Impressive Ceremony at Laying of Corner Stone.

MASONIC LODGE'S RITUALISTIC SERVICE USED IN CEREMONY

Large Crowd Witnesses the Initial Step in Construction of the New $60,000 Lincoln School Building.

The crowd that witnessed the laying of the cornerstone of the Lincoln school this afternoon was a fitting testimonial of the great interest the people of the town have in the education of the young. Men, women and children stood in the hot sun and viewed with eagerness every detail of the impressive Masonic ceremony.

The parade formed of the members of the Masonic lodge was led by the band and escorted by the other lodges of the city. The order of march given below.

seated under the canopy erected by the kindness of F. C. Nare who also supervised the arrangements for lowering the cornerstone and who saw that there was no hitch in the proceedings.

Owing to the absence of the Grand Master of Idaho, George D. Alken of this city was appointed Deputy and the exercises of the day were under his competent direction. Rev. John Gourley offered the prayer and the National anthem was sung with vigor by the audience. J. A. Walters, as president of the board of trustees in a few words gave a brief history of the school work in this city.

Grand Master Alken then took up the ritualistic work in which his authority to conduct services was read and the various responses by Tan, McMillan, B. A. Baker, M. J. Sweetley, F. E. Chamberlain read the list of contents of the box to be deposited within the cornerstone. Acting under the authority of Deputy Grand Master Alken who was supported by Deputy Grand Master Chas. Mull and B. A. Baker the ceremony of laying the stone was begun. As the block was swung into place the mystic signs of the order were made by the entire body of the lodge. When the stone was settled in place, Deputy Grand Master Mull as holder of the square reported the block laid true.

Grand Warden Baker then with a level duly reported the work done in a Craftsmen's manner. The squares of corn, wine and oil were then poured upon the cornerstone with the appropriate rites.

Deputy Alken then introduced the orator of the day, Mr. W. J. Barrette, Grand Master of Utah, who in one of the best speeches which it has heard in the history of the city, drew the attention of the people to hear the address of the audience. His address follows:

Worshipful Master, Brethren, Ladies and Gentlemen, Citizens of Twin Falls.

Here where but a few short years ago the sage brush held undisputed sway, you have built this thriving and progressive little city. Brain and energy from all parts of our great country have contributed to the making of this charming dwelling place. Here where less than a decade gone by was only the weariness of endless space.

But the blood of the Anglo-Saxon and especially when it runs in the veins of the descendants of Plymouth and Jamestown, will tell; and scarce had you transplanted yourselves here when you began your plans for the training of your children. You established schools, employed teachers, and even amid the cares and distractions of pioneering you insisted that your children should be given what the older Sherman called "a man's chance."

And today you go further, and with bright hopes as your guiding star, and claiming the future and all its possibilities, you have set about building this, a temple of learning where your children and your children's children may drink deeply of the fountain of knowledge.

We gather together on this day and on this occasion to mark and make good of this progressive step you have taken—to pause a brief moment in our busy lives, to glance back thoughtfully and look forward hopefully and bravely—and by the sort of ceremony which you have just seen and heard, call impressively to our minds that we, plain, every day mortals, are ourselves contributing our mite to the history of this great world. It is a dignified appeal to a proper appreciation to the actual monuments of this thing that you are now doing.

It is fitting that you my brethren of the Masonic Craft, should lay this

DEMOCRATIC ALL NIGHT SESSION

Bryan and Kerns Made the Standard Bearers.

JOHNSON AND GREY RECEIVE OVATIONS

The Famous Anti-Mormon Plank Left Out of Platform—A Strong Effort Will Be Made to Get the Labor Vote Through the Adoption of the Anti-Injunction Plank.

William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, was nominated for the third time for president by the democratic national convention at 2:40 this morning amid scenes of frantic enthusiasm. The result came after an all-night session, which kept in constant turmoil to the culminating moment, when the Nebraska leader was proclaimed the choice of the convention as the democratic standard bearer. The nomination was made on the first ballot, the vote standing: Bryan, 8234; Johnson, 461; Gray, 534; absent or not voting 8.

The announcement of the vote was the signal for a wild demonstration, equalling in turbulence if not in duration the record-breaking display which Wednesday afternoon marked the first mention of Bryan's name. The whole assemblage roared with waving flags, handkerchiefs, newspapers, hats, coats and anything and everything that could be waived or carried in the air, while a bedlam of sounds poured from those 10,000 throats.

When for a moment, order was restored out of the tempestuous chaos of the demonstration, the states that at first had recorded for Johnson or Gray fell into line with the overwhelming Bryan column, and the nomination was made unanimous. The vote was taken in almost deathlike interest.

When New York was reached the announcement of Murphy, 78 votes for Bryan brought out a wild outburst of enthusiasm and approval which for a time compelled a suspension of the roll call. A demand was made for the poll of the New York delegation. On this poll many New York delegates, including Judge Alton B. Parker, presidential candidate of four years ago, remained silent, but the vote was sold under the rule.

The convention adjourned at 3:50 this morning until 1 o'clock this afternoon. It remained only to nominate a candidate for vice president and the work of the convention will be concluded when this nomination is made this afternoon and a final canvas of available candidates was hurriedly made this morning. Many delegates took small parts in this discussion in the belief that Bryan's preferences should be consulted, and with some degree of exception that by at-

CLEAN UP SALE OF BUHL LOTS

West End City to be the Mecca of Investors.

BUILT TOWNSITE COMPANY ADVERTISE GREAT SALE

Remanufacture of Lots Held by the Original Townsite Company on July 23rd Will Be Sold to First Applicants. Sale to Be Conducted Like One Held in This City in April.

Buhl will feel a new stir of life one week from today, when many valuable lots at present in hands of the Buhl Townsite company will be thrown on the market at reduced prices from the original first price. The sale will commence on Tuesday morning and continue until the lots are sold.

R. M. McCollum will have the sale in charge and he is going about the preparation with his usual vigorous manner to make sure that every man in the state knows about the sale. The lots at Buhl will prove a good investment for anybody because of the future of the town and it is very certain that a large number of citizens of Twin Falls will avail themselves of the opportunity to get the lots offered.

VISITS OLD STAMPING GROUND

Iowa Pioneer the Guest of Filer Family.

Howard Ravencroft, Filer's new theatrical artist will have his new residence started next Tuesday.

Charles Waterman, one of the Twin Falls tract boosters, was in Filer this week.

H. M. Sperry of Filer was in Buhl this week.

The Filer ball team went to Buhl on Sunday and all we could learn about the score was that the game was "rotten."

Mrs. J. D. Conner's sister and children of Wallace, Idaho, are here for a short visit.

Mr. P. Brown has returned to Filer after a business trip to Perry, Ill. Mr. Brown will be with us in a short time much to the delight of her friends.

Mr. W. P. Shinn has the honor of entertaining one of the pioneers of this country, Ben Bodkin, of Prescott, Iowa, who passed through this country forty years ago. Mr. Bodkin is 86 years of age and as spry as ever, however, he sees wonderful changes in the country even though it is only forty years.

Mrs. Rufus Gaskill was on the sick list this week.

Timus and Johnson are making good progress on the foundation for their new store building.

Mr. Peter Swenson of Twin Falls was in Filer on Tuesday.

Mr. Claud Stewart of Albion, Mich., will come to Filer in a few days and start a furniture store and undertaking business. Filer will have all of Albion in a short time.

Mr. Bradley of Albion, Mich., is a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Finch.

Mr. Bobbin Douglas of the Filer Filma was a Jerome visitor on Sunday, returning Monday.

Messrs. Ravencroft, Ripley brothers and Lammers all took a fishing trip on Sunday to Clark's grade and the fish stories that were told were "well never mind."

Ralph Munser is confined to his home with typhoid fever and his many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Dr. Alfred Newberry is the attending physician.

The Filer Drug Co. have their new soda fountain in operation, and every one is very grateful this scorching weather.

Mr. Bobbin Douglas is the assistant during his leisure hours.

W. Arch Doyle, of the Twin Falls News was in Filer on Monday.

Mr. Walker, correspondent for the Shoshone Journal, was in Filer on Sunday.

Miss Vera Butler, of Washington, is the guest of Mr. Harry Schildman and will prove up on her 160 in the near future.

Mrs. Harry Schildman's mother and father of Washington are in Filer and will invest in and build at once.

Franklin Hayward of the Buhl bank was in Filer Tuesday.

H. A. Stroud of Twin Falls had business in Filer this week.

The Filer State bank held their quarterly meeting on Tuesday evening of this week.

Dr. Alfred Newberry will make every effort to procure one of the finest sage brush grubbers that ever came to Filer. Why? Oh, just to prove up.

Mr. Chambers of Salt Lake was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gaskill on Friday of this week.

The Methodist Sunday school of Filer had a very enjoyable lawn fete at the Badger house on Wednesday.

Erdman & Davis, real estate dealers had business in Twin Falls Wednesday.

A large number of Filorites attended the lawn fete given by the ladies aid of Maroon and all voted that Filer should have an Aid society, and entertain in a royal manner as their neighbors do.

Mrs. Newberry has been on the sick list for the past week.

John and Thomas Taylor left for Montana this week. The Taylors have gone on a prospecting trip and will return to Filer in a short time.

WILL GO TO FOCATELLO

Baseball Team Will Attempt to Show Gate City a Hot Game.

Arrangements were completed early this week for a game this coming Sunday with Pocatello at the latter city. Manager Filer has made arrangements with the Short Line for a special train which will leave here about eight in the morning and return about one the next morning. A round trip fare of $4.75 has been secured and a large number of rooters have signified their intention of going.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS HERE

Secretary Garfield Spent Yesterday on Tract.

ENGLISH WRITER ACCOMPANIES SECRETARY ON TRIP

Party Made a Trip to the Falls and Blue Lakes Under Direction of Commercial Club—Senator W. B. Heyburn Also a Visitor in City.

James R. Garfield arrived in town yesterday morning on Burley's special car and while here, convinced everyone that he is, as his father, a plain man of the people, but with a terrible appetite for hard work. Secretary Garfield is tall and rather a young looking man, but his record since taking up the work of the department has shown that he is capable and efficient counsel to an equally vigorous and capable executive.

Mr. Garfield has spent about a week in Idaho and when he goes back to resume his duties at Washington, it will be with a better knowledge of the needs of this state with regard to the department.

The party which consisted of Secretary Garfield and "young" secretary, Supt. of Irrigation Smiley, D. E. Burley of the Oregon Short Line and Charles Whitley, a noted English journalist, who is writing his impressions of the United States for the Blackwood Magazine of Edinburgh, were met at the train about nine yesterday morning by a committee from the Commercial club headed by W. H. Eldridge, vice president. Teams were in waiting and the visitors were taken to Shoshone Falls and from there to the Blue Lakes ranch where the guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Perrine. The guests were very highly pleased with the trip and expressed their appreciation in a happy manner. The return trip was made about five in the afternoon and the secretary left on the return trip to Missoka about seven.

Senator Heyburn was expected at the same time as Mr. Garfield, but was not able to reach here until yesterday afternoon. Last night a few members of the Commercial club gathered in the club rooms and enjoyed a smoker with the senator.

A report that Mr. Garfield was to reach this city about Tuesday evening, caused a large number of citizens to gather at the Commercial club rooms for an informal meeting, and great was their disappointment when it was found that no opportunity would be given the people of the tract to meet him.

Death of Mary Elizabeth Maxwell

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Maxwell was filled with sorrow on Monday when their infant daughter, Mary Elizabeth, died from cholera infantum. The bereaved parents have the heartfelt sympathy of all their many friends in the loss of their ten months old babe. The funeral was held from the home yesterday afternoon with Rev. H. W. Parker and Rev. John Gourley in charge of the services.

INDEPENDENT REPUBLICAN

Entered as second class matter May 5, 1908, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

There seems a possibility of a cork famine according to one of the eastern papers. It seems strange in the face of the growing prohibition sentiment that any such danger should exist. Wouldn't that cork you.

A very serious menace to the safety of the business district exists at present in the laxness, carelessness and other unsatisfactory matters which are allowed to collect back of the stores and business houses. The criticism will apply to almost every section and presents of the business men the option of either cleaning up the back yards or sometime taking a heavy loss from fire. A great many enterprising cities have set apart Friday of each week for clean up day and promptly action on that morning the streets in front and the alleys in the rear of the business portion are carefully cleaned. Why not start some similar movement in Twin Falls?

It is not about time that the boosters of this city have some definite figures on which to estimate the population. At present no two men agree upon the number of residents in Twin Falls and the guesses range all the way from three thousand to four thousand, according to the mood of the person making the guess. The Times would suggest that the commercial club take up the matter and employ a couple of men to obtain an accurate list of the residents as accurate as possible with the rapid increase. The Times believes that at present our population is about four thousand, but to make such an assertion sure, there should be a little evidence gathered to back it up.

The Equitable Life Insurance company has filed plans in New York city for a sixty-two story building, which when completed will tower far above other skyscrapers in that city. The distance from pinnacle to pavement will be 909 feet and enough material will be used in its construction to build five hundred handsome homes. The natural question arising seems to be at what point in its development will the modern skyscraper stop in its upward career? Will the danger of human life increase to the point that even a heartless corporation must refrain from piling up more danger story by story or will it have to come after the collapse of some structure which crushes out a few thousand lives? The American people can't danger but when the penalty is enforced as in the theatre and steamboat disaster, just as strongly the other way swings the pendulum toward public safety through legislation. The first skyscraper to fall will sound the retreat toward mother earth and common sense in office building.

The following communication and circular letter to the members of the Twin Falls canal association and settlers in one well worth the consideration of every man on the tract. As every man knows the distribution of water later on will be a thing to be guarded and also that priority of water right may in future times be worth considerable as more water will be taken out of the Snake river for irrigation. It is not the intention of the letter to stir up trouble and the taking of the matter into court is merely a precaution in order to get a court decision that will settle any doubt as to just what this tract may have coming to it in the future distribution of water.

Twin Falls Idaho, July 3, 1908.
To the Members of the Twin Falls Canal Association:
The Governing Board of the Twin Falls Canal Association has decided to bring suit in the interest of its members against the water users of Snake River in Lincoln, Cassia and Twin Falls Counties above the Miller dam, and in order that the members will understand the necessity, purpose and procedure of this suit it has been thought best to send an explanatory letter to each member of the association and to call meetings in the various districts for a free and full discussion of this most important question.
The water rights of the South Side Twin Falls project arise by virtue of a water location of 3,400 second feet made in 1902 or 1903, of which 3,000 second feet was made for land on the South Side and 400 second feet for land on the North Side. Subsequent to this appropriation, the government has located and appropriated about the same amount for its Minidoka project, followed by the Twin Falls North Side project with others in contemplation. The Twin Falls North Side project has a prior water right to the right of the South Side hereafter, there would be no way in which the right of the South Side should be enforced unless a decree of the Court be on file. If a decree of the Court is made adjudging and awarding the water rights according to their priorities, no possible trouble could result hereafter.

The matter has been discussed somewhat among the members of the association and the attorneys of the association have been consulted and the Governing Board has come to the conclusion that it is to the interests of all South Side settlers that a proper suit be commenced at once.

The purpose of this suit is merely to protect the interests of the members of this association so as to be prepared for any emergency regarding water shortage that may occur hereafter. If a water shortage should occur hereafter and the settlers on the South Side should be unable to secure the water to which they are entitled, many thousands of dollars damage would probably ensue.

This suit will have to be commenced by the individual claimants under the South Side system and the cost to those who are willing to become plaintiffs under the association charge will be nominal. Every water claimant on the South Side will be made a plaintiff if he desires, but if not, he will be made a defendant, and it is the hope that the South Side water claimants will join with the association in this matter. Each of the districts of the Twin Falls Canal Association will hold a meeting at their regular place on Saturday, July 11th, at 8:00 p. m., except the Bush district, which will hold its meeting on the same date but at 2:00 p. m.

Very truly yours,
TWIN FALLS CANAL ASSOCIATION.

Geo. E. Hartman,
President.
I. R. Darrow,
Secretary.

PROSPECTS FOR SCHOOL YEAR

Supt. Parke Busy With Preparation for New Year.

The books and supplies for the coming school year have been ordered, and every detail for the opening of school worked out. Few changes in text books have been made, and where changes were necessary arrangements have been made with the book companies whereby the old books may be exchanged for new ones at a slight cost.

The primary and first grades together with the high school will occupy the Hickel building. The seventh and eighth grades will be placed in temporary quarters until the Lincoln building is completed. From sixty to seventy pupils will be placed in each room of the Hickel building. This does not mean that the rooms will be crowded, as they are large, and seats to accommodate that number of pupils are being placed in each room. Each room will have two teachers, one to hear the class recite and known as the class teacher, and one to care for the study period and those who may need help, known as the individual teacher. The fact that we are required to place so large a number of pupils in a room makes this arrangement necessary, and still it is not to be looked upon as a disadvantage. This system of class-individual instruction, known as the "Batavia" system because first introduced at Batavia, N. Y. by Supt. John Kennedy, while as yet new, has been thoroughly tried and is now in use in many of the leading schools of the country. It gives the backward pupil and the one who has been out of school the help that they are in need of, and still does not interfere with the advancement of the regular class and the brighter pupils.

The work of the Commercial department has been rearranged and a full commercial course installed. The head of this department, Miss Jondrou, is an expert and a teacher of experience. She will give this work her entire time.

Monday being Labor Day school will open on Tuesday, September 8th. Teachers will meet at the school house Monday to prepare for opening school the next day.

S. D. Parke, Supt.

The remains were taken to Miller and Sons undertaking where it was shipped to the home of his mother in Wenatche, Wash., Sunday.

Mr. A. A. Dimmitt who is employed in this office as foreman, received word Sunday that his wife had been injured in the hospital at Blackfoot. The funeral will be held as soon as the relatives of the deceased can be notified. Mr. Dimmitt has the sympathy of the community in the loss of the wife and mother.

R. C. Bencel, president of the Idaho Department store left Monday evening for Salt Lake city where he will join his family and proceed to New York city, where for the next two months he will study the market of the great waterways and purchase full stock in ladies ready to wear wraps, furs and etc. also gente clothing and furnishings for the Twin Falls and Lewisville section and will endeavor to say that the Idaho Department store will have the best market affords in such a quantity. Mr. Bencel will also purchase a large stock of holiday goods.

LIVELY DOINGS AT ROCK CREEK

Young People Spend Evenings in Social Dances.

Rock Creek, July 14, 1908. Mr. D. S. Morgan started in buying on a new patch of alfalfa with a new No. 2 Johnson mower, getting a pretty fair crop for the first cutting.

J. P. LaSalle is fencing some of his alfalfa for a hog pasture.

We are having dandy growing weather.

The Rock Creek Country association recently purchased of Judge Hansen the northwest quarter of the high west quarter of section 24 township 12, range 12. The consideration being $100 apparently it appears that the Judge has had to give away, but then the association is composed of about 25 of Rock Creek's prominent ladies, and they certainly deserve it.

On Saturday morning, July 11, there was born to Mr. and Mrs. Luther Austin a fine 10 pound baby boy, seems as though everything was large in this section of the country. Mother and child at last, reports were doing fine.

Chas. B. Roberts accompanied by J. F. Hansen and Twin Falls is visiting on Saturday, with the intention of making final proof on Mr. Roberts' 40, J. F. Hansen and Frank Bowler being witnesses. Mr. Bowler took a load of alfalfa to town, later met Mr. Roberts and Mr. Hansen, when all three repaired to Mr. E. H. Williams office.

If the vote were cast by the women folks, as Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Hansen accompanied the gentlemen above mentioned, and we sincerely hope it was with the intention of keeping the men folks from the refreshment parlors, as three good men like them are liable to go crazy when together.

Miss Davige of Twin Falls is visiting Mrs. Norton for a few days.

Carl Danvers went back to Wild Horse Spring to join the engineering corps.

Miss Terrill was visiting Miss Murray recently and spent a few days there.

J. P. LaSalle's baby recently took violently sick in fact the poor thing was so bad that Dr. Elmer D. Shaddy was hurriedly called. He pronounced it a case of pneumonia, which he checked just in time, and the baby is resting nicely at the present time.

Judge Hansen is just as fortunate as the rest of us. He now has some standing in his field, which by actual measurement is exactly five feet five inches high, and he is seeking some advice, whether to know whether it would be advisable to start a binder to work on it, or turn a crew of men to dig the alfalfa in the field in summer. He also claims to have 200 tons of alfalfa stacked from the first cutting this year, surely he has no cause for worry.

It appears that the young people of Rock Creek are intent upon having a good time some way or other. At present they are making good use of the ball in Rock Creek, which Mr. Hansen forgot to lock nights, especially since the 4th of July. Almost every night somebody will carry a photograph into it and start some lively waltz or two-step, and it won't be long before the young couples come dancing into the hall. The wish of all is that Mr. J. F. Hansen would only keep the hall open as long time to come, so say we all of us.

Yes George Topel has started another natchette. Notice he says another natchette, consequently there must have been one there before, all plus as to 7 on one side and 11 on the other also down an useless on that score.

Mr. J. P. Morgan took a small team of sorrels to Twin Falls Saturday with the intention of selling same, at the prospect of a good sale. He cannot say whether he disposed of them or not.

We have a report in hand from a reliable source, that a certain prominent doctor in Chicago is about to relinquish a very large and profitable practice in Chicago to come to South Fork in Idaho, where he will have 120 acres on the North side, north of Buhl.

Mr. B. H. Lake of Chicago, some time next month is set to get things in shape to take the lake and make it. Mr. Lake, by the way, claims he shall not do any pioneering. We don't have her in the least, it takes a lot of money to do this.

Last week while Mr. Wallen was in the city of Twin Falls somebody asked him to give him a good idea of being in an inquisitive turn of mind he asked, "What doing?" grabbing sage brush" was the reply. Mr. Wallen answered "no no no, I am not myself, I am somebody else. The gentleman struck the wrong party, that's all."

Mr. J. E. Bowen the veteran stockman and rancher of Dry Creek was in town today.

Mr. Poole spent Sunday fishing on Rock Creek and claims he caught quite a mess of good fish, but he has still got to show us. We are from Shoshone, and have got to be shown.

PIKE BLDG., TWIN FALLS

For all who might care to go among the members of the Shoshone Falls company, the organization that owns both sides of the Snake river at the falls, the work of improving that section has been held up. W. A. Clark, the Montana millionaire and former senator, is the only one of several men of the firm now living and because of the passing of his associates the work of improvement about the falls is held up.

Mr. Perrine states, however, that with the settlement of the estates of the deceased members of the Shoshone Falls company some action will probably be taken to carry out the plan to make Shoshone Falls a famous watering place. It is hoped to provide a hotel to accommodate many guests and improve the property of the Twin Falls companies and other property on both sides of the river. A part of this improvement, as previously stated in this paper, will be the planting of hundreds of rose vines among the rocks near the power house and company quarters of the Twin Falls Power company. Mr. Perrine had expected to have this done before now, but owing to the deaths among the members of the Shoshone Falls company this has been delayed.

Dances at the Falls.

Mr. Perrine, who expects to leave next week on a business visit to New York, says a good man has hold of the hotel at the falls this year and in addition to providing excellent hotel accommodations, has built a dancing pavilion near the hotel. Here dances are being held and are proving very popular. A band furnishes the music, which with the music made by the water splashing over the falls, adds much to the pleasure of the dances.

Mr. Perrine stated it is hoped to get James B. Garfield, secretary of the Interior, interested in making the Shoshone falls region a fine summer resort. Mr. Perrine took Commissioner Bennett to the falls last week and saw much pleasure attached to the trip. Mr. Bennett was almost overcome with pleasure at the sights he saw.

When Secretary Garfield is in that vicinity more will be taken to the falls and it is hoped he will become interested in the summer resort scheme to the extent that the Interior department will aid in making another of Bert Perrine's dreams real.—Statesman

Settlement of Estate Allows Long Delayed Change.

To make the surroundings of Shoshone falls, Idaho's beautiful scenic attraction, a playground for the entire Twin Falls tract and build it up into a great summer resort is one of the aims of the Twin Falls companies in connection with their development of the Twin Falls tract. I. B. Perrine, owner of the famous Blue Lake Park ranch and who is interested in the Twin Falls Investment company, is in the city and yesterday made a statement of his plans for development of southern Idaho.

As given exclusively in this paper some weeks ago, it is the intention of Mr. Perrine, Pittsburg and his associates to improve the ground around Shoshone falls and make of it a beautiful park, providing hotel accommoto loan on improved farms. Rate of interest the lowest. Irrigated Land Company.

thoughtfully of her twenty-three years, wondering how life could have passed so quickly, leaving her already stranded on the shores of an engagement to marry Howard Quarrier. Then her thoughts, errant, wandered half the world over before they returned to Seward, and when at length they did and hesitating to be civil, she spoke again of his acquaintance with Quarrier at the Patrons club, the club itself being sufficient to settle Seward's status in every community.

"I'm trying to remember what it is I have heard about you," she continued anxiously. "You are—"

An odd expression in his eyes arrested her long enough to note their color and expression, and she continued pleasantly: "You are Stephen Seward, are you not?—You see, I know your name perfectly well." Her straight brows contracted a trifle. She drove on, lips compressed, following an elusive train of thought which vaguely, persistently, coupled his name with something indelibly unpleasant, and she could not reconcile this with his appearance. However, the train of unlinked ideas which she pursued began to form the semblance of a chain. Coupling his name with Quarrier's and with a club frequented nocturnally, vague uneasiness stirred her to a glimmering comprehension. Seward—Stephen Seward? One of the New York Swards then—one of that race—

Suddenly the truth dawned upon her—the crude truth, lacking definite detail, lacking circumstance and color and atmosphere—merely the raw and ugly truth.

Had he looked at her, and he did once, he could have seen only the untrained and very sweet profile of a young girl. Composure was one of the masks she had learned to wear when she chose.

"Miss Landis," he said.

"Mr. Seward?" she asked. It was her way to be gentle when generous.

"I think," he said, "that you are too kind to remember where you may have heard my name."

"I am a friend," she looked at him with the direct gaze of a child, but his lovely eyes were troubled. His smile was not very genuine, but he met her gaze steadily enough.

"It was rather nice of Mrs. Ferrall to ask me," he said, "but the mess I made of things last spring."

"Grace Ferrall is a dear," she replied.

After a moment he continued, "I suppose you saw it in the papers."

"I think so. I had completely forgotten it. Your name seemed to."

"I see," he said. "I couldn't have ventured to remind you that—that perhaps you might not care to be so reminded."

"Mr. Seward," she said impulsively, "you are slow to me! Why shouldn't I be amiable? It was—it was—I've forgotten just how dreadfully you did behave."

"Pretty badly."

"Very."

"They say so."

"And what is your opinion, Mr. Seward?"

"Oh, I ought to have known better." Something about him reminded her of a bad small boy, and suddenly, in spite of her better sense, in spite of her instinctive caution, she found herself on the verge of a laugh. What was it in the man that disarmed and invited a confidence so easily justified, it appeared? What was it now that moved her to overlook what she overlooked, but her fault, but his publicity? Was it his agreeable bearing, his pleasant language, his amiably listless moments of preoccupation, his youth, that appealed to her, aroused her charity, her generosity, her curiosity?

And had other people continued to neglect him too? What would Quarrier think of his presence at Shotover?

She began to realize that she was a little afraid of Quarrier's opinions and his opinions were always judgments. However, Grace Ferrall had thought it proper to ask him, and that meant social abolitionism. As far as that went, she was now perfectly ready to atone him if he needed it.

"I was wondering," he said, looking up to encounter her clear eyes. "whose house that is over there."

"Traverse Plank's shooting box, Black Falls," she replied, looking toward the vast pile of blackish rocks against the sky, upon which sprawled a heavy stone house infested with chimneys.

"Black Falls, Oh, yes?"

He smiled to remember the battering blows rained upon the fortifications of society by the master of Black Falls.

But the smile faded, and, glancing at him, the girl was surprised to see the subtle change in his face—the white, worn look, then the flatness apathy, which all at once to her hinted at something graver than preoccupation.

"Is that Shotover House?" he asked as they came to the crest of the hillcock between them and the sea.

"At last, Mr. Seward," she said mockingly, "and now your troubles are nearly ended."

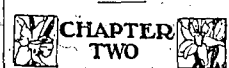

"And yours, Miss Landis?"

"I don't know," she murmured to herself, thinking of the telegram with the faintest misgiving.

"Theory had almost decided her to answer Mr. Quarrier's suggestion with a 'Yes.' However, he was coming from the lakes in a day or two. She would decide definitely when she had discussed the matter with him."

"I wish that I owned this dog," observed Seward as the pheasant entered the macadamized drive.

"Which dog, too," she said, "but he belongs to Mr. Quarrier."

A HOUSE of native stone built into and among weather scarred rocks, and at massive winged butting seaward, others rising north and south among cedars and outcropping ledges, the whole silver gray mass of masonry reeling under a scorching sun, every dormer, every leaded diamond pane adorned—this was Shotover as Seward first beheld it.

As the pheasant drew up under a pillared porte cochere one or two servants appeared. A rather imposing specimen bowed down through the doorway into the hall, where in a wide chimney place the embers of a drift wood fire glimmered like a heap of dusty jewels, bars of sunlight shining on wall and rug, on stone floor and carved staircases, on the bronze foliations of the railed gallery above, where—in the golden gloom through a high window, sun tipped trevett against a sky of azure stirred like burnished foliage in a tapestry.

"There is nobody here, of course," observed Miss Landis to Seward as they halted in front of the droplight.

"The season opens today in this country, you see," she shrugged her pretty shoulders—"and the women who don't shoot make the first bell-luncheon a function."

She turned, nodded her adieu, then, over her shoulder, she said: "If you haven't an appointment with the gardener before dinner you may find me in the gunroom."

"I'll be there in about three minutes," he said. "And what about this dog?" looking down at the Sagamore pup, who stood before him wagging, attentive, always the gentleman to the tips of his toes.

Miss Landis laughed. "Take him to your room if you like. Dogs have the run of the house."

So he followed a servant to the floor above, where a smiling and very ornamental maid preceded him through a corridor and into that heavy swing of the house which fronted the sea.

"Ten is served in the gunroom, sir," said the pretty maid and disappeared to give place to a melancholy and silent young man, who turned on the latch, let out fresh tobacco and whispering "Scotch or Irish, sir?" presently effaced himself.

Before he quitted his own thirst Seward glanced a bowl and set it on the door, but it found no though the dog would never drink, snuffing and snatching in the liquid ley water.

"It's the salt air, my boy," commented the young man, gravely rubbing his one shoe as though accepting the excuse on his own account.

Then man and beast completed ablutions and grooming and filed out through the wide corridor, around the gallery and down the broad staircases to the gunroom, an oak-paneled place illuminated by the sun, where mellow lights sparkled on glass cases covered of fowling pieces and rifles, on the polished surfaces of shaggy moose horns.

Miss Landis sat curled up in a cushioned corner under the open easement panes offering herself a cup of tea. She looked up, nodding invitation. He found a chair beside her, and a servant whispered, "Scotch or Irish, sir?" then set the crystal paraphernalia at his elbow.

He said something about the salt air usually. The girl gazed indifferently at him.

The sound of wheels on the gravel outside aroused her from a silence which had become a brown study, and to Seward presently she said, "Here come our dear regulars."

"Then let us arrange another immediately," he said, stirring the tea in his glass.

"The girl considered him with speculative eyes. 'I shouldn't exactly know what to do with you for the next hour if I didn't abandon you.'"

"Why bother to do anything with me? Why even give yourself the trouble of deserting me? That solves the problem."

"I really don't mean that you are a problem to me, Mr. Seward," she said, amused. "I mean that I am going to drive again."

"Leave."

HANSEN HOME NEWS

Hansen July 14, 1908.
Mrs. E. E. McLean, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Lucile and two sons, Harry and Evan, arrived on Tuesday last from Knoxville, Tenn. Mr. McLean joined them a few days later and the family will spend the summer at the home of R. B. Roberts.

F. E. Griswold returned the first of the week from Colorado Springs where he has been spending a few days transacting some business.

Attorney Hutto of Twin Falls and Mr. Selmour of Marietta were present at the school house last Sunday afternoon and after the other services were concluded assisted in organizing an anti-saloon league.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Redman last Friday evening, July 10.

W. J. Calkins is building a store room and cellar combined on the Van Gilder place south of town.

The strawberry social last Friday evening was a pleasant gathering although the attendance was not large, it being such a busy season of the year.

Mr. Lorraine of Burley has the contract for painting and repairing the school building, and the work is going rapidly forward. The building is a credit to our town.

And now to the majority of our citizens is given the privilege of saying "I told you so" to the doubters who said that Hansen would never be open. In the mean time the surrounding country has been developing rapidly and can show as fine buildings, grain, orchards, etc., as can be found anywhere on the tract. It is now our turn to have a depot, hotel, bank and some of the other conveniences of civilization.

Mrs. Lytle of Twin Falls visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Smith on Sunday.

Miss Alice Keith is spending a few days at the home of her mother near Hansen.

Mrs. Arnall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Calkins arrived the last of the week from Colorado Springs, Colo.

Miss Amy D. Holmes who has been teaching in Spokane the past year, is spending her vacation at the home of her sister Mrs. J. M. Shively, who lives northwest of Hansen.
