They have gutted the interior of the building and also put in a gallery, which is being used for the moving picture machine, when they were purchased. CONSTRUCTION OF HOTBED.
 Necessary in Providing For Early Garden Crops.

I know it is a good deal earlier than most farmers usually begin to think of planting anything in a garden, but nevertheless it is well to begin to get ready. If one transplants, it is time to be getting ready to make the bed.
 That is, of course, unless it is handy to get good plants from a market gardener or some one else at a low price. It is very handy though, however cheap one can get plants, to have them raised at home and ready to draw and plant whenever the land is safe to set on the plants.
 Making a hotbed is a very simple operation. All that is involved is in having a lot of horse manure in a conveniently shaped bank, with sufficient soil on top to grow plants in when the heat is caused by a fermentation of the manure. Some people dig out a place on a slope fronting to the south, of also to make a bed as large as will be needed.
 Others make a frame of wide boards, of whatever length may be needed, and about four feet wide and have it fronting south. The width of the boards must be sufficient to hold enough depth of manure to ferment and hold the heat for several weeks. It is well to have a hotbed such to cover the bed, but a cover made of cotton cloth will with linsed oil will answer very well.
 My preference is for the bed made by digging out an oblong hole in the ground about a foot deep, and as wide and wide as needed, and then a board frame to set inside of this and precisely above the ground a foot at the north side and four inches at the south side, with the end pieces sloping from the north to south. On this frame the cover should be fitted perfectly, preferably with hinges along the north side.
 A few days before the seeds are to be sown in the hotbed enough good horse manure to fill the bed to the surface of the ground should be piled up, and forked over once or twice so as to cause it to ferment and heat. Then it should be put in the place dug out and tamped down well, and not less than four inches of good fine soil free of weed seed be spread over it. One can plant seed of different kinds in a hotbed, but care must be taken to cover the different kinds with only such a depth of soil as they naturally require.
 Long before it is warm enough to set out tomato and other delicate plants, lettuce, cabbage, radish and other hardy ones may be transplanted to where they are to remain. By using this plan to force the hardy plants of the garden and not waiting till it is warm enough to plant the seed in the open, it is possible to raise quite abundantly the more hardy ones.
 If one has plants ready so very early in the season that quite severe weather is liable to come on after they are transplanted, it will be wise to have a lot of straw or other good material of the kind to put over the plants for protection in case the weather does turn cold.
 This will save really tender plants often, when otherwise they would be certainly killed. But with even this added labor, the results justify it. It is usually possible to raise any variety from two to seven weeks by using this plan with the garden crops.—Farm Progress.

THE TARIFF ON PAPER.

For some months past the printers and publishers on the one hand, and the paper-makers on the other, have been debating before a committee of the house as to whether or not there is a monopolistic paper-making trust in this country which is keeping the price of printing paper so artificially high as to work a hardship upon the newspapers. Whether the book publishers and the proprietors of weekly and monthly periodicals using high grades of printing paper have taken any active part in this controversy we do not know; on the whole, we infer from the report of the committee which was recently made public, that they have not. For the reduction in the printing paper tariff recommended by the committee is apparently almost solely in favor of the newspapers which use a cheap grade of wood-pulp paper. In addition the committee states a principle of tariff revision which, if followed in the next congress, ought to have an important bearing upon the framing of a new tariff bill. That principle is found expressed in the following words of the committee:

"The retention of a duty of one-tenth of a cent per pound, as suggested, is justified both on the principles of a tariff for revenue and a tariff for protection. The duty proposed is about equal to the additional cost of labor in the United States and the additional cost of material used by the paper mills caused by other tariff provisions."

If this principle should be followed in the creation of a new tariff bill—the principle, that is to say, of making the tariff tax on any article the differential between American and European wages, and so finally protecting the laborer—it is probable that we should have some pretty widespread reduction of the present schedules. The magazine and book publishers complain, with what appears to be justice, that the tariff proposed by the committee on paper costing, say, four cents a pound and over covers not merely the difference in labor, but the total cost of labor. Unfortunately, in too many of our tariff schedules, it is the manufacturer, on the plea of defending the workman against the pauper wages of Europe, succeeded in getting his entire labor bill paid by the taxpayers.—Outlook.

There are a few points coming up concerning municipal affairs besides the local option, and to a great extent more vital to the city. In the first place the men on the two tickets should place themselves on record about law enforcement, as to whether a wide open city will be tolerant or whether the gambling and violation of present laws will be punished. The question of the water works system is of just as much importance as the laying of the streets, and it should be borne in mind by the voters—that the only solution of the water question lies in municipal ownership, and that just as long as the taxpayers allow the franchise to rest in the hands of private owners, just so long will we have trouble over the water supply. In connection with this the water rate could be adjusted in one direction without hurting the feelings of the water users. Telephone rates have not been adjusted and the application for a franchise by the independent company should be a matter for promises on the part of the man who seeks positions on the city council. The lighting rates, too, have been higher than the service should consistently demand and the new council should go in with a clear idea of making the fur fly as far as the corporations holding city franchises are concerned, and see that the taxpayers do not have to empty their pockets without getting value in exchange.

SANITARY MILK COMPANY
 Install Pasteurizing Machine for Their Increasing Business.

Last June the Sanitary Milk company purchased the milk route and wagon of F. M. Quigley and have been operating the same with the old sign of the Wild Rose Dairy. F. M. Quigley, on the wagon, owing to the fact that Mr. Quigley is again going into the dairy business and to avoid confusion, the Sanitary milk wagons will be plainly marked with the name and the name of the proprietor, W. B. Hoar, and our customers are asked to look for this wagon for the supply of milk. During the past week machinery has been purchased from Boise for pasteurizing all of the milk delivered from the Sanitary Milk company, and it will be the aim of the firm to give nothing but pure, fresh milk. Look for the Sanitary wagons.

W. B. HOAR, Proprietor.

In its January number, the Review of Reviews says editorially:

"Within a decade the industrial interests of our far northwest have developed so amazingly that all former standards of comparison have to be re-vised. Take, for example, the matter of Alaska's oil product. The receipts of the Seattle assay office for the ten months ending with October last amounted to $17,233,704, or about one-fourth of the total production of the United States for an equivalent period. Ten years ago the Alaskan oil output for an entire year was estimated at $5,000,000. The total for the past year would have been much greater but for a shortage in water supply throughout the mining districts of Alaska. The fact that so great an increase to the world's stock of the yellow metal should reach civilization through one of the youngest of our prosperous coast cities reminds us that new channels are being formed to meet the needs of trade and finance upon our northwestern border. Seattle, with her center of a million people, is not only the metropolis of the state of Washington, she sits at the gateway to Alaska, and takes toll from those who come and go. Years ago Seattle saw the advantages of fostering the Alaskan trade, and she has profited by that foresight. Industrial and commercial Alaska is today, to all intents and purposes, annexed to Seattle. The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, to be opened at Seattle in June next, is likely to hasten these things, and who dares to see it. This fair will represent an investment of $10,000,000. Apart from extensive governmental expenditures for the fair, the general of a government loan has been collected by the management. Several of the buildings are already completed and others are nearly ready for occupancy."—The management. Several of the buildings are already completed and others are nearly ready for occupancy."

The veto of the bill passed by the Tenth session allowing counties to vote bonds for toll bridges is a hard blow to Twin Falls and Lincoln counties in hindering the building of the high bridge over Snake river. The governor's attitude toward the bill is rather hard to understand in view of the fact that not any of the funds for such project would come from the state.

The promotion of a canning factory by some of the live business men is certainly a move toward obtaining the present freight trouble by cutting for the crate product at home and shipping the canned goods, thus giving the farmer a profit on his fruits and vegetables. It will be only by alfalfa mills and sugar beet factories and similar plants upon the tract that the farmer can count each year on a certain margin of profit.

The railroad activity of the O. S. L. in this section augurs well for a most prosperous year on the Twin Falls tract. The opening of the Wells extension which will be pushed this spring, will give the Twin Falls tract a close market for hay and grain with higher prices. It will give the merchants of the tract an increased market during the whole period of construction, with a permanent field when the road reaches Contact. The Hub-Park cut-off if by any chance it goes through the section beyond the Salmon river, will open up another large market for supplies.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Twin Falls Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Weak kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy urine. It smells of ammonia, is full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Don't's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here is proof in the statement of a nearby neighbor.

D. F. Chamberlain, 1043 Eagle, St. Idaho Falls, Idaho, says: "I consider Don't's Kidney Pills the best kidney remedy on the market. I had kidney trouble for a long time and suffered severely from backache. I experimented with different remedies, which were said to be good for kidney trouble but did not succeed in finding relief until I procured a box of Don't's Kidney Pills. They lived up to representations and it was not long before I was wonderfully relieved. A continuation of their use resulted in a cure. I have appealed to Don't's Kidney Pills on several occasions since and they have always given me satisfactory results."

We were reminded of old Pied Piper of Hamelin this week when Henry Larsen took several hundred of his cattle to Deep Creek, leaving behind the home, the hall, and blind. They could see, at the Hotel Thomas, the view of Pied Piper, the beautiful green meadows covered with grass and flowers and, in fancy, drink of the pearly brook. "This is a rich brown, home murmurs: "For those who go or hapler, than those they leave behind."

Mr. C. B. Roberts entertained Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Atkin and Mr. M. W. Johnson at dinner Sunday.

The crowning event of the season took place at Rock Creek Friday evening. The "bachelors" did it. Yes, literally did it! Of course there were mothers and sweethearts, suggesting, and our bachelors, being naturally generous, took to it kindly, yet they did it. All day Wednesday, Thursday and Friday you could see fighting about on Main street in various forms. To one uninformed, it might have seemed that the elves had taken possession of things. Gentlemen seemed suddenly transformed into cooks and from their magic hands, cakes, heaped with chocolate and nuts, pies crisp and tender, chicken done to a rich brown, home stewed to a finish, all seemed to appear at a word. They say that the fairy god-mother appointed Lloyd Brown and Arthur Larsen chief cooks, having endowed them with special power. It is said by hungry lookers-on, that the chocolate was twice the thickness of the cake layers. Hazel Brown and his helpers, Peter Larsen, Monte Atkin and Gus Hartz are said to have used the famous cyclone chicken pecker in their department. Henry Larsen was appointed chief seamster; his duty being to fashion the waiter's aprons. Everyone of the worthy bachelors had his special duty assigned, and the results were marvelous. When Duane Rummel said that the bachelors of Rock Creek would give a free dance and luncheon, all the anxious mothers sent to Twin Falls for an extra supply of medicine. They also made arrangements with central for the Rock Creek telephone line to be left connected with all the physicians of the city. Toss with fear and trembling that they donned their best attire and ushered forth to, they knew not what.

The dancing began at nine o'clock and at twelve the tables were spread with the finest dainties Rock Creek could afford and the feast began. Toss, well the mothers were so cautious since the feast consisted of chicken sandwiches, ham sandwiches, salad fresh from the Salmon river beaches, strawberries of every kind of cake found in the receipt book, pies such as mother used to make, oranges and bananas fresh from the baby south, and tea and coffee which the fairy god-mother made to taste like the nectar of the gods. And now on one last thing. Therefore let the young ladies give nine rills to the bachelors of Rock Creek. Rat, rat, rill; rah, rah, rill; rah, rah, rill; Bachelors of Rock Creek.

Miss Lyla Burke and Miss Carrie Hansen were in Hanson Saturday.

LIBRARY AND READING ROOMS

Largely Patronized By Young Men of City.

The city reading room has been in use for about two weeks in the rooms in the Harder building, and have been extensively patronized by the young men of the city. The rooms have been fitted up in a comfortable manner and the various citizens have donated magazines to such an extent that almost any periodical can be secured there. Nearly every evening of the week the reading tables are lined by young men who have shown their appreciation of the cozy rooms. The ladies and gentlemen who are giving their throes to the enterprise are entitled to a great deal of praise for inaugurating what promises to be the nucleus of a splendid public library.
