Exact figures are not so impressive, however, as they are easily remembered, as round numbers and approximate comparisons. Think of the United States as a flat, round plane surface, imagine practically nothing in it, except the American people starting on the circumference in his home place, each individual weighing the same. Put a pivot under a spot 8 miles north of St. Louis, Indiana, and the world will balance. This spot is what Mr. Hoover's department calls the "Center of Population."

Hay Average Shows Slight Increase

The total hay yield average in Idaho this year is about 1,040,000 tons, or 2 1/2 per cent more than 1927. There was some decrease in alfalfa, but this was offset by a material increase in clover and timothy hay. Production is forecast at 2,676,000 tons, last year 2,410,000 tons for the past five years is 2,913,000 tons.

CALL MEETING HORTICULTURE SOCIETY FRIDAY

Orchardists Aaked to Attend Hurriedly Called Summer Session at County Fair Grounds Today

The annual summer picnic meeting of the Twin Falls Horticultural society will be held at the county fair grounds at Filer Friday afternoon and evening. It was hurriedly decided Thursday and announced by R. G. Taylor, secretary.

Friday being the only day that a number of people could come to the section it was decided to call the meeting for short notice and it is felt confident a large number of fruit growers can arrange their work to be present.

Of special interest is the announcement that present and prospective cherry growers should attend as there will be information given out of particular interest to them.

The program will start in the early afternoon and continue through the day and evening with a basket dinner served at 6 o'clock. Those attending are asked to bring basket lunch and join in the picnic.

Mr. Taylor states that Mr. Dean of the state plant department will be present, as will Professor V. H. R. of the University of Idaho. Mr. Ralls of near Lewiston, Mr. Wick, John S. Welch, state commissioner of agriculture, Congressman David L. Smith, is being invited to address the assembly at 7 o'clock. The public is generally welcome to attend the session.

WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE Dr. Long is visiting Southley Downs, to which he is conducted by Ahmad Das, an Oriental. There he meets his wife, who is known to him as a friend, Alexander Pierce, had told him to watch, and his son Ernest Southley. Mr. Howard is the son of Vilas and Josephine Southley, who he had seen faint on the train. Josephine told him the story of how she and Ernest got into his trap, which is not the ghost of a human being but of a tiger.

Just as the shadows fell a hand touched mine... The house to meet us. They also seemed grave, determined. Something gleamed in the old man's eyes. As Alexander held the lantern high, I saw what it was. It was a pistol. Alexander asked, "Vilas's pistol," Southley replied. "You told me to get it. How did you get it?" "Without arousing suspicion?" "Took it from the drawer in the library table. He keeps it there to the day when he carries it off."

CASTLEFORD CASTLEFORD, July 16—William Todd returned home from McCall, Idaho, Friday where he had been working the past three months. Mr. C. M. Becker of Long Beach, California, is visiting Mr. William Berger. Mr. and Mrs. Grant Stevens are the parents of a Johnny Dick Wednesday. Edward Conrad, John Birk and Guy Klinton left Sunday evening for "Yonkers" Washington.

Charles Ray seen in Naville. Fight Scars on Throwing. A skillful combination of romance and action, depicted in a clever and interesting way, makes "The Count of Ten" the universal crowd pleaser, deserving credit for the great success of the picture. The work of James Gleason as the prizefighter manager and Arthur Lake as the laxy and trouble-making brother, are especially good.

Count of Ten. The Count of Ten was adapted from Gerald Beaumont's sport story called "Betty's A Lady," which recently appeared in the Red Book Magazine. The action takes place in Chicago and New York and brings in many of the sport families and persons of the boxing fraternity. The picture is one of the finest stories of prizefighting that has ever been made.

OUT IN THE OPEN AT LAST... This was the master mind that fringed the hybrid county primary... Were the state-wide primaries... His anger generally when directing the battle from afar is

The candidates for President and Vice-President chosen by the opposing national parties represent the flowering of an ideal in government aiming at an equality of opportunity for every citizen.

No matter what ticket is elected in November it will be a victory for those principles of equality and democracy, without class or privilege, which are the basis on which our Constitution rests.

Underlying the battle for the Presidency of Our Country are two types of leadership in both parties—leaders like Hoover, sprung from the small country communities, and leaders like Smith—who struggled up from the multitudes in a great city.

The inception of the United States of America marked the end of that popular stupidity of the "Divine Right of Kings" and established the first successful government in history where a man was judged solely on his own merits and not by his blood.

When Herbert Hoover worked his way through college by driving a laundry wagon, and Alfred Smith sold papers on New York's "East Side" to help support a widowed mother, they were developing the character and proving the ability that was to place one of them in the most important executive position in the world.

It is in the high honors paid such men that America is seen as the land of opportunity. The people rule, through the sovereignty of the ballot, by selecting to official authority men of simplicity and strength, men who have made their own climb from poverty and obscurity to positions of power and responsibility, men who appreciate our constitutional rights and privileges.

Business, industry, and the individual have a feeling of security when they see the traditions and ideals of Our Country carried forward and strengthened by recognition of ability, ambition and enterprise. The greatest freedom for the individual, coupled with absolute security of private property rights, is a foundation principle of our government.

Skeptics have been inclined to think that these cardinal principles are being lost sight of but periodically the people, by voicing their opinion through the ballot, recognize outstanding men who typify the American ideal which stands for simplicity in government. In line with constitutional rights so dear to the American people.

The greatest heritage of every American is his right to stand with nothing—no work toward the highest rewards in our political, industrial and business life. Every field is open to every man and woman. This is the priceless heritage our forefathers handed down to us and it should be jealously guarded.

In the United States there is no obstacle in the way of any worthy ambition. Those men in the presidential race, mounting each by his own efforts, and as the chosen leaders of great parties—their high romance breathing still the adventurous spirit of American beginnings. So long as the people chose of their own so wisely, we may be sure that the heart of America is sound.

Among Our Neighbors

TRIDAL DANCES START AT 7 P. M. FRIDAY

Idaho State Journal.—One of the world's strangest ceremonies, but carried over in a modern way by that race of people which first roamed the broad expanses of this country, will begin on Friday when members of the Shoshone and Paiute tribes gather for their usual inspiring sun dance.

As to their spiritual, historical, custom, this world rite will be carried on for three days and three nights on the Fort Hall reservation by those Indians who have preserved for the event.

The vanguard of the redskins will arrive at the reservation on Friday, and the Indians will begin their ritual and their periodic drinks of water made pure by the sun god, the Indians will begin their mystic way toward the historic Fort Hall dance grounds.

Before the sun sinks into the west on the first night of the festival, the dancers will file into the enclosure and from the camps near the scene, the men and their spouses will gather at points of vantage to look on.

With the sudden throbbing of tom-toms the group of dancers will begin their three-day ritual of recognition of the same sun god their ancestors worshiped.

As in past years, certain of the dancers will be forced to rest when overtaken with exhaustion from the continuous efforts put forth. But they may rest at any time, for the ritual has its purpose the bringing of strength to the tribe, as well as bringing away the spirit of evil by seeking the blessing of the sun god.

Hundreds of white visitors will make the trip to witness this performance which has continued on into a highly civilized day.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

160 Ninth Avenue East
"Truth" is the subject of the lesson sermon in all churches of Christ Scientist Sunday, July 22. Golden Text: John 8:31, 32. If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust; his truth shall be thy shield and buckler. Psalm 91:4.

The lesson sermon also includes the following message from the Christian Science textbook, "Self-Heal and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: Prayer never change the material Truth, nor can prayer alone give us an understanding of Truth; but prayer, coupled with a fervent habitual desire to know and do the will of God, will bring us into all Truth, Page 11.

Sunday services are held at 11 a. m.

Sunday school for pupils under 20 years of age is at 10 a. m.

The Wednesday evening meeting in the Christian Science Church is open daily from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. All are welcome to attend our services and to visit the reading room.

A PAINT That is Better

PABCO MULTI-SERVICE PAINT is remarkably deep and pure in color... and has a high gloss finish. Neither this fineness of color and finish nor the body of the paint itself, are affected by smoke, vapors, sun, salt air, fumes or any chemical action of this nature.

It can be applied to wood, metal, concrete, brick, stone, or stucco, on inside or outside work. In all cases, it is easy working, has a high covering capacity, and great hiding power. It is permanent in color and durability, and leaves an excellent surface for repainting. Although PABCO MULTI-SERVICE PAINT is low in cost, we believe better paint cannot be had at ANY price.
