

HONESTY IN BUSINESS
I graduated from college when bookkeeping was in its greatest glory.

"The magazines and newspapers and reformers had filled our youthful minds with so much discrediting information that it was hardly known whether the world was a safe place for us to step out into or not.

We looked aghast on all the fellows in college whose fathers had made money. To be sure, the fathers seemed decent enough and old enough when they visited us at the fraternity house. But we felt that money was dirt and had in their past somewhere.

A business man was a being without conscience or intelligence, like a slot-machine. You gave him a nickel and he gave you a nickel's worth of goods.

We knew better now. In fact, I believe it was so. I found that the greatest force for righteousness in the United States today is nothing more nor less than the one millionth BUSINESS.

Nothing has impressed me more than this: Get to the top of a big business enterprise, and nine times out of ten you will find an idealist.

You will find a man who has long since ceased to be interested in mere money-making who is playing a business because of what it has done to him.

I do not say that business is perfect. Far from it. But I do say that the time is past when the young man who goes into business feels that he is making a selfish choice.

"Be not slothful in business," said St. Paul, "fervent in spirit, serving the Lord."

Many a man, building a big business in America, has, as a by-product of his building, strengthened the character and lifted the ideals of hundreds of his associates, and helped in the regeneration of a whole community.

And the number of such men—the idealists of BUSINESS in America—is increasing very fast.

FARM BOARDS BOOSTED HERE

By Leo Sturh

Urges Quick Action and Advises Joining Intermountain Regional Group at Meeting of Farmers.

A number of Twin Falls county farmers were addressed Saturday by Leo Sturh, representing the federal farm board, and Senator James W. Webster of Reklam, in a meeting called by Lake Somer of Tula, wheatgrower's representative.

Sturh, who is also a speaker at district representative for the northwestern regional group, urged the farmers to get together for getting the local organizations under way and said that the federal farm board is now in the process of organizing the regional groups.

BEANGROWERS MARKET GROUP IS ORGANIZED

Frank W. Brown Represents Idaho on National Board. Contracts Signed With Southern Idaho Ass'n.

Frank W. Brown, director of the Southern Idaho Beangrowers' association, was elected a director to represent Idaho on the National Beangrowers' Marketing association which was formed in Washington last week. He has been delegated to represent this section at the organization meeting when beangrowers representatives from various parts of the country were there.

R. L. Churchill, Oxnard, California, is president; Joe Plummer, Denver, president of the Colorado Beangrowers' association, is vice-president; H. C. Stephens, Denver, sales manager of the Colorado and New Mexico Beangrowers' association, secretary-treasurer. Other officers are as follows:

All Regions Represented

O. K. Irving, treasurer and general manager, Big Horn Cooperative Marketing association, Basin, Wyoming; James N. McBride, Burlington, Missouri, president, Michigan Elevator, exchanges; C. W. Anderson, Michigan D. W. Anderson, director, Colorado Beangrowers' association, Grand Junction, Colorado; W. S. King, president, New Mexico Bean Pail, Stanley, New Mexico; James G. Berryhill, Modesto, California; Gilbert A. Prole, Batavia, New York; Louis Drumm, secretary Montana Beangrowers' association, Billings; Frank W. Brown, Twin Falls, Idaho; C. E. Perkins, Camarillo, California; and R. G. Edwards, Santa Paula, California.

This is one of the first few of the big commodity groups to become organized according to the farm, forest and ranch plan. It is not divided geographically as the wheatgrowers' association is, but according to varieties of beans grown. The Western Beangrowers constitute one district as producers of navy beans; Colorado and New Mexico; Idaho and Idaho sections of California, other bean areas in California.

National Group Complete

The national organization was completed at Washington with a capital stock of one million dollars. Local and regional groups will now be expected to launch the 1930 bean crop. Mr. Brown said the Southern Idaho Beangrowers' association was signed up with the national body, making it one of the first to be automatically members of that organization. The three-year contracts with the local association remain binding for that period, but if they choose to withdraw from the national group when these contracts expire they may do so, Mr. Brown said. They are not bound to remain with the national association for the ten-year contract period.

All state organizations are not alike, he stated. California has a state association like Idaho. Colorado has a state association composed of several regional groups. Michigan has a different form of organization.

New Tractor Co. Organized Here

The B. & D. Tractor & Equipment company has been formed here by R. M. Burkhalter and H. S. DeWitt to deal in the agricultural implement lines of the Howard and Cooper corporation of Oregon. They will be distributors in this section of Allis-Chalmers United tractor-trailers, truck-trailers, typewriter, threshing machines and combines and are located at the former Harley Williams stand at 120 Second street.

Mr. DeWitt of this firm has for the past several years been local distributor for the Woods Bros. line of threshing machines.

Coincidental with the establishment of the B. & D. company, the Howard-Cooper corporation announces the removal from Boise to Twin Falls of its Idaho headquarters, which will be in charge of Arthur Tracy, Idaho manager.

HOGS MAY TAKE BATHIE UNMOLESTED

The supreme court ruled this week that a property owner is not required to prevent his hogs wallowing in an irrigation ditch which crosses his farm, but that the ditch company has the job of keeping the channel in good condition. The ditch owners had sought to stop the property owner from allowing his swine in the ditch and caused an overflow.

FACT FINDING GROUP VISITS AT BUHE TODAY

Stockholders Asked to Give Information as First Step in Studying the Step-Up Situation.

Members of the fact finding committee will make a personal inspection today of underground tunnels in the Buhe area to study the effectiveness of the tunnel in their relationship to the tunnel which the committee has been designated to work on. The fact finding committee is not yet appointed, this having been deferred until the return of Mayor H. E. Butler from California.

At a meeting of the directors of the Twin Falls Canal company, this morning, the fact finding committee submitted a questionnaire which is to be sent to all stockholders. The questionnaire contains a variety of questions to be answered by the stockholders. The inquiries concern the number of sink holes on each property, how many have been filled, availability of wells and cisterns, number, size and capacity of these wells, probable cost of well drilling and operation by pump, electric motor, gas engine, windmill; adequacy of present watering facilities to provide winter supplies; size of farm, owner, operation, location, condition as affected by seepage; number of people living on the farm, number and kind of buildings and whether there is electric power service.

Data Compiled

Harry Williams of Twin Falls and J. M. Connelley of Boise spent three days in the canal office with Manager John E. Hayes as a sub-committee compiling the data already available on seepage and drainage matters on the tract. This was authorized to prevent duplication by the fact-finding committee in its efforts to locate all the information on this subject. The investigation will continue several months and may occupy most of the year.

The meeting this week was the first held by the fact-finding committee since their appointment was announced. The questionnaire was submitted as the first preliminary step in getting the study under way.

Jerome Fair Board Meets

The Jerome County fair board met this week and confirmed September 11, 12 and 13 as the fair dates, with a possibility of extending it to include Sunday for working men and farmers who cannot attend during the week. No commercial features would be held on the Sunday program. An exhibit may be secured this fall, and efforts are being made to have the 4-H club contests for Idaho there again. A. C. E. Hyde has volunteered to be the Jerome high school and will be fair manager. The directors decided to divide his duties among themselves according to knowledge, secretary, who says efforts are made to improve the Jerome county fair in various ways. Children's day will be observed.

PAINTS FOR THE HOME

Make Baby Covers... From old blankets you can make the most desirable sort of covers for the new baby. There may be made from pieces of the blanket of convenient size, simply by hemmed around or finished with blanket stitch or bound. They have the advantage over new blankets of being very soft and comfortable and are better to use than knitted coverlets, because they can be washed frequently. There is an excellent sort of carriage or crib cover that calls for pieces of old blanket. Make a cover of any desired width and length. Line it with the same material or with this muslin. Leave a slit in the back of this lining, through which a double layer of the old blanket, cut just the right size, may be inserted. Put the hands into the cover and push out the blanket at the corners. You may then keep it secure by fastening at each corner through with a tiny safety pin or you may have little tugs at the corners, but they are not necessary. Run threads through small button-holes at the corners of the cover, tying the ends secure.

NEW LEADER MANAGER

T. C. Farr is the new manager of The Leader, successor of the old Leader in this city. He arrived early this week from Portland and entered upon his duties immediately. He succeeds Parley C. Laughlin, who, with his family is leaving for Salt Lake City. Mr. Farr will be in charge of the paper from now on. The building owned by a real estate firm was being used as a warehouse for the paper, but the operation of The Leader at ten years ago was as much as a local branch of the Journal.

Keep Children Comfortable

When the children divide their time between a comfortable home and the cold outdoor world, it is sometimes difficult to decide on the proper clothing for them. Thick woolen garments are suitable for skating or a romp through the snow but they are not warm for a steam-heated apartment. Light-weight underwear and cotton suits or dresses are a wise choice for children who live in a heated home. These are the most comfortable and, because they are so light, they can be changed frequently.

Orange Sherbet

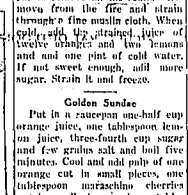

Grate one-third of four oranges on two and one-half cups of sugar. Add to it one quart of water. Put in a double-boiler and cook to a clear syrup, being very careful to remove all the scum. Remove from the fire and strain through a fine muslin cloth. When cold, add a strained juice of twelve oranges and two lemons and one pint of cold water. If not sweet enough, add more sugar. Strain it and freeze.

Golden Sundae

Put in a canner one-half cup orange juice, one tablespoon lemon juice, three-fourth cup sugar, half a cup cream and half a cup vanilla. Cook and add one of one orange cut in small pieces, one tablespoon marshmallows, cherries in small pieces and one tablespoon marshmallow syrup. Serve over vanilla ice cream.

JUDGE BAKER HAS RESIGNED

Hugh A. Baker, junior judge of the Elmore judicial district since 1925, submitted his resignation Wednesday to Governor H. C. Burdick at Boise with the statement that he intended to return to private practice. The resignation had been rumored for several days but definite announcement was withheld until this time.

Judge Baker was appointed to the district bench to succeed T. Bailey Lee of Burley who was advanced to the supreme court at that time. He was prosecuting attorney of Minidoka county at Burley where his home has been and where he is expected to continue practice.

Among the prospective candidates for the district judgeship to succeed Judge Baker are Adam Barclay, Jerome county attorney; Arthur C. Dunn, public judge, junior of the years and deputy attorney of Cassia county; and C. A. Johnson, former state representative, Jerome county attorney and Mayor of Burley.

OLD SETTLERS WILL CARE FOR PIONEER HOUSE

The Old Settlers' Society, it is believed, will take charge of the house of saving the "old" frame building which is soon to be removed from its original site on Main street south to make room for a $100,000 superlative structure erected by the First National bank.

Plans for the big structure are now under way and the building must be moved within a short time. As soon as this situation has been known a number of citizens became active at once to save the historic structure and preserve it as a relic of the past. It was built in 1881 and served as headquarters for the tract when the first families were being laid out here by the Twin Falls Townsite company, of which Robert McGowan was secretary.
