People are necessarily weak to read. We would be better off if we could read the words of a very general rule gentleness is easier than a fight.

"The real test is who does not know himself," said Oscar Wilde. "A man must know himself, and less than he says he does not know himself."

I have observed that the more I read the world is wither, the better and more important it becomes.

In reading I often encounter the name of Oscar Wilde. He is usually a dull, though explained by the magnitude of his reputation. I have read his "The Picture of Dorian Gray" and "The Importance of Being Earnest".

Oscar Wilde, most prominent of the English writers of the late nineteenth century, was a man of letters, a wit, a philosopher, and a man of thought.

TARIFF PLANTLES

General Winfield Scott Hancock ran for President in 1880 against General James A. Garfield. General Hancock did not know anything about politics; but he had a lot of common sense. His most famous campaign utterance was:

"The tariff is a local issue."

That ineptitude ruled General Hancock politically. Yet it was true, and is still true, but the politicians do not want the public to believe it. Their jobs too often depend upon making their constituents believe that the country will go to ruin if tariff rates are not increased, or reduced or something.

The current squabble in the Senate over the proposed new tariff law furnishes new proof of General Hancock's dictum. Local interests are dominant in the discussions, active in the lobby. "Southern" groups, "Western" interests, "Eastern" manufacturers and communities are struggling to gain advantage over other sections. The frank Mr. Grundy, representing the Pennsylvania manufacturers, tells a Senate committee that he regards Idaho and other states as "backward" and regrets that they have equal representation in the Senate. Senator Moses of New Hampshire laments his dignity enough to term the Western Senators who disagree with him "sons of the wild jacknass."

The present tariff law provides a Tariff Commission and gives it the President ample power to revise tariff rates whenever and however national interests require such revision. Some simpliminded folk thought that was going to end the spectacle of the suspension of other public business in Congress while localities and local groups fought each other for the extra dollars.

No intelligent politician ever had any such idea. That is not the way politics operates. National interests are one thing, getting re-elected by local votes is something else again. In a controversy of this kind, it is always the national—that is to say the general public's—interest that suffers in precise proportion to the degree in which a given locality or industry profits.

The word "tariff" comes from Tarifa, the African seaport where the Algerian pirates made their headquarters and from which they sailed forth to levy tribute on passing merchantmen. Uncle Si Tinklepaugh says he can't see but what it still means the same thing.

Fashions in skirts and hair are getting longer. There doesn't seem to be anything more man can do about it, but we wish some women could see themselves the way they look in the half-way stage.

Eastern newspapers have revived the controversy over the shortest poem in the English language. Years ago the New York Sun gave the prize to this one, entitled "Fleas."

Adam
Had 'em.

Lem Pixley went over to the flying field the other day to watch the parachute jumpers. He says that fellow that got killed falling out of a ten story window in his pajamas would have landed all right if he'd worn an old-fashioned night-shirt.

Never start anything your wife can't finish.

Few are so deaf as to miss a whisper of scandal.

Modern blue sky laws take the form of airplane regulations.

A woman can't run as fast as a man, but she generally catches him.

Just when everybody agreed that stocks couldn't go any lower they did.

The fellow who really has inside information usually keeps it that way.

Appearances are often deceiving. A attack of dynamite looks harmless enough.

"The truth shall make you free," sometimes. Oftener it would send folks to jail.

We are not in favor of these schools for salesmen. They sell us too much stuff now.

The French are said to dislike distastefully American dishes—such as French fried potatoes.

An advertised hair remover has been declared a fraud. But the hair restorer appear to get by.

Restrictions on importation of foreign nuts is advocated. Another good idea that came a little late.

Senate insurgents refused to accept the regular offer to surrender on the tariff, because that would have left nothing to fight about.

"VERY LATESTS"

By CHICILE

Mildly's coat this season will be of the charming new wrap-around style shown in the illustration, with direct collar and wide cuffs. Of necessity the coats will be longer... a natural concession to the new mode of dress.

Of course, the new coats are all variations of the new silhouette and designed for the mode of slender, chic, showing the new fur or slightly mottled straight lines.

Among the favorite furs are beaver, lapin, caracul, Persian lamb, racoon, bit fox, Canadian wolf, badger and human lynx.

Furries and ermine, and include Kashmir and suede, broadcloth, velour de noir and imported threads.

Individually appropriate fur trimmings are the boss of the show, as Mildly is contented with a great many styles of trimming to choose from. Indeed, this line of fur coats is a greater and greater hold on the World of Fashion. Perhaps a revolt against the wearing of most things, "what do you know? Even the men are beginning to look for variety and exclusive individuality. Can women do less?"

This Fall the woman has her choice in coats and frocks of fur, silk, lace and wrap without, too, all three most charming and effective.

There seems to be a positive proof for an old saying, "furs are black. Anyone who lunched on that New York avenue of fashion, Park Avenue, cannot fail to notice this. One suit of nappy dull-finished worsted was observed, extensively worn in favored Parkland, with a vestee and collar of the fur, sleeve cuffs and narrow cuffs and wide, triangular front panels down the skirt of the unadorned coat. To perfect this ravishing outfit, there was a black felt hat with the fur-trimmed band, and a fur turban. A jeweled pin worn struck through one side.

Made Twenty Millions

Just as Livermore, famous as a "bull" speculator, is said to have cleaned up between twenty and thirty million dollars in a few days through the decline in prices on the Stock Exchange.

UNIVERSITY GUILD INSTALLS CHAPTER

An event of interest in Twin Falls was the installation of the Maytag chapter, November 18 of the Idaho Delta chapter, of Pi Omicron sorority, which took place at the B. and P. W. club rooms. A fine group of progressive women and girls, interested in educational and cultural advancement, who have enrolled as members in the university guild were present and displayed much enthusiasm and eagerness in anticipation of the class work to come.

Mrs. Golda Holt Fisher, regional director of the guild, opened the meeting by welcoming the accepted members into the national organization, after which Mrs. Elmer Barron, North, education director and speaker of the evening, was introduced. She addressed the women and girls in a very delightful and inspirational manner regarding the benefits and pleasures to be derived in following the course of study prescribed by the university guild.

Mrs. North's talk was enthusiastically received and the sentiment was expressed that her charming personality, wide knowledge and ability to impart that knowledge was only a further indication that the educational director has been well chosen.

The following officers were elected to serve for a period of one year: president, Mrs. Margherite Keez; vice president, Mrs. Ella White; C. E. Telephone News

70 New Telephones Today

MORE TELEPHONES—MORE PEOPLE YOU CAN REACH QUICKLY

Today you can reach 70 more telephones throughout the Mountain States territory than you could yesterday. Tomorrow, 70 more will be available. During each hour of every working day, approximately 200 new telephones will be added for at the end of October, the number of telephones installed in the Mountain States had been about 70 a day, throughout this year.

Perhaps you may have no reason to call any of these new telephones today, but tomorrow one of them may provide a contact that is most necessary to your business. Your telephone may call some of these new subscribers to call by telephone. Some may be manufacturers of products you need—others may be local merchants who enable you to reach the customer.

The 2100 new telephones which will be installed in the Mountain States territory this year mean more people you can reach quickly; more things that can be quickly and satisfactorily accomplished by telephone. With each working day additional offices and homes are being connected by the fastest, most personal means of communication. Each day increases the value and usefulness of your telephone.

THANKSGIVING

There are certain days in the year when we all like to be at home—on Thanksgiving. If you are unable to be with your family, exchange greetings by telephone. Perhaps you will want to bring friends or relatives from out of town to have dinner with you—telephone is the easiest and most personal way of communicating your invitation.

SOVIET AGENTS INSPECT TWIN FALLS PROJECT

If Cold Comes Can Winter Be Far Behind?

Four Russian Officials Seek Latest Methods On Irrigation for Great Development Program.

A party of four Russians representing the Soviet government spent three days in Twin Falls early this week looking over the project with special regard to the system of irrigation. They were accompanied by Manager John Higgins of the Twin Falls Canal company who spent a number of years on Colorado projects before returning to Twin Falls last spring. These Russians have been in Colorado for about six weeks looking over irrigation tracts there and studying the language in a special school for foreigners. They are Ilakop M. Haskopian of the Caucasus Water Economy System; Sergio G. Zarnovskiy, Alexander A. Gimsky and Mitlana A. Kulkonova of the Central-Asiatic Water Economy system. Mrs. Kulkonova is an instructor in the Central Asia university at Jashkent, Turkestan.

The temperature reports indicate that winter is practically all here but the snow and even a flicker of that fall recently. The softest thermometer recorded a degree above zero Wednesday morning and 11 degrees above on Thursday morning. The latter record, especially bitter because of a biting wind that swept in from the southwest. The cold maintained during the day, but moderated somewhat by noon. An Eastern Colorado and other Rocky Mountain areas have been snowed in during the week. The cold spell here indicates that the winter blast is general.

Test Wells To Be Tried Out

As a means of supplying additional water for the farmlands in the Big Lost River and the Little Lost River valleys, Harold P. Stearns, geologist of the U. S. Geological survey, has called for bids on digging about twenty test wells in that region. Two of the contracts were to be let this week and work started at an early date. Geologists have estimated that 100,000 acre feet of water may be saved in the Big Lost River valley and that 150,000 acre feet of underground water may be recovered in the Little Lost River valley. The test wells are to determine the character of water-bearing formations and to decide the location of a large filtration ditch to supply water to lands now inadequately irrigated. They will determine how much water may exist in the region and how much of it may be saved.

State Ready To Clear Roads

The higher mountain passes are still free for traffic the state highway department reports, but by midday now they will be blocked with their annual fall of snow. The department is assembling equipment to be stationed at various points to keep the main through roads clear. One of these highways to be kept free is the road to Holey. This was open most of last winter, despite one of the deepest snows the region ever had. Improvements during this summer will also make for better traffic conditions during the winter.

Favors A Bond Issue On Roads

The Lewiston chamber of commerce has proposed a state bond issue to finance the filling of all paved highways in Idaho. Under this plan the bonds would be repaid from a special state tax, but not more than 25 per cent of the fund would be tied up to secure the bonds. The plan is to be studied by a committee representing all sections of the state. The Lewiston organization believes that with funds available from the highway bonds a special first road resulted in the verdict after 12 hours of deliberation by the jury immediately following the first moon trial. The club contends that selling would add two years to the three-year trial period of the present of forming rural school districts. The specific charge is a $180 check on the Berger school district. More than $8000 has been found missing.

Prize Local Tract
These officials have had praise to the extent and fertility of the tract and were especially interested in the system of irrigation used here, not only the diversions but also of the canal company as a whole but by the individual farmer. The diversion structures and other equipment as an operation and maintenance methods were all inspected with much interest.

The Russians explained that the Soviet government has a $30,000,000 annual program under way for developing agricultural lands and resources. They have three immense projects now started or contemplated, one of which covers 1,000,000 acres of level land that used to be a part of the Black sea. It will be devoted to cotton-raising.

Studying Whole World
Their trip to the United States is part of an extensive study program outlined by the Russian government. This will take ten years for completion and will include research of all the large irrigation projects throughout the world. These people planned a year's stay in America and have been here two months.

Moon Murder Trial Starting
Daniel F. Moon, 70, is scheduled to go on for a second trial Friday on a first degree murder charge. The first trial resulted in no verdict after 32 hours of deliberation. It is accused of killing Jack Legg, son of sheriff, July 11.

WORLD CHAMPION WRESTLER BY EDITOR OF SEVERAL CHAMPIONSHIP ATHLETIC MAGAZINES INCLUDING NEW YORK

Shirat has brought back speed and action to the wrestling game. His victory over Gus Garibaldi took just 20 minutes, 29 seconds. The 175 lb. contest was the first since the late 1920s. This wrestler's resemblance to the renowned Gotch is very marked.
