IF WAR VANISHED PAIN AND SUFFERING ABOLISHING POVERTY PADLOCKS FOR HONESTY

That's the pact containing war is signed, and for the present, nations seem to take a breath of relief.

Earth's population has been registered by WAR, DISEASE, FAMINE

Science has almost eliminated the plagues that killed wholesale. No more black death, no more cholera, no more bubonic plague.

The Rev. Dr. Auer, who teaches philosophy at Tufts College, says man is suffering from a lack of pain and suffering but to UNDERSTAND both.

When "anesthetics" were first used, the clergy of Christendom were shocked at the thought of God's will.

An Inglewood doctor answered to the confusion of clergymen, "I have not the least objection to the use of the word 'anesthesia'."

Men should understand pain and suffering, and the best way to do this is to understand the philosophy of Auer.

In Minnesota prohibition officials have been notified that the state is to be divided into four districts.

Amalgamated Sugar Company Plans for 16,000 Acres Here in 1929 - Confident of Good Season

Although experiments in growing beets in Twin Falls territory this season have proven that the forecast of Walter Carter, government entomologist, last spring was thoroughly correct, the Amalgamated Sugar company is now in the market for a big crop next year.

This 155-acre parcelled small plots in different sections of the county. Eight of the plots were given to the growers.

Weather: Cold, Windy Day But Ideal for Thursday and Friday

The Cassia county fair ending at Burley Friday is declared to be the best ever held there.

These community exhibits comprise a wider variety than ever before. Decided that 100 different products were on display.

Exhibitors from Twin Falls county included L. G. Cayce, president of the fair.

The award presentation included 27 awards from the fair.

While attendance the first day was held down because of cold weather, ideal conditions prevailed.

Season for Hunting to Open Soon

It is stated on good authority that the hunting season opening October 1 promises to be a prolific one for sportsmen.

The channel of the Snake river is counted the third or fourth largest channel filled for ducks and geese of any in the United States.

According to the state game department, hunters are advised to be on the alert for southern blue birds.

September Estimate on Potatoes Greater Than That of August First

Government Report Received Here Predicts Crop This Year Will Break All Records by 16 Million Bushels - 6 Million Over Last Month's Figure

Increasing estimates from month to month on potato production in the United States make the situation of exports important.

Conditions in various parts of the country have not combined to bring the product from some of the heavier producing areas on the market at about the same price.

It is a problem the dealers and growers are seriously concerned with and will require wise business tactics if the crop is not to prove an entire financial failure.

Large Attendance at Meeting Here Saturday Night to Confer with Michigan Representative on Prices

About 75 bean growers and dealers of the Twinland Empire met here Saturday night and held a three hour discussion on the market situation.

"Poisoned Shells of Falshood" Mr. Clark referred to the alleged "whispering campaign" in his address tonight, when he said: "I am sorry that there are those who think that political expediency demands that they should use their voice and the press in trying to tear down the wall of honesty."

The Religious Aspect "It appears to me that one of the sweetest things in life for all of us is to have some hope or some religion - whatever form it may take - which will help us while we are here and which may offer solace when we come to realize that we must soon say good-bye to the Great Divine."

Commissioner of Reclamation Questions Salmon Tract Proposal

Formation of a new Salmon River district was held up Saturday when the report of George N. Carter, state commissioner of reclamation, was presented.

Overruling argument of counsel for the canal company, the state engineer, the commissioners held the matter over for two weeks to give the settlers time to amend their complaint in conformance with the act.

SEMI-WEEKLY PER YEAR, $2.50
A semi-weekly newspaper published on Tuesday and Friday of each week at Twin Falls, Idaho, by the Citizen Publishing Company

Entered as second class mail matter at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the act of March 3, 1879

The Idaho Citizen is an authorized medium of publicity for the agricultural cooperative organizations of the great State of Idaho, including the Farmers' Guaranty, Intermountain Cooperative Dairy Association, Idaho Egg Producers' Association, Idaho Wool Growers' Association, Southern Idaho Bean Growers' Association, Southern Idaho Fruit Growers' Association, Idaho Truck Growers' Association, Mountain States Honey Producers' Association, Twin Falls County Horticultural Society

SAVE HER LIFE TO PUBLIC DUTY

This entire section mourns the passing of Miss Charlotte Pond, the first county official here to die in office. She gave her life to school and educational work in this county and died in the harness. Now others must take up the reins of guiding the destinies of the county school system.

The throng that attended the funeral services for this popular public official Sunday attested to the love and esteem in which she was held by parents, patrons, teachers, school officials and pupils. Her successive re-election by overwhelming odds constituted the people's tribute to her while she lived.

These few words are but simple testimony to her kindness and sterling character as ceaselessly evidenced to both old and young friends through the years.

IN APPRECIATION

The Citizen cannot resist expressing its high appreciation for the many evidences of confidence and approbation shown it.

Of particular satisfaction is the wonderful subscription response accorded the publication and the numerous expressions of approval as attested by the patronage given every department of the paper.

This newspaper's place in the Twinland Empire is well-defined. As a twice-a-week publication designed primarily for circulation among the rural population of Twin Falls and Jerome counties its sphere is constantly broadening and its usefulness becoming more and more manifest.

The publishers modestly accept these many compliments and are moved to exert even greater efforts for Citizen patrons.

THE ONE THING NECESSARY

This is the season of restlessness; it is a time calling for and demanding patience on the part of all of us.

Each day's events in a section such as this, have particular significance for it is the fall of 1923. To begin with, it is election year and everyone is concerned with local, state and national results; weather conditions are vitally important, with hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of crop lying on the ground; and above all, there is the price factor, that seriously affects such an agricultural community.

These are vital days. Markets are in the air; what will we get for our beans? When are you going to sell your wheat? How is this other crop turning out? Such are the problems with which many are concerned. All this makes for anxiety.

This is the busy season here, requiring supreme judgment, keenness, and above all, patience.

DID YOU EAT YOUR QUOTA?

A government report says: Idaho consumes on an average 334 bushel feet of wood a year for every man, woman, and child in the State, according to District Forester R. H. Rutledge. In 1920 this per capita figure was 648; in 1922, 318; in 1923, 456, in 1924, 377.

With a total consumption of 226 million board feet, 167 million feet was derived from within the State; 67 million feet was derived from other states and 1 million feet was derived from foreign imports.

A GREAT TRIBUTE

The Unknown Soldier whose tomb is under the Arch of Triumph in France has received a perfect tribute.

Many have been the decorations of that tomb, but none more sincere, none more touching, than that placed on it by the farmers of Idaho.

These farmers, having good crops, deposited a sheaf of wheat ornamented with white grapes on the tomb.

The inscription on the tribute was as follows: "From the peasants of Rheims who owe their harvest to your sacrifice."

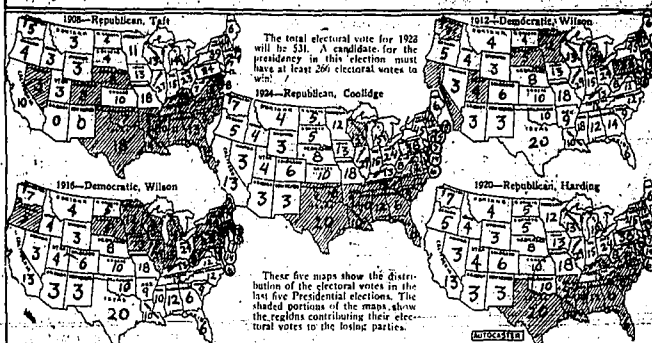

The response that is being given the candidacy of C. Ben Ross, Democratic aspirant for governor, must bring much satisfaction to that outstanding leader.

Not for years has there been such a popular gubernatorial candidate in Idaho—and one who can command the attention and votes of all progressive elements in the commonwealth.

Mr. Ross has statewide acquaintance, is a native Idahoan, is a tried and tested public official and should receive the vote that last year was split between Wilson and Hall.

Daily there come evidences of strength for Ross from unexpected quarters. He is just the man needed to straighten out the highway and agricultural problem of Idaho; indications at this date are that Mr. Ross is destined to be the next governor.

Big Men From Small Towns

Walter P. Chrysler is the head of one of the largest automobile companies in the world. Thirty-five years ago he was an oil well making five cents an hour. Chrysler was born fifty-three years ago in a little Kansas hamlet called Wamego. His grandfather had driven a covered wagon across the plains, and his father was an engineer on the Union Pacific Railroad. He spent his school days in Wamego, where he worked at the grocery store, but it was at 17 that he really went to work—he had been working over since.

For four years he worked in the Union Pacific shops. Time and time again he attracted attention to himself by doing a particularly difficult repair job. This led to his becoming foreman of the Colorado and Southern shops at Trinidad. Chrysler made good, and in nine years he became Superintendent of Motive Power of the Chicago and Great Western System.

Then he was 38, and realizing that he could not advance much further where he was employed, he quit to become works manager of the American Locomotive Company in a factory of about half of what he had been getting. In two years he was general manager.

He gave up a $12,000 job to take one at $6,000 with General Motors. He became Vice President there, and then left. After the war he began reorganizing other automobile companies. In 1924 his dream came true—he was making his own car! Now his company has made new auto history in its fusion with the Dodge concern.

Chrysler is adventurous. He never hesitated to change jobs. He saw that his future was in the automobile business, and so sacrificed other lucrative work in order to get into it.

Chrysler is industrious. Despite his great success, he still punches a time card and works harder than any of his employees.

"The man who makes good," he said to S. J. Woodfin in a recent interview, "does a little more than is expected of him. Give the boss a little more than he asks for, and he will see that you are rewarded. And if he doesn't find another way to do it, he'll find one."

Chrysler believes the poor boy has a better chance in life than the rich boy. The poor boy, he says, has only the high quality of constructive things, while the rich boy gets pleasure out of spending his money. Most of the time in a destructive way.

Walter P. Chrysler stands out as one of the great American business men in a small town whose life should be an inspiration and guide to all boys. He has been able, by dint of genius and determination, to get up at the top in the great automotive industry. His success is only another example of the great rewards that accrue to honest industry and painstaking effort.

Donawick, county brand inspector, before being exported.

North Pole is Tapped by Phone Man

Hot weather has no terror for J. A. Street, telephone man in Jerome. All he has to do is to turn a tap and flood his house with frigid air from the icebergs of the frozen northland.

The current issue of the Monitor, house organ of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company, reports the situation as follows:

"In fact," says manager Street, "there are several homes in Jerome that are using radiators on the cold currents of air which presumably emanate from the icebergs of the frozen northland."

In explaining how the discovery of the cold current was discovered, Mr. Street says: "In drilling an eight inch hole in the ice structure underlying the city, for the purpose of giving a sewerage outlet, the cold air current was struck, from which a continuous current of cold air emanated. This air was piped into the homes by means of a four inch pipe, using a metal down pipe at the floor outlet. These outlets were then covered with a folding leaf type radiator, which was used during the summer months and closed in winter."

"When this radiator is opened, there is a continuous current of cold air entering the home, causing a cold air phenomenon—blowing upon the drafts which force this cold air into the rooms, affording an abundant circulation of air."

"These cold air currents undoubtedly have their origin in the lava structures lying north of Shoshone, Idaho, in what is known as the Cave's. These underground caves have been formed in the solid ice imbedded in the lava structure at this place. Another peculiarity connected with these ice caves is the fact that the ice lining the caves freezes during winter months."

INCREASED LEVY IS ADOPTED BY COUNTY BOARD

Cut Requirements for County Hospital; Approve Municipal Assessments at Meeting Saturday

The county commissioners in meeting Saturday established tax levies for the year as tentatively agreed on at the last meeting, no changes being made. According to this levy, the assessment is 18 cents higher than last year, though it is explained that the amount includes a $50,000 sum necessary for the expenses in preparing for a 16-month period due to the change in the beginning of the fiscal year from January 1 to April 1.

The total sum to be raised for the state tax fund is $148,000, while for county purposes, $227,760 will be raised, making a total of $435,760. The levies amount to $1.75 on each $100 valuation, compared with $1.57 last year.

Drawing of approximately $22,000 from the state tax fund, reducing the balance to $19,000, made necessary the higher levy in that division, the state tax charge of $140,000 remains practically unchanged from 1927.

The county board decided to hold the hospital levy at 6 cents, a decrease from 2 cents, and the levy on this was suggested last week, but decision held pending a further investigation of the institution. The levy recommended that at the hospital has almost reached the point of self-sufficiency due to increasing revenues, a still further reduction in the levy might be made, but the commission considered that to play safe, the six-cent levy should be held for another year.

No levy is made this year for the first and second, as the county's share of the state motor vehicle license will meet obligations on the Hansen bridge bonds, the only outstanding bonds on the county. The final payment on the $100,000 court house bonds was made last year.

The school fund of $4 cents is one cent higher than last year, and provides for $15 for each child in the school between the ages of 6 and 18. The total fund for this purpose is $145,000.

In addition to the state and county levies, the board approved the 1928 levies on municipal, highway and school district assessments, as follows:

Little Shipped From State in Month of August

Idaho's exported farm surplus was comparatively small for August according to the report of the department of agriculture. It was explained as the smallest for the month in the last two years, 210 carloads being checked out in that thirty day period. Record potato supplies was given as the main cause of the shortage, the total for the last August being 200 as against 170 in the same month last year.

The balance of the exports included 4 cars of melons and one of peaches, 2 of prunes and one of pears. The latter two products were unusually early this year, as they did not come in shipments for August, 1927.

BEATHS

COBURN - Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon for E. E. Coburn, who was killed in an automobile accident at San Jose, California, last Tuesday. His wife was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown, at Castleford, when she received word of his death.

In accordance with his request, the American Legion post had charge of the funeral services. Numerous eulogies were given, and a fire salute of three volleys over the grave.

Employees of Skaggs stores were pallbearers. Mr. Coburn had been a store manager for Skaggs in California. He was residing on a district meeting of the company when the accident occurred.

THE FUMBLE FAMILY

SOME TEMPERI

ONE OFFER OVER NIGHT

LET THAT BE A LESSON TO YOU

By E. COURTNEY DUNKEL

Hundreds Mourn at Bier of Popular School Superintendent

One of the largest funerals ever held in Twin Falls honored Miss Charlotte Bond, superintendent of county schools, in the Methodist church Sunday afternoon. Rev. James Miller of Bull conducted the services, he and Mr. M. Van Patten, superintendent of high schools, giving thirty eulogies, very effective on Miss Bond and her work. The church was crowded, many not being able to gain entrance.

The floral display was beautiful, arranged by the Business and Professional Women's club, members of which organization attended the funeral in a body. The particularly appropriate floral offering was made by the county officers from the court house, some of whom had been fellow-workers of Miss Bond in the nearly six years of her services there.

Contracts For

(Continued from Page One) given over to experimenting with resistant strains of beet. The result, according to A. B. Huggar, agricultural superintendent for the Amalgamated Sugar company and the possibilities are good for development of a type of beet that will successfully resist the ravages of the white fly. The company proposes to replant those beet plants that related the insects the past summer in an attempt to breed a strain that will prove immune to the effects of the bugs.

White Fly and Bees Their work was a devastating one this year. In the West, Idaho, not to exceed three tons to the acre, while in the East End it will not be better than fifty per cent. The total production for the region is not expected to reach 1000 tons.

To dispose of the opinion of some that beans are liable to be much damaged from the fly as are beets, the men carrying on the experiment work point out that where beans and beets grow side by side, as in several instances on the North Side, the beets have been gradually eaten away during the season from a healthy condition in the early summer, while the beans will be practically all, while the beets are a luscious crop. This, they say, proves, as some authorities, that the white fly is a beet crop bug, and not one that will well with beets, as some beans when the beets are not grown.

These beets, that were allowed to grow in the early summer developed into prolific plants that did not produce abundantly. This, they say, is due to the fact that the beets were not given the same care as the beans, but as the week passed and the bugs became active, the beets withered away in spite of all till they are almost no crop to be harvested.

Contracts Ready in October The sugar company will issue the same form of contract for next year, these to be sent out beginning October 1. On the prospect of a good beet year in 1929, 16,000 acres will be contracted for.

If another forecast is made warning against planting, the contracts will be cancelled. But since the drying up of vegetation in the hills last fall is thought to have had something to do with the white prevalence of the white fly this year, the sugar company people are hoping confidently for a good beet year next season. Hence, the increase to 15,000 acres in the writing of contracts due to the fact that there is other plant life than that in the fields for the bugs to feed on. At any rate, the forecast given last spring proved a boon to the farmers, since it saved them from great losses that would certainly have occurred if they had tried to raise beets. Greater confidence in the value of the experiment has been created in consequence.

Governor Baldridge Comes to Kimberly

Preservation of American ideals, securing cooperation of farmers and business men, and keeping American markets for American produce, were thoughts stressed by Governor H. C. Baldridge in addressing the Kimberly grangers Saturday night. He held that without such cooperation and the solution of our national problem on the basis of a thorough study of fundamental needs, he found them, America can not attain its highest civilization.

Peavey Disposes of Abstract Co.

The Twin Falls Title and Abstract company, one of the prominent institutions in southern Idaho, will formally change hands October 1 when it will be taken over by the Internountain Title Guaranty company of Salt Lake.

The founder of the Twin Falls Title and Abstract concern, Arthur J. Peavey, will retain the loan insurance end of the business and will establish new quarters with Peavey-Taborsville "B" Smith, associated with the enterprise since 1911, will be vice president and manager under the new ownership.

The company was organized in 1907 and is a well established institution of its kind in the state. The Internountain Title and Guaranty company already pro-

New Blankets for Old!

Of course, we do not actually trade the soiled ones you send us... but one would almost believe as new when they are returned to you. Soft and fluffy... and clean! No home equipment can possibly knit woolen blankets, nor in fact, any wooler garments, in the superior manner of the modern laundry. And our prices are moderate for this invaluable service.

Instead of loaning money to foreign countries with which to establish industries in competition with our own, the governor advocated development of interior waterways as the most practical means of aiding the farming enterprise.
