State Chamber of Commerce Publishes Booklet Reveals Idaho's Position as Leader in National Honors

Interesting statistics showing Idaho's prominence in the agricultural and industrial life of the nation were released recently in a booklet entitled "Idaho," published by the chamber of commerce at Boise.

In the agricultural field, Idaho ranks above all other states in the United States in the yield per acre of sugar beets, of clover seed, seed peas, beans, all varieties of alfalfa, and of alfalfa hay.

The type of potato grown in Idaho is conceded to be the finest in the country. Idaho now leads the nation in the production of Idaho's famous spuds.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO GEM STATE DAIRY INDUSTRY

Robert E. Jones, Only and Editor and Manager of the Slope Dairy Show last Saturday

"Idaho is taking wonderful advantage of its dairying opportunities," stated Robert E. Jones, manager of the Pacific Slope Dairy Show at Oakland, California, and editor of the Pacific Dairy Review of San Francisco when he visited the "Gem State" Saturday.

He added that the quality of the butter from this state far exceeded that shipped into California from any other state and paid tribute to the dairymen of Idaho for their progressive and forward-looking program.

"To learn of the progress being made in tuberculosis eradication work and to know that of the 31 counties here, 19 of them are now tuberculosis free. This record, I believe is exceeded in the United States only by New Carolina."

Mr. Jones pointed out that California was Idaho's chief purchaser of dairy products and will pay a premium on tuberculosis-free dairy products, Idaho will be able to sell on the world's market.

On the Fourth the Indians staged a celebrating three miles north-west of Gilson in the Blackfoot bottoms. One of the features was a war dance, the participants appearing in full war paint and feathers.

"I have much to improve," said the speaker, "but I have a lot to learn from the progress being made in tuberculosis eradication work and to know that of the 31 counties here, 19 of them are now tuberculosis free."

IDAHO CROPS TO PRODUCE MORE THAN AVERAGE

Jacobson Report: Issued Thursday Gives Resume of Conditions July 1—Idaho Increase is 15 Per Cent

A slight increase in crop averages this year is indicated in reports received from farmers in all parts of Idaho. Present indications are that the harvest average of the principal crops will be about 1.5 per cent greater than the average harvested in 1927, summary issued Thursday by Julius Jacobson shows.

In round figures, the increases are: Spring wheat, 5 per cent; barley, 3 per cent; potatoes, 2 per cent; hay, 15 per cent; dry peas, 3 per cent, and all time hay, 2 per cent. The decrease are: Corn, 2 per cent; winter wheat, 3 per cent, and oats, 4 per cent.

There were 5,000 acres of corn planted in Idaho compared with 70,000 acres harvested in 1927. The Twin Falls North and South side projects show an increase of some 3000 acres, and northwest and northern counties also show material decrease.

The area of winter wheat sown this year is 150,000 acres or 3 per cent less than was harvested in 1927. This is due mainly to extremely wet weather in the northwestern counties.

Prohibition and General Motors

By JAMES H. WHELAN

The two outstanding events of the past week have been the election of John J. Bush, of Idaho, general manager of General Motors as Democratic national chairman and the nomination of a strong ticket by the National Prohibition party.

Incidentally with its last week the National Prohibition party which has upheld the ban on the manufacture of the liquor traffic since its organization in 1872, refused to endorse Herbert Hoover for president and decided to conduct its own campaign under the leadership of William F. Varney, of New York in favor of following the course of a candidate nominated by the Greenback Association.

William F. Varney, who is a native of New York, is not pledged to any party. He is a member of the National Prohibition party. He is a member of the National Prohibition party. He is a member of the National Prohibition party.

WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE
 Dr. Long is visiting Southley Downs, to which he is conducted by Ahmad Das, an Oriental. There he meets Mrs. Southley, who is a sister of the late Southley Downs and his son, and his wife Josephine Southley, who he had met in the train. Josephine tells him the story of Southley Downs and his ghost, which is not the ghost of a human being but of a dog.

Dr. Long has a quarrel with Mrs. Southley over Josephine, and finds that the Southleys have a secret. He is ordered to leave Southley Downs. The rain prevents his leaving at once. Dr. Long and Ernest go out on the road in the rain looking for the tracks of a tiger that Ernest says are over.

They find the tracks. Later Ernest asks Dr. Long for a private interview. Dr. Long goes to the house and finds that the Southleys are there. He is ordered to leave Southley Downs. DINING THE CLASS OF '28

WHEN the class of '28 met for one of its last meetings, when around the table the stream of old class days ran away and Alma Mater resounds—happy smiles to the houses who are the heart of the class, the departing class, perhaps her daughter. If it is one of the thrills that comes to a few times in a life and worthy of all the effort that has been put into the preparation for it.

But days of labor in preparation are not necessary if the hostess plan for decoration and menu cleverly laid back good quantity refreshments. The first thing to keep in mind is the beloved school of class colors. Lanes, reds and blue decorations may combine to carry out these colors. A Vassar luncheon table for instance, was decorated with pale yellow damask cloth, garlanded by the Vassar daisy chain, a white bowl and plates in the center, flanked by green candles and mizuna smaller bowls of daisies.

The luncheon class which had chosen plain blue as its class color, decorated with blue and white luncheon table with cloth of pale blue and pink. Venetian glass and silver-plated silver and glass sweetmeats (lined the center) and the first course was a pink.

Calaf Colation
 The following luncheon features just after nightfall. You were like the inspector with you if you like Southley and his daughter and his wife. The hour to strike is almost here.

And what? What about him?
 And Ahmad? He checked, coldly. "Ahmad! the suspected murderer. I'm afraid Vilas was told."

But Josephine Southley would think she was a fool for making such a mistake. You must know—that they are allies. You could not have missed that point.
 "Allies?" he checked, coldly. "What do you mean?"

"She's going to marry him," he explained. "It was quite naturally against my thinking that her lover might be accused of the murder of his father, she told me she was a fool for making such a mistake and not to hold to him here."

He turned and started up the stairs.

"Sometimes," Dr. Long, he told me slowly, "your mental grasp is quite astonishing—for its perfect accuracy." He looked at me with a smile. "I'm afraid you're a fool of yourself."

And he left me to ponder in the hall below.

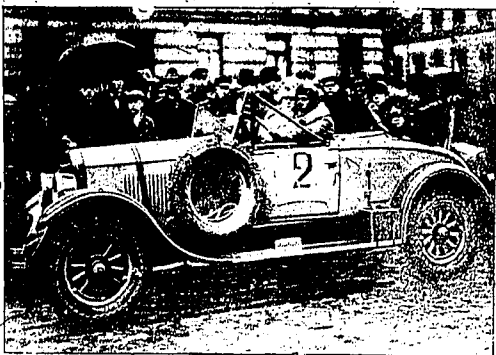

Inspector Wilas—who had learned the truth at last—had walked down to the shore and found the body. The next morning, the rowboat was found, and was armed with heavy rifle. It was plain to see that Freeman had been completely in the whole proceedings.

"You're a funny one, and at the same time a very good one," he spoke jokingly. "I don't know how many times you've been in the whole proceedings."

THE WHITE BEAN INDUSTRY

(This is the second of a series of seven articles released through the Pacific Slope News Agency dealing with the economic development of Idaho over the next few years.)

It is 11 years since the first Great Northern white beans were planted in southern Idaho in the vicinity of Piler.

In 1919, according to figures supplied by C. E. Munson, veteran bean grower, figures based on government reports, 11 cars of these beans were shipped from Twin Falls, Gooding and Blaindoka counties, which produce practically all the Idaho crop. For 1920, according to the same authority, the shipments amounted to 100 cars; for 1921, 200 cars; for 1922, 350 cars; for 1923, 600 cars; for 1924, 800 cars; for 1925, 1300 cars; for 1926 (a poor growing season), 850 cars and for 1927, 1500 cars.

The 1928 crop paid the grower three and one-half million dollars; the 1927 crop, it is estimated, paid them substantially more.

Mr. Munson said recently: "The Idaho bean has become very popular in many large cities in the Mississippi valley as well as in the southern and southwestern states. Also it has proved a profitable crop to the grower."

The Idaho bean industry, like other Idaho industries, has been able to compete in many distant markets. Idaho beans in 1927 went into 32 states of the union.

Figures as to the quantities shipped into each state are not available, but those for southern Idaho beans and peas together are worth noting.

In 1927 Alabama got 266 tons of these two commodities, Arkansas 110 tons, California 490 tons, Colorado 13, 383 tons, Connecticut 39 tons, Florida 143 tons, Georgia 318 tons, Illinois 4005 tons, Indiana 1005 tons, Kansas 1471 tons, Kentucky 2401 tons, Louisiana 1484 tons, Maine 36 tons, Maryland 272 tons, Massachusetts 101 tons, Michigan 1581 tons, Missouri 3820 tons, New Jersey 78 tons, New York 1645 tons, North Carolina 421 tons, Ohio, 357 tons, Oklahoma 1671 tons, Tennessee 3396 tons, Virginia 631 tons, Wisconsin 6176 tons—and so on.

The total shipment of these two commodities from southern Idaho in 1927 was 72,028 tons in 1927 as against 60, 708 tons in 1924.

It is freely predicted by agricultural experts that the bean and pea industry has just gotten a good start in Idaho.

ARE STUMP-SPEECHES PASSING?

In years gone by the stump speaker played an important part in national political campaigns. Candidates went on the road and took the stump in cities and towns from coast to coast. In the radio going to rob us of the good old political meetings.

Now a candidate can sit comfortably before a microphone and with one speech reach millions of persons throughout the country by means of the gigantic radio "hook-ups" now used in the reporting of big events over the radio.

What a difference between this method of reaching the public and the method of addressing many comparatively small groups of persons, one after another, day after day, and week after week!

Radio has already carried countless speeches of a political nature over the air, and it seems very likely that from now on until the November elections the radio will be used extensively by politicians to get their messages over to the public.

One difference between stump-speaking and radio broadcasting is that in the latter case the speaker is concerned, as it were, with the main attendance at political gatherings is made up of many friends and admirers of the orator, the radio reaches friend and foe alike.

Another thing which must be considered is that stump-speaking and radio broadcasting each have their own technique. Of what use is radio broadcasting, for example, if the speaker is not equipped with the proper technique, the quick changes of feature, the waving of arms, the gesticulations that play so large a part in increasing the effectiveness of stump speaking? Radio requires a different technique; the voice must do everything.

Time will tell whether the radio will take the place of the stump, whether public men in the future turn to it or from it when desirous of making public utterances.

MAGIC HOT SPRINGS

Gradually residents of the Twinland empire—and many persons from more distant places—are coming to realize the unusual curative properties of Magic Hot Springs, a resort lying about 45 miles south of Twin Falls and managed by Guy Stoddard.

Operated on a very modest basis, with no fan fare of publicity or luxurious surroundings, this institution is slowly improving itself upon the health-seeking public through sheer merit.

Hundreds of persons aware by Magic because they themselves or members of their own families have had their health restored through periodic visits to the springs.

No need to travel long distances to have the benefit of medicinal hot springs. Here in our own back-yard, so to speak, is an asset that one day will have more fame than at present.

The owners and operators of the springs do not claim the "impossible" in their claim title. Instead, there are the springs, convenient accommodations are provided, and the public is welcome to visit and enjoy them at their own desire. Increasing patronage and enthusiastic belief in the blessings of the springs, attests to the opinion held by them by their patrons.

California Impressions

Half the population of California seems to be engaged in feeling the other half.

The dump trucks in front of the California state capitol building in Sacramento are a sight to behold.

Not one Idaho license, excepting our own, was being used in California. The license plates were all from other states.

"Weather" summer weather? This year has nothing on southern California's.

There are 400 stands driving in California. Traffic consists of the principal business of realtors at present and property can be bought at little down and a little a month.

Very few out-of-state cars in California during June—very few 400 stands driving in California.

ANOTHER AUTO ACCIDENT (Burley Bulletin)

Another automobile accident occurred on this project last Sunday, when two cars collided on an intersection near the center of the town.

NO SOFT PEDAL THIS TIME (Burley Bulletin)

The automobile policy of Dr. Horvick, national committee chairman of the Republican party, to ignore the traffic situation in the coming campaign, is likely due for revision.

Officials of the company declare that the success of the plan is indicated by the fact that the volume of printing produced in Twin Falls could be largely increased if the local users of this product would cease to listen to the "siren song" of the traveling printing salesman.

To Use Automatic in Place of Auto for Hapless Hares

When does a rabbit foot mean bad luck?

Answer: On Friday, the thirteenth.

So thinks L. W. Brainard, sales manager of the Idaho Power company of Boise, who relates a weird experience with the bone of a rabbit's foot which caused a flat tire on the car in which he was driving to Twin Falls on the eve of the provincial superstitious day last week.

Like many other motorists Brainard had the experience of hitting stray jack rabbits as he sped through the sage brush plains of southern Idaho.

Blinded by the lights of autos, these bunnies are wont to hop in front of passing gas wagons at most unpropitious times, with the result that hundreds of them meet doom's day all unexpectedly.
