MISS 1930—PLEASED TO MEET YOU

THE IDAHO CITIZEN
SEMI-WEEKLY PER YEAR, $2.50

NEW YEAR'S DAY

January 1, marking the beginning of the year, has been observed as a public holiday for many centuries.

Owing to the confusion in dates which has resulted from the imperfections of various calendars, which caused slipping dates at various times, New Year's Day may be said to be merely an arbitrary designation.

However, regardless of the day designated as New Year's at various times and in various countries, it has been generally observed as a holiday.

The Romans celebrated it with processions, abandonment of litigation and strife, exchanging of visits and of gifts, feasting and merry-making.

But about the fourth century, when December 25 had been agreed upon for the observance of Christ's nativity, New Year's Day, falling one week later, began to assume a sacred character as the anniversary of the circumcision.

Other religious faiths, such as the Mohammedan and Jewish, have their own calendars with distinctive holidays and festivals, in which their New Year's Day has a corresponding significance to that of Christendom.

Among all it is considered an appropriate day for reviewing the events of the previous year, the making of new resolutions and the adoption of plans for the future.

ADVERTISING IN 1930

The 204 members of the American Association of Advertisers will pay space to the value of $206,000,000, during 1930, or $20,000,000 more than their expenditure in 1929.

This improvement was made in connection with the survey of business and industrial activities being made at the suggestion of President Hoover, after conferring with leaders in the various business industries.

It should be encouraging to the country at large that these national advertisers have sufficient faith in the soundness of our economic structure to press forward with increased vigor in their sales efforts for the coming year.

PROHIBITION DEATHS

In a series of articles recently published the Washington Herald printed the names of 1,360 persons said to have been killed as a result of violations of the prohibition laws in the United States.

The list included both law violators and enforcement officers, and purports to be the total of fatalities recorded since the Volstead Act became effective, nearly 10 years ago.

Regardless of one's views concerning prohibition, it is deplorable that its enforcement should be accompanied by such a loss of human lives.

REPORT SHOWS PAST YEAR WAS GOOD FOR DAIRY

HOUSE - The year has been kind one to dairymen in Idaho. Many people are beginning to expect for 1930, George N. Tucker, director of dairying declared last week.

He cited figures for the first nine months of this year to disclose a 16 percent increase in butter production which met with an increase 15 percent. As an indication of the stability of the industry in this state, he pointed out that the losses in butter production was made in one of the five seasons of many years.

Producers were short early in the season when ordinarily they run in a surplus. The winter months were not so severe and the spring late, so that holding a series of meetings at various points in the territory has been of great benefit.

All dairy products manufacturer-farm loan advantages and howed in Idaho except cheese showed an increase. Creamery losses were reduced, a total of 16,500,443 pounds, an increase of 1,415,672 pounds over the same period in 1929.

Tucker predicted this year will be the largest in the history of the state in production of buttermilk and ice cream.

An unusual factor in the dairymen was extra in the continuing price of milk. In 1929 the legislation placing a tax on dealers handling the product. Through the number of dealers has been cut, thereby in part because sales have remained in excess of 1,000,000 pounds for the year.

The following were installed: A. E. Kunkel, Amsterdam, general manager; C. R. Stetler, Twin Falls; R. L. Overrey, O. Peterson, Hollister, treasurer; Glenn Kunkel, Amsterdam, secretary; H. D. Kunkel, Amsterdam, at large; Mrs. J. C. Riefman, Hollister; Mrs. William Kleinkof, Hollister, chairman; Cley Holmquist, Amsterdam, assistant steward; J. Butler, Hollister, gatekeeper; Elizabeth Kunkel, Amsterdam, lady assistant steward; M. N. Knudsen, Hollister, Ceres; Mrs. A. Holmquist, Amsterdam, and Yvonne; Miss J. Kunkel, Amsterdam, Florida.

The next meeting will be held at the Moose hall, Hollister, January 14. The first meeting of each month including a ball will be held in the hall. The second meeting of each month will be in some town from which a prize will be paid well enough to encourage the movement.

The annual prize winning essay contest was put on in the school during November. The high school butter prices. The subject was "The Relation of that present the nation in food (Exclusivity to Agriculture)," also with large holdings of butter. On December 1, the United States de-Staff of the World Council for agriculture estimated 200,000,000 pounds of butter was

In cold storage compared with 70,000,000 pounds as that date last year and a five-year average of 78,878,000 pounds. Part of the loss was due to the fact that the State of Idaho is the largest of the dumping of large holdings on the market at the time of the decline in the New York market.

Quoted from the Land of Lakes News, a Milk-Week dairy publication, was a note of warning: "If overgrown and unprofitable dairies are to be closed, there is no telling where the market would go. Many people are beginning to expect for 1930, George N. Tucker, director of dairying declared last week.

Speedy Tells Of Farm Loan

Jersey county farmers are getting information on the workings of the farm loan act by County Agent Thomas E. Speedy who is active and the spring late, so that holding a series of meetings at various points in the territory has been of great benefit.

New Bodies But No Mechanical Change In Ford

A change of new bodies for the Model A Ford, each one of which will soon be available in a variety of new colors, was announced today by G. O. Padden, Ford dealer.

Expensive as it is, the fact that the car is unchanged mechanically; that nearly 5,000,000 Model A type Fords are now on the highway proving that they are staunchly dependable.

The pulse of the Ford Motor Company in this respect has been to make minor alterations whenever a new color is desired. It is worth to be included in the mechanical plan of the car, but not to bring about a new car as a whole.

Beautiful New Bodies The new body types will have a distinctly refreshing appearance, said Mr. Padden. They have all the beauty and charm of economy, line and proportion usually associated with the large car.

"As one looks at them, the first thing that catches the eye is the new radiator. Still retaining the Ford individuality, it is high and narrow, and in excellent style. This, with the higher and longer hood and the shorter fenders, give front of the car a distinctly new and pleasing appearance, in which an added touch of brightness comes from the finish which is the juncture of the hood and fender.

"Hooding treatment is new and the fenders of more generous dimensions, flowing with the lines of the car.

Ford's are fuller than heretofore, contribute a great deal to the improved appearance of the car. Huber at the front, with high crown and sweeping side down over the wheels, the rear fenders flow back in graceful curves to the running boards. The rear fenders, which also have high crowns, sweep down over the rear wheels to a point lower than formerly.

"The head lamp, set higher on a new arched rod, also contributes to better appearance. A new atmosphere of stability is produced by the smaller steel, spoke wheels and large tires, which bring the bodies closer to the ground, resulting in a lower center of gravity and enhanced stability on the road. Especially in rounding turns at high speed, riding quality is improved.

NEW YEAR'S DAY

January 1, marking the beginning of the year, has been observed as a public holiday for many centuries, certainly in Rome since the reformation of the calendar by Julius Caesar in the century before Christ.

Owing to the confusion in dates which has resulted from the imperfections of various calendars, which caused skipping dates at various times, New Year's Day may be said to be merely an arbitrary designation. As late as 1752 the adoption of the Gregorian calendar by England and the American colonies caused a skip of 11 days.

However, regardless of the day designated as New Year's at various times and in various countries, it has been generally observed as a holiday.

The Romans celebrated it with processions, abandonment of litigation and strife, exchanging of visits and of gifts, feasting and merry-making. Early fathers of the Christian church did not approve of these festivities, but recommended that the day be devoted to meditation, scripture reading and works of charity.

But about the fourth century, when December 25 had been agreed upon for the observance of Christ's nativity, New Year's Day, falling one week later, began to assume a sacred character as the anniversary of the circumcision, and as such it still figures in the calendars of certain branches of the church.

Among all it is considered an appropriate day for reviewing the events of the previous year, the making of new resolves and the adoption of plans for the future. It is also the occasion for the expression of good wishes. We join in the spirit of the day in wishing all a Happy New Year.

REPORT SHOWS EAST YEAR WAS GOOD FOR DAIRY

The last year has been a kind one to dairymen in Idaho and a fairly good year in general for the Northwest. The director of dairying declared last week.

The cited figures for the first nine months of this year to fall show a 10 percent increase in butter production which met with an increase in price. As an indication of the stability of the industry in this state, he pointed out that the increase in butter production was made in one of the drier seasons of many years.

Prices were short early in the year but ordinarily they are higher in the latter months because of the drier weather and the spring lets, so that the increased production has been made in the latter months of the year.

All dairy products manufacturers in Idaho expect a good year in 1930. Creamery butter averaged a total of $18,000,000 worth in the last year, while the total production of the state in 1929 was 1,410,000 pounds. The production in 1928, however, decreased to 1,200,000 pounds. Cream averaged 21,000,000 pounds and evaporated milk increased to 2,000,000 pounds.

Tucker predicted this year will likely be the largest in the history of the state in production of butter, cream, and milk. The average production of the state in 1929 was 1,410,000 pounds. The production in 1928, however, decreased to 1,200,000 pounds. Cream averaged 21,000,000 pounds and evaporated milk increased to 2,000,000 pounds.

The business of supplying California dairying districts with feed in Marion hall, Hollister, January 11. The first meeting of each year ending July 1. The second meeting of county alone took 6500 dairy each month will be in some measure well enough to encourage the movement.

To temper the prospect of good during November. The high school butter price, Tucker pointed out subjects were: "The Relation of that at present the nation is faced, Christianity to Agriculture," also with large holdings of butter. On "It is Probable that all of the Food December 1, the United States de-Staff of the World Could be partment of agriculture estimated Grown in S. A.?" Winners at Hollister high school were Lucile

In cash storage compared with 70,825,000 pounds on that date last year and a five-year average of 76,818,000 pounds. Part of the present low market for butter was attributed to the dumping of large holdings on the market at the time of the decline in the New York stock market.

Quoted from the Land of Lakes News, a Mid-West dairy publication, was a note of warning: "If everyone gets panicky and starts unloading holdings, there is a telling where the market would go to. Many people are beginning to get panicky and start dumping their holdings. We still have faith in the old cow as the best friend of the farmer and that we will have higher prices before they get any lower."

Hayes Gives Statement On Winter Operations

At the request of directors of the Twin Falls Canal company, Manager John E. Hayes prepared a statement regarding the drainage problem on the tract in order that water users may have more complete understanding of the situation before the question of stopping winter deliveries comes to a vote at the annual stockholders' meeting January 14. Manager Hayes has suggested that if water users properly understood the matter they would have a better appreciation of the benefits to be received.

His report to the directors is as follows, their purpose being to lay it before all water users on the tract: To The Board of Directors, water below the surface and area for same: 10 to 20 feet 21000 acres, 20 to 40 feet 26000 acres, 40 to 60 feet 33000 acres, 60 to 80 feet 16000 acres, 80 to 100 feet 18000 acres, over 100 feet 73000 acres.

The water in the great natural in the elimination of winter operation of the Twin Falls Canal company's system is indicated by the increasing numbers of stockholders who view the company's office regarding information relative to this problem.

The nature of the discussions advanced lead us to believe that there is considerable misunderstanding concerning just what would be involved, in the event that the stockholders decide to discontinue winter operations. One question has to do with the proximity of the ground water to the surface, including the difference in elevation between the water table and the surface of the ground.

The earlier drilled wells indicate that ground water on the tract averaged more than 100 feet below the surface. Present well measurements indicate that the depth of ground water on the tract is to be approximately 90 feet below the surface. The earlier table was based on well measurement data from which there is derived the following table showing depth of water table in this system:

Table with columns: Calculation, Loss per acre, Length, etc. It lists various water levels and their corresponding losses per acre.

The above is sufficient to indicate the present situation and the water finds its way into the subsurface from the canals and laterals alone, and also shows the greater efficiency of the canals than the artificially constructed canals. Exhaustive examination shows that the canals are actually one half cent of the total transportation loss.

The forces enumerated above in addition to deep percolation from field applications enter the ground and flow beneath the surface across the tract. Since the geological structure of this territory precludes the escape of a considerable portion of this ground water it must inevitably accumulate bringing about a gradual rise in the ground water table.

"Well" measurement records indicate that the ground water for the best interests of the probable future in accordance with the quantity of water transported in the canal system and domestic supply will be needed in the winter months and for some of the minimum ground water elevator occurs in March and April that winter operation should be following the period of least flow discontinued, but conditions in the canal system and the maximum ground water elevation occur in October and November, following a period of greatest flow in the canal system. Obviously, continuous operation of any canal system prevents the ground water table from reaching the minimum elevation possible.

Based upon available data the ground water accumulations over the period approximately 300,000 to 500,000 feet per year and the measurement of the discharge from all drainage connections on the project totals 184,000 acre feet per year.

Another question has to do with the possibility of reducing costs through elimination of winter operation.

Reduction in operating costs would amount to $200 per acre per month. An empty canal system

With Faunce at his elbow, he addressed Clary.

"You've arrested me, Faunce. If one man puts his foot on this bridge we'll shoot to kill. Got it?"

"You're under arrest!" bawled the sheriff.

Stevens laughed.

"All right; come take me."

The sheriff moved toward the bridge, but stopped on the fact away.

"Go on, Maddox!" cried Clary. "Going to let him bluff you out of it?"

"The only way to find out if a man's bluffing is to call him," said Stevens, sweetly. "My chips are right in the center of the table. Who calls?"

"Besting me, breach of the peace."

Stevens cut short the sheriff's cry.

"I haven't resisted arrest, Maddox. In fact, I've invited you to come over here and arrest me. But you're such a shy little crook that his voice suddenly breaks in rage: "Maddox you're yellow! Your parents ran away from the Confederate Army and came down to Florida swamps and squatted like the vermin they were. You'd likely nigger when you're a hundred to one, but one handful is as a thousand like you. You shoot in the back and never face to face. You want to arrest me, well, here I am."

He passed and turned to Lucy.

"Sorry; promised you a real fight, but it takes two to make one."

"You'll regret this, Stevens," said Clary.

"Not half as much as you're regretting it right now," retorted Stevens, but you're not going to pull down this bridge this night, old man. Now any other night, you may buy a sheriff on a marshal, but a judge is something else again, old top. And say, I'm getting tired of all this. The land you're in is my property, just as this bridge is. Get off it."

"Don't overplay your hand, Stevens," advised Clary.

"Not much obliged for the advice. But when I gamble I bet all I have. Now I'm betting that there isn't a man in your gang that has the pull end of a rail. Fergus, let's clean 'em out. Shoot the first man that hesitates."

Lucy had a look of won dominance a mob, frightened them, but this was no mob that Stevens and Fergus overawed. These were obviously hired bullies and among them was an officer of the law. Yet as Tim and Fergus advanced upon them the superior numbers retreated. Even old Clary, who stood ground until the last, who dealt turned and ran. What had provoked great excitement, even temporarily disregarded his fare, into burlesque.

And yet it had not been Tim's fault. The way he had tossed a man into the water knocked the officer off the bridge. . . . And Fergus had shown gallantry. These were two magnificent men to better what else might have been about one of them. As fighting animals. . . .

They returned to the bridge.

"This midnight bluff is my justification," Stevens was saying. "But when they come back, in daylight, with a proper warrant for my arrest, I shan't have the excess that I didn't believe Maddox was the sheriff. Fergus, we must do up on matters on the morning. Now, Judge Learning is in Palm Beach. He has jurisdiction over this territory. He's at El Verano Hotel. Wake him up and get him to issue an injunction against Clary, against the sheriff, against the town officials, against everybody, ordering them

FEW TEACHERS ATTEND STATE SCHOOL MEET

Educators Favor Equalization Starting With Kindergarten and Going Thru All the Grades.

Not many local teachers attended the convention of the Idaho Education association in Boise Friday and Saturday, many of them having spent the holiday season at their homes instead. All teachers in the state were supposed to go, but the first day's reported attendance of about 600 indicated only a small proportion of all instructors for Idaho at the convention. Superintendent W. B. Smith of Twin Falls schools; County Superintendent M. V. Jones of White and Coach R. V. Rose were among those who were.

Equalization Stressed

Equalization of opportunity for school students was one of the principal themes discussed. John C. Werner of the Albion state normal school said state and federal money may be required to give rural students more equal advantages and to bring about better equalization in the state's educational system. He said the requirement of two years professional training had been a step forward in this matter, but that both teachers and students should receive a greater degree of education within this state and in the spirit of Idaho progress.

John L. Harlan of the Lewiston state normal school, president of the Idaho education association, emphasized the same idea in his address. Among nine recommendations he made was one favoring higher teaching standards; greater equalization of opportunity for each child; continued adjustment to meet changing needs, both in study courses and in administration.

most pupils; greater publicity for three improved methods, and employment of a research secretary to work in behalf of Idaho education.

Should Start At Bottom

It was stated that the improvement should be from the kindergarten up, not just in the higher grades.

Learn how to study throughout life rather than gaining certain knowledge only in school days.

He had been employed at the Union Motor company, born in Ohio, in 1873, he came to Twin Falls originally in 1909 and had lived here at various times since then. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nellie Ormsby, in daughter, Mrs. J. O. Rasmussen, Twin Falls, and a son, Ralph.
