Scenic Wonders, Amusements and Pleasure Spots Abound in This Vicinity

This part of southern Idaho not only abounds in scenic natural wonders, but their comparative proximity makes them appreciated by residents and tourists for their recreational advantages.

Tain Falls and this part of the state is sometimes said to lack in abundance of amusement, but surely anyone who would make such a complaint is either not possessed of transportation facilities or is lacking in appreciation of nature.

Many Miles of Paved Roads

In the first place this district is most favored with a highway that runs the entire length of the county, affording motorists unlimited possibilities for pleasure jaunts.

Then, there is a network of roads running in most directions from the principal centers of the country, doing away with what was formerly the handicap of no roads.

Wonders of Nature

Within a few hours ride we have, first of all, Shoshone falls, the seventh highest cataract in the world, having a descent of 212 feet, good for its scenery, and first of all.

Five miles above Shoshone are the Twin Falls, from which the Snake river is named. These are beautiful, although more inaccessible than Shoshone.

There are numerous other falls on Snake river in this county below Shoshone, such as Auger, Cooper Salmon and Lower Salmon Springs, among them. From the north wall of Snake river canyon, mark some of the most beautiful scenery in the world.

On this same ranch there is a fish spring which is a fine place for fishing. It is a fine place for fishing. It is a fine place for fishing.

Husband and Wife

The canyon is filled with fruit ranches, producing peaches, plums, plums, cantaloupe, cabbages, watermelons, cherries, grapes and vegetables of all descriptions. Notable among these ranches are the famous Blue Lake, which is north of Twin Falls and the Crystal Springs and Lower Salmon Springs, south of Twin Falls.

Many Pleasures

North of Twin Falls in the canyon is Banbury's natatorium, a popular resort in the summer time. South of this same town is Banbury's Artisan City, another natatorium in the eastern part of the county, reached by land and water routes. There are beautiful parks at Twin Falls and at Bath and the county fair grounds adjoining Pocatello. Aside from the annual fair, the grounds are used for public picnics, race meets, agricultural demonstrations, etc.

To Idaho!

By CHARLES SHIRLEY WALGAMOTT

My Country 'Tis of Thee! Idaho, I adore you. Not the country of my birth but where I fled the days of my boyhood, leaving fond memories of the great open spaces where the Indian held sway where the stage-driver, the mule-kinner and the buff whacker were masters of transportation; where the placer miner, with his crude rocker or sluice separated the gold from the river sands; where the romantic cowboy refused to pitch his tent where the emigrant was known as a teamster; where the hunter and trapper was in paradise where all real men were equal; where friendship was formed that endured a life time; where the homeseeker, with the lowly ox passed over the Oregon Trail; where the inaccessible canyon divided the north from the south; where the great river sent its emerald waters unimpeded to the sea; where Shoshone falls was unmarred by the hand of man.

The first cycle in the evolution of the country had completed its circle. The coming of the railroad which brought in new people with new ideas, was the beginning of the second cycle, that brought on a transformation, which at that time seemed slow, but as we look back we perceive that it was phenomenally rapid. Transportation systems changed almost over night.

The stage-driver with his typical dress, was no more. Following him went the buff-whacker and mule-kinner. The miner cleaned up his last year of dirt. The romantic cowboy lost his identity, the great river was dammed, the thicket land, both north and south, drank deeply of its moisture, sending forth vegetation of every kind in abundance to supply every need. The cascades of the mighty river were harnessed, producing light and power for the hundreds of homes that were built and the metropolitan-like tower that sprang up where the Indian had pitched his wicki-yap.

Mammoth steel bridges spanned the great canyon, connecting the north and the south, with hard surfaced and cement roads leading in all directions. Tourists with high-powered cars sped over the Oregon Trail where before traveled the homeseeker by ox teams.

SSAKE RIVER VALLEY, how I LOVE YOU. As a retrospect, I realize how small is the individual man, and what little part I played in this great transformation. But I find comfort in the knowledge that I blazed and built important trails; that I encouraged; that I hoped and finally rejoiced in the consummation of each cycle.

"The heart of me was often sad, Despite the cares I had to bear. There never came a dreary day; But what was my happiness was there. And rich or poor or great or low, The friends I made were good to know."

But through all I neglected the importance of preparing for a rainy day, and when overtaken by illness I found myself drifting on the rocks of despair. A benefactor (my son) threw out the life-line and drew me into a Harbor of Safety where every want was supplied and with tender care, my feet were placed on the rock to recovery amongst the ever-blooming flowers of Southern California.

As I convalesce, I daily walk among the elegant homes enhanced by beautiful gardens and ornamental shrubs and trees. I gape with interest the stately buildings, the mad rush of business. I mingle with that vast horde of sightseers who frequent the great theatres, and as I stand by the ocean side, large waves roll in as though bringing tidings from a foreign shore.

My mind reverts to the mountain stream and as the crowd surges by I bow my head. I am homesick in this great throng; I am lonesome.

My Country 'Tis of Thee! Idaho, I pine for you!

I am sorry that I have not been able to write before, but I promise to write a letter each week which will reach you through The Citizen.

The Making Of A STEINWAY

I HAD long speculated on the secret of the Steinway. Among all the commodities of commerce this remarkable instrument has for two generations stood apart; differing from all other products in so far that its supremacy has never even been questioned. Opinions may differ as to which one of several excellent motor cars is the very best; and so of watches and of guns and of every other commodity that is made on this round world of ours — excepting always the Steinway.

Your present piano will be accepted as part payment on a STEINWAY

Balance can be arranged over a period of months

From the days of Liszt and Wagner, the world's great musicians have acclaimed it. It is indeed "The Instrument of the Immortals." Kings and emperors have honored it. Some of our throngs have fallen; some of their dynasties have ceased—but the Steinway endures.

It has passed into our everyday speech, and we use it as a symbol of perfection. To the man on the street it stands for a unit of value, much the same as the dollar-mark or the pound sterling.

MORE WALGAMOTT STORIES

"Idaho, I pine for you"

From his semi-retolport habitation in southern California, Charles Shirley Walgamott, rovered historian of southern Idaho is daily penning pioneer stories of this region for Idaho Citizen readers.

The first article in his new series appears in this issue. We dare you to read it, without experiencing a heart-throb or undimmed eyes.

The Citizen is proud of the part it has played in past years in bringing Mr. Walgamott's writings to public attention, both through the columns of this newspaper and through the two books it has published for him.

Now that his health is restored and he has again "taken his pen in hand" this newspaper welcomes more than ever the opportunity to record for posterity the valuable and withal interesting history told as only a Walgamott can tell it.

COUNTY FAIRS TEACH NATION

County fairs are the agricultural and industrial clinics of the communities in which they are held.

Every man, woman and child within the market radius of the fair should have a personal civic pride in that organization. Creating and fostering that civic pride is one of the major functions of the exposition itself.

As physicians and surgeons gather about the operating table day after day to learn best how to combat human ills, so should ranchers, business men, manufacturers and all the people from the surrounding community gather at the county fair to learn the best methods of advancing their interests.

Through highly-developed competition, farmers can learn much in a few days spent at the county fair. Results of best production methods are shown, the less successful farmer can learn from the experiences of those who produced the best wheat, cabbage, pumpkins or other farm commodity.

Farmers also come in contact with the consumer. They learn to know each other. The town business man gets first-hand information on rural conditions. All classes have an opportunity for inter-communication.

The county fair stands as one of the most important educational institutions in the land.

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE

The culminating event of the agricultural season in this county comes next week with the arrival of the annual county fair at Filer.

Bigger and better than ever before, the exposition deserves the patronage of every resident in the county and will doubtless draw hundreds from the outside.

Secretary Keenan, the board of fair directors, the superintendent and other heads of departments have been laboring hard on making this thirteenth annual fair the success it is certain to be. To these persons who give so much thought and effort public thanks is due. The Citizen knows it speaks the mind of this county when it congratulates the entire fair organization, willingly giving credit where credit is due.

Tangible evidence of the public's satisfaction in the county fair as one of the important institutions of this section will be reflected next week in the attendance, which should and will break all records.

IDAHO DEMOCRATS ENDORSE PROHIBITION

In reaffirming the declarations of the national convention in favor of the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, and laws enacted thereunder, the Democratic state convention at Granger this week placed itself squarely in favor of honest prohibition administration, as against the Mellon variety of enforcement. This action was anticipated in the resolutions adopted by Twin Falls county Democrats.

This action of the convention seems to have constituted a rebuke to the chairman, George Donart, Weiser lawyer, who is said to have declared similar resolutions in the national platforms of both parties hypothetical and to have said that prohibition modification constituted the real issue.

Regardless of this alleged warning, the convention adopted a progressive platform, which as condensed in the press dispatches reads:

For enactment of a law reorganizing non-partisan judiciary and enacting adequate direct primary legislation; establishment of a veterans' welfare commission, legislation looking to perpetuation of forests through reforestation, legislation to protect and promote farming and livestock industries, and reorganization of administrative departments and bureaus.

Resolution of laws had become almost unbearable, the party pledged rigid economy and equitable adjustment of taxes. Another resolution endorsed the Democratic national platform and reiteration of Smith's statement in his acceptance speech that he would faithfully enforce all existing laws, including the Eighteenth amendment and have enacted thereunder.

John N. Willys Talks on Politics

Commenting on the achievement of Willys-Overland this year, John N. Willys said, "The company has already surpassed its greatest year in sales and shipments and we have a little better than four months to go. Present indications are that sales for the next four months will show a large percentage of gain over corresponding months for the last year as were established in the early months of the year. Willys-Overland resumes dividends on the common stock in the quarter period of this year, and at that time the general statement of the company showed a record factory earnings rate on all models despite the low prices which were set early in the year."

Willys declined to comment on the political activities of Mr. Willys who resigned from General Motors to head the Democratic committee on Mr. Ford who has taken a strong stand in favor of Herbert Hoover and prohibition.

"Politics does not greatly influence general business this year," he said, "and there is no reason why the country should expect either upward or downward trend in business because of the presidential election. After all business is a matter of supply and demand, of good salesmanship, and of good quality production. This country is sufficiently well grounded in prosperity at the present time to insure a continuance of the good times which we have enjoyed for the past several years."

Ship Number 1 Potatoes Only Says Grower, to Save Market

Harry Payne, general manager of the Idaho Potato Growers' association, in discussing the plan as outlined by the Burley growers disagree with them.

A considerable number of the potato growers of the Burley district met in that section Saturday and made a proposition that the growers of that section harvest but 80 per cent of the crop, leaving the balance in the ground.

It is hoped that by this method that the price of potatoes may be improved. In view of the prospective heavy crop it is felt that normal way and placing the potatoes in storage but for the time being shipping nothing but the No. 1 grade.

"By so doing we can at least contribute that much by the time the No. 2 grade off the market and in that way, lessening the supply and again not put the No. 2 grade into competition with the better quality, and helping to kill the market."

Mr. Payne stated: "You can never tell what is likely to happen and it is a good policy in my opinion to save the crop as the market conditions are so general that it is difficult to justify shipping the No. 2 grade."

Potato growers and dealers in general feel that being to weather conditions the country over there will be no shrink from the August estimate of 400,000,000 bushels, which if produced will be the largest production on record.

"At the present time Burley are selling in the Caldwell district at 40c on the ear and Russet at 75c, with practically all of the shipments going to California."

Idaho would ship this year will be about 17,350 pounds.

Farmers realize that in order to produce a paying crop that a well prepared seed bed is necessary. A tractor is not only efficient in preparing the soil, but it helps get the crops in on time as well. In the spring of the year when the work is heaviest, and the weather the hottest, the horses the thinnest, that is the time when a tractor is appreciated.

PAUL IN THESSALONICA
Acts 17:1-12

Constitution filled the minds of the magistrate in Philippi the morning after the fall delivery when Paul and Silas were released by a verdict at the midnight hour. These rulers sent sergeants to direct the jailer to release these prisoners. When Paul stood on the dignity that was rightly his, he insisted that these chief men come in person and see him for they had already done great violence to their own law by beating a Roman citizen who, as yet, had not had a trial. Then the magistrates again with great fear and humility acquiesced. Paul's pardon was granted him on every point of the mission of preaching the Gospel elsewhere.

In rather easy stages, of about thirty miles each, through Amphipolis, Apollonia and Thessalonica, the magister Sabina, upon numerous visits took place during the recent World War. There the custom was followed of beginning work in the Jewish synagogue and in the homes of the Gentiles on the Sabbath and Sunday. Paul's declaration of the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ was the chief point of his teaching. He was not a Greek and not a chief whom the Jews would have believed. Then the Jews with their high priests and their hold on their own conviction is lessened. They gathered certain vile fellows of the rabble and had plotted to kill Paul. Timothy had lodged, intending to sleep him out for very rough handling. Paul, however, was not deterred from his mission. He went on to Thessalonica to make him the object of their rage. A most high conviction was paid to the evangelist.

History of Agricultural Institution Is Tribute to Efforts of Founders

Yearly Improvements on Grounds Has Brought Plant to Where It Is Model for Others—Munyon Was First President of Board and George H. Smith, Secretary

Visitors at the county fair at Filer next week will see many improvements over last year and those who have been attending for the past 13 years can marvel as they compare the present institution with that of 1916, the year that the first Twin Falls County fair was held.

A huge new merchants exhibit hall has been erected this year as well as a new poultry exhibit building. The office has been added to and is three times the size it was a year ago, the women's building has been moved near the grove and other arrangements have been made adding much to the convenience, the value and the efficiency of the grounds.

Grange Donated County Grounds
The fair ground, comprising 40 acres, is located directly east of the city limits. They were donated from H. Schildman in 1916 at a cost of $600 and were donated outright to the county for fair purposes.

The sum of $25,000 involved in the purchase was donated by citizens of Twin Falls county and the first functioned in 1916. As the county owns and operates the fair it is in fact a real fair and is not considered by an association. The board of county commissioners annually appoints the members of the fair board which in turn names the secretary. The fair board serves without pay.

Official Earn Thanks
H. C. Munyon, pioneer resident of the first fair board president and G. W. Cane was secretary. The late George H. Smith was fair secretary.

This administration was followed in 1917 by George Harlan, Twin Falls, president, and E. H. White, secretary. Then J. M. Marvel was elected secretary and served continuously for eight consecutive years through the formation of the fair. The presidents in succession were E. O. Walter, Filer, Roy A. Reed, Twin Falls, and C. McGee, Buhl, who served for four terms. Carl J. Miller, Cassia, Idaho, who was accidentally killed last year was fair board president in 1925, and his successor is R. G. Wilson, Kimberly.

Mr. Marvel, George N. Tucker was secretary, he served succeeded last year by Frank J. Keenan, who is the present secretary. It is to these men, who laid the foundation for the fair, that the credit is due for the many improvements which have been made in the past 13 years. Their untiring and conscientious efforts to give the county what is generally conceded to be the outstanding county fair of the entire north-west.

APPRECIATION

AT THE TIME of this publication it gives the Twin Falls County Fair management great pleasure to be afforded this opportunity of extending its sincere appreciation to the thousands and thousands of people who have given their patronage and loyal support to the Twin Falls County Fair during its 13 years of existence. And it should cause us to pause and reflect, while it indicates that these years have rolled away since the first Twin Falls County Fair was launched, it also reveals the fact many who were in attendance during the starting of the County Fair, are not with us this year and that to many this will be their first. In other words we are aware that since the beginning of the County Fair there is going on a change in the personnel of fair patrons, but it is with satisfaction that we contemplate the fact that the same great spirit of loyalty and devotion to the Twin Falls County Fair is still existing.

This devotion is not surprising, for the Twin Falls County Fair has assisted in many ways in raising the standards of the livestock and farm products of this agricultural county to where it now stands as one of the leading fairs in the state of Idaho. The management's policy in always securing the best talent in the land for their fine attractions and various other entertainments for the fair patrons has also helped create a demand for high class entertainment for the people of our community, these many years, and it is only natural that we should desire to preserve the things that have been such a benefit to us.

Realizing, as we do, that in a new generation there is naturally to be expected a changed condition of affairs, and that by reason of progress and developments that have taken place in the years that have gone by, there is essentially new thoughts, viewpoints and demands which cause many things that were once a rarity and an attraction to be regarded now as obsolete, and further realizing that to hold the patronage of our fair patrons it is necessary that we keep abreast of the times, it has been our earnest desire, and our efforts have been spent to make the fair of a higher standard at all times, and with this in mind, we assure you that the fair this year will be one to be remembered as the greatest fair of all history.

In formulating the program for the coming fair we have tried to select only the best that could be obtained regardless of expense, and a GREATER THAN EVER PRIZE is a wild description of the Twin Falls County Fair this year.

The officers and directors of the Twin Falls County Fair ask your support and cooperation in making the fair of 1928 the best in history. We invite you to attend and assure you a hearty welcome awaits you.

FRANK KEENAN, Secretary R. G. WILSON, President.

Idaho Woman Writes Model State Story in Blank Verse

POCATELLO MAN SALE PLANNED

The second annual event coming on Friday, October 5 in Eastern Idaho

Idaho has a poetess, Mrs. M. L. by Prof. W. B. Strong, the well known Miller of Dubois, who has shown Idaho author, Miss Anderson, who has written the poem written by Mrs. Miller on the back of the cover of the book, "The Idaho Story," which she has written in blank verse, while searching for a subject to write in blank verse. It was written in Pocatello in 1914 and is unique in that it is the only poem of the kind that has been written in Idaho. The poem follows:

IDAHO
I-da-ho
I-da-ho
God's gem
Art thou
A fernd land
Of desert sand
Verdantly beguiled
By mountain torrent wild
Thou Empire, undefiled
Thou of the north-west
By the soft chime of wind
By the perfume of sage and cedar
By the crystal line of snow
Thou hast found sunshine and fragrant air
Dewy Eden gardens from Park to Oregon
With streams of cool water refreshing thee anon
The Teton's lofty pinacles that pierce the morning sun
Thou art the melting snows, embracing everyone
Behold the northern prairie, that clothe a mineral zone
With Alpine lake in mountain gray, and snow's eternal throne
The Peak O'Heille of silt and loam that leaves a soft world
The Coeur d'Alene of mystic veil and echoing chime
The Windermere waters, the silver slates, the hot springs and the Natura's play will waste away, while Shoshone's endurance
And heart's love, as each sunset its colors will flout
A wish for love of north and south—the legends of a state
Far ranging by range of glory, as fawn and flower at least
An Empire, for man's decay; Gem of the mighty West!

STATE CHAMBER MAKES SARNBY IDAHO'S INCOME

Submits Findings to Tax Committee and This Body Will Formulate Program for Members' Approval

HOISE.—One of the most comprehensive surveys ever undertaken by Idaho's state governmental income, in comparison with other states of the country, has just been completed by the Taxation committee of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce. It was presented for the committee's consideration and recommendations at its meeting in Boise, Saturday, following the two-day session of the Western States Taxpayers' conference in the capital, August 10 and 11. The committee will formulate a tax program which will be submitted to the membership of the chamber for consideration.

The work of the survey has been carried on under the direction of Elmer E. Thomas, secretary, and George W. Middleton, chief public accountant of Boise, made the compilation. Official auditors' reports for 1926 and 1927 for 28 states of the nation are the basis for the survey which involves the money and estate governments by 85,740,000 people living in the 28 states. The combined assessed valuation of those states is $109,551,000. Each year the people of these states pay approximately $300,000,000 in general property tax for state government.

For convenience, the states were separated into groups or geographical divisions and Idaho falls into what is known as the "Mountain" group of states. The states of this group are Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Nevada. The average levy for state purposes in this group varies from 25.65 in Wyoming to 27.98 on the $1000 in Arizona. Idaho's average levy for 1926 was 24.62 cents of the year's earnings. In 1925 and 1926 the Idaho general property tax levy for state purposes raised $1,033,290 on a valuation of approximately $476,000,000. In 1927 Idaho's average levy was 25.93 and the valuation was about $480,000,000. Utah, whose valuation is 22.47 percent, larger than Idaho's, had an average levy of 27.75 on the valuation which raises $1,043,444 in general property tax for state purposes. California and Pennsylvania, the compilation shows, have the highest property tax for state purposes. On the other hand New York, with 18,112,000 people and an assessed value of $1,500,000,000, raises only $19,000,000,000, or less than $100,000,000, for state purposes by a tax on general property.

According to Mr. Middleton's compilation the 28 states invoke a total of 26 different sources of revenue, including general property tax, to maintain and operate various functions of state government. Of these various sources the ones used by Idaho and the amounts they raise annually follow:

General property tax, $1,033,290; insurance companies' tax and fees, $13,042; insurance companies' premium tax, $2,530; other insurance licenses and fees, $59,109; express companies, $7,080; corporation license and tax, $44,051; incorporation and tax, $23,616; miscellaneous license fees, $24,512; inheritance tax, $18,000; occupation tax, $12,000; auto transportation and motor; gas license tax, $12,101; auto license tax, $10,411; gasoline tax, $9,477; dog tax, $82,700 and game license tax, $164,936 and stallion and livestock tax, $278,700, total, $2,241,709.

Under the classification "miscellaneous license fees" the survey contains a special compilation showing 28 different classes of kinds of licenses used by the various states as a source of income for state purposes. Idaho raises approximately $26,000 from this source.

Practically all states have inheritance tax laws. Nevada and Alabama have the exceptions in the 28 states under survey. In the wealthier states this source produces large amounts. For instance, New York collects more than $20,000,000 from this source while Pennsylvania realizes $17,000,000. California collects over $7,000,000 annually from inheritance taxes. In the mountain states Idaho, with $18,112,000 from this source, is next to the lowest in the division. Namibia is lowest with $3,024. Montana collects an amount to $4,000. Wyoming, $49,486, Colorado, $876,000, New Mexico, $25,420, Arizona $121,010, and Utah $204,

CREAMED CHICKEN OR TUNA FISH

Cooked chicken cut into cubes or flaked tuna fish or salmon, added to a medium cream sauce (1 c. milk, 2 tbsps. butter, 2 tbsps. flour) and served on hot buttered toast with a delicious luncheon or supper dish.

FRUIT LAYER CAKE

1-1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon orange juice
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 cup brown sugar
Cream butter, add sugar and beaten egg-yolks and beat thoroughly. Add orange rind and lemon juice; then add orange juice alternately with flour sifted with soda. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in two layers in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 20 minutes.

TUNA FISH SALAD

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon mustard
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1 egg
1 tablespoon melted butter
1/2 cup water
1 cup lemon juice
1 cup tuna fish
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup minced stuffed olives
Make salad dressing by mixing salt, mustard and paprika and stirring in egg and melted butter. Add

1/2 cup water and lemon juice and heat over hot water* to boiling point. Add gelatin which has been softened in 1/2 cup cold water. Cool and add flaked tuna fish, celery and finely-sliced olives. Turn into individual molds and chill. Remove from molds by means of lettuce leaves and garnish with celery tips. Serve with mayonnaise.

MOTHER'S LUNCH SANDWICH

Lettuce
Heat food chopper in boiling water and put rice through in medium current, then put through. Moisten to a paste with mayonnaise and add salt and pepper to taste. Toast bread to golden brown on both sides. Put sandwich, lettuce 1 slice of 1 slice of butter, spread with one-fourth of rubin and onion mixture. On this place a second slice of buttered toast; next a slice of roast veal, then a leaf of lettuce dried with a clean cloth, then spread lettuce lightly with mayonnaise. On top place the third slice of buttered toast. Cut to halves diagonally, through all layers. Arrange on a plate with a garnish of pipe olives or slices of tomato. This recipe provides for three-decker sandwiches.

Shell of the Ages

A large fragment of a fossil shell, supposed to be about 100,000,000 years old, has been found in New Zealand. Judged by measurements made on this and other fragments found elsewhere, it is estimated that the thickness of the fossiliferous strata, at the time of day of insects, grew to be as much as three feet in length.

Peculiar Trees

The most extraordinary forest in the world resembles a tall, thin, white pillar in which, near the root, are several small trees. The peculiarity of the trees is that, though both trunks are as much as four feet in diameter, one tree bears more than 100 leaves, and these attain a breadth of two feet.

Big Men from Small Towns

Henry Ford is one of the outstanding mechanical geniuses of the age as well as perhaps the richest man in the world. Every dollar of Henry Ford's fortune has been earned by his own hard work and mechanical ingenuity.

HENRY FORD

He learned the machinist's trade and for some time was with the Edison Illuminating Company, where he gained the title of chief engineer.

He then organized the Ford Motor Company, and became the largest manufacturer of automobiles in the world, employing over 2,000,000 persons and turning out 7,500 automobiles a day. The great popularity of the Ford car was due to its quality combined with its low price. The inexpensive auto proved a great boon to the farmers of the country.

Ford has just brought out a new model which has excited wonder and admiration. He never rests on achievement. In order to bring out this new model, he had to spend millions to completely re-equip his gigantic plant.

In 1914 Ford announced a plan of profit-sharing involving distribution of ten to thirty million dollars annually to employees. Ford has been a pioneer in paying good wages to all his help and looking out constantly for their welfare.
