SCOTCH FARMER HAS BIG YIELD

Produces Oats at Rate of 520 Bushels Per Acre— But Only on a Square Yard

A Scotch farmer and schoolmaster, George Copeland, started something when he sowed oats at the rate of 520 bushels per acre. His claim is not a mere boast, but only one square yard. He germinated seeds of oats in the window in chalk boxes. When the seedlings were two inches high they were transplanted into a garden. In two rows a foot apart and with six inches between the plants, the row was carefully pruned and each of the 12 plants produced an average of 215 seeds. In that way the 12 plants occupying one square yard yielded 25,800 seeds, which works out at the rate of 520 bushels per acre.

To plant an acre by this method would require less than ten bushels of seed. The other row, not sown, produced an average of 1350 seeds to the plant, or 3600 bushels per acre. This compares well with the average yield of bushels of oats.

One of the leading agricultural experts of Scotland stated that the method of Copeland could not be duplicated on a large acreage for several reasons: first, because garden-seedling oats are not sown as close together as the Scotch farmer's; second, that in the field 200 per cent of the plants would probably be lost; third, that such a method of farming makes the crop harvest only evenly and the soil is not subsequently reworked; fourth, because such a large yield on a large acreage would be too heavy for the plants to hold any. Also, such a method would necessitate pulling weeds by hand which would make the labor cost prohibitive, and finally, that such a method would necessitate widely spaced plants more than they can cross-pollinate as needed in the ordinary way.

So it is that Mr. Copeland has a long way to go before he can get his 520 bushels of oats per acre.

RAIN BENEFITS IDAHO
The rain which covered Idaho mostly generally last week as well as most of the west is counted of great benefit, not only for mending this fall, but by providing moisture which will improve crops next year. By having an improved winter, the bulk crop in the spring will be given an advantage.

Since practically all potatoes are out of the ground no damage has resulted from the rain, especially because it is not coming in such a manner as to cause frosts. Unless frosts present, a great deal of plowing will be made possible as a result of the week's storm following that of the previous week.

IDAHO SCHOOL STATUS IS TOLD

Population Gains Little Over Last Year—Twin Falls County Holds Third Place

Figures given out by the state superintendent of public instruction show Idaho's school population to remain almost the same for the year. Total enrollment a little more, but that of the children born in 1927, 33,000 being 121,627 school children for 1928, compared with 32,770 for last year.

High school students this year are 22,770 for last year. Twin Falls county holds the third place in the high school girls with the largest percentage of enrollment. These figures are as follows:

Elementary School	High School
Boys (1928) 50,400	19,300
Girls (1928) 46,841	12,200
Boys (1927) 50,350	11,150
Girls (1927) 45,600	12,217

SPUD PRICE RAISING
At least one farmer in Cassia county is reported to have refused $1.80 a bushel for his potatoes. Others have sold their product at that price, the market holding firm and farmers seeing no indication of gaining still greater prices. Slow shipments have tended to strengthen the situation. About half the crop is reported of less quality than that of last year, both for seed and other uses, and the price is also less, and 100 degrees below zero throughout the season.

SHADOW OF EARTH

Total Eclipse of the Moon Visible on November 27

Bar You'll Have to Be Up Early to See It!

Everyone in the United States will have the opportunity of seeing the total eclipse of the moon on November 27, but the best viewing will be in the western United States. The moon will be in the shadow of the earth at 11:42 o'clock, when the moon begins to enter. At 5:23 A. M. the eclipse will be over. Central time is one hour earlier, moon sets thus two hours and Pacific time three hours.

The moon will probably not disappear from view although entirely within the shadow for nearly an hour. Considerable sunlight is reflected into the shadow through the ring of the earth's atmosphere around the loss of the shadow. The moon at that time will be shining brightly.

During a lunar eclipse, recent observations have shown that the sun's surface temperature drops from 170 degrees Fahrenheit to 170 degrees below zero, and that the temperature of the atmosphere drops to 100 degrees below zero in the total phase.

A drop of 350 degrees in temperature will occur in some cases, but no one lives on the moon, so it is safe and harmless.

IDAHO HONOR ROLLS LISTED

Gen. States Ifas 157 Dairy Cows on Roll—Twin Falls County Represented

Idaho's herd honor roll for 1928, sent recently to the National Dairy Honor Roll of the National Dairy Association, includes a total of 157 herds. The roll includes all herds of five or more cows whose average production exceeded 30 pounds of butterfat. The first year closed July 1.

The number of herds on the honor roll from Idaho this year shows an increase of 10 per cent over that of 1927, according to recent news letter issued by the University of Idaho college of agriculture. The roll includes all herds of five or more cows whose average production exceeded 30 pounds of butterfat. The first year closed July 1, 1927.

A number of Idaho dairymen have made excellent records. Following is the list of 20 herds with five or more cows producing an average of more than 100 pounds of butterfat per cow per year from July 1, 1927, to July 1, 1928:

Herman Sandy, Nampa; Chester Hannon, Nampa; Chester Eggers, Meridian; Charles H. Hannon, Nampa; John H. Long, Bluff; Aloys Schuler, New Plymouth; Colburn Brothers, King Hill; F. W. Housh, Nampa; A. J. and H. R. Matthews, Ovid; Floyd Cressy, New Plymouth; Edgar Cressy, Jerome; Milton Erickson, Tinsley; F. J. Davis, Walters; H. E. Burton, Caldwell; Marion Harris, Emmett; S. W. High, New Plymouth; Robert Edman, Wendell; William R. Jones, L. A. Hymon, Ovid; C. H. Verman, Caldwell; Otto Welch, Nampa; H. H. Palmer, Emmett; Hunter Greer, King Hill; C. H. Blaney, New Plymouth; Floyd Boynton, Sweet, and David Hiett, Nampa.

Each of the other 137 herds comprising the honor roll for Idaho produced an average of 100 pounds of butterfat per cow per year. The honor roll for Idaho is increasing, which fact indicates the prosperity of the dairy industry in Idaho and that the dairymen are interested in keeping profitable cows, says the news letter.

A total of $2,600,000 was distributed November 16 to 6000 farmers in Idaho, Montana, Utah, Washington and South Dakota for beefs delivered to Utah-Idaho Sugar Company during October. Approximately $1,000,000 more than corresponding payment in 1927.

IDAHO LAMB'S WIN
Four carload lots of fat lambs owned by the Wood Lick stock company of Spencer, Idaho, were awarded first place at the first annual California Live Stock Show at San Francisco, Oct. 20-21. The lambs were from the Idaho stock show at San Francisco, Idaho, and the Nevada entries winning second and third prizes.

POULTRY SHIPPED
The U. S. Commerce of Weather recently shipped more than two tons of poultry to market. The consignment represented 3500 pounds of live chickens which were packed in five crates which were packed in the earth. As lined with other poultry at Good-Trommers now know far in advance and at Twin Falls to make sense the time and circumstances favorable. Mr. Commerce is a non-moon, near the middle and the end of the year, conditions are most for a long time, with the chickens favorable for eclipses.

EDUCATED COWS

Our dairy feed may be too strong for some cows—they may not relish it at first—they may be educated like boys when they start chewing tobacco, but this doesn't take an expert food chemist to teach the cows—rank feed to them gradually mixed with bran and ground barley. After they are educated they will say:

Feeding us dairy feed is a very good plan. It beats eating all bran. We don't have to eat all we can. To put a few gallons of milk in the can.

Now as to hurrying the hog to get fat quick. We think that's cruel. She has such a short figure on earth as her last. Time doesn't seem to cut much figure with the hog anyway. ONE FAITHFUL PUBLIC SERVANT ANOTHER

And now Dave Burrell is to go to Washington in the capacity of private secretary to Senator Thomas. The inter was touted during his recent successful campaign as a "Faithful Public Servant," his public services in their entirety consisting of his having been for years Republican national committeeman for Idaho, a position he still holds, by the way.

Now if Senator Thomas has been a faithful public servant, what about Dave Burrell? As one of the invisible seven, is he not entitled to equal consideration along with Senator Thomas? For his faithfulness to a Statesman, Mr. Thomas was made United States Senator. With the prospect of Senator Barnah retiring to accept the portfolio of Secretary of State under President Hoover, Governor Baldrige will have a second senatorial to go to fill.

If these places are to go to deserving Republicans without regard to ability, capacity or desirability, what's the big idea of shoving Dave off with a mere undersecretaryship as contrasted with the United States senatorship?

ELECTION RESULTS

For the balance of the year the public will hear many explanations of the election: deductions, analyses, and opinions.

Simply stated, it was his religion that beat Smith, and his defeat carried candidates on the ticket with him, clear down to the office of justice of the peace.

To prove the contention made in the second paragraph, here is press report that shows convincingly how half a million of the 35 million voters could have elected Smith over Hoover, had they swung to him, and they doubtlessly would have swung excepting for the religious issue. The interesting analysis just cited, follows:

Governor Smith won about 41 per cent of the entire popular vote on the basis of nearly complete figures, as compared to James M. Cox in 1920.

In Although Governor Smith trailed Mr. Hoover by more than 6,000,000 votes, he could have won the election if his fervent personal campaign had persuaded something less than 500,000 voters who cast their vote for Mr. Hoover to vote for Smith. The count was: Hoover 2,700,000; Smith 2,200,000. The count was: Hoover 2,700,000; Smith 2,200,000.

For instance, Mr. Hoover's plurality in Arizona was only 7000. Had Governor Smith obtained 4000 of Mr. Hoover's votes he would have won the State.

Similarly he could have won Connecticut with 21,000, Florida with 18,000, Maryland with 38,000, Missouri with 78,000, Montana with 12,000, Nevada with 2000, New Hampshire with 18,000, New Mexico with 3000, New York with 50,000, North Carolina with 6000, Tennessee with 28,000, Texas with 10,000, Utah with 7000, Virginia with 12,000, Wisconsin with 50,000 and Nebraska with 20,000.

This would have given him an electoral total of 285 when added to the eight states with 81 electoral votes which he won.

Governor Smith increased the 1924 Democratic vote by 68 per cent, while Mr. Hoover increased the 1924 Republican vote by only 27 per cent.

The vote was the greatest ever cast, both in total number of ballots and in percentage of eligible voters who went to the polls. The total count to date, with only a few hundred precincts missing, is 24,021,311, which is more than 55 per cent of the total eligible voting citizenry of the country.

The latest figures show Mr. Hoover a vote of 20,234,035 and Governor Smith 14,224,191, a plurality for Mr. Hoover of 6,107,799. Mr. Hoover's electoral vote of 444 came from 40 states and Governor Smith's 87 were garnered in eight states.

FOUR-YEAR TERMS

The Citizen trusts that the voters of Idaho did not approve the proposed constitutional amendment which would extend the terms of state officials from the present two years to four years.

Regardless of how the vote turned out it will continue to be necessary to hold elections every two years and to conduct state conventions to name candidates for congress, which eliminates any party in the state.

It is doubted if two-thirds of the electorate have approved the proposed plan, but if they have, only the best results will be obtainable by having state elections conducted in one year and simultaneous with presidential elections, which would be the case if it is ruled that the amendment is to go into effect at once and made to apply to the incoming state officers.

What has come over Mr. Coolidge? He has delivered two public addresses since election day, and both of them have gone to the American people via the radio. This undue and unbecoming talkativeness on his part forebodes the belief that he will "go out like a lion" when March comes in next year "like a lamb."

THE TOWN LADY ASSES THE WAY

The State We Live In

By SYRUS DEFENBACH, State Treasurer.

Glacial deposits in Idaho are probably not citizens of Idaho so familiar with its remote regions than Mr. Stewart Campbell, state mine inspector. He is the writer's authority on the subject and that there is no longer a living glacier in Idaho, perhaps has not been for thousands of years. But the results of glacial action are apparent all through our mountainous sections, and the remains of these tremendous glacial phenomena are interesting features of the state we live in.

How Glaciers Were Formed

It is difficult to avoid technical words in describing a glacier. Imagine a spot so high, or for some reason so cold that more snow falls than melts, and the evaporation of water will eventually become so deep as to exert enormous pressure and pile up snow masses of this compressed snow will begin to flow toward lower levels. The world's two greatest glaciers, the Greenland and the South Polar, are dome-shaped ice deposits flowing in practically all directions from their centers to the sea.

ONE LESSON IS CLEAR (Haley Times) Incomplete figures from the election in Idaho make it clear that only the tremendous Hoover landslide saved Governor Baldrige and his administration from a smashing defeat. While the majority for Mr. Hoover in the state is expected to be about 45,000, the majority for Governor Baldrige would not be half that.

These figures demonstrate the effectiveness of the campaign waged by Ben Ross for governor. Mr. Ross went into every county with the demand that the tax burden be reduced and that the farmer and the home owner be relieved of a share of this burden, and that in a wealthy and prosperous condition be made to bear their just share of the tax; that the overhead cost of operating the state government be reduced and that the taxpayer receive 100 cents' worth of service for every dollar expended.

There is abundant evidence that this vigorous and courageous crusade by Mr. Ross has borne good fruit. The vote started to power in the state will attest to the shaking up they received.

GRANGE NEWS

HOLLISTER GRANGE The Hollister Grange met in regular session in the Masonic hall Thursday evening, November 8. The attendance was fairly good. Two new members took the obligation, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rippey.

There were also two applications for membership. The Master spent a short time giving some of the unwritten work.

The Grange just learned they have been named by letters of commendation to the National Grange Saturday, November 10. Mr. and Mrs. John Farmer, Mrs. A. E. Kunkel and family were designated to look after this at Filer and did so. Seven of our members took the fifth degree and became members of Potomac Grange No. 11.

This being "Idaho Night," will call be rounded up by letters of commendation to the National Grange Saturday, November 10. Mr. and Mrs. John Farmer, Mrs. A. E. Kunkel and family were designated to look after this at Filer and did so. Seven of our members took the fifth degree and became members of Potomac Grange No. 11.

Mr. Hawkins, science and mathematics teacher in our high school, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the Educational system of Idaho. D. D. Kunkel discussed the taxable property of Idaho at length.

The evening closed with a demonstration of hand shaking and a halo lunch.

The Grange's annual prize writing essay contest is now on. High school and seventh and eighth grades. Unusual interest is being shown. The next meeting will be December 13. The Northwest Grange plans to be our guests. Let's have everyone out. - Mrs. A. E. Kunkel, lecturer.

Raindrops Are Measured

If 312 average raindrops were piled one on top of the other they would make an inch of rain. This has been determined at University College, London, where they found that raindrops were measured. The exact number of raindrops that constitute an inch of rain, some being ten times as large as the average.

SHORT FARMER COURSES GIVEN

Instruction is given at University of Idaho increases Farm Income

The University of Idaho is offering several special courses in agriculture for the benefit of students who are planning to follow farming as a profession. These courses are being given until March, with one to end in January. These courses are referred to as being especially valuable because they cost the students but little compared with what the expenses would be if they were taken from a private commercial school.

The courses include motor mechanics, practical agriculture, and Commercial delaying, the latter being given during the first term. The motor mechanics course is being given by the recently organized agricultural engineering department of the college of agriculture.

This course has two main purposes, one being to give persons who intend to do power farming, the best manner of taking care of their power equipment, and the other one is to fit those who have mechanical ability for work in the power plant.

The new course in practical agriculture includes instruction in crops, soils, livestock and dairying. The commercial dairying course is designed to instruct prospective dairymen in all the modern phases of this enterprise.

All these courses are open to those who have had a grade school education. Information concerning them may be obtained from Dean E. J. Tidings of the college.

POMONA GRANGE HAS IMPORTANT ANNUAL MEET

Officers Elected and Resolutions Adopted on Matters of Agricultural Interest. This Session

In addition to electing officers for the ensuing year, the Twin Falls Pomona Grange at its recent meeting passed several resolutions dealing with important matters of direct interest to the members. The full list of officers is as follows:

F. L. Atkins, master; Mrs. A. L. thea M. Smith, secretary, both of Buhl; H. C. Leth, Hanson, overseer; Mrs. E. L. Hays, at home; dam, lecturer; Harry Brandon of Kimberly, steward; Tom Tarka of Castleford, assistant steward; Rex E. E. Bartlett, of Buhl, chairman; I. G. Cobb of Cedar-Draw, treasurer; Charles C. Hart of Northview, gatekeeper; Mrs. E. L. Hays, at home; Dubl; July assistant steward; Mrs. E. C. Tiekson, of Piler, Correspondent; Mrs. P. E. Bartlett, Pomona; Mrs. Gustav Kasper, of Buhl, Flora.

The Grange decided that the proposal to establish the county seed system in regard to administration of state legislation should be thoroughly investigated and it was accordingly agreed that each member Grange should state its own matter more intensively before any recommendation is made by the Pomona Grange.

Another resolution approved the idea as passed on previously by the Piler and Castleford Granges for the conducting of the Ada county fair into a state fair to be held at Boise. This was discontinued several years ago because Idaho has become a state fair in the only state in the country outside several in the south which have annual fairs, although it is primarily an agricultural state. The matter was first discussed at the last Ada county fair when stock men met a state fair as a means of creating competition among the marketing advantages of Idaho.

The Pomona Grange also voted $25 to help pay the expense of member Grange to attend the state fair judging team to Kansas City; to pay the county fair directors, and to have a tax lot upon all butter substitutes. This latter has been approved by the Lucerne Grange in Twin Falls county, and has been actively used by Granges in the majority of the state.

It is designed to have the legislature pass a law requiring the payment of one cent a pound for all vegetable oils used as butter substitutes and to have dealers engaged in this business pay a certain percentage of the amount of such substitutes they sell. This is intended as a contribution to home production which are authorized to pay a $25 annual tax and to make monthly reports to the Director of dairying.

TURKEYS SHIPPED
Among the turkey shipments which have left Idaho in the last 100 days for the Thanksgiving market were 70,000 birds from Nampa, the largest shipment ever to leave that town. The turkeys brought $160,000 on the New York market. Burley shipped nearly 17,000 turkeys, Gooding, four, bringing $37,000, Shoshone two, and Twin Falls county eight or more.

REXBURG HOST TO SEED SHOW

Twin Falls Men Take Part in Discussions at Exhibition of Gem State Products

Two Twin Falls men will be on the program at the Idaho State Seed show at Rexburg, this week, when one of the leading agricultural officials of the west will be present to give addresses and take part in the discussions relative to farm enterprise in Idaho. Frank Thomsen of Twin Falls, vice president of the seed show, and other men from this territory, will also attend the exhibition.

County Agent R. E. Drossard will take part in the seed show discussion, this county being one of those most actively engaged in this work. If R. Spafford of the Albert Dickinson Seed company, Twin Falls, will be on the program for discussion concerning production and marketing of seed.

Twin Falls county's seed exhibit will have gone in. They are about the same, both for the Rexburg seed show and for the International Livestock show at Chicago the first week in December, as they were last year, with prospects equally good for winning awards.

Some of the most interesting subjects to be discussed, regarding Twin Falls territory, have to do with certified seed potato buying and selling pools in the United States; storage and marketing of certified seed potatoes; feeding soil potatoes and other by-products to livestock; feeding by-products of the sugar beet industry; marketing wheat on grade.

There will also be numerous discussions concerning all farm crops and problems relating to their production, grading and marketing.

Monday was Tulsa day special with President Fred Gustafson of the association presiding. Frank Thomsen of Twin Falls will be chairman on Tuesday, Marketing

PLAY "GLORY" SET NEXT WEEK

The musical comedy "Glory" written by Ralph Herron and Robert Deiss of Twin Falls, and which was originally scheduled to be played here Wednesday of this week, has been postponed until Monday and Tuesday, November 26 and 27, because of the flu epidemic. Rehearsals have been going on steadily, the extended time providing opportunity for better preparation.

There will be about 76 in the cast, with one third this number in the college group which depicts the opening scene of the play. All parts are taken by local young people of the high school and town.

Messrs Herron and Deiss are now working on their second dramatic sketch in collaboration. It is entitled "Twelve Times Thirteen." The one now in rehearsal, "Glory" was written in Yellowstone park last summer, Miss Mar-garet Scilley of Twin Falls helping design and cut the 80 costumes used. She also composed one of the songs which she sings in the play. Nine others were written by Miss Marjorie Robertson of Blackfoot, a cousin of Mr. Herron.
