SERMONS WITHOUT WORDS

There are sermons all around us, just waiting to be seen; and they are so impressive—far more so to me than those framed artfully for our ears.

I have seen the young mother putting her first babe to the breast for the very first time. No word to the sacred life.

Man, militant proponent of liberty and freedom, chief exponent of the rights of his own devices, man who becomes a destroyer of all about him, transforming the natural into the artificial, the sublime to the ridiculous.

Not all persons are pleasing, especially those we see; but they are sermons, nevertheless, and bringing with them the seed of such faithful sermons is wise, whether seen or heard, it is our duty to see and hear.

JINNY BELLS BY FRANK R. ADAMS

WHAT HAPPENED SO FAR. Twin Blilack is the motor. He is a fat newspaper writer who drives a tumbler-down car he calls Grandmother Pats. He is in love with Margella, his sister-in-law. Cooper, the three are members of an amateur dramatic group. Plans for a play at the Old Sol. Home are under way. Grandmother Pats has engine trouble while Margella is out driving with Blilack and Cooper, passing in a big roadster, taunting Blilack's able to start his car again.

She spoke accusingly, as if I had made a blunder of some sort or purpose. "That was a sensitive subject, strength. Lots of men are." "I didn't know there was anything criminal in being slightly curved. It really comes from with me." "But no one ever saw a bow-legged statue before," she argued reticently. "I don't care personally. I suppose that lots of really estimable men have personal peculiarities; but can you imagine a sculptor creating a statue intentionally bow-legged? Why didn't you tell me?" she asked. "Why didn't you tell me?" "Well," I murmured, "I didn't think you knew you well enough for that." "The play is ruined," she declared. "Not at all," I said with as much injured dignity as I could command in white tights. "You can easily get some one else to play this part. If you look around the club you can find a dozen or so with legs like bean-poles."

she were a man so that I could say what I really thought. "You've no idea how your praise makes me feel." "I'm glad. I thought you were sort of blue over here all by your self, so I decided to cheer you up." Then she added hastily for fear she had ruined the effect of her praise! "I really meant what I said though about your being funny." The dear little featherhead was trying to make me feel good! She was prompted by the incident which makes one wroth to a voice the bliss inflicted by another. I was a bore not to accept her tribute in the spirit in which it was offered. "Thanks ever so much," I assured her, and reaching over carelessly I patted her hand, which lay on her knee.

DAIRY COOPERATIVES

Reports on file with the United States Department of Agriculture show that in the year 1927 there were 2,497 cooperative dairy associations in the United States which had a business of $640,000,000. This is an increase of 140 per cent over that done by dairy organizations in 1915. The most conspicuous growth in the marketing of dairy products cooperatives has been in the three states of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa, where 41 per cent of the creamery butter manufactured in the United States is produced. Reliable estimates indicate that 60 per cent of the creamery butter coming from these States is manufactured cooperatively.

PUBLIC MUST BACK TAX REDUCTION

One of the great curses of government, and one that has an appreciable effect on the tax bill, is overlapping in the administration of public business. Our recent units of government grow under a dead weight of red tape and inefficiency caused by too much injudicious activity of a political sort and too little responsibility. We cannot have too much efficiency and economy in government until public officials and public employees regard themselves not as independent agents with vast sums of money at their command, but as public servants responsible to every taxpayer. There is a great amount of talk about over-taxation, but little intelligent action. We all see the need of placing government on a sound business basis but fail to encourage cures. Antiquated systems, a superabundance of employes, many of them useless, and political stultification and evasion cost money. It is the concern of every taxpayer so see that all bits of government are efficiently, economically and honestly administered. Until that is done taxes will continue to climb.

THE RURAL POLICE SITUATION

Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War and President of the National Crime Commission, has made this interesting statement: "There is an undoubted feeling throughout the country that our whole system of detecting and apprehending criminals falls far short of that efficiency which is required to meet modern crime conditions. "While the problem as it relates to our larger cities has received the greatest public attention, it is the feeling of the Commission that the rural constabulary in general is in even greater need of a thorough overhauling. "It is the thought of the commission that the full power and resources of each state can be placed at the command of those entrusted with the police duties in our rural districts to a far greater extent than is now done. "The national crime commission has wisely appointed a special committee to deal with the police problem throughout the country. It is planned to reorganize the American police system on a modern scientific basis.

THE ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL

Shortly after his death in 1919 a group of his friends formed the Roosevelt Memorial Association and raised a fund of about $1,750,000. The aim of the association is to erect a monumental memorial to Roosevelt in Washington, as well as to promote the ideals of Roosevelt in other ways. Now the efforts of the association are coming to fruition. Steps have been taken to erect the monumental memorial, a site has been selected, an architect chosen, a design submitted to Congress and one million dollars appropriated from the association's fund. In addition, the Association sponsors the Roosevelt Distinguished Service Medals, and has made an extensive study of all documents relating to Roosevelt's literary works and in other ways has disseminated knowledge of the great American president. The record of the association is solid rather than showy. There has been no beating of the tom-tom. There has been a quiet, dignified effort to keep the Spirit of Roosevelt alive in the hearts of all Americans. We are only too glad to express our appreciation of this noble and public spirited work.

"THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW"

There is a great deal of talk about the need for law enforcement and respect for laws. Civilization cannot be maintained without general observance of the restrictions society has created to protect itself. But something equally important, and less considered, is that there is always a crying need for laws worthy of respect. A tremendous percentage of persons now in prison are there because of "crimes" that 25 years ago were not illegal. The life and liberty of the American is hemmed in by legal straits. Law-making bodies have gone on orgies of legislation. Apparently nothing is too tyrannical or too absurd to place on the statute books. Instead of a well-ordered scientific legal code such as was contemplated by the fathers of this country, we have thousands of petty, con-ing ordinances whose enforcement is hopelessly befogged by miles of red tape and bureaucracy. It is no wonder that many self-respecting Americans are beginning to look with a cynical eye on all laws. Deprotic and illogical laws breed contempt for legislation. It is not freedom that creates anarchists, but tyranny. Constitutional rights are disregarded by law-makers. Personal liberty is becoming little more than a pleasant dream from the past. Millions of good Americans are technically criminals. There are hopeful signs that this modern "there ought to be a law" age of government will pass. No law can long survive the contempt of great bodies of people. As a nation we would do well to uphold our constitutional rights instead of permitting them to be smothered by bureaucracy and paternalism which destroy liberty and kill private initiative and enterprise. The majority of our people are well disposed and honest and not such morose as the politicians seem to believe.

The State We Live In

By BYRON DEFENDAGH
State Treasurer

Idaho's first era, that of discovery, ended rather definitely on Christmas, 1811; it was succeeded by 20 years of exploration and settlement. But the real era of mining and railroad building had its sharp beginning with the discovery of gold in 1862. In 1860, Idaho mining, as a dominating industry lasted less than ten years; by that time the great gold rush was over and many of the people engaged in the industry had left the territory.

In 1870, there were only 15,000 people in Idaho, one person to each six square miles. Although this figure was doubled by 1880, the decade is considered the duller ten years in all our later history. Its only high-light was the construction of the first railroad, coming into Franklin from the south in 1874, and a series of Indian wars. Sheep-ranger fights definitely ended our Indian troubles.

In 1870, the Utah Northern rail built through Pocatello and north to Butte. It was a cutie little road, the rails only three feet apart as against the standard of over four feet and a half. The rails were on a bed of sand. The road was followed in 1890. But the great event of these years was one that revived and continued the mining era. In 1883, rich ores began to be uncovered in the Coeur d'Alene district; there was the usual rush into the country. Some of the veins they discovered are still being worked.

In 1885 the legislature approved the first 900. The road was followed in 1890. But the great event of these years was one that revived and continued the mining era. Hays filed suit for divorce at Salt Lake last, charging irresponsibility and health and key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy; Christian Science commands man to have master the propensities; hold hatred in abhorrence with kindness, to conquer lust with charity, revenge with charity and to overcome deceit with honesty. Cloke these errors in their early stages, if you would not cherish an army of conspirators against health, happiness and success. The good man finally can overcome his fear of sin. IDAHO'S DAIRY FARMERS PLAN FINEST SHOW

Series of Exhibitions This Summer Will Include Judging Contests and Various Demonstrations.

Idaho dairy farmers are preparing for the livestock spring and summer show season in the history of the industry, according to County Agent H. C. Brown. The show on exhibition to be held in Twin Falls county some time in June is part of the state wide program of twenty-two county dairy shows which start May 11 and continue to July 8.

Idaho's dairy show program this year contains many interesting and new educational features, according to information received by the state agent from D. L. Fourn, field chairman with the University of Idaho college of agriculture extension division. Sponsors of the state's community dairy shows are endeavoring to make these events of fundamental importance in development of a more efficient dairy industry.

The spring show plan indicates that some shows will present the "cash" dairy bull in contrast with the good bull. Another exhibit of interest to progressive dairymen will be a standard butter in contrast with a well grown butter of about the same age. Still another display of educational importance will be a scrub purchased cow with a small dairy herd improvement association record.

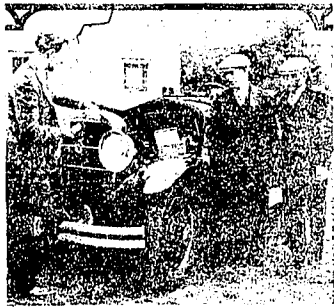

Several of the shows, reports Mr. Fourn, are planning dairy herd improvement association judging contests. Four cows of the same breed, similar type, but with wide difference in production records, will be assembled. Visitors will be invited to select the cow which they think is the best producer. After the contest is over the records, showing feed cost and profit per cow, will be placed over each animal. This exhibit will stress the necessity of keeping accurate records on the production of each animal in the herd.

Get of sire will be emphasized by exhibits of dams and daughters to show how-bred type and production can be transmitted by a good sire. Another interesting exhibit suggested by Mr. Fourn is building a herd from one foundation cow and good sire. There will also be judging demonstrations of both cows and sires, judging contests with four cows and four yearling heifers, and calf club demonstration.

LANDS ADMITTED
The American Falls district receiver last Wednesday accepted the application of letters of the Hecox tract for admittance into the district. Application was made during the winter as a means of increasing the building supply for that farm area. Out of more than 11,000 acres, slightly more than 8000 are included in this application.

Federal Land loan established at Gooding.

FERRY PERMIT IS APPLIED FOR

Jerome County Commissioners Defer Action: Weed Commissioner Appointed.

At the last regular meeting of the Jerome county commissioners Monday an application for operation of a ferry across the Snake river was presented by Alpha Kinsey. The council was busy with the weed eradication program and other business matters and deferred action on Kinsey's petition until the next meeting two weeks hence.

Andrew Anderson was reported at the commissioners' meeting to still hold a franchise for the ferry but had been operating it for some time. Kinsey was understood to have the backing of the Idaho Power company whose plant is located on the Snake river near the landing of the present ferry. The Jerome commissioners have the authority to issue a franchise for operating a ferry between the Jerome and Twin Falls county sides of the river, Mrs. Charlotte Robertson, the applicant reported.

At this meeting the commissioners reappointed Elmer Plattner to be weed commissioner for this year.

With an appropriation of approximately $7000 for this purpose, about $2000 more than was included in the original budget, the commission plan to conduct as thorough a campaign as possible. They have the cooperation of the county agent, the O. S. L. railroad company, the North Side Canal company, the local and state highway department, and individual farmers and citizens.

Noxious weeds cover the Jerome farm area about evenly as far as the different varieties are concerned, the report showed. Considerable benefit was accomplished last year. The Jerome county commissioners declared an emergency in regard to the 1919 session laws of the state and authorized an increase in the salary of the prosecuting attorney from $1400 to $1800 a year, Jerome being a fourth class county.

ROTARY ELECTS
L. I. Breckenridge, manager of the Twin Falls Flour mills, was made president of the Twin Falls Rotary club at the annual meeting Wednesday. R. P. Parry, attorney, was elected vice-president; with Edward Cooper, John D. Goss, A. J. Peavey, George White and Roy A. Reed, directors.

FLAMING YOUTH STAR IN FLAMING YOUTH HIT

Colleen Moore Brings Flaming Youth Up to Date

American's eyeless, under-performed youth, super-sophisticated

an example of propriety, is colorfully pictured in the Orpheum Theatre's screen attraction, "Why Be Good?" in which Colleen Moore plays the stellar role.

The story of this comely-dramatic of the type that first carried Miss Moore to the heights of popularity, although the plot is decidedly original, and the characterizations of the most up-to-date society. Miss Moore appears as a typical example of the modern girl, her behavior and personality being the last word, and her speech full of elegant wisecracks.

Although the story of "Why Be Good?" is essentially humorous, there are moments of serious drama interspersed with the frivolous episodes, the question propounded in the title being answered in a dramatic climax that is said to equal the finest work Miss Moore has ever contributed to the screen.

Neil Hamilton, in the chief supporting role, is seen as Miss Moore's leading man for the first time, while others playing important roles are Bobb Rosing, Edward Martindel and Louis Nunnally. "Why Be Good?" was directed by William A. Selzer for First National Pictures, the story having been written especially as a vehicle for Miss Moore by Carey Wilson.
