

EXPECTS 1930 TO BE EPOCHAL FARMER YEAR

Secretary Hydo, The Big Three and National Sentiment Increasing in Support of Farm Board.

Secretary of Agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde, has stated that 1930 promises to be an epochal year for American agriculture as a result of the farm loan act, the tariff and the revision of tariff which is expected to benefit farmers in greater degree.

In connection with this, Washington promises to be the most outstanding development in agriculture the last two weeks have been the most important in the history of the farm board.

The Big Three in agricultural organization—the National Farm Bureau and the Farmers' Union—are all in strong support of the farm board, according to it represents the combined ambition of all farm organizations toward an effective control and distribution of the farm product.

Speculators Must Go. Farm board members have stated that legitimate grain dealers find a needed place will be forced out, but that orderly control and marketing of approximately half the grain raised in this country by farm boards financing will weed out the speculators.

Deaths from Idaho show a death rate in Idaho this year of 48.2 per thousand, or 8.8 per cent, compared with 1928 births, which is 48.2 per cent of a thousand population.

IDAHO CHEESE IS EXPANDING

Idaho and Idaho have had the greatest increase in cheese manufacture of the western states according to E. H. Brannan, economist, U. S. department of agriculture.

The principal reason suggested is the rapid growth of certain coast cities whose population has increased in greater proportion than their cheese manufactures.

EGG BUSINESS SHOWS GROWTH

W. B. Wood Takes Charge Here When Earl Brockman Moves Up.

The Twin Falls branch of the Idaho Egg Producers' association has elected W. B. Wood as secretary of the local branch.

Mr. Wood and family spent Christmas season with his wife's family in Pocatello. He returned here Thursday to finish up business matters and take care of the general management of the branch.

The poultry and egg business has increased substantially in this section under the management of Earl Brockman.

STATE DOULTY SHOW TO OPEN AT CALDWELL

Exhibition Has Grown From Small Event Nine Years Ago to Leading One In U. S.

Nine years ago a small but enthusiastic group of poultry fanciers held a show here and called it the Gen. State Royal Poultry Show.

From January 7 to 10 inclusive, 1929 the Ninth Annual Gen. State Royal Poultry Show will be held at Caldwell.

TURKEY EXHIBIT LARGE

E. C. Bronch of Lee's Summit, Mo., nationally known poultry judge has presided twice at the show and said it was one of the finest in the country.

Among the unique features of the show are a five day egg-frying contest with pens of six-fifteen chickens and the Idaho turkey exhibit, which latter event has brought out some of the finest dressed turkeys that judges had ever seen.

Speakers on this year's program include Preen Moore, poultry specialist of the extension department of the University of Idaho.

Idaho Wants Farm Board Man Here

Idaho's delegation in congress has approved the idea of Governor H. C. Balfrage to have a member of the federal farm board visit the state and explain the workings of the law by which farmers may obtain loans for financing storage and marketing of products.

The governor wants to have two specific questions explained, that is whether growers of each kind of farm crop must organize separate cooperative in order to receive a loan, and the other is about what effect the cooperatives will have on private enterprises engaged in commodity selling and distribution.

It is thought it would save much overhead expense and eliminate needless organization efforts if several related crops could have joint organizations instead of each crop having its own separate cooperative group.

Snow Removal Has New Plan to Speed Work

A new snow-removal device was tried out in New York last week with such results, to be a revolutionary method of solving this problem which assumes great proportions and is highly expensive in many parts of the country.

A professor of Metallurgy, Montreal, Canada, conceived the idea of using chemical to disintegrate the snow.

GRANGE WILL DISCUSS WATER

Invite Resolutions Committee to Explain Propositions at The Next Meeting.

The next meeting of the Twin Falls grange will be Friday, January 4, when the principal topic of discussion will be the proposed stop winter deliveries of water through the Twin Falls Canal system and the furnishing of a new supply for the city.

Some trees, it was suggested, have looked better from the front view alone, but the committee considered it more fair to judge the trees from all angles.

WHITE HOUSE BADLY BURNED

The worst fire since 1812 when the White House at Washington was destroyed broke out in the executive office of President Hoover during the Christmas eve celebration here.

The executive wing was added by President Theodore Roosevelt twenty years ago to care for the growing business. It was reconstructed and improved by order of the present Hoover when he took office.

During the fire Mrs. Hoover continued supervising a conference party, not permitting the firefighters to interfere with that event.

CANAL COMPANY ELECTION

If it isn't one thing it is another. First we have elections, then holidays; then holidays and elections. We no sooner get through one until one or the other makes its appearance.

With Christmas out of the way, here comes New Year's... and after that; another election!

Five directors for the Twin falls canal company are to be elected next month, January 14. Balloting is done entirely by owners of stock in the company, but since stock-ownership and land-ownership on this tract are practically synonymous, the canal company election and canal company management, take on an importance next only to public ownership and management.

And that leads up to the question of why a change is not made in the conduct of these elections and methods of representation on the canal company board.

Numerous stockholders would like to see two or three changes made in the constitution and by-laws of the company which would be away with the present method of electing an entire new board each year, arguing that there should be hold-over members, as in the cases of directors of the American Falls Reservoir district, of highway district boards and of school districts. In practice it works out that a majority of the board members are continuously re-elected, yet the fact remains that directors are elected for only one year, and the possibilities are that a new set of directors will annually come into office.

The advantages of securing the presence on the board of experienced members is obvious and should be permitted even if such procedure required a special statute or the consent of the state legislature.

Another improvement that would be welcomed is a change in the by-laws to permit election of directors by districts rather than at large, as at present.

There is nothing now to prevent all five of the directors being chosen from Twin Falls or from the east end or from the west end. In order to avoid just contingencies it becomes necessary now for each section of the tract to organize and promote the candidacy of a director-representative, pyramiding their vote upon the candidate of their choice, to the practical exclusion of other directors. Ordinarily this custom has worked out satisfactorily, but if an important section of the tract would find itself without representation there might then result much dissatisfaction.

How much better it would be to have the tract divided into say five districts, each district to choose its own director.

These suggestions are not new, but they are being seriously considered, and it is believed, great improvement would result by the adoption of improved methods of choosing the canal directorate and in the terms of office of the members thereof.

THE NEXT STEP

The defendant in the school warrant forgery case will be sentenced in district court today.

Technically this should close the matter. When the sentence has been paid, whether it is penal service or a fine or both, the crime is presumed to have expired.

But in the mind of the public, retribution will not have been complete until every effort has been made to restore to the straggling country school districts of this county, all or a part of the $13,000 or more which auditors affirm is missing. If a part of the lost funds are in existence, either in the form of cash or securities or property, there must be some legitimate manner in which they can be converted to the accounts of the affected districts.

This is important and vital and should be the next step undertaken to safeguard the interests of the victims of Twin Falls county's major financial scandal.

The Children's Home Finding and Aid Society of Idaho

Dear Friend of Idaho's Homeless Children: This is an appeal to YOU from the very heart of Idaho's homeless and neglected children—those little children who are denied home life and home joys.

Have you ever seen those youngsters as they clog the Children's Homes—little lives warped and twisted, but which can yet be directed into channels of usefulness and happiness?

They come with brave, patient, cheerful smiles... They are fighting a brave fight that you, in the outside world seldom hear about—sensitive, with many hidden heartaches—because they are deprived of proper parental care.

Is there one person whose would refuse to be their friend? For the truth is that, unless YOU WILL be that friend and send us money to carry on our work, many of them must suffer this extreme neglect longer and perhaps NEVER WIN.

Our Christmas appeal goes out each year and many forget. Please, do not put it off thinking the other person will do it, or that your little amount is not worth while. Please help; it is only a dime. Put the gift to dime, a dollar, two, five, ten or any amount in the little red stocking, and then breathe a prayer that God will give us wisdom and strength to deal with this great problem.

If you belong to a church, club, or lodge, please use your influence in getting your organization to send a contribution to the Children's Home for Christmas.

Please, will you give this your attention? Start the little red stocking homeward bound and your gift will bring a thrill of gladness to the children which we trust you will feel in sending it.

Anxiously awaiting your gift, I am, Yours for the children, LILLIAN M. CARSE, State Superintendent, Boise, Idaho.
