by the Emerald Inter-lenders.

We see where Charles Lindbergh has been breaking some speed records. One never knows from whose greatness will spring back in 1917 the writer used to see this pimply young man practicing the sprouts under the direction of Coach Dean Cromwell at old U. S. C. never dreamed there was then being developed the "fastest human in the world."

Aside from giving us the long-looked-for solution of the Greenback issue the current issue of Scribner's has hidden in it the following extract from a letter submitted by a reader, named a recent article by Strutters Burt on "The Dry West." He says: "Every point he brings out is substantiated by the facts, and I'm glad someone has the courage to present them fearlessly. He is perfectly right when he classifies Idaho as dry. In writing, I get the combination of conscientiousness by dry and bootlegger vote will assure victory for the Volstead act every time it comes before the legislature. The spectacle of a bunch of solemn sipping in solemn reverence and wishing they had wet towels around their heads, after the enjoyable party of the night before, and voting unanimously to tighten up on the prohibition net, is one to cause mirth to the scornful, and to make the judicious mourner. Of course, being a plebeian dry state, it is impossible to get drunk in Idaho, if you're deaf, dumb, blind, friendless and a drunk."

Well, it is mighty pleasing to know that Camel cigarettes are still maintaining their lead as the best seller in the popular priced field.

Sales of pills as revealed recently are in this order: Camel leads with Chesterfield taking second place nationally. Lucky Strike is third and Old Gold has risen to fourth place.

Incidentally, the manufacturers of these cigarettes have appropriated fifty-six million dollars for newspaper, magazine, outdoor and radio advertising during 1928. We are witnessing a cigarette war!

This department solicits contributions of verse. Many of our readers have proved, though, though that should be published. Now that spring is here, there is a certain to be an outpouring of song. Just send in your rhymes.

POWER COMPLICATIONS

(Minidoka County News)
 After being cuffed around from pillow to post and made the political football for many, only to be up serenely each time through the efforts of interested individuals, the North Side Minidoka project extension, it would seem, is about to receive a death blow.

With the American Falls reclamation built for the purpose of reclaiming the land, with all condemnation proceedings records of the government used, in forcing owners to evacuate their property in American Falls needed for the big reclamation, that the extension was necessary for the reclamation of this vast body of land, we now find the project very likely to be abandoned by the government.

During the past week, according to press reports, the Idaho Power company has thrown a bomb into the machinery, by claiming the government has no legal right to construct a power plant at American Falls, although it will be remembered, the government owned the land, although the company a matter of one million dollars in cash for the site and an obsolete little delapidated power plant owned there by the power company.

It will also be remembered that shortly after the contract was entered into by the government it was pointed out that the power company had the best of the deal and "there was something rotten in Denmark." Speakers at that time took occasion to criticize the contract and although nothing came of it at that time, it would appear now there was some reason for the criticism. The Minidoka Project extension has not the most varied experience.

Demanded, "without question, the most feasible body of land to reclaim the government owned."

Brought to a show-down the Idaho Power company has stepped in with the intention of showing that the government bought a lemon for the million dollars and have not the necessary power rights, and will probably prove their contention.

Perhaps there will be nothing to come from the bad odor that is arising from the whole transaction.

ORDERLY MARKETING

(Nampa-Jordan-Herald)
 During the past few years we have heard much about the advantage of orderly marketing of farm products. The term means just what it says and if it could become universal among all the farmers would mean hundreds of millions of dollars in their pockets. Under orderly marketing there would be no crowding of the markets. Cold storage plants, warehouses and elevators would be erected in sufficient numbers to hold the surplus products and they would be fed to the markets as needed. The past year furnished a most vivid picture of the harm of disorderly marketing, that is, every man marketing his products when it was convenient for him without any reference to what others were doing and the result were disastrous as of course they would be. It will be recalled that last fall nearly all farm products started in at very fair prices, but the markets became glutted with a surplus and thereafter followed the inevitable result.

Take for example onions and potatoes. The season started with good remunerative prices around $1.00 to $1.10 per 100 pounds, more than the country could absorb and the prices went down and down until the market was left to the grower and of course shipments fell off greatly. Then buyers began to bid up for the stuff they had to have and prices advanced until now good onions are very high, potatoes are higher than they were at any time. Wheat advanced more than ten cents a bushel from the low point, corn and other grains in proportion.

With orderly marketing, no more of any products shipped than would meet with strong demand, and there would have been no slump from a fair price. Another term has developed along with "orderly marketing" and that is "stabilizing prices" meaning that there would be no great price there would be about the same of, during such day throughout the buying period. This does not mean that there might not be great price changes once in a while, through abnormal conditions such as unusually big crops or unusual shortage, which would occur once in a while but that would be the exception. As a rule the average yield of all products for the whole country does not vary greatly from year to year and it only remains for proper marketing to insure the farmer far returns changing throughout the year as for anything he grows.

FOREIGN DAIRY CONDITIONS
 World market for dairy products this year are all influenced indirectly or directly by the tariff action from the food of dairy products in the northern hemisphere to the new season in the south. Ordinarily, the United States market can be affected by foreign markets on an amount of the 12-cent tariff on butter. However, when our price is excessive in the United States, the butter is often imported, forcing domestic price down.

There has been a war of prices in production in the northern hemisphere. Full conditions have been a long distance away, and the U. S. has had a somewhat declining effect on our home market. The price of our butter has been affected by the foreign market. The price of our butter has been affected by the foreign market. The price of our butter has been affected by the foreign market.

"Gaucho" This Week At Idaho Theatre

The "Gaucho" starring Douglas Fairbanks, which is now playing at the Idaho Theatre, is being a comedy picture of a great contract, in which Douglas has all his action, along with some very fine acting. The picture will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday. This day, "The Boy in the Woods" will be shown on Friday and Saturday, a picture will be presented which is of real interest to our patrons. The picture is "The Boy in the Woods", an historical picture, starring General Tim McCoy, U. S. Cavalry. The picture, "The Boy in the Woods", is a picture which was directed by Fred Niblo, who has directed many other comedies will also be shown.

New Durant Star Cars Due Soon

The new Durant Star cars will be here this week according to word received from the factory. Mr. Remond of the Remond Auto Company has recently returned from a recent trip to the Durant plant in the larger cities, and has taken the entire factory note.

Many improvements have been made, and additional models have been added to the former line. Much attention has been given to the car radiator in all parts. Beauty of lines is another factor, and the car is becoming popular with motor buyers, says the Remond Auto company, which is planning quite a show for the coming season.

Public Likes New Chandler

The new model Chandler cars are proving very popular in Twin Falls, according to word received from the distributor. The new line is beautiful appointment, strikes the eye, and is very popular with the public.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

Every coil has its silver lining, says the Emmet Index, and the recent motor car has produced a couple of good stories. One concerns a man who was driving a Roll-Boyer at 70 miles per hour along a beautiful stretch of country, when suddenly one of the new models of a popular make ran gathering up behind him, and miraculously altered its form. The Roll-Boyer laid her back, straightened up on the road, and through the open air, she had a new direction, but still the little machine kept on holding along her part side. Presently the Roll-Boyer pulled out and yellow, and then "I've been tryin' to do with 'til little thing," "Listen," narrowed the driver of the small car, "I don't understand these things, and I can't seem to be able to get her out of intermeddle into high." Another story, recently started by the opposition, concerns the same make of small car, whose driver pulled up beside the game pony and said, "I've been tryin' to get her up!" The station attendant lent over the pump, and in 10 minutes ground the front of the car. Finally he said, "Guess you had to turn off the ignition, 'cause I don't seem to be able to get her filled up with that gas running." So take your choice.

MESSAGES FROM THE ORDER OF HUSBANDRY

PLAN OF FARM RELIEF
 Advocated by the Grange at Washington is winning Strong Support

The Grange has been bright on the map at Washington the past two months because of its vigorous advocacy of the Export Reduction Plan of Farm Relief, and the thorough presentation of its case by competent Grange officials. Members of Congress have listened patiently to the Grange plan embracing the issuance of Reclamation certificates on exports of farm products, and it is the belief of many who have given the plan serious study that this is the most desirable plan of farm relief that has been put forward since 1919.

RESEARCH WORK IN AGRICULTURE
 It is largely through Grange influence that greatly increased government appropriations are likely to be made the coming year for agricultural research work, as the latest report from Washington indicates that at least $1,750,000 will be added to the usual Federal appropriation for this purpose. For some time the National Grange has been urging that more government research be done, especially in the direction of finding the industrial uses for agricultural products as a move towards relieving the congestion due to farm surplus.

Vaudiville at Orpheim - Also "The Auctioneer"

There will be a big vaudeville show at the Orpheim theatre, and tomorrow will free live acts of comedy, music, dancing and novelty, and feature pictures, "The Mortgage" and "The Auctioneer". One of the best casts assembled for a motion picture in several seasons appears in "The Auctioneer". The film is based on the noted Warfield-Bellevue stage play. Marion Nixon plays the leading feminine role, which is bound to gain new admirers for this popular and beautiful young actress. George Sidney, noted stage and screen actor, gives a stirring performance in the title part. Genevieve Hughes, who seems to have the faculty of always retaining his popularity, plays opposite Mrs. Nixon. Ward Crane, one of the best "heavy" in the films, is the "mortgage" man. The other principal actors, who has triumphed in other Fox films, gives a human portrayal of the auctioneer's wife, among others, of "What Price Glory" fame, has a grand part. Don Lane has retired as locomotive engineer on the Lackawanna at the age of 70, after 57 years with the road, during 48 of which he served as an engineer.
